Teas grown at high altitudes on the mountain slopes of Ceylon, where the growth is slower and cultivation more careful than in the warm, humid climate of the valleys, are used in "Salada" Tea. High-grown tea like "Salada" is not only of a finer quality, but contains more of the essential oil in the leaf than valley-grown tea. This is easily proved by comparing a drawing of "Salada" Tea with any other.

It is said that a Buffalo inventor has discovered a new oil that is particularly adapted for gasoline engines and automobiles. It is of higher power than any known oil and costs only about five cents a gallon. The patent has been registered in every country in the world. The investor is James Myers, a former resident of Guelph. We take three or four grains of salt with the story, but if it be true nobody need care whether Niagara power comes or not.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. "Every One Thought I Had Consumption. Pe-ru-na Saved Me."

"I THANK DR. HARTMAN FOR PE-RU-NA."

MRS. MOIS PARIZEAU.

"I hardly know how to thank you for the good Peruna has done me.

"I suffered five years with pain in the stomach. About a year ago it became so bad I could hardly bear it. I coughed day and night and grew weaker and weaker. The pain extended through my body and I also had difficulty in breathing, which made me cough. Everyone thought I had consumption.

"My husband heard of Peruna and bought five bottles. This treatment virtually cured me and now I recommend Peruna to every one who is suffering.

"I thank Dr. Hartman for this excellent remedy."

Ste. Julie de Vercheres, P. Q., Canada. —Mrs. Mois Parizeau.

Women are especially liable to colds. These colds occur more frequently during the wet, sloppy weather of winter and spring than any other time of the year. Often they are not considered serious and are allowed to run on, or they are treated in such a way as to only palliate the symptoms, while the cold becomes more deep-seated and the patient finally awakens to the fact that she has a well-developed case of catarrh.

WOMEN SHOULD BEWARE OF CATCHING COLD.

By reason of their delicate structure, the lungs are frequently the seat of a cold, especially if there is the slightest weakness of these organs. The treatment of catarrh of the lungs is also more difficult and discouraging than catarrh of any other organ of the body.

Peruna has been found the most reliable of all remedies for coughs, colds and catarrh, by reason of the fact that it goes at once to the very seat of the trouble.

It searches out every crevice, every duct of the body. It quickens and equalizes the circulation of the blood, thus relieving the congested mucous membranes. It exercises a healing and soothing effect upon the mucous membranes, no matter whether they are the more exposed membranes of the head and throat, or whether they line the remotest cells of the lungs.

PE-RU-NA THE REMEDY FOR CATARRH OF THE LUNGS.

Mrs. Jaschob, 1631 Hicks St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"When I wrote to you for advice, I had been sick for three years. I had trouble with my throat. Often I could not breathe through my nose. I also had pains in my chest and a cough. I took Peruna according to directions and it has cured me."

The Toronto Telegram asks this suggestive question: "Why does the law surround the sale of deadly drugs with all sarts of safeguards and impose no restraints upon the traffic in deadly weapons?" It then adds: "The sale of revolvers ought to be prohibited, except under conditions that will permit every weapon to be traced, and compel every purchaser to sign a register.

A C. P. R. official while here last week, dropped a hint that this line will probably be extended during the coming summer, to meet the Guelph-Goderich branch at Weisenburg, thus further confirming the note we made about the same some weeks ago. To lay the seven miles of track would be short work, through this level country. It will be one of the best moves the C.P.R. has made on this branch, and a decided benefit to this locality.—Fergus News-Record.

If the Grand Trunk carries out its announced intention, and puts on a reasonable good third-class two-cent passenger service between Toronto and Montreal it will pursue a wise course. Loyal and full acceptance of the Privy Council judgment will be much more to the advantage of the company than any attempt to induce Parliament to amend the company's charter, or the putting on of cars such as no one would care to ride in.

The Preston Progress says: There is to be a great re-union of the Snider family this year, descendants of Christian, Jacob and Joseph, the three pioneers who came from Pennsylvania, in 1806 and 1807. It is proposed to hold a centennial gathering some time in June on the farm of Mr. George Tilt, near Doon, where Christian, the eldest of the three brothers, located and built the two story block house that is still in use, and that can be had for the gathering. Organization meetings are being held to make complete arrangements for the gathering, which will be a large one, embracing all the Sniders, Snyders and Schneiders from Winterbourne in the north of Roseville in the south of the county.

The second annual meeting of the Peel County Association Foot Ball League was held at Caledon East, on Thursday evening, March 25th, when much important business was transacted. President, Mr. George Robinson, Claude; Hon. Vice-President, Mr. Wm. Smeaton, Inglewood; President, Rev. Mr. Robinson, Charleston; Vice-President, Mr. Dan Hanton, Caledon East; Sec.-Treas., Mr. W. A. Cranston, Caledon East.

A local grocer had a strange experience on Monday. We will not tell his name, as he does not like to be advertised. But, here's the story, as told us confidentially, in the presence of several witnesses: Mr. So and-So was loading a refrigerator car with potatoes. Refrigerator cars are somewhat peculiar, in that they cannot be opened from the inside, and are also sound proof. The freight came along and had to do some shunting so that the potatoe car had to be bunted about a bit. The potato shipper asked the brakey to kindly close the door so as to keep the murphies from rolling out, the dealer remaining in the car. The freight finished shunting, backed the potato car into its former position, but neglected to open the door. After meandering through Palmerston and other way and flag stations towards evening the freight approached Alma, when the bright brakesman reminded himself that he had left a man shut up in a box car at Harriston, and he wired to that effect, and the grocery man was at once liberated, very mad, but very glad. He had had nothing for dinner but raw potatoes and no company, but his own cheerful mind, and was locked in a refrigerator car in his shirtsleeves nearly all day. He is a husky person and that brakesman better keep out of his way.—Harriston Review.

O. K. Champion Potato Cutter and Planter.

Can you afford to cut your seed potatoes by hand when at a small cost you can have a cutter that will cut your potatoes to the exact sizes that are best suited to plant with any power planter? Do not forget that to cut by hand means all shapes and sizes, while the cutter will cut them all to uniform, blocky shapes, with eyes on each piece. With the O. K. Champion Seed Cutter the operator sits on the bench with both hands free to manipulate the tubers before pressing the lever with his foot, and can cut from 5 to 7 bushels per hour while only about 1 bushel can be cut by hand in the same length of time.

It opens the trench, plants the potatoes any distance set for, covers them with moist soil and marks for the next row. The fertilizer distributer will distribute any quantity of fertilizer desired. All that is necessary for the operator to do is to drive the team steady and keep the hoppers supplied with seed and fertilizer. The position of the driver is such that he can oversee the work of the planter at all times.

The accuracy with which the potatoes are planted is sufficient reason for the farmer to select an O. K. Champion. It will plant with equal satisfaction round or cut seed, each cup will pick up a seed and carry it into the spout from which it is dropped into the V-shaped trench opened by the shoe.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Dear Flaneur.—For many years past I have been a reader of your Saturday page in The Mail and Empire, and its presence there is one of my two main reasons for subscribing to that paper—the other being that its political views are such as I heartily approve. On various occasions I have addressed communications to your columns, and have frequently had the satisfaction of seeing them appear; but whatever their fate, I have observed that you gave them pretty much what they deserved. I now take the liberty of sending a missive of a more private nature, feeling sure that it will receive whatever notice it merits. You have recently commented on our educational system. Here you touch a subject in which I have good reason to be interested. Firstly, because I largely share your opinion that our system of education is in many ways a pompous farce; secondly, because I am myself a teacher (of classics and history) and find myself beset with difficulties with regard to extricating myself from which it may not be amiss to seek the advice of those who possess a wider knowledge of affairs than I can boast. Here are my difficulties:

1—I am a Tory, and a supporter of English and Imperial traditions and principles which I seek to instil in the minds of my pupils in history.

2—I teach amidst a colony of Scotch Presbyterian Grits, whose influence—out of all proportion to their numbers—is supreme here in school matters.

3—As a result of 1 and 2, friction results; insubordination in my classes is tacitly encouraged, and

4—My lectures, comments, poetical quotations and what-not—every word I utter is seized on as evidence that I am a conceited bookworm and pretentious wind-bag., eager to air his musty learning, and—God help us all—eclipse the local luminaries of this hayseed constellation.

5—As my local influence is nil—having been here only five months since my first arrival—and my worldly possessions too meagre to be much in evidence, my work is looked on as a joke by recalcitrant bumpkin pupils; and I feel at the end of a day's work as if I have been beating the air.

6—I am not widely known, and not known at all to those of station and influence in or out of Ontario; and have therefore no opportunity of showing what I can do (or may in time accomplish) to those who would understand my motives and ambition.

This is a fair summary of the situation. I write you not as one in distress or despair, but as a man desirous for many reasons of getting and keeping in touch with those of his own race and principles. If a personal interview would explain matters better, and would not trench upon your time, I can be in Toronto any Saturday, from Friday evening until 4.45 p.m. In this connection I must say that, quite apart from other considerations, it would give me great pleasure to come face to face with The Flaneur and exchange ideas with him on any subject.

It is generally supposed about town that the writer is Mr. J. A. Osgoode, who resigned the position of High School classical master a few weeks ago and asked to be relieved of his duties at Easter. The High School Board accepted the resignation with a cheerfulness and an alacrity that indicated that the members did not consider Mr. Osgoode's services indispensable to the welfare of the institution. Just what the gentleman would have the public infer from his communication, which in our humble opinion does little credit either to his head or heart, is somewhat difficult to understand. In his opinion one of the difficulties that has beset him during his brief sojourn here has been the fact that he is a Tory and a supporter of English and Imperial traditions and principles, which he sought to instil into the minds of his pupils. Why should this constitute a difficulty—particularly in Tory Orangeville and Tory Dufferin? The people of this town are not in the habit of finding fault with men because they are Tories and Imperialists. On the contrary these qualifications are usually passports to favor. Another difficulty has been the "colony of Scotch, Presbyterian Grits," who are supreme in school matters in Orangeville. Who are they? Presumably the members of the High and Public School Boards. The members of the High School Board are Rev. J. R. Bell, F. Irwin, J. H. Hulse, Geo. Robb, H. Endacott, Robert Mann and J.A. V. Preston. These men are all Conservatives except Mr. Mann, who would probably plead guilty to the heinous offence of being a "Scotch Presbyterian Grit." Two of them are Presbyterians, one a Methodist, and the other four Anglicans. Of the eight members of the Public School Board six are Anglicans and at least six are Conservatives.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

His Wife Stricken With Apoplexy On Hearing of the Accident.

Sad Double Funeral on Sunday.

The saddest thing in the history of Grand Valley occurred last Thursday when Robt. King was killed at his farm on the Erin townline, followed by the death of his wife on being told of an accident happening to Mr. King. Truly in the midst of life we are in death, and no one can tell when the call will come.

On Tuesday Mr. King left for his farm to cut some bush, and with the McKitrick boys on the adjoining place had felled a number of trees. On Thursday morning Mr. King went to the bush while the boys came to town, returning about one o'clock. Mr. King started to trim a beech tree which rested on its own stump, and cut off one or two branches, when the tree suddenly flew around and one of the forked branches pinned him to the ground. He was apparently knocked senseless, a mark on the forehead giving evidence, while the branch held him across the back beneath the shoulders. He never moved after falling. At night when the McKitrick boys were going home from their sugar bush they drove over for Mr. King to assist him over a freshet, and receiving no answer to their calls began a search, finding him as stated. While one remained with the body, the other made for help and a doctor. On their arrival the body was taken to the house, and word sent to Grand Valley. Mrs. King was at a neighbor's house, when informed that an accident had befallen her husband and she hurried home, probably thinking he was there. Subject to a weak heart the shock proved too much for on her own door step she fell stricken with apoplexy and died the next morning at seven o'clock.

Becoming partly conscious after the shock, the mind of the poor lady was at once taken up with her husband's well-fare and she thougnt of nothing but the accident.

"Get ready for pa; get ready to make him comfortable," she would say and then asked that blankets be prepared and warm stockings for his feet when he was brought home.

She was never told of the fatal nature of the accident and passed away ignorant of that fact Friday morning but twelve hours after the news was received and less than twenty-four hours after her husband.

Robert King was born on the farm on which he met his death, 65 years ago, and lived there up to 13 years ago when he moved to Luther, near Grand Valley, and only a year or so ago came to the village to live. Energetic and industrious he found more real pleasure in employment of some kind than that retirement which he was able to take. He was also thoroughly experienced in wood craft and it seems the irony of fate that he met his death in such a manner. His rugged honesty, and energetic life had much for commendation, and he will be missed from around town and from the Disciple church of which he was a loyal member.

Mrs. King was a patient loving mother, whose interests centered in the home and with her children, to whom she set a beautiful example of Christian character.

The joint funeral took place on Sunday, service being held in the Methodist church, which was far too small to hold the vast throng that had come. Rev. J. Munroe preached the service and spoke with deep emotion. His theme was the abounding love of Christ, and the joy and comfort He gives to all. Appropriate music was furnished by the choir of the Disciple church, Miss Tough rendering a solo very sweetly.

Mr. King was a member of the A. O. U. W., the Order having charge of the funeral, and the following acting as pall bearers, J. J. Reith, Jno. Brown, Peter Reid, Robt. McDonald, John Small, T. J. Duffy.

The following acted as pallbearers for Mrs. King: Robt. McBride, John Wilson, John Simpson, James Densmore, William A. Simpson and John Redmond.

There is a family of four, all grown up. Mercy, at home; Noah, in East Garafraxa; Edmund, in East Luther; and Errett at home.—Star & Vidette.

DANGERS OF TRAVEL.

Aylmer Express:—If things keep on the way they are going we will have to give up all idea of ever visiting in the United States again. It has been quite a common thing in recent years for Canadians to be turned back for one thing or another, but we have always managed to get over, and if we hadn't we could have come back home. Another difficulty has appeared, however, and to us it is a much more serious one. Mr. Jas. Blanchard of St. Thomas, was stopped from coming across the line into Canada a few days ago because he had only $16 in his pockets, the limit being $25. We have come back from the United States more than once when about sixteen cents cash on hand was our limit. Just imagine being stopped at the line when a fellow was coming home from a visit in the United States and being compelled to stay there until he had worked and earned $25. Unless we could make more money there than we can here we would have to remain a year at least, and what would happen to the country during that time without us is awful to contemplate.

How McCormick's Jersey Cream Sodas Are Made

The process of making this most popular biscuit is here briefly and fully described.

Few are aware that Jersey Cream Sodas are made precisely the same as bread except in the baking.

After the flour, yeast and all other ingredients have been analyzed by their chemist and found to be of the highest quality, the sponge is made and set over night. Then the dough is made and kneaded by large machines, 1,000 lbs. to a batch. Each batch requires to be thoroughly mixed.

The dough is then passed through heavy brakes and rollers to cutting machines, where it is stamped. It is then peeled into large revolving ovens with 12 shelves like a ferris wheel.

They are baked in such thin sheets that only a few minutes is required to produce the perfected biscuit with a delicate crust all round. They are then conveyed to the packing dept. and when thoroughly cooled are placed in the various packages which are immediately labelled, sealed and dried.

It only requires about one hour from the time the dough leaves the mixing dept. till the biscuits are cased up ready for shipment.

McCormick's system of handling their enormous output is so complete that a person hardly realizes how many tons upon tons are made every day.

McCormicks have just recently placed on the market a new soda biscuit in a very thin, small and dainty design. It is called Fancy Jersey Cream Sodas, sold only in 10c and 5c packages. This style, together with their new and delicious Lemon Cream and Thin Arrowroot, will add still further to this firm's enviable reputation for quality.

The factory is kept scrupulously clean and the very best class of help is employed. The Company have 35 travelling salesmen, and Branch warehouses in Montreal, Ottawa, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Calgary, Kingston and St. John, N. B.

SOLD WEED SEEDS.

The Seed Control Act, which became law in 1905, blacklists the seeds of 23 varieties of noxious weeds and provides that any dealer offering seeds for sale, which contain more than five of these weed seeds to the 1,000 shall be liable to a heavy penalty. This, however, he may escape, with the exception of costs, by disclosing the name of the person or firm, from whom the seeds were purchased. Last week T. G. Raynor, Inspector for the Department of Agriculture under the Seed Control Act, laid an information against Norman A. McCutcheon, a Shelburne seedsman, charging him with a violation of the provisions of the Act. The case was tried before Police Magistrate Rutherford a week ago Tuesday and resulted in a conviction. McCutcheon, however, escaped the full penalty by establishing to the satisfaction of the Court, that he had bought the seed, which contained 9 weed seeds to the 1,000, from the Wm. Rennie Co., Limited, of Toronto. The Department will probably take proceedings against the Rennies, who are of course the real offenders. Mr. J. N. Fish conducted the case for the Department.

THE GREAT CRIME CAUSE.

The English Royal Commission on the Poor Laws and the Liquor Traffic has presented a report that is full of saddening information concerning the tremendous extent of poverty which prevails in the United Kingdom. One striking clause in the report reads as follows:

"A great weight of evidence indicates drink as the most potent universal factor in bringing about pauperism. Some witnesses also indicate gambling as a serious and growing cause; but gambling, though it wastes the resources of its victims, does not lead to such physical and moral degradation as drink."

LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE.

Rev. Mr. Hanna, representative of the Lord's Day Alliance, spoke at the services in some of the Orangeville churches on Sunday. After the evening services a public meeting was held in the Baptist Church, at which a local branch of the Alliance was organized. The officers elected were: President, Rev. A. E. Quinn; Secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. E. Smith; Church Representatives—Baptist, Mr. Samuel Huston; Presbyterian, Mr. W. H. Maxwell; Methodist, Mr. D. A. McBride, Anglican, Mr. J. H. Anderson.

H. S. LITERARY SOCIETY.

The High School Literary Society held its closing meeting for the present academic year in the Assembly Room on Thursday afternoon last. A splendid programme was provided. One of the most interesting numbers was a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that a Business College training is more beneficial than a High School training." The affirmative was taken by Messrs. David Spence and W. Holden, two Business College students, and the negative by Messrs. Fred Patterson and Fred Durkin, two of the High School young men. A number of the Business College students were present and supported their champions in an enthusiastic manner. The debate, which was very keenly contested, lasted for more than an hour. At the close, the judges, Messrs. W. T. Bailey, H. Endacott and J. C. Reid, decided that the negative had won by a narrow margin. The musical part of the programme consisted of piano solos by Misses Ina Porter and Robina McKay and Master James Dawson, a violin solo by Stewart Hughes, an essay by Miss E. McGill and a closing chorus "Auld Lang Syne" by the male chorus. Before the gathering dispersed hearty votes of thanks were tendered the judges and the Business College students. Mr. Ross McPherson, President of the Society, occupied the chair.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Having in view the excellent results obtained in 1907 and 1908 in stimulating a greater interest in the production of better seed grain, Agricultural Societies will again be assisted in the holding of competitions in standing field crops during 1909 under the following regulations:—

1. NATURE OF COMPETITION. Competitions will be limited to one crop, to be selected by the society, which should be the one of the most importance to the farmers of the district. Entries for competition must consist of not less than five acres, and when beans and potatoes are entered, the minimum plot must not be less than one acre.

Selection must be made from the following crops, viz., Spring, Fall, or Goose Wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, peas, alsike clover, red clover, potatoes, beans or any other staple crop produced for seed in Ontario.

2. COMPETITORS. Competition shall be limited to members of an agricultural society and the fields entered must not be more than fifteen miles from its headquarters. Competitors shall be allowed to make entry in only one society and but one entry can be made by each competitor.

3. SOCIETY'S ENTRY. Societies desiring to enter this competition must notify the Superintendent not later than the First Day of May, and must make not less than ten entries nor more than twenty-five.

4. INDIVIDUAL ENTRIES. All individual entries must be forwarded by the secretaries of the societies to J. Lockie Wilson, Superintendent of Agricultural Societies, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, before the First of June, 1909.

5. Societies may, if thought advisable, charge competitors an entry fee of not more than one dollar.

An amount of not less than $50 must be offered in prizes by each society, to be divided as follows: $15, $12, $10, $8, and $5. Of the above amount the Ontario Department of Agriculture will contribute $30. The balance is to be contributed by the society, and this $20 can be counted as expenditure for agricultural purposes in the yearly financial statement.

JUDGES. The Ontario Department of Agriculture will furnish expert judges free of charge.

GRAIN EXHIBIT AT WINTER FAIRS. Large prizes will be offered by the Department for two bushel sacks of grain at both Guelph and Ottawa Winter Fairs, the competition for which will be confined to prize-winners in the Standing Field Crop Competitions. Full particulars will be furnished later to the prize winners.

SHEAF EXHIBIT. In addition to the above, arrangements have been made with the Directors of the Canadian National Exhibition, to be held in Toronto August 28th to September 12th, to donate $240 in prizes for a sheaf exhibit of grain from the fields, the owners of which were awarded prizes in the Standing Field Crop Competitions. For this Sheaf exhibit the Province has been divided into three districts and prizes amounting to $80 will be awarded to competitors in each of the three divisions mentioned below for the following kinds of grain:—

	Wheat	Oats	Barley	Rye
First Prize	$6	$6	$6	$6
Second Prize	5	5	5	5
Third Prize	4	4	4	4
Fourth Prize	3	3	3	3
Fifth Prize	2	2	2	2

DIVISION 1. Includes Muskoka, Parry Sound, Haliburton, Nipissing, Algoma and other districts in New Ontario.

DIVISION 2. All counties east of York and Simcoe.

DIVISION 3. York, Simcoe and all counties west and south-west of same.

Each sheaf entered must contain not less than 1,000 stems and must be boxed and shipped C.O.D. to the Superintendent of Agricultural Products, Exhibition Park, Toronto, not later than August 20th. All entries for this exhibit must be made to J. Lockie Wilson, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, before August 2nd, 1909.

FIELD CROP COMPETITIONS.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the rules and regulations governing the field crop competitions held under the direction of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. An increased appropriation has been set aside for this work this year. These competitions, which were only inaugurated in 1907, have aroused great interest wherever they were undertaken and it is stated that the prize-winners were enabled to sell their grain at 100 per. cent above market prices. In 1908, 47 agricultural societies entered and 650 farmers took part in these competitions. Owing to the rapid extension of the work it has been decided to limit the number of societies taking part in the competition to one hundred. The Department supplies expert judges free of charge. Some of the main objects of the competitions are:—

(1) Stimulating a greater interest in the growing of first class grain.

(2) Encouraging the practice of growing seed for next year's crop in a field by itself, using only the best obtainable seed from the largest yielding strains, sowing it on the cleanest and best prepared land, allowing it to ripen, and threshing and storing separately.

(3) Obtaining pure seed, i. e., free from other varieties, the presence of which can best be detected when the crop is growing.

(4) Promoting the sowing of seed from clean, vigorous crops of uniform stand, with bright stiff straw.

(5) Ensuring careful and intelligent farming and the production of seed free from weeds.

The Department has arranged with the Directors of the Canadian National Exhibition to have a sheaf exhibit at Toronto. Those eligible to compete are the prize winners in the standing Field Crop Competitions throughout the Province.

SIN AND PUNISHMENT.

Consciousness of Wrong-Doing is Itself a Torture.

Rev. H. Harper Preaches Fourth Sermon on Book of Genesis.

Rev. H. Harper preached the fourth of his series of sermons on the first eleven chapters of the Book of Genesis, to a large and attentive congregation on Sunday night. The topic selected was "Punishment following Transgression," the speaker basing his remarks on Genesis 3 : 7-19. The line of argument was the same as that adopted on the preceding Sunday, namely, the evidence of the holy record as seen in the reproduction of the scenes recorded, in the lives of individuals in every age.

The speaker maintained that one of the universal laws of God was the fact that sin always brings punishment. Sooner or later Nemesis overtakes the culprit and avenges the wrong done. This is seen even if repentance takes place and forgiveness is extended to the transgressor. The consciousness of sin is in itself hell. A vivid description was given of the soul-anguish of Cain, when he came to God and said, 'my punishment is greater than I can bear" and of the remorse of Bill Sykes, one of Dickens' characters, after the murder of Nancy, his paramour.

The first punishment that the sin of Adam and Eve brought was fear of God. Hitherto they had enjoyed intercourse with Him and had delighted in His presence. Now they hid themselves from Him amidst the trees of the garden. Such is the history of the race. The child, in its innocence, runs to meet its parent, but having disobeyed his command gives him no greeting and hides from his presence. The honest citizen brushes sleeves with the policeman and chats familiarly with him, but the day he commits a crime he turns down a side street at the sight of an officer. Sinful men fear God and regard Him as a God of vengeance and hide from Him.

Each of the culprits cast the blame on the other. The action of Adam was that of a coward, when accused of wrongdoing. "The woman gave me of the tree and I did eat" he exclaimed. The woman said "the serpent beguiled me and I did eat." No one was willing to shoulder the responsibility of their wrong doing. Human nature remains the same in every age. Confront a man with his sin today and without exception he will lay the blame on other shoulders than his own. "Companionship," "Inherited tendencies," "Environment" and family infelicity are freely blamed. Then the fact is that in the last analysis the individual is largely responsible.

The speaker then went on to show that everything associated with the sin of our first parents was punished. The serpent was cursed above all cattle and probably reduced in his standing from the high position he occupied in the Creation and made to crawl on the ground. Enmity was put between the seed of the woman and the serpent. Is this enmity not a fact? Does there not exist a deadly hatred between man and the serpent? It is inwrought in the fibre of every human being. Any of us will go out of our way to kill a serpent. While bird and beast are not molested, we will pursue and wantonly kill a serpent and no person remonstrates. The primal hate and curse remain. The ground too was cursed. The Divine declaration was that it should bring forth thorns and thistles to vex and harass the toiler. These are among the great obstacles the agriculturist meets to-day, and will continue such to the end of the chapter because of the Divine decree.

To the woman came the punishment of sorrow and burden bearing and her desire was to be toward her husband. How literally and terribly has the punishment followed woman in every age of the world's history. The hour of childbirth is her hour of peril. The burdens of life press most heavily on her shoulders. Men know practically nothing of the sorrows, heart anguish and anxiety of family life that fall to the lot of women even in civilized lands. In heathen lands her condition of degradation and suffering is beyond description.

Man was condemned to eat bread in the sweat of his brow. His life was to be one of servitude and hardship. From a reluctant earth he was to wring a scanty sustenance. Was this true of the race? There is no fact of daily life more patent to the most casual observer. Stand at the mouth of the mine or the door of the factory, and see the workmen stream out to their mid-day meal or evening rest. The faces are marked with grime and sweat,the hands hardened with toil, the backs bent with the burdens they bear. The toilers of the office appear with pale faces and lines of nervous exhaustion and show conclusively that by the sweat of the brain and the brow they earn their bread. Earth's toiling millions attest the fact that the primal curse was no myth or fable, but a sad, sad fact.

The last and greatest penalty for transgression was death — spiritual death, which occurred at once, the separation of the soul from God. In the language of science man ceased to correspond with his spiritual environment. As a deaf man is dead to all sounds and the blind man is dead to all the sights of earth, so man spiritually became deaf and blind to God. The correspondence with God ceased. Man was out of touch with his spiritual environment. Physical death was part of the punishment. This was no empty threat, no myth, no chimera. It has followed man down the generations from Adam to the present hour. Death has passed on all men for all have sinned. Do men still die? Is the Record true? Look at the crape on the door as you pass down the street. See the funeral procession wending its way to the cemetery and then judge for yourself whether this awful thing, death,which was not in God's original plan, but came as a punishment for sin, is a fact or not. Not a jot or tittle of the Word has failed of fulfilment.

Rev. Mr. Harper will preach the last sermon of the series next Sunday evening.

Watson, Hogg, Breen and Wallace and they say they are no more expensive than stone.

MARSVILLE.

The Guild held its closing meeting on Tuesday evening of last week when a very pleasant and social time was spent. The attendance was the largest of the season and the program was given by the male members of the Guild. The most interesting event was a debate, "Resolved that Eastern Canada has greater advantages than Western Canada." The decision was given in favor of the negative. Messrs. Thompson and McDougal rendered a couple of duetts which were well given and well received. Mr. S. Everson very generously supplied instrumental music. A few readings and short addresses were also contributed by the other members. At the conclusion of the programme the ladies provided lunch, which was greatly appreciated by all present.

Since the change of the mail route the mail arrives here between 1 and 2 o'clock. Mr. Montgomery, the mail carrier, remains here one hour before making the return trip. The change has not yet proven to be of any advantage to those interested in this vicinity.

Rev. Mr. Fowlie, of Erin, preached in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday and delivered an excellent discourse.

ALTON.

Magistrate Hawkins was called upon to adjudicate on a rather unusual case on Saturday afternoon. The principals were George Glassford and Levi Hillock, rival butchers in the neighboring village of Charleston,and Thos. Speers, a Caledon farmer. Glassford and Hillock have their shops in the same building and consequently each of them has an excellent opportunity to see just what his opposition is doing. Glassford laid an information against Hillock charging him with slaughtering a steer infected with lump jaw and selling the meat to the public. Hillock bought the animal from Speers and Glassford prosecuted Hillock and Speers under the Public Health Act. The charge against Speers was dismissed without any evidence being heard for the defence. Hillock would probably have escaped just as easily but he insisted upon volunteering evidence in order that the public might be informed as to the facts. He called Wm. Stubbs, V.S., Government Inspector, J. W. Aiken, of Orangeville, who purchased the hide of the animal in question, and three members of the Speers family and also gave evidence himself. The witnesses proved conclusively that the animal was in perfect health and that there was not the slightest foundation for the charge. The Magistrate unhesitatingly dismissed the charge, but, upon Glassford representing that he had laid the information under the direction of the Inspector for the Township Board of Health, who by the way was not present, reserved his decision as to whether Glassford or the Board of Health should pay the costs. Glassford conducted his own case and J. N. Fish, of Orangeville, appeared for the defence.

CHARLESTON.

As intimated in last week's issue, legal proceedings have again been invoked by some of our villagers. One of our village butchers, Mr. Levi Hillock, and a farmer, Mr. Thos. Speers, 1st line, east, were before Magistrate Hawkins, of Alton, charged with selling and offering for sale diseased meat. Mr. George Glassford, acting it is presumed for the Township Board of Health, was the prosecutor in the case. The case was heard on Saturday, April 3rd. Mr. Fish, an Orangeville barrister, appeared for the accused and Mr. Glassford conducted his own case. After hearing the evidence the Magistrate gave his decision in favor of the defendants, but reserved his judgment as to whether Glassford or the Board of Health should pay the costs.

FRIGHTFUL STOMACH TROUBLE

For Four Long Years He Suffered—Then "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

Stratford Centre, Wolfe Co., Que. May 11th, 1908.

I have been completely cured of a frightful condition of my stomach through this wonderful medicine, "Fruit-a-tives." I suffered for four long years with this trouble. My head ached incessantly. I could not eat anything but what I suffered awful pains from indigesti I used every known remedy and was treated by physicians, but the dyspepsia and headaches persisted in spite of the treatment.

I was told to try "Fruit-a-tives," and I sent for six boxes, and this was the only medicine that did me any good. I am now entirely well, I can eat ordinary food and I never have a headache, and for this relief I thank this wonderful remedy "Fruit-a-tives." OIL FOR DOMESTIC WHEELS.

Marble should be washed with ammonia and water rather than with soap and water.

Hang away in their proper places before you sleep, garments you have worn in the evening.

A little borax boiled in the coffee pot twice a week fifteen minutes sweetens and purifies it.

Dried lemon peel sprinkled over coals will destroy any disagreeable odor about the house.

Potato water is excellent for cleaning mud stains from nearly any kind of cloth or garment.

Where the colors are not "fast," use a cupful of salt to each gallon of water when washing garments.

A ham is greatly improved if after being boiled it is wrapped in buttered paper and baked for an hour.

Table linen in order to bring out the bright gloss that makes it attractive should be dampened considerably.

Before mixing canned tomatoes with any dish try putting in a pinch of soda. Will prevent many a failure.

To make candles last through a long dinner or afternoon tea, keep them on ice twenty-four hours before using.

Embroideries and colored garments should be ironed on the wrong side.

CHASE AWAY THE TIRED FEELING.

Dodds' Kidney Pills Will Do It Quickly and Naturally.

Stayner, Ont., April 5th (Special) —In the Spring the Kidneys always need attention. They have additional work in straining the winter's accumulation of impurities out of the blood and if they are at all out of order, it is sure to tell on them. It is only a question of the best method of treating them and Ernest Colwell of this place, adds his testimony to the great mass of proof that the one sure cure for sick Kidneys is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Some time ago," says Mr. Colwell, "I had severe Pains and Soreness in the small of my back, and sometimes noticed a brick dust sediment in my urine, so of course I knew my Kidneys were affected. I procured some of Dodd's Kidney Pills which readily cured the pains and soreness and restored the urine to its natural color. I always recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Everybody needs medicine in the Spring, and the medicine they need is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They clear the blood of impurities and by giving the blood free circulation, speedily and naturally chase away that tired feeling. It is caused by sluggish circulation, and Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure it.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

Easter Lesson. I Cor. xv : 12-28.

Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. I Cor. xv : 20.

Verses 12-13—Does the doctrine of the resurrection of the body rest upon revelation or upon reason ?

Providing the soul is immortal is it or not, of material importance whether the body is raised or not?

If there is no resurrection of the dead, it follows as Paul here states, that Christ is not risen; but is the converse true, that if Christ is risen then all human being will necessarily be resurrected ?

It seems that some in Corinth denied the resurrection of the dead in the sense that there is no life after death, now if that were true, then how much would there be left of Christianity ?

What is the process of reasoning that demonstrates the fact of immortality ?

What is the scripture proof of life after death ?

Can you mention a single nation or tribe of the past, or at the present, which has not believed in immortality in some shape ?

Verses 14-17—If there is no resurrection of the dead, how would that make their preaching vain, make our faith vain, and make them false witnesses ?

Verses 18-19—How is it that all men instinctively believe in the immortality of their departed friends, and expect to meet them again ?

It was doubtless true in Paul's day that if there was no immortality Christians were of all men most miserable, because, they were then despised, imprisoned and put to death; but is the same true to-day? Is not Christ's religion now a grand thing for this world, even if death did end all ?

Verse 20—What is the chief evidence of the truth of Christianity?

What is the proof that Jesus did rise from the dead ? (See Matt. xxvi: 16-18; Mark xvi : 14; Luke xxiv : 36-38; John xx : 4, 5, 14, 26 ; xxi : 4 ; Acts i : 3, 13, 30, 31; I Cor. xv : 3-8, et seq.)

Is the fact of the resurrection of Jesus to be proved by evidence, like any other fact and is there any other historic fact better attested ?

Why was it, when Jesus was crucified that His disciples were a dispirited band, having lost heart, and going back to their former occupation, and what was it afterwards that put new life in them, and made them the most courageous men that ever lived?

What became the prominent theme of their preaching ?

Is it credible that such noble men, who afterward laid down their lives for the truth, would testify that they had seen and talked to Jesus after his death, if they had not so seen him ?

Verses 21-22—Would there have been natural death if there had been no sin ?

Would there have been any resurrection of the dead, if Jesus had not been resurrected ?

Verses 23-28—Was Christ the first man to rise from the dead ?

When will the general resurrection be ?

Will Christ finally abolish death and destroy sin ?

Has God put all the forces of nature under the control of Jesus ?

Lesson for Sunday, April 18, 1909. —The Conversion of Saul. Acts ix : 1-30.

A GOOD STOMACH.

Means Good Health, Cheerfulness, Ambition, Persistency and Success.

Mi-o-na will cure your dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble by building up the flabby walls and making the stomach so strong that it will digest food without pepsin or other artificial aid.

T. Stevenson is the agent for Mi-o-na in Orangeville and he says to every reader of The Banner, whose stomach is weak, who has indigestion or dyspepsia, that Mi-o-na is guaranteed to cure or money back.

The price is only 50 cents a large box, and one box is all you need to prove that you are on the right road to health and happiness.

Mr. Geo. Linder, of corner Mill and Park Streets, Elmira, Ont., says: "For about ten years I have been severely troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that I could not retain my food after eating. I could not eat meat, or scarcely anything and had headaches and constipation. I secured a package of Mi-o-na with the result that now after having taken two boxes I am entirely cured and can eat anything, digest perfectly and am feeling fine. Mi-o-na also overcome my constipation. I am only too glad to publicly endorse and recommend Mi-o-na."

A boy going to school in Port Elgin prepared the following essay on ducks : "The duck is a low, heavy set bird composed mostly of meat and feathers. He is a mighty poor sinner, having a hoarse voice, caused by getting so many frogs in his neck. He likes the water and carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking. The duck has only two legs and they are set so far back on his running gears by nature that they came pretty near missing his body. Some ducks have curls on their tails and are called drakes. Drakes don't have to set or hatch, but just loaf, go swimming and eat. If I was to be a duck I'd rather be a drake."

Nobody admires a knocker, yet he can always get an audience.

WILL OCEAN STEAMERS RUN TO WINNIPEG.

A despatch from Ottawa to the effect that engineers have learned by son Bay, opens a long vista of speced by ocean steamers by way of Hudsob Bay, opens a long vista of speculations. The despatch in question says :

In regard to transportation from the West by way of Hudson Bay, the totally unepected discovery has been made that it is perfectly feasible to make Winnipeg a terminal for ocean-going steamers. John Armstrong, Chief Engineer of Railways and Canals, has sent in a preliminary report on the surveys for the proposed Hudson Bay Railway, of the two considered alternative routes to Fort Churchill and Port Nelson. These surveys so far indicate that Port Nelson may be found the better point of the two as a terminus for the railway and the regular port of arrival and departure for ocean going steamers. At the same time the information gathered by the various survey in the Port Nelson section shows that it would be possible to canalize the Nelson River to Lake Winnipeg for steamers of 33 feet draught. From the lake to the Red River there already is a natural channel of that depth, and by that channel and the Red River the city of Winnipeg could be reached and ocean-going steamers loaded there with grain from the West for Europe, bringing back return freight for the West. Port Nelson is open to navigation for six months in the year, and is sixty to seventy miles closer to Winnipeg than Fort Churchill. It is surrounded by a better country, capable of agricultural development. There is one drawback, however, namely, that the approach to Port Nelson from the bay is more shallow than to Fort Churchill, and would have to be deepened for a distance of ten miles, against a comparatively short distance from Churchill. The Churchill entrance, on the other hand, is pretty nearly all rock, whereas that to Nelson is sand or clay.

DEATH OF MRS. THOS. MORPHY

Mr. W. S. Morphy, barrister, a week ago Monday received a telegram from his uncle, Mr. Thos. Morphy, of California, informing him that the latter's wife had died on Saturday. It will be two years in May since the family sought better health for Mrs. Morphy in California. Their home there is at Ocean Park, fifteen miles from Los Angeles. Mrs. Morphy had been an invalid for some three or four years and the end came peacefully. She was a native of Bristol, England, and about 55 years of age. She was a kindly woman and an indulgent mother and greatly loved by her family to whom her departure, though long expected, will be a sore bereavement. Mrs. Morphy was a life-long attendant of the Church of England and active in church work in the church here during her many years' residence in Brampton. Mrs. Morphy is survived by her husband and two sons, Percy and Alan and three daughters.—Peel Banner.

What the woman who has visited the Christie Factory says to her friends—

"I NEVER realized all that the 'Christie' brand on biscuits meant until I went through the big factory in Toronto.

"The cleanliness of the whole place amazed me. I don't mean that it is clean as judged by factory standards, but clean according to any standard.

"We women control the purse-strings when it comes to buying biscuits, and it's no wonder Christie, Brown & Co. are glad to have us inspect their factory. To my mind it is the strongest advertisement they could have.

"You'd be surprised to see the staff that is kept busy, day in and day out all the year round—cleaning, cleaning, cleaning.

"The windows, floors, walls, ceilings, machinery, etc.—all speak volumes for the sanitary conditions under which Christie's Biscuits are made.

"It's a picture to see the 'Christie Girls'—over three hundred of them—in spotless white. Each girl is supplied with two complete uniforms a week from the firm's private laundry.

"It was explained to me how every ounce of raw material is tested, and how, at each step throughout the process of mixing, baking and packing, the Christie quality is jealously guarded.

"I am convinced that if every woman in Canada could visit the Christie factory as I did, they would not think of using any but Christie's Biscuits in future."

The best Grocers everywhere in Canada have Christie's Biscuits. Sold in bulk, by the pound, or in moisture and dust-proof packages.

THE GLORY OF LIFE.

On the bell of a small village church in the east of Germany there is carved the figure of a cornstalk. The cornstalk has an interesting story connected with it. When the church was built the poor people had spent all their money and had nothing over with which to buy a bell to hang in the tower. One day when the schoolmaster was going to the service he saw growing out of a crack in the old crumbling wall of the church-yard a green stalk of corn. The idea suddenly struck him that perhaps this green stalk of corn, on what we call the "snowball plan," which grows bigger as it rolls on, might be made the means of getting the coveted bell. He waited until the cornstalk was golden ripe and then plucked the small ears that were on it, and sowed them next spring in his garden. In the autumn time he gathered the little crop thus produced, and sowed it again, till at last he had not room enough in his garden for the harvest. So he divided the seeds among a certain number of farmers, who went on sowing the produce until in the eighth year the crop was so large that when it was put together and sold, they found they had enough to buy a large and beautiful bell, and they carved upon it the story of its origin, and the stalk of corn to which it owed its existence. The most glorious thing about life is its power to reproduce itself. If one had choice between a handful of wheat and a handful of diamonds, they would of course take the diamonds, but if that were the only wheat in the world, every grain of the handful would be worth more than the finest diamond in King Edward's crown. The diamond has no power to reproduce itself, but that handful of wheat cast into the earth's bosom could be made to multiply until it would feed the millions of mankind with bread. It was a wonderful thing that Jesus said when He declared of His mission, "I am come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly."

REFUSES TO BE QUEEN

Bride Forces King of Christmas Island to Abdicate—Doesn't Care for Savage Royalty

Winnipeg, March 30.—Christmas Island, in the Pacific Ocean, near Singapore, will have to find a new King, for its present ruler, John Davis Murray, a graduate of Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., was married recently in London to a lady who prefers civilized domesticity to savage royalty. Murray will therefore abdicate. Intimation of this was given by Murray himself when he cabled to former college chums. Murray as manager of the Phosphate Company's interests on Christmas Island had been made King of the islanders so that he should have sufficient authority over the natives. He is a son of the late Supt. J. Murray of the C.P.R. at Winnipeg, and for several years was a resident of this city also, being engaged as express messenger by the Dominion Express Company. The lady who has just become his bride but refuses to share his throne amidst the savagee is a daughter of Mr. H. McMicken, agent of the Great Northern Railway in London, England, and also an old-time Winnipegger. They were married in London on the 4th instant.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription — Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments —the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail—then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by T. Stevenson.

NEGRO BOY SHOT FATHER

Was Sentenced to Five Years for Manslaughter

Windsor, March 25.—William Thompson, a colored youth of sixteen years, frail in physique and subject to violent fits of temper, was placed on trial at Sandwich this morning before Justice Teetzel and a jury of his peers on charge o imurdering his father, Elijah Thompson. The father had chastised three of his sons for not splitting as much wood as he thought they should have done.

While upstairs in the house, William heard his father say he did not care how soon every one of his children left, and there are eleven living. William responded he was going to get out at once. This apparently made the father angry and he started upstairs. He had gone only a few steps when the son discharged a Lee-Enfield rifle which inflicted a mortal wound in the father, who, living only a few hours, forgave his son before he died.

The trial came to a sudden termination just after the noon assizes, when the prisoner's counsel offered to have a plea of guilty entered on a charge of manslaughter. Crown Prosecutor Meredith made no objections and Justice Teetzel immediately passed sentence, ordering the prisoner to be confined in Kingston Penitentiary for a period of five years.

How is a Cold to be Cured

When it has reached the chest, is developing into bronchitis and threatens to become pneumonia.

So gradually and stealthily does a cold pass from its simpler form of a cold in the head into inflammation of the bronchial tubes and then on to the lungs that many do not realize their condition until pneumonia is upon them.

Ordinarily, of course, the cold is thrown off, but with the system run down and weakened there is every reason to expect serious trouble.

Why should not every cold be taken seriously and Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine used before a severe illness is upon you.

There are many reasons why you should use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is more thorough and far-reaching in its effects on the system than any mere cough medicine can possibly be. It keeps the cough loose and open, it aids expectoration and allays the inflammation.

It does more than this. It cures the cold as well as the cough. It is direct, positive and almost specific in action.

ENTERTAINED THE EDITORS.

Press Association Had an Interesting Time at Peterboro.

City Council and Local Newspaper Men Were Capable Hosts—Some Presentations.

Peterboro will probably be as much noted among newspaper men in future for its hospitality as it has been famous in other respects, heretofore. The city council had heard of the coming of the Canadian Press Association on their annual trip, following the convention in Toronto, and decided that they should be properly entertained. The manufacturers of the city had fallen in with the schemes of the council, and as a result such a day was spent as will live long in the memory of the editors who made the trip. The special C.P.R. train had on board over two hundred members of the association and a large number of their friends when it left the Union Station, Toronto, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. The weather was distinctly wintry.

There was much to be seen in Peterboro, though, and for that reason the early arrival was appreciated.

No time was lost. Representatives from the city council met the train at Burketon Junction, and they at once took hold of the proceedings. Everything had been arranged.

VISITED THE C. G. E.

The Canadian General Electric Company was the first place of interest visited.

This industry has gained a wide reputation in Ontario. By those who are interested in electric work it is considered to be one of the finest plants on the continent. Here every summer large numbers of students from the School of Practical Science work, for there they realize they obtain a training in the practical side of their electric work which can not be gained at the college. Through the co-operation of the management of the works, the visit was so arranged that at least an idea of the work which is being carried on there could be gained. E. G. Patterson, general superintendent of the works, himself conducted the party over the different shops, and explained as far as was possible the working of the plant

Everything needed that electricity may be harnessed for the good of man is made in these shops. Dynamos, generators and metres are made, and the Press Association saw them in the making. Here was to be seen, too, the application of the modern laws of labor. The work is all specialized. One department makes one part of the machine, and that part alone. Another department makes another. Still another puts the parts together. All are being made at the same time, and the finished product, the great machines capable of giving tremendous motive power, are turned out in wonderfully short time.

HAD PICTURE TAKEN

When the visitors had seen the last building of the electric works they returned to their train, which had been drawn up on the switch of the Electric works, but before entering the cars to be taken to the works of the Canadian Cordage Company, a picture of the party was taken.

At the electric works it had been the division and specialization of the labor which struck the layman. In the cordage works it was the wonderful process of building up.

THE CORDAGE WORKS

There, on entering the door, were to be seen great bales of raw manila hemp. Men were busy taking this out of the bales and putting it into machines which turned it out in long fibres. These fibres were run through machines which separated them and wound them into cords, some tightly woven and some not so tightly. Then there was a change. Some of the cords were wound right into the balls of binder twine which the farmers use in such quantities in harvest time. Others again were used in a further building up process. Four or five balls would be put on a machine, and by it be wound into a rope. These ropes ropes would again be wound into heavier ropes, until finally there was to be seen a machine where three of these heavy ropes were being wound into a great cable. It was a wonderful sight, though apparently so simple.

WELCOMED TO THE CITY

Then came lunch. Here also the committee had made every arrangement. Members of the council were at all the turning points along the way from the cordage works to the hotels, and directed the newspaper men to the houses to which they had been deputed. There they not only partook of a fine dinner, but were welcomed to the city in neat speeches made by Mayor Rush, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Ald. J. J. Turner. Some of the visitors replied to the nice things said, and then once again all set out, for there were still some points of great interest to be seen, and the time was short.

QUAKER OATS FACTORY

It was to the mills of the Quaker Oats Company that the party went first, and here a great treat was given the ladies who had come along. Many of them had probably used Quaker Oats, but now they were given an opportunity of seeing how they were made. It was a revelation. From the time the grain was brought from the cars into the mills until it was shipped out in large wooden boxes on which appeared the well-known figure of the hale and hearty Quaker, every step could be seen. From start to finish not a human hand touched the meal. Girls took the boxes and placed them in a machine which filled them. These were closed by machinery, when other girls placed labels upon them and sent them out to be packed in the large boxes.

In the office tables were arranged, and from these other girls served all with some of the foods they had just seen in the process of making. It was very evident that seeing the making had not taken away the visitors' appetite for the foods.

DID NOT SEE LIFT-LOCK

The intention had been to take the journalists from the Quaker Oats mills to the great hydraulic lift-lock, but the time was all too short. Moreover, while the sun had come out, making the day a beautiful one overhead, the snow was lying deep on the ground, and the walking was far from good, so it was decided that this part of the trip would not be taken.

At the station they said good-bye to the members of the Peterboro' council who had contributed so largely to make the trip a pleasant one, and then all settled down for the trip to Toronto.

SOME PRESENTATIONS

This trip was not uneventful. On it several presentations were made, showing appreciation of the Press Association for the kindness of the C.P.R. On behalf of the association, C. W. Young of Cornwall, vice-president, presented R. L. Thompson, the district passenger agent, with a beautiful cut glass set, and Mr. D. Carmichael, baggageman, with a similar set. George Hare, head of the Publicity department of the railway, was presented with a carving set, and replied with one of the humorous addresses for which he is noted. The Press Association gave their secretary, J. R. Bone, a cut glass set.

THE COWBOY BARONET.

Sir Genille Cave-Brown-Cave proves Zam-Buk excellent for Hurts and Sores.

Sir Genille Cave-Brown-Cave, of Stretton Hall, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leicestershire, who is better known in Canada as "the Cowboy Baronet" has had a wide experience of the value of Zam-Buk. Writing to a friend recently, and speaking of this great balm, he says:—

"I feel it is only my duty to let you know what great benefit I have derived by keeping Zam-Buk handy, and having it in constant use. For the sprains and bruises which I have incured in my horsemanship, and in my cowboy life generally, I have found it a reliable and speedy healer. Some of the best riders in the West that I know, use Zam-Buk regularly with the greatest benefit. I may mentioo that, on one occasion, my horse, "Bob," came down with me, rolling over my limbs, and tearing pieces of skin off my arms. By use of Zam-Buk immediately the wounds and bruises were cleanly and quickly healed, and the raw parts covered with new, healthy skin.

"When on the Mexican plains, I have used Zam-Buk for poisonous insect-bites.

"Zam-Buk has yielded me far more remarkable results and generally proved more reliable than anything could have done in the way of mere ointments or embrocations, and I think it unequalled for skin injuries and diseases."

No clearer evidence than the above from this well-known Baronet could be needed to prove the unique merit of Zam-Buk, and to show the wisdom of always keeping handy a box of this wonderful balm.

Zam-Buk is Nature's own healing balm, being composed of pure herbal essences. It is a sure cure for eczema, ring-worm, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, poisoned sores, chronic wounds, bad leg, piles, festering sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c. a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 3 boxes $1.25. You are warned against harmful imitations, sometimes represented to be "just as good."

WHERE FARMERS ARE SCARCE

A significant statement was made last week in the Ontario Legislature by Mr. Proudfoot of Huron when he referred to the fact that one-fifth of the member-ship of the present Legislature is made up of lawyers. It is doubtful if there are more than five members in the House whose regular occupation is that of farming. This is a most extraordinary state of affairs in a Province which is supposed to be mainly agricultural.

A retired backelor, living on the college section of Princeton, finding that he needed a freshly laundered shirt to wear to an approaching banquet, despatched his man with a soiled garment, telling him to leave it at the first laundry he came to.

The servant was a new one, and an Irishman. Consequently, when he returned it occurred to his master to ask him if he would know the place at which he had left the shirt when it came time to go for it.

"Yis," rejoined Patrick; "'tis only a few stheps up th' street, sor!"

"But there are no launderies in this vicinity!" declared his master in surprise.

"Beg pardon, sor, but Oi threw th' shirt into a house only four doors up, sor. It had a sign over th' door wid funny letters, and Oi new it was a Chinese laundry."

"Four doors up the street!" exclaimed his master, suddenly enlightened. "Why, Patrick, you've thrown me shirt in at the door of the Theta Phi chapter house!"

A party of actors, all out of work, were having a little drinking party in one of their rooms at the boarding house. They had expended the combined wealth of the crowd and were yet thirsty. A brilliant idea came to one of them—a very popular comedian, well known everywhere and well liked.

He borrowed an empty suitcase from one of the crowd, put on his hat and coat and told them to wait.

"Good-by, Timmy. I'm off for a three months' trip."

"Sorry you're going. Can you find room in your grip for a bottle to console you on your way?"

"I'll try to," said the actor man as he stowed a quart into the empty valise.

He went the rounds of a number of places, bidding them all a sad farewell, until he had the suitcase filled with quarts, after which he returned with joy to his companions, who wondered how he did it.

SAVE THIS, ANYWAY.

Here is a simple home-made mixture as given by an eminent authority on Kidney diseases, who makes the statement that it will relieve almost any case of Kidney trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease. He states that such symptoms as lame back, pain in the side, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, painful and discolored urination, are readily overcome. Here is the recipe. Try it:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here in town is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, and often overcomes the worst forms of Rheumatism in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rheumatism by forcing the Kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and system all uric acid and foul, decomposed waste matter, which cause these afflictions. Try it if you aren't well. Save the prescription.

BAD BLAZE AT DURHAM

Entire Business Section of Town Was Threatened for Time

Durham, March 26.—Fire broke out last night in an old frame building on Main street, north of the McIntyre and McKechnie blocks and completely destroyed it. For some time there was fear that the entire business section might be swept, but effective work by the local fire brigade confined the fire to narrow limits. The burned building was owned by J. McKechnie, and occupied by two butcher shops, Jones' and Tinker's. Their combined loss was about five hundred dollars, but greater loss was occasioned to the adjacent block, where the stock of Webster's jewellery store was damaged by fire and smoke. Total loss estimated at about three thousand, partly insured. The trunk lines and local wires of the Bell Telephone Company were broken, and the service interrupted for some hours.

A woman laughs most heartily at a story of which she fails to see the point.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

PERSONALITY OF GOD.

Rev. G. W. Hewitt Accepts Mr. Farlow's Challenge.

Contrasts His Definition with That Of Christian Science.

Mr. Editor.

Dear Sir,—The challenge of Mr. Farlow to give my definition of the personality of God in comparison and contrast with the definition that "Christian Science" gives of His personality, brings me again to request your favor of a column in your paper. If we consult the dictionary as to the meaning of the word "Person," we will find that it tells us that a Person is "a being possessed of personality, an intelligent being." And God being a person possesses intrinsically and essentially Intelligence, Will, Power, Righteousness and Love. And these faculties God possesses, as attributes of His Person, in an infinite degree. God is therefore an Infinite and Eternal Spirit. Man being made in the image of God (see Gen. i : 27) is a person, and coming from His Creator's hand possessed the qualities of his Maker, in a finite degree. The qualities which I have attributed to God, as the attributes of His person, are spiritual. Therefore Jesus said (John iv : 24) "God is a Spirit." Hence we have God standing out before man—as He has revealed Himself—a Divine Person, whom man can know, at least in part. And we have man—conscious, personal man—standing out before God, whom God knows perfectly. I believe that this statement—which is certainly scriptural though brief, will commend itself to every reasonable mind. Now let us look at the Christian Science view of the "Personality of God." Mrs. Eddy says that "God is All, and All is God." Is it fair and truthful in Mr. Farlow to try to side-track his readers by saying that "Christian Science agrees with the Scriptural teaching concerning the 'All in All' of God," for that is just what it does not do. The Scripture teaching concerning the "All in All" of God, goes to show that God is "All in All" to His material universe, having created it by the "Word of His Power," and that He upholds it by the "Word of His Power." (See Heb. i : 2-3) that He is "All in All" to His living, sensitive creatures, for "He openeth His hand and satisfieth the desire of every living thing." (See Psl. 45 : 15-16); that God is "All in All" to His own children, in that He redeems them by the Blood of Christ, sanctifies them by the Holy Spirit, and keeps them by His power thro' faith unto Salvation perfect, final and eternal—ready to be revealed. Let us keep to Mrs. Eddy's definition and not be beguiled by Mr. Farlow's fatuous leading. She declares that "God is All and All is God." That is the Christian Science definition of God. And associated with this she declares that "Mind is all and matter is naught." that "There is no such thing as matter." (See Science and Health in 23rd Edition, page 379) Now these clear the way for another associate statement. This is it, "God is Spirit," not Jesus statement in John iv:24, "God is a Spirit." Very different! Let us look at this statement and put it thro' a legitimate logical process. (1) "God is Spirit" (2) Angel is Spirit, conclusion God is Angel. How very different if we employ Jesus' statement. "God is a Spirit." That says God is a Spirit of a certain and peculiar kind. And when we define the kind of Spirit God is, we have this definition, "God is an Infinite and Eternal Spirit." Now having proceeded thus far, and keeping in mind her definitions—given above—as to "Matter," and also as to "God" we are able to discover the subtilty of her use of the words i. e. "God is Spirit." She simply teaches and persists in teaching Pantheism, i. e. the absorption of man and the universe in the 'Totality of being." in the last analysis, the merging of the self-hood of man in God. Then all her fine talk—couched in Scriptural and theological words and phrases—about "sin," and the "Atonement of Jesus," about "Jesus the Way-shower," and man having to do the "works that Jesus did, in order to be saved." etc., is simply playing hide-and-seek with language, and drawing a blind over the eyes of those who are simple enough to be beguiled. "Christian Science" is clearly—according to Scripture — the seductions and doctrines of devils. (See I Tim. iv : 1).

Dear Sir, I am not concerned in following all the ground gone over in Mr. Farlow's letter. These positions have been answered before. In fact, if there is any meaning in reason, if language has the power to reflect reason, by the positions which I have taken above respecting the personality and character of God, the personality and nature of man, the distinctive reality of the material universe, the foundation is taken from Christian Science and the whole structure falls into unresolvable ruin. I can but pity the innocent people. (I fear all are not guileless) that are deceived by it.

And now in conclusion I feel that I ought to give an answer to the vaunting boast made by "Christian Science" that it must be judged by its fruits i. e. the number of sick people whom it heals, (the number that it tries to heal and fails, it doesn't tell us of). However, I disclaim for it any relation to the divine power of the Lord Jesus Christ, in its work of healing. In fact Mrs. Eddy herself denies that Jesus Christ has any part, in any way, in the healing performed by Christian Science. He is not even a "Wayshower." Let us quate, she says, —"Our Master healed the sick, and taught the generalities of its divine Principle to his students, but he left no definite rule for demonstrating his Principle of healing and preventing disease. This remained to be discovered through Christian Science." "In the year 1866 I discovered it and named it Christian Science." She claims that she discovered a system of metaphysical healing which Jesus was not competent to bring to men's intelligences.

There are three directions which Christian Science pursues. Three distinct lines at least, which it follows in its healing, i. e. (1) The force of a strong will—"Personality"—over one weaker than itself. (2) Suggestion. The emphatic persistent, overwhelming suggestion of health and denial of disease and sickness. (3) The alliance of the demonstrator with supernatural powers (not the Holy Spirit, for Christian Science knows nothing about the Trinity, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost), but a vague reliance upon the "All is harmony." the "All is mind," the "All is God," whatever that means. From my humble investigation of the system and the grounds from which they proceed to heal this is my conclusion. Dangerous! I leave my readers to estimate the dangers to bodily life, which have followed the system in its healing sphere. But to the faith and hope of men in Jesus Christ who alone is able to deliver the soul from the guilt of sin and save the body from infirmity and sickness (See Isa. 53 : 4-5) thro' the mighty virtue of His Atonement, here is where the claims of "Christian Science" as a healing agency are unspeakably dangerous.

Dear Sir, I have no disposition to write for debate simply, but in defence of the Truth, and to warn many against the fatal deceptions of this system, and help others who may be wavering to see whither they are being led and help lead them back again to solid ground. "He that hath My word, let him speak My word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat saith the Lord." Jer. 23 : 28.

SPRING BLOOD IS BAD BLOOD

How Best to Get New Health and Strength in Spring.

The winter months are trying to the health of even the most robust. Confinement in-doors in over-heated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, the office, the shop and the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery or clogged with impurities. Sometimes you get up in the morning just as tired as when you went to bed. Some people have headaches; others are low spirited; some have pimples and skin eruptions. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order. You can't cure these troubles with purgatives medicines, which merely gallop through the system leaving you still weaker. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine, and the one always reliable tonic and blood builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring ills but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anaemia, nervous debility, rheumatism, indigestion and kidney trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood which strengthens every nerve, every organ and every part of the body. Try this medicine this spring and you will have strength and energy to resist the torrid heat of the coming summer. Mr. J. R. Johnson, Loch Broom, N. B., says:—"Some two years ago I began to feel that my constitution was weakening. I could not stand any exposure or knocking about. I finally sought the aid of a doctor who said my system was very much run down, and that the trouble might end in nervous prostration. As his medicine did not help me I decided, on the advice of a friend, to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I had used less than a half dozen boxes when my health was fully restored, and I think no other medicine can equal these Pills when one is run down and out of health."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PRESENTATION TO JAMES NORRIS.

On Tuesday evening, 23rd ult., a large number of friends and acquaintances of Mr. James Norris assembled at the town hall, Belfountain, where the ladies furnished a sumptuous lunch, after which Reeve McBride was appointed chairman. Mr. L. Teeter read an appropriate address when Mr. Norris was presented with a handsome gold watch and chain. Mr. Norris replying in a neat and witty speech thanking his many friends for their kind recollections, stating that this token of their kindness and respect would be long remembered by him although sorry to leave them his memory would always go back to Caledon and Erin friends. The hall being cleared music was furnished by Atkinson Bros., the large and respected gathering enjoyed themselves for the balance of the evening. Mr. Norris left for his home just west of Toronto, near Burnhamthorpe, on Thursday the 25th ult. The Advocate wishes to state that Norris left a host of warm friends in this vicinity and it will not be long until he will have as many more at Burnhamthorpe.—Erin Advacate.

RELATION OF COUNTRY ROADS TO TOWNS AND CITIES.

Cities and towns, in their eagerness for great railway depots and terminals, have forgotten their interest in country roads. The city is the product of the country; the country is not the product of the city. The first roads on the continent were country roads, not city streets. As country roads were first in origin, so they are first in importance. There is too great a tendency among towns-people to overlook the wider application of the question of roads in general. With city paving, there is certainly a greater demand for engineering skill, and the engineering difficulties appear to be farther from solution than is the case with country roads. At the same time, the simplicity of country road construction is not always so real as it appears, and the difficulties are greatly increased by the deficiency of funds with which to overcome them. The same obstacle, it is true, is met with in city paving, and the question becomes in each case, one of obtaining the best results with a minimum of expenditure or within a limited cost. In view of the strict economy demanded, the construction of country roads, in selection of materials, location, drainage, grading, bridge and culvert building, and the various details, becomes a matter in which the greatest skill is not wasted.

The people in the cities are very apt to urge that, because their pavement cost so much per foot frontage more, because the farmer receives the reciprocal use of the city street in return for the city man's use of the country road, they have, therefore, discharged their obligation with regard to roads.

Country road building is, however, a matter of magnitude and expense, as compared with the number and wealth of those upon whom it now commonly rests. Wherever it is left solely to the farmer it will be years before the condition of the roads will be adequate to the complete development of the resources of any country. It is a great public work in which the entire citizenship must bear a part of the cost.

Whether or not the towns and cities discharge their strict duty in the construction of streets within their limits, their prosperity is dependent upon the prosperity of the country districts, and it is but a matter of self-interest, of profitable investment, to assist in road building.

If the farmer must come over the roads to the centre of population and the railway station, to dispose of his farm produce, it is equally necessary to the townsman that he should use the roads to draw the merchant's goods back to the farm. It merely happens as a matter of convenience for obvious reasons, that the farmer draws his produce to the town and his purchases back to the farm, instead of the merchant hauling his merchandise to the farmer and the produce of the farm back to the town. The country roads are of quite as much benefit to the townsman as to the farmer. Because the farmer provides horses and wagon, it does not follow that he should build all the roads as well.

Without means of access, a country is useless for production purposes. A farm of highest fertility within fifty miles of Toronto, if there were not roads by which it might be reached, would be as valueless as if situated in the heart of Africa. Distance is not measured by miles, but rapidity and ease of travel and transportation. It naturally follows that with the opening of the first wagon track leading to it the value of a farm commences and as the road improves the value of the farm advances, other conditions remaining constant. It is true that the more the country districts become filled with population the more rapidly the improvement of roads will advance, but it is equally true that the more rapidly the roads are improved the more rapidly will population advance. As population increases, the wealth of our cities will increase, and it therefore points forcibly to the conclusion that one of the potent means of improving and lengenthing town and city streets is to provide at the distant end of the chain of transportation, good country roads.—From Provincial Report for 1909 on Highway Improvement.

Is it worth while to cure yourself?

Sickness is to some extent a habit. This is especially true of biliousness and constipation. So long as you neglect treatment, or merely use medicine to move the bowels, the old trouble will return again and again.

Mrs. Jas. Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe, Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches and have found them the most effective treatment I ever used. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and specific action on the liver and on this account thoroughly cure billiousness and constipation. Their exceptional merit has made them known in nearly every home and you can depend on them absolutely. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A CHAMBER OF DOOM.

(By A Banker.)

Within a short distance of the Traitor's Gate —that gloomy and forbidding riverside portal of the Tower of London, whose heavy portcullis had so often been raised to admit some royal or noble prisoner who, after incarceration in a ramparted prison tower, was too often carried out, headless, through that same arched gateway, —stands a massive tower known as the Beauchamp Tower — said to have been originally built by Julius Caesar and enlarged and strengthened by William the Conqueror—which in those troublous times of English history, when brother fought many whom the more powerful faction warred against faction, was almost perpetually the prison home of many whom the more powerful faction had seized and deprived of their liberty, and also, too, of many imprisoned for their faith.

Well might the dread apothegm, "Abandon hope all ye who enter here," have been inscribed over that grim portal, or over the barred and bolted entrance to that gruesome dungeon. For of the scores and hundreds of unhappy victims who from time to time, pinioned in gyves and fetters, or shackled in bilboes and irons, pined away in those dismal cells, or were immured in that larger prison chamber reserved for captives of note, perhaps the majority were either kept in durance vile the greater part of their life, or were in many cases led forth into the square beneath the shadow of the White Tower where formerly stood the fatal block—now preserved within the Tower—and decapitated by the hideous masked public executioner.

The stone walls of this state prison room bear lasting testimony to the sufferings of those unhappy occupants many of whom had inscribed thereon their names and coats of arms, with, in numerous instances, pathetic aspirations for liberty, or expressions of the firmest and most steadfast faith; amongst the inscriptions being one carved in the stone by that ill fated young girl Lady Jane Grey, who, forced against her will, to accept the throne of England, after a reign of eleven days was dethroned by her powerful rival Mary, and, with her husband, beheaded in that square.

Aye, in those days of stress and trouble religion was a matter of far greater moment to many than it is in the present easy-going time of indifference. Even the terrors of the stake itself failed to cause those splendid martyrs to recant anh deny their Saviour, who for them had suffered an even more agonizing death in order, by bearing the punishment due by them, to make them meet for an inheritance in the eternal Realm. And now the martyr's crown is their reward.

DIVISION COURT.

The only case tried in Tuesday's Division Court involved the large sum of $3, which was the amount the plaintiff, Mr. J. E. Morrison, of the Dufferin House, claimed that Nathaniel Thompson, a Mono farmer, was indebted to him for meals supplied buyers from a distance who attended the defendant's stock sale two or three years ago. Morrison's story was that Thompson had told him he expected a number of parties by train for the sale and wanted him to give them meals. The landlord said he furnished twelve meals, but when he presented his bill Thompson refused to admit any obligation to pay. The weight of evidence was with the defendant and the Judge dismissed the action. J. L. Island for plff.; J. N. Fish, for deft.

A GOOD, NORMAL MILK.

Rumors have been in circulation attributing the illness prevalent in town at present to the milk supplied to many of our townspeople by Mr. Wm. Morrow, of Amaranth. To dispel any false impression that may have been created in this way, Mr. Morrow submitted a sample of the milk he is selling to the Provincial Analyst. The report was as follows:—

Toronto, April 5th, 1909.

Wm. Morrow, Esq., Orangeville,

Dear Sir,—The specimen of milk received from you on April 3rd, shows 3.5 per cent butter fat, no formaldehyde and no borates; a good, normal milk.

Yours truly,
JOHN A. AMYOT.

A. Y. P. A. MEETING.

The Anglican Young People's Association held an interesting meeting in St. Mark's Church on Monday night. The important feature of the programme was a debate on the subject, "Resolved that it would be better for Canada to assist Great Britain by building a Dreadnaught than by building her own Fleet." The affirmative was supported by Messrs. Stewart Hughes and Wendell Holmes and the negative by Messrs. Ross. McPherson and Norman Robertson. Strong, convincing arguments were advanced by each side and the judges, Messrs. Geo. Robb, W. T. Bailey and M. N. Armstrong, found it no easy task to reach a decision. They finally concluded that the weight of argument was slightly in favor of the affirmative and awarded the debate accordingly. A solo by Miss Edna Campbell, a violin solo by Master Willie Haslem and a cornet duett by Messrs. Smith and Morrow completed an enjoyable programme. The attendance was excellent.

CLAIMS PERPETUAL MOTION

A man named Jas. Burroughs, living near Wallaceburg, claims to have discovered perpetual motion. He has had the power running in his shop now for twelve months,and he says it has never stopped since he first started it. Burroughs says that the power of the contrivaoce which he has built cannot be fathomed, and thinks that it will become one of the wonders of the world before long Burroughs has the shop in which has contrivance is located always under lock and key, and he allows no one in lest his secret be discovered by interested parties. Patents for this invention have been applied for at Ottawa and Washington.

The temperance people of Tara and vicinity have organized a hotel company, have bought the British Hotel there, and will run it as a public house. The temperance people of Flesherton have built a new hotel there for public accommodation. The temperance element in Owen Sound has found it necessary to provide first-class hotel accommodation. In towns or villages of any size there must be public houses. If local option forbids the kind that sells liquor, the cold water variety must be furnished in some way. Durham is finding itself face to face with the problem. Temperance advocates must show their faith by their works in providing temperance hotels on a paying basis. If they do not local option will not stand long in some communities, and should not be attempted in many others.

FOR THE WORKING GIRL.

I am employed in a printing office, where I have had the privilege of reading the Youth and Beauty department of Word and Works for the past two years; and I have been very much interested and greatly benefitted, and it seems to me that I should thank some one for what has been to me such a help and blessing.

I found a few days since some rules for working girls, and mixing them with a few original ones of my own I pass them on, hoping that among Youth and Beauty's great army of readers that I am not the only girl who must leave her home to earn her living.

Never become familiar with your employer or other employees in the office or store; familiarity breeds contempt.

Never get careless about your work and think you are indispensable.

No difference how small the undertaking, do it as well as you can.

Do not go out to dinner with your employer or with married men. You are a lady,though you work for your living.

If you are not reliable in small things you cannot be trusted with big undertakings.

Be cheerful over your work. If you have to earn your living, you might just as well be happy as grumpy over it.

Put your whole heart and soul into doing your work well, and treat all with whom you come in contact courteously.

Attend to business during business hours, and be punctual.

If you are unpunctual,you are undependable; if you are undependable you are not wanted. Therefore, do not get into the habit of being late, or if you have got into it, get out of it as soon as possible.—A Working Girl.

YORK COUNTY LOAN DIVIDEND.

It is understood that it will be November, or possibly later, before the shareholders of the York County Loan will get their dividend. The liquidators have about 104,000 claims indexed, but there are still some ten thousand shareholders who have not yet sent in their passbooks. The National Trust, which are winding up the York Loan, sold 3,700 feet of land of the latter company this month, realizing $100,000.

A SURPRISED MINISTER.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from bronchial catarrh, and had despaired of anything like a cure. Judge of my pleasant surprise when I first used Hyomei, which brought complete relief. Hyomei has been a veritable godsend." — Rev. Charles Hartley, Sardinia, Ohio.

Thousands of catarrh sufferers have given up in despair. They have tried stomach dosing, snuff, sprays and douches without success, and now believe catarrh to be incurable.

But T. Stevenson, the druggist, holds out hope to all distressed. He sells a remedy called Hyomei which is guaranteed for catarrh, colds, coughs, bronchitis, asthma and croup.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated air, full of the healthy virtues of the mountain pines. You breathe in the delightful antiseptic air, and as it passes over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane,it allays the inflammation, kills the germs, and drives out the disease.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs but $1.00, and an extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cents. See T. Stevenson about it to-day.

A KINDLY ACT.

One of the finest traits in King Edward's character is his fidelity to early friendships. He seldom forgets anyone who has aroused his interest. A notable instance of this occurred a short time ago. An officer of one of the regiments with which he was connected in his earlier days got into serious trouble some years ago, over certain gambling transactions. He left his regiment and disappeared as completely as though he were dead. A few months ago, however, a gentleman who enjoys a large share of the King's confidence, mentioned that the officer was living under an assumed name, in an almost desitute condition, in South London. Great was the surprise of the unfortunate man, when next day he received a letter from a firm of well-known solicitors requesting him to call upon them, as they had good news for him. He went, and found that the good news consisted of a good round sum of money, and the offer of a small civil appointment. But the boon came too late, for the ex-army officer died before reaching his destination abroad. The kindly donor was the King, but at his express desire his name was along kept in the background.

Baltimore, Md. — "For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. RATHER ALARMING.

Two ladies, who had known each other in years gone by, met on the street. One of them,who had been married for some years,was pushing a baby carriage in which were fine triplets, all girls. The other lady had been in the bonds of matrimony a couple of weeks. "What beautiful children!" exclaimed the newly-married one with much interest, after the two friends had exchanged greetings. Yes, replied the proud mother, "and it was the funniest coincidence. At our wedding supper the boys who played with my husband in the orchestra serenaded him and played, "Three Little Maids," from "the Mikado.' Isn't that queer?" The newly married one gasped for breath and turned pale with horror. "Merciful heavens!" she gasped, "at our wedding supper, a couple of weeks ago, Tom's friends serenaded him also, and they rendered the sextette from 'Lucia!'"

ANALYTICAL CHEMIST TELLS OF PATENT MEDICINES

A graduate in organic chemistry, who has made a study of many of the best-known patent medicines on the market, states that many have virtue, but as a rule people have to pay for a lot of unnecessary expense. The following is the recipe of a well-known secret preparation, and is known by authority to be one of the best stomach and liver tonics. It is prescribed by many of the best physicians.

This mixture cures constipation and biliousness. The recipe:—

Fluid Extract Cascara.....	½	oz.
Syrup Rhubarb	1	oz.
Carriana Compound	1	oz.
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla	5	oz.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

An eminent authority, who has made a careful and scientific study of the relative values of drugs having a specific action on the kidneys, bladder, and liver, pronounces this an excellent combination.

You can buy the ingredients separately and mix at home.

Cut this formula out and save it.

SELLING THE AUTO.

"Don't you think we ought to get rid of that automobile?" asked Mrs. Spinner. "It's long past its usefulness for us, although it might be just the thing for some one just beginning."

"Strange," replied Mr. Spinner, "that you should have mentioned it, for that was just what I was about to do. I'll put my mind on it at once."

"Your mind? Um. Is that all?"

Spinner drew himself up.

"It is plain," he replied, "that you are very crude. You do not understand the simplest rules of thought transference."

"Do you mean to say that—"

"I mean to say that I shall at once send out some thought waves, conveying the unmistakable impression that I want to sell that machine. You just wait, and you will see the result."

Mrs. Spinner smiled incredulously. A few days later, however,she said, triumphantly, when he came home:

"Well, my dear, it's all right. I sold the car. A man came to-day I told him your price, and he offered me twentyfive dollars less, and I took it."

Spinner shook his head up and down. His face was wreathed in a large smile.

"Well!" he exclaimed, "what did I tell you! Now you will laugh at me, I suppose. Nevertheless, those thought waves of mine did the business."

His wife laughed.

"That's all right," she replied. "But how do you account for the fact that the man had an advertisement, which had been inserted in the paper, giving your name and address, and urging every one to call and see that car at this house?"

Spinner gazed at her in astonishment.

"Well, if that isn't just like a woman," he cried. "Don't you understand that the whole science of thought transference is yet in its infancy? The most we can do at present is to send out the waves of impulse and invitation. We haven't yet arrived at the point where we can transfer an address mentally. For this reason I inserted the advertisement, so that the man, when he received the impulse to buy that machine, would also have with it the impulse to look over the ad. pages and get my name and address in the usual manner."

Mrs. Spinnder thought for a moment and then said:

"I understand perfectly. You got my impulse didn't you?"

"Yours? What do you mean?"

"Come now. Don't joke, my dear. This is a serious matter. You got my impulse, didn't you."

"Why, I must have got it if you sent it. Would you mind telling me what it was?"

She smiled triumphantly again.

"Certainly not. When that man came and bought the machine, I sent out a thought wave to you telling you that I proposed to keep the money for myself. And so, if you don't mind, dear, I will take the money and obey another impulse I have just received from some unknown person, to look over the bargain-counter advertisements, so that when I go shopping to-morrow I can spend it judiciously."—Harper's Weekly.

GAMBLING AT FALL FAIRS.

At the Provincial Agricultural gathering in Toronto recently, Mr. J. Lockie Wilson advised directors of local Societies to "be careful that next year there are no wheels of fortune or other gambling devices on your fair grounds, for gambling is one thing the Department of Agriculture is going to cut out of fairs. The directors who allow gambling devices on the grounds are liable to heavy fines and the grants of offending societies cut off."

FARMERS ARE LIABLE.

A case of deep interest to farmers was recently tried at Walkerton. The township of Brant passed a by-law prohibiting sheep from running at large on the highway. A farmer allowed his sheep to run the highway. A cattle drover came along and his horse was frightened, ran away and was killed The drover sued the farmer for damages. The case was tried before a jury which awarded the full amount of damages. The farmer appealed to the Court of Appeal, which sustained the verdict of the jury. According to the above decision the farmer is liable, even if the township has by-laws prohibiting live stock to run at large.

EDWARD HENDERSON.

Edward Henderson, one of Shelburne's old and esteemed citizens,died on Thursday evening of last week after a short illness. He has resided here for over 30 years and was for many years grain buyer for E. Berwick & Co. Before moving here he resided at Primrose. He was twice married. By the first marriage he had one son, Wm. Henderson, of Everett, and three daughters, Mrs. J. Lovell of Troy, Mich.; Mrs. E. Teetzel, Capac, Mich; and Mrs. R. B. Oldfield, Dundalk. By the second marriage there are two sons, Bert, Henderson, of Corbetton and Harkie Henderson at home, and two daughters, Mrs. Thos. H. Reburn, of Fergus and Miss Sadie Henderson at home. John Henderson, of Durham; and Wm. Henderson, of New Lowell are brothers of the deceased. Deceased was well known all over the county and no one was more highly respected. He was a member of Court Shelburne, No. 45, Independent Order of Foresters, and Shelburne A. O. W. U. lodge and L. O. L. No. 1321, under whose auspices the funeral was held. The bereaved widow and family have the sympathy of all in their great trouble. All the children were present at the funeral which was held on Sunday afternoon to Shelburne cemetery. The large crowd present testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community. The funeral services at the house and grave were conducted by the Rev. R. J. Seton Adamson, rector of St. Paul's church.

NEW NEWSPAPER MANAGER.

Last week a change took place in connection with the Georgetown Herald, by which both the editorial and business management go to Mr. J.M. Moore, who has been connected with the paper for the past sixteen years. Mr. R. D. Warren who has conducted the Herald successfully for twenty-three years has also of late years been manager and editor of the Canadian Baptist and he finds that the business has grown so at both ends of the line that he is forced as it were to let one go in order to properly attend to the other and at the same time not to run the risk of being overworked.

To-day usually takes care of itself—it is the uncertain to-morrow for which we must make provision to-day . . . . . .

It is impossible to tell what the future has in store for us financially. If reverses, sickness, or unexpected emergency arise, the prudent person will have made provision for such contingency, by laying aside in the safe custody of a chartered Savings Bank some regular sum from the weekly earnings.

This fund differs from money involved in business, or invested in mortgages or commercial ventures—it is AT ONCE avilable whenever required. It is an EMERGENCY FUND, always subject to your call. It stands separate and distinct from your business or your investments; and, representing an accumulation of small sums, regularly taken from current income, it is hardly missed, and rapidly grows into a SUBSTATIAL SUM.

DWELLERS OF THE VOID.

(By A Banker.)

In the picturesque poetic language of the East those wild and turbulent children of the desert who inhabit literally houses of hair, for their tents are wholly made of goats' hair, are termed Dwellers of the Void. On the fringe of probably all the great deserts of Western Asia and of North Africa, and sometimes, too, far into almost the very heart of these arid wastes, sunk in the solitude and desolation of the trackless, boundless wilderness, far from the haunts of man, with no sign of life save an occasional vulture, or a jackal, or perhaps a hyaena prowling about in the hope of finding the remains of the carcase of a camel, these dwellings of the nomadic Bedouin, from doubtless the time of their ancestor Ishmael, have been a menace to the traveller and a terror to the more peaceable inhabitants of the adjacent civilized regions. For as in the time of their forefathers, so also now, their hand is against every man, and every man's hand is against them. Might with them is right, prowess in plunder and robbery is accounted a virtue, and woe to those who, on a journey across the desert, have the misfortune to fall into their predatory hands. It is however said that hospitality is with them a religion; their guests, after having first of course been plundered, being then offered a night's lodging and a meal of goat's milk.

And, scattered throughout Europe, there are hordes of a tribe; probably also descended from Ishmael, who in many respects resemble the Bedouin. Dwellers also in tents—though but ragged and unclean tenements compared with those of the Arabs—one or two whole families living in a small wigwam, the gypsies settle down like vampires in a place; after a time moving off and inflicting their unwelcome presence upon some other extreme, they live as heathen—or rather worse, for heathen worship some sort of deity—and their numerous children are brought up without education and without religion. Surely the State should collect these undesirables in labour homes, where the children could be educated, and the parents compelled to work for their living.

But those wild Bedouin descendants of Ishmael offer yet another confirmation of the truth of Scripture; for while it was prophesied that Ishmael's descendants should be wild men, every man's hand against them and their hand against every man, it was also foretold that Abraham's other son Isaac should be the father of a great nation in whom all the earth should be blessed. And what greater blessing to mankind could be conceived than that the Son of God should choose that race as the one in which to assume human form; and by expiating on the cross of shame mankind's transgressions, Himself bearing the just retribution due, opening the gates of heaven to all who through His mediation would enter therein.

O. K. Champion Potato Cutter and Planter.

Can you afford to cut your seed potatoes by hand when at a small cost you can have a cutter that will cut your potatoes to the exact sizes that are best suited to plant with any power planter? Do not forget that to cut by hand means all shapes and sizes, while the cutter will cut them all to uniform, blocky shapes, with eyes on each piece. With the O. K. Champion Seed Cutter the operator sits on the bench with both hands free to manipulate the tubers before pressing the lever with his foot, and can cut from 5 to 7 bushels per hour while only about 1 bushel can be cut by hand in the same length of time.

It opens the trench, plants the potatoes any distance set for, covers them with moist soil and marks for the next row. The fertilizer distributer will distribute any quantity of fertilizer desired. All that is necessary for the operator to do is to drive the team steady and keep the hoppers supplied with seed and fertilizer. The position of the driver is such that he can oversee the work of the planter at all times.

The accuracy with which the potatoes are planted is sufficient reason for the farmer to select an O. K. Champion. It will plant with equal satisfaction round or cut seed, each cup will pick up a seed and carry it into the spout from which it is dropped into the V-shaped trench opened by the shoe.

THE SPRING ASSIZES.

Mrs. Wm. Gray Wants $10,000 Damages for Death of Her Husband.

The Dufferin Spring Assizes opened in the Court House here at one o'clock on Monday afternoon before His Lordship, Mr. Justice Clute. As there was no criminal business His Lordship was presented with the traditional white gloves. Mr. George Robb, of Orangeville, was present in the capacity of Crown Prosecutor, but owing to the dearth of criminal business his duties were of a purely formal character. The members of the Grand Jury were not in attendance, they having been notified by the Sheriff that their services would not be required. One grand juror put in an appearance but it transpired that his summons was for the General Sessions of the Peace next June. The list of civil cases consisted of two jury and five non-jury actions.

The first case taken up was the jury action of Colley vs. Bolger. The defendant, Bolger, is a Shelburne hotelkeeper and. the plaintiff, George Colley, was employed by him as hostler up to January 6th of the present year, when the two men had a disagreement, which culminated in a fracas. During the row Bolger struck the plaintiff two or three blows with a stable broom, cutting his head open and injuring him so badly that, according to his evidence, he was confined to his bed for five weeks and unable to leave his house for nine weeks. Action was brought to recover damages.

The plaintiff, a little Englishman, apparently about 60 years of age, told the Court that he had been employed as hostler by Bolger for nearly three years. His bargain was that he was to get $5 a week, his board and four drinks of whiskey a day. About four o'clock in the afternoon of the day on which the assault occurred he went into the hotel to speak to Mr. Bolger. While in the house he met Robert Miles and asked him in to the bar to have a drink. Miles was served with whiskey, but Bolger's son, who was behind the bar, refused to give Colley anything to drink. Bolger came in and ordered plaintiff back to the stable, at the same time using sundry opprobrious epithets. Words followed and eventually the Bolgers grabbed the plaintiff and hustled him out of the house. The argument was renewed outside and a few minutes later the elder Bolger followed Colley to the stable and ordered him to leave the place. Witness said he refused to go and Bolger picked up a stable broom and after a short struggle knocked him down in a stall and struck him two or three blows over the head. Dr. White stitched up the scalp wound and attended to his injuries. Cross-examined by Mr. Vance witness denied that he was intoxicated at the time. He would not say that he was perfectly sober, but asserted that he had only had one drink after dinner. His story was substantiated in part by Robert Miles, Samuel Liddy and other witnesses. The Bolgers father and son, and four or five other witnesses testified for the defence. The jury found in favor of the plaintiff and fixed the damages at $200. His Lordship allowed plaintiff costs on the county court scale without any set off.. F. A. Clement conducted Colley's case and G. M. Vance, K.C., acted for Bolger.

The members of the jury were W. H. Gillespie, Urias Everson, Robert Dales, John Clokey, Robert Oldfield, Wm. E. Noble, Wm. Campaign, Jas. McCue, James Meldrum, John Norris, John W. McGill and Robert Bryan.

Gray vs. Morrison, the other jury case, was commenced on Monday evening and had not been concluded at time of going to press. The plaintiff, Mrs. May Gray, widow of the late Wm. C. Gray, of Caledon township, is suing J. E. Morrison, proprietor of the Dufferin House, Orangeville, for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, which is attributed to injuries inflicted by the defendant while ejecting Gray from his hotel on or about August 28th, 1907. The widow brings suit on behalf of herself and her three children, Cecil Castleton, Samuel Wilbert and Ethel Gray. Gray, who had been drinking, got into a quarrel with Morrison and the landlord put him out of the house, and at the same time struck him several blows with a "billy" which he had procured from behind the bar. Gray died on January 12th, 1908 and the plaintiff is endeavoring to prove that his death was due to the injuries he received during the fracas. Morrison admits using the "billy" but says he did not strike Gray over the head, but only across the right shoulder. He had ordered the deceased not to enter his house, but he disregarded the prohibition, raised a disturbance in the bar room and when spoken to attempted to assault the defendant. Mrs. May Gray, the plaintiff, was the first witness called. Other witnesses for the plaintiff were Frank Anthony, W. J. Curry, Samuel Gray, James C. Still, Thos. J. McClelland, Dr. Samuel Allison, who conducted the Coroner's inquest, Drs. Wm. B. Kaylor and John Ferguson, of Toronto, and Philip St. Croix. Tom McClelland, a Garafraxa man with more than a local reputation, was so badly intoxicated that he was unable to give his evidence. The Judge ordered him out of the box and committed him to the county gaol until today, when it is expected he will have sobered up sufficiently to tell the Court what he knows about the case. Jos. H. Hughes and Police Magistrate Pattullo gave evidence as to former proceedings in the Police Court. The plaintiff's case was finished about 3.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and evidence for the defence was being heard at time of going to press. Among the witnesses, who had been examined, were Malcolm S. Campbell, bartender in the Dufferin House, J. E. Morrison, the defendant, Mrs. W. E. Leeson, John M. Still and James Armstrong.

Mr. Gideon Grant, of Johnston, McKay, Dods and Grant, Toronto, is conducting Mrs. Gray's case, and Mr. H. L. Drayton, K.C., Toronto, and Mr. J. L. Island are acting for the defence. The jurors are F. J. O'Flynn, Wm. Richardson, Joseph Bowes, W. T. Leader, Robert Fuller, Thos. Whitten, John Crombie, F. W. Ritchie, Chas. Price, Rich Burnett, Geo. Bennett, James Boyle.

The non-jury cases, which will be reached to-day, are :—

Kent vs. Ocean Accident and Guarantee Company. The plaintiff, W. R. Kent, of Orangeville, who was severely injured in the Horseshoe wreck in September, 1907, is suing the defendant Company for $2,600 under an accident policy. The Company has already paid him nine weeks indemnity amounting to $425, which, it is claimed, plaintiff accepted as a full settlement. Plaintiff claims that he accepted the amount paid in the belief that his injuries would not prevent him from resuming his former occupation. This however he was unable to do. He asks the Court to set aside the settlement and credit the sum he has received as a payment on account. The defendants maintain that the plaintiff is bound by his release and that in any event the action was not commenced within one year and is therefore barred by the provisions of the Insurance Act and amending acts. C. R. McKeown for plff.; Beatty, Blackstock & Co., Toronto, for defts.

Bowes vs. Marshall—An action by Alex. W. Bowes, of Amaranth, against John J. Marshall, of Orangeville, to compel specific performance of a written agreement dated November 18th, 1908 for the purchase of the plaintiff's farm in Amaranth. The defendant alleges misrepresentation, and says that the agreement, if entered into, was made while he was in a mental and physical condition that unfitted him to enter into any important business transaction. C. R. McKeown for plff; Walsh & Fish for deft.

Yesterday morning Mr. J. N. Fish made a motion to have the case tried with a jury, but this His Lordship refused to agree to.

Burton vs. Roberts.—This is a decidedly unusual case and is arousing considerable interest. The parties come from the neighborhood of Harriston. Last November, the plaintiff, Margaret Burton, was married to the defendant, Samuel Roberts, of Minto township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Wright, Methodist minister at Palmerston, in ignorance of the fact that the contracting parties were uncle and niece and therefore prohibited by law from entering into a marriage contract. The couple lived together until February and then separated. Plaintiff is now asking to have the marriage annulled and declared void from the beginning. The defendant admits the facts. W. H. Kingston, Mt. Forest, for plaintiff.

The case of McBride vs. McCutcheon was settled out of court.

THE G. T. P. LOAN.

Opposition Questions Need for Money and Objects to Security.

Ottawa, April 10th, 1909.—It is probable that within a few weeks the first session of the new parliament will be closed and the members will go home to recoup for the more protracted struggles of the sessions which must come before there is another general election. The most serious business of the session is now before the House of Commons, the proposal to loan the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Campany ten million dollars for the completion of the prairie section of the road. Opposition members, notably R. L. Borden, Hon. George Foster, and Messrs. Ames, Barr and Middlebro, have gone carefully into the cooditions under which this proposal comes before the House. The result is considerable doubt among Conservative members as to the need for the extra money, and as to the security which the Dominion will have for the loan. The whole matter will be threshed out within the next few days.

C. L. A. CONVENTION.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Lacrosse Association was held in the Labor Temple in Toronto on Good Friday. President J. M. Kearns presided and prominent lacrosse men were in attendance from all parts of the Province. Contrary to custom there was no contest for President, Mr. T. F. Doyle, of Newmarket, getting the coveted position by acclamation. Oscar Eby, of Hespeler, was elected first Vice-President, also by acclamation. For Second Vice-President, B. McGuire, of Orangeville, won handily over F. C. Waghorne and "Woody" Tegart, of Toronto. The vote was :—McGuire, 45, Tegart 25; Waghorne 22. There were 13 candidates for the Council. The ten successful men and their votes were :—J. E. Hinds, Orillia, 55; Thos. E. Henry, Brampton, 53; Dr. P. B. McGibbon, Bracebridge, 53; J. K. Forsyth, Toronto, 48; J. J. Kelly, Brantford, 44; D. McMillan, Beaverton, 44; A. E. Rankin, Owen Sound, 42; Ernie Knott, Toronto, 41; Chas. W. Mitchell, Dundalk, 40; Dr. W. A. Groves, Fergus, 29. Dr. G. H. Campbell and Mr. Will Kearns were the Orangeville delegates.

MAN'S RESTORATION.

Christ Died As An Atonement for Guilty Sinners.

Closing Sermon by Rev. Mr. Harper on Early Chapters of Genesis.

In the Methodist Church on Sunday night, Rev. H. Harper preached the last of the series of five sermons on the early chapters of the Book of Genesis. The subject chosen was the Problem of Man's Restoration to God, based on Genesis 3 : 15 and I Cor. 15 : 21-22. The edifice was filled to the doors and the discourse, which was one of the most admirable of the series, was followed with rapt attention.

At the outset Mr. Harper referred briefly to the sermons of the four preceding Sunday evenings, in which he had endeavored to discuss the great problems of Genesis. These were the problems of Creation, of Man's Innocence in his First Estate, his Temptation and Fall and his Punishment for Transgression. Last Sunday night, man had been seen, after the tragedy of the Garden of Eden, in the most hopeless and pitiable condition, bearing the punishment for his sin, the ground cursed for his sake bringing forth thorns and thistles and the woman who was created as his companion and helpmeet, doomed to pain and sorrow. The taint of sin was to be visited upon all his posterity to the farthest generation. Separated from God, his Creator and friend, he had been driven out of the garden, the scene of his purity and happiness and condemned to death, physical, spiritual, and eternal.

The great problem now was, "How can man regain his lost place?" How could the taint of sin be removed from him and his posterity, the gates of Paradise be reopened, the gulf between man and God be bridged, communion with God be restored and Hell turned into Heaven? This is a problem that only the wisdom, the power and the love of God could solve. Some one must be found to take man's place and bear his penalty. Who would it be? No man could do this because man was under condemnation. His nature had become perverted and he could not keep the law of God, and even if he were to do so from birth to death the inherited taint remained, so that by the words of the law no man could be justified. No man could take the place of his fellow man because all were under condemnation. A prisoner in the box, guilty of wrongdoing, might with as much reason offer to bear the punishment of his companion in crime, as for one sinner to be acceptableto God as a sacrifice or propitiation for the transgression of another.

Could not an angel or archangel take the place of man, shoulder his burden, accept punishment for him, atone for his transgression? They could not for the reason that an infinite law had been broken and an infinite sacrifice was demanded. When a finite law is violated a finite being may bear the penalty but the violation of a divine law demands a divine sacrifice.

This then was the problem. The man, who was to stand in man's place, must be divine to satisfy the broken law and yet have a perfect human nature. Well might man look up to God and say "Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" the angels looking into the face of God exclaim, "Where shall a ransom be found?" and the Godhead, consulting together, say, "Who will go for us—whom shall we send?" God solved the problem. He said, "There is only one being in earth, or sky who can accomplish this—my Son, the only begotten of the Father. He has my nature and is perfect God. He shall be born of a woman and shall take the form and nature of man. He shall render full and perfect obedience to the law and die for man's transgression, and 'As in Adam all died so in Christ shall all by made alive.'"

The promise was given to man immediately. "I will put enmity between thy seed and the woman and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head and thou shalt bruise his heel." Sacrifices were at once instituted that the coming Messias might be foreshadowed. The lamb, perfect and without blemish, to fitly represent the Lamb of God, was constantly offered on the altar of sacrifice. Through the Patriarchal and Mosaic dispensations is seen everywhere the gleaming knife, the bleeding victim and the smoking altar. Prophet and seer renewed the promise until in the fulness of time Christ was born in Bethlehem amidst the rejoicings of earth and heaven. He lived a pure life and eventually died a sacrificial death, declaring with his last breath, "It is finished," indicating that full atonement had been made for man's transgression. "As in the first Adam all died, so in the second Adam all were made alive." The Atonement thus saves all who comply with the one condition, namely, Faith in Christ as a personal Saviour. All that was lost in Eden was regained in Jesus Christ. Physical death still remains, but Christ has conquered the last enemy and robbed the grave of all its terror. So Christians can say with the Apostle Paul, "O Death! where is thy sting? O Grave! where is thy victory? Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

The last work of Christ in connection with man's restoration is his intercession, "He hath ascended into heaven and ever liveth to make intercession for us."

"Five bleeding wounds he bears,
Received on Calvary;
They pour effectual prayers.
They strongly plead for me
Forgive him, O Forgive; they cry
Nor let that ransomed sinner die
He ever lives above
For me to intercede
His all redeeming love
His precious blood to plead
His blood atoned for all our race
And sprinkles now the Throne of Grace."

BANISH PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS

Everyone Needs a Tonic in the Spring to Build Up the Blood.

If you want new health and strength in the spring you must build up your blood with a tonic medicine. After the long indoor winter months are past most people feel depressed and easily tired. This means that the blood is impure and watery. That is what causes pimples and unsightly eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism, the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia, poor appetite, frequent headaches and a desire to avoid exertion. These troubles can all be banished by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ, strengthens every nerve and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired out, ailing men and women. Mrs. Frank Murphy, Clark's Harbor, N.S. says :—"A year ago I was completely run down and my work became a burden to me. I felt tired all the time, and could hardly drag myself about. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking three or four boxes was again in the best of health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will prove a friend in need to all who are weak and ailing."

Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Galt bicyclists who ride on pavements do so at a $2 risk.

"Prof." D'Arville was fined $200 at Hamilton for fortune telling.

ALTON.

It is with a great deal of sorrow that we report the death of Mrs. Norman Morris, a young and much respected lady of this village. She had been in ill-health for eight or nine months, her malady eventually developing into lung trouble. The deceased was only 24 years and 8 months of age and was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, of Caledon. She was married to Mr. Morris about five years ago and is survived by her husband and a family of three small children. There is profound sympathy for the young husband in his sore trial and the trying circumstances in which he finds himself placed. Mrs. Morris was a kindly, sympathetic woman, who won and held captive the affections of her friends. She will be sorely missed. The funeral will be held from her late home to Alton cemetery at 2 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon. Rev. G. W. Rose will conduct the services.

The people of this neighborhood did not escape altogether, although no person had the misfortune to be injured. However, nearly every person suffered to some extent. Mrs. John Little spent Easter in Toronto.

Miss Bessie Sampson, of Toronto, was the guest of Miss Nina Bremner over Sunday.

Mr. A. O. Scott, who has been home from Toronto for a few weeks, returned Monday.

Mr. Arthur Still, of Muskoka, is visiting his uncle, Mr. Wm. Camming.

Our burg was the scene of a happy event last week when Mr. J. Thompson, of Shelburne, and Miss Ida Shenk were united in marriage at the King Edward Hotel by the Rev. Mr. Adamson. The happy couple take up their residence in Shelburne. All their Camilla friends wish them long life and happiness.

Mr. E. McGinnis, of Kingston, has been engaged by Mr. H. Christian to do the blacksmithing here. We understand Mrs. McGinnis is expected as soon as convenient for them to take up their residence in our midst.

The snow is almost all gone and the chat around the corner store is grain and the best methods of sowing. Everyone has the best method, but it remains to be seen if any will follow their own free advice.

Maple syrup makers are keeping a closer watch on the sugar camp than is usually the case. Previously the boys treated themselves in quantity and quality when the day shift was being blessed by nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep, but this spring a sentinel is left on guard and after walking weary miles the boys' hopes are ruthlessly frustrated and they are forced to beat a hasty retreat. If not they may be given a taste of rock salt gratis. Several of the marauders are wearing the trade mark of the latest brand of maple sweet, namely, rock salt sugar.

Quite a sensation was aroused in our burg one evening last week, when weird and uncommon sounds were heard coming from the blue starlit dome of heaven. At first it was thought that a band of suffragettes had struck a new plan for the conversion of the hard hearts of men and then some lone devotee of the tobacco weed, who had been unheard from before, attempted to say that it was the Ladies' Institute gathering before a storm, but alas! poor soul, he was forced to make his retreat and has not yet been heard from. However we are pleased to report that the excitement subsided when some one calmly said, "wild geese."

On Sunday afternoon as the solemn congregation of St. Andrew's was dismissed there suddenly appeared on the western horizon, rising dark against the sun, a cavalier mounted on a fiery steed. The appearance of the stately rider mounted on the prancing equine filled the members with alarm, fearing that this was a messenger coming with a call to arms to suppress the uprising of the telephone and telegraph operators and postal employees at Laurel and Black's Corners, places on which the welfare of peaceful government depends. However on placing the Ocularscope (an instrument patented and used exclusively by Camillaites) to our eyes. Behold ye! whom did we see dashing through our midst but our old friend, Ernie Smith, hastening to save his Dukedom.

MARSVILLE.

The Women's Institute meeting was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Anthony, but owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather the attendance was not as large as at the meetings previously held.

The Preachers' Concert given in the Orton Methodist Church on Monday evening proved a most interesting and successful affair. The programme, which was given almost entirely by the neighboring ministers, consisted of solos, duetts, quartettes, recitations and addresses. Revs. Mr. Daniels, of Grand Valley, spoke on England; R. S. Scott, of Hillsburg, upheld Ireland; W. R. McIntosh, of Belwood, was loud in his praise of Scotland, and A. W. Robb, of Elora, spoke in glowing terms of Canada. The other clergymen, who took part were, Revs. Watt, Mason and Kaye.

Miss Belle Brown, of Toronto Normal School and Miss Flossie Price and Morley Price, of Wingham High School, are spending the vacation at their homes.

Mrs. David Jestin visited friends in Toronto for a few days last week.

LAUREL.

After enjoying a few spring days, we are again in the grasp of the frost king.

The severe windstorm of last week did a great deal of damage in this locality. Hughes Bros. store was the only place in the village that suffered. They lost a part of their iron roofing. E. Richardson had part of his new steel roof carried away and Geo. E. Gordon lost part of his barn roof. Tom Greason's and A. H. Keyes' barns were badly damaged. Wind mills suffered in every direction and a number of them were put entirely out of business.

Messrs. Jas. Irwin and Ab. Dodds have gone to the West.

Mr. Geo. E. Gordon has sold his farm in Alberta and has bought a larger one in Saskatchewan.

Nelson Langtree has got Will Brown's farm on the 4th line.

John Peterson has settled on Thos. Bryan's farm. All John needs now to complete his happiness is the better half.

Will Ewing is starting upon his own hook too. All the young ladies will need to spruce up now as Will has his eyes open this spring.

Mr. J. Maltby will soon be leaving our midst for his new field of labor up by Horning's Mills.

Miss Zina Maltby is attending Business College in Orangeville.

Miss Jennie Richardson who has been attending High School in Orangeville had the misfortune to fall and injure one of her arms very severely about a week ago. She has just got home and we hear she is doing nicely now.

Miss Maude Hamilton is also home on the sick list.

Quite a number of our old boys and girls are home for the holidays. We have had the pleasure of meeting the following :—Miss Mabel Hamilton, Misses Edna and Mary Fife, Ed. Salisbury, Robt. Mellum, Harry Hickey, Will Smith, Chas. Hodge and a number of others.

Mr. Geo. E. Gordon has added another line to his business and is now selling the world famous De Laval Cream Separators.

Mr. Herb. Maltby, our veteran horseman, arrived home on Saturday night with a splendid coach horse. Herb. intends to make them all sit up and take notice at the spring shows.

Mr. Robt. Fife has also gone into the horse business and has engaged Jerry Hillock to act as his manager. So it will be seen that Herb will not have it all to himself here this season.

Our threshing agent, Mr. Snooks, has sold a fine lot of choice seed grain and potatoes in this section this season. Mr. Gordon, who has charge of the delivering, informs us that there is nearly $200 worth of these seeds to be delivered in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Jelly is taking down the old driving shed and building a smaller stable farther back on the lot. This will add greatly to the appearance of her place.

Mr. T. Bryan and family have moved into part of Mrs. Jelly's house and Mr. Robert Ewing to the house on the 6th line lately occupied by Jos. McGowan. Mr. Ewing intends going to the West himself.

Some things we would like to see :

A few sidewalks in our village.

What we would like to know :—

If Alex. Nelson has made up his mind to get the better half yet.

How often Joe Cooney goes to Bowling Green.

Where Will Ewing spends his evenings now. We miss him at Laurel occasionally.

When our next Ball will come off.

How the boys will get along when the Police Magistrate gets his house up and moves to town.

The Presbyterian congregations of Beeton and Tottenham have extended a call to Rev. F. W. Gilmore of Penetang to become their pastor.

The prosperity of a town is not guarded by the wealth of its inhabitants but by the uniformity with which they pull together when any important undertaking is to be accomplished. A man with a thousand dollars at his command and a love for the town in his heart can do more for the building up and improving of it than the millionaire who locks up his capital and snaps his fingers at home progress.

RURAL TELEPHONE SYSTEMS.

Government Should Not Interfere With Operation by Farmers.

Legislation needed to restrict running of Automobiles.

Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—I notice that Mr. I. B. Lucas has given notice of a measure, which contemplates the taking over by the Provincial Government of the Bell Telephone Co's. lines and the lines of independent telephone systems operating in the province. No, Mr. Lucas and the Government may do as they please about the Bell system so far as the farmers are concerned, but we want it understood that we do not wish any interference with our rural telephone systems. Mr. Lucas does not tell us how the Government intends to run the system, once it has taken it over. It cannot be run on fresh air even by the Government. The Manitoba Government gave the Bell Telephone Company $1,000,000 hard cash more than their system was worth. The writer has been told by people who live in Manitoba that the phone rates are higher now than when the Bell Company operated the system. If Ontario has $1,000,000 to throw away on a telephone system, I don't think our government would experience much trouble making arrangements with the Bell people. However, it is not all smooth sailing where Government ownership exists. For instance when a change of Government takes place, nearly all the old, experienced hands are dismissed and their places filled by new men who are lacking in experience. The result is a great deal of unnecessary trouble and waste of money. Our rural telephone companies under the present method of management are free from all this sort of trouble. In one system, of which the writer happens to be a member, the plan adopted was to first form a company the members subscribing enough money to build a trunk line from one point to another. Then the subscribers build branch lines running to the central. A system, such as the one here outlined, need not cost anyone more than $50 with a phone into his own house. The writer has heard of places, where the cost has been as low as $36. Of course in such cases subscribers may have bought their poles cheap or some of them may have had them themselves. It cost the writer about $40 with his phone into his own house and he pays rent to no man or company—merely paying Bell rates whenever he uses the Bell system. I might say here that the Company referred to entered into a contract with the Bell Company for the use of the latter's lines and I would like to add that the Bell people are treating us square. I have not heard a single complaint from any subscriber about the way the Bell Company is using us and I think the Bell people will give reasonable terms and fair treatment to any rural company that has anything to give in return for the privileges they are in a position to grant. Of course the Bell Company could not run its system on fresh air any more than could the Government. If the ratepayers whom Mr. Lucas represents expect the Government to give them free phones they will find out before long that they have made the greatest mistake of their lives. There is no Government or Stock Company that can build and maintain a system as cheaply as the rural telephone company. The reasons are not far to seek. In the first place the farmers and others who are interested in the system do much of the work themselves and can do it when they are not pressed with other work. In the next place if a wind or ice storm should happen to damage the wires, the subscribers turn out immediately afterwards and you will find them at work all over the system connecting wires and straightening poles and in a few hours the whole system is once more in working order. This is where the rural and independent company has it on the Government or Bell owned system. When the repairs are made there are no bills to pay. Every imember is supposed to do his own share of the repair work.

If I. B. Lucas, instead of meddling with our rural telephone system, would devote his time and energies to securing some sort of legislation to prevent the owners of automobiles from depriving farmers' wives and daughters and old people generally of the pleasure of driving on our country roads during the summer, he would be doing the farmers a greater favor than he can ever hope to do by interfering with our rural telephone systems. The farmers can build their own phone lines, but they seem to be powerless to prevent the "devil wagons," as some people designate them, from driving their wives and daughters off the roads. Sir James Whitney tells us that two-thirds of the driving on our roads is done by women, girls and boys. Surely Sir James will not stand idly by and see the wives and daughters of those who helped him into power driven off the roads and compelled to live a hermit life on the farm all through our beautiful Canadian summer.

Yours truly,

FAIR PLAY,

MELANCTHON.

Mr. Lawrence Waters has almost fully recovered from his recent illness and was able to visit Orangeville friends last week.

Mr. George Shoaff has engaged with Mr. John M. Johnston for the season to work at the carpentering and framing trade.

The high winds of last week did considerable damage to property in this section. Besides disabling telegraph and telephone connection, it blew the roof off the old "Bruce" stable, a chimney off Mr. Brown's house and the porch from the front of the R. C. Church.

Mr. George McAuley spent Easter at Streetsville.

Messrs. James Sawden and George Shoaff visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sawden, of Melville Cross, at Easter

Miss Minnie Gray, of Shelburne, visited Melancthon friends on Good Friday.

Mr. Michael Waters met with a painful accident one day last week while cutting wood, which will disable him for some time. It seems that while he was in the act of splitting a stick of wood the axe glanced and struck his foot, inflicting an ugly gash nearly three inches long lengthwise in the upper part of his foot.

One of the old land marks of Melancthon is being removed this week. Our merchant, Mr. Campbell, having purchased the last remains of the group of buildings which formerly composed the old time Toronto Grey & Bruce Railway Hotel and general store, which was built and opened by William Morey, the author of the well known "Morey's Bitters," 40 years ago. This is the old "driving barn" which has thus far survived the house, sheds and other buildings which adorned this once famous corner, and which succumbed to the devouring flames that destroyed the Patron store one cold February night in 1892 for James Dick. Although Mr. Morey put up the historic cluster of buildings which included the hotel, general store and blacksmith shop (the latter managed by George Young) the founder controlled the business for only a few years when he sold out to Mr. James Sloan, who is still an esteemed citizen of our burg. Mr. Sloan conducted the store and hotel for several years during which time the Toronto Grey and Bruce Railway was built and many an exciting event can be related which took place at this period. Besides a very large general store Mr. Sloan also conducted the largest and best hotel between Toronto and Owen Sound at that time, Orangeville, not having any so large. It was also a wholesale liquor store from which the country hotels for miles around secured their supplies.

The Conversion of Saul.—Acts ix : 1-30.

Golden Text.—He fell to the earth and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? Acts ix : 4.

Verses 1-2—From experience, philosophically, theologically, psychologically, or any other way, how do you account for the bitter hatred of Saul for Christians?

After his conversion, did he show the same hatred toward those who opposed Christianity?

Does history justify the statement that zealous religionists, who have not known, nor experienced the love of God, have been exceedingly cruel and bitter men?

Verses 3-4—What was the nature of the light that shined around Saul? (See Acts xxii : 6, xxvi : 13, I Cor. xv : 8.)

Whose voice was it that Saul heard? What reason is there to believe that this was a real voice with outward sound?

Is there any sinner so bad that Jesus does not call him to repent?

Had Saul actually been persecuting Jesus? (See Matt. 25 : 40.)

If we hurt or help a Christian, is that actually done to Jesus?

Is there a sense in which a Christian is the actual Christ?

Verse 5—Did Saul know from the first who it was that spake to him?

Does is always consciously hurt to fight against God?

Does is always consciously hurt to whether done in ignorance or not?

Verse 6—What makes sinners always tremble when God reproves them for their sins?

At what stage does God forgive a convicted sinner?

When was Saul actually converted?

Why did not Jesus tell Saul there and then, what he wanted him to do?

Verse 7—Why does the supernatural always frighten people?

Verses 8-9—What had blinded Saul? How did Saul spend the days that he was without sight?

Did he fast because he had no desire for food, or was it a religious fast?

Is fasting of any use in these days as a help to spiritual life?

Verses 10-12—May the ability to hear God speak, be acquired by all true Christians?

Have you any experience of God telling more than one person the same thing, so that when they came to compare experiences, God's message was confirmed?

Will God always prepare us for our work, and prepare the work for us?

Verses 13-16—Is God pleased, or displeased, if it is not clear to us?

Verses 17-18—Did Saul at this time receive the Holy Ghost, or at the time of his conversion, and when do Christians generally receive him?

Verses 19-22—Do all genuine converts like Saul, commence immediately to get others converted?

What was the power in Saul which gave him his great zeal, and is the same power available for every christian?

Verses 23-25—If a person feels, or acts, in a bitter spirit toward one of a different faith, is that proof that he is not in touch with the true God?

Verses 26-30—Are Christians justified in being cautious in receiving strangers?

What is the best way for a young convert to show he really is a Christian?

Is a true, earnest, aggressive Christian as liable to give offence in these days as was Saul?

MUNICIPAL LORE.

Interesting Facts in Early History of Grey County.

Up to the year 1852, Guelph was the municipal headquarters for the counties of Grey and Bruce and that part of Dufferin that formerly belonged to Grey, was included. Municipal representatives were sent to Guelph where the business was transacted. Fifty seven years ago, on April 15th, 1852, the first provisional council for the county of Grey met in Coleman's hotel in the village of Sydenham (now Owen Sound) pursuant to a proclamation from His Excellency the Earl of Elgin and Kincardine. Melancthon township was then a part of Grey county and remained so up to the year 1878. At the first meeting, Mr. Lunn, reeve of Sydenham township was appointed chairman. The members present were Messrs. Lunn, Jackson, McNabb, Carney, Grey, Allen, Smith, Robinson, Beachell, Jones and Pringle. The following year the provincial council met at the same place on Feb'y. 15, and James Beachell, reeve of Melancthon and Proton was elected Warden. Mr. Beachell at that time kept an hotel on the Gravel Road on the farm now owned by John Oliver. Jas Beachell was re-elected reeve of Melancthon and Proton in 1853 and as before stated became Warden of the county. He was re-elected in 1854 as reeve of Melancthon and Proton but only held the position for half the term. He had been a railway contractor in England and France and left Melancthon in 1854 to take contracts on the Grand Trunk Railway which was then being built. He was succeeded as reeve for the balance of 1854 by the late James Brown, father of James Brown, the present clerk of Melancthon and Manager of The Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

* * *

Elias B. Grey, one of the members of the first provincial council at that time was the representative of Artemesia township. He, two years latter moved to Melancthon, and kept an hotel on the gravel road on the property recently purchased by Adam McKibbon. Mrs. Charles. Higgins of Dundalk and Mrs. Fluney, of Corbetton are daughters of this old pioneer. Mr. Grey was rather a clever man and being a magistrate and commissioner, he was in fact the legal adviser for the community and did most of the legal business for the early settlers at that time.

* * *

In 1855, Mr. Grey was elected reeve of Melancthon and Proton but was defeated in 1865 by Thos. McKee a pioneer resident of Proton who represented the two townships for the last time. In 1857 the townships were separated and each elected a reeve on its own account. Elias B. Grey was Melancthon's favorite for reeve and his old rival, Thos. McKee won out in Proton and held the position for two years.

* * *

A sad fatality occurred at the first meeting of the Melancthon and Proton council in 1853. The council had met at John Bell's hotel on lot 238, con. 1, N. E., being the farm now owned by Edward Bradley, formerly of Honeywood. Jas. Watson, a civil engineer, and father-in-law of Reeve Beachell had been appointed clerk of the municipality. Mr. Watson was an old man and while at dinner at the hotel he was choked by a piece of meat and died instantly. He was succeeded as clerk by an old school teacher, named Daly who was later succeeded by Archy Johnston and later he was succeeded by Kenneth McAuley, who held the position until 1874. The present clerk, Jas. Brown, took charge in 1874 and it is admitted on all sides that he is one of the best posted and most efficient township clerks in the province of Ontario without any exception. All who have had business with Mr. Brown either as clerk or in any other capacity have had their work properly done and done correctly.

* * *

During the 26 years that Melancthon township was connected with Grey County only two representatives succeeded in winning the Warden's chair—James Beachell in 1853 and the late Robt. McGhee in 1877.

* * *

The wardens of Grey county since its formation are as follows:—James Beachell 1853, Richard Carney 1854, W. K. Flesher, of Flesherton 1855, 6-7., Geo. Jackson 1858-59-60, W. K. Flesher 1861-62, Geo. Jackson 1863, J. McDonald first half 1864, J. Kerr balance of the year, W. K. Flesher 1865 and 67, Thos. Gamey 1866, S. J. Lane 1868-69-70 and 72, Jas. COULD NOT KEEP THIS SECRET

"Six months ago I was cured of piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment," writes Mr. G. A. Swayze, Copenhagen, Elgin Co., Ont. Christie's Biscuits—How their quality is guarded—

The Butter Tester Says:

"I'M A CRANK about butter. I've got to be.

"I realize thoroughly that Quality has built up this big business, and made 'Christie' a household word from ocean to ocean—first of all, Quality in the butter, flour, milk and other raw materials.

"I've been testing butter for thirty years, and I've never heard of any other firm exercising the same care as Christie, Brown & Co. do.

"All our butter is purchased by a well-known butter authority. He buys for export from the best creameries in Canada, and sends the pick to us.

"You would be surprised if you knew what butter—good butter, according to all ordinary standards—we reject. Most of it ninety-nine people out of a hundred would taste and accept as excellent table quality.

"It's not a matter of price with us. We pay a little better than the best market price, and the butter must be in accordance.

"We have a high standard for butter, the same as for all other raw materials. Anything that doesn't measure right up to that standard is rejected.

"The basis of the delicious goodness which you enjoy in Christie's Biscuits is the unvarying goodness of the raw materials that go into them.

"When I see how our orders for butter have to be steadily increased, to keep pace with the demand for Christie's Biscuits, I have the best kind of evidence that our jealous guarding of Christie Quality brings results."

You can taste Quality in every morsel of Christie's Biscuits. Sold in bulk, by the pound, or in moisture and dust-proof packages,

DUNCAN McARTHUR.

It is with regret we chronicle the death of Duncan McArthur at his home, lot 3, con. 6, Caledon, after a short illness, resulting from an accident which befell him some weeks ago. On the 7th of January he was thrown out of his sleigh by his horses starting suddenly before he was seated, striking his head on a piece of ice, but although stunned for the moment soon recovered and no serious results were anticipated. But on March 7th, symptoms of a serious character developed, when Dr. Gear was summoned and after consultation with Dr. McFayden decided that an immediate operation was imperative. Dr. Groves of Fergus performed the operation which then was thought to be very successful and strong hopes were held out for his recovery, but later serious complications arose and in spite of the most skilled attention he passed away on Thursday evening, April 1st.

Mr. McArthur was widely known throughout the township and will be sadly missed by his large circle of intimate friends. He leaves a sorrowing wife and three married daughters to whom we extend our sincere sympathy in their bereavement.—Erin Advocate.

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise." — Mrs. Emma Chatel, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

QUALITIES OF CHARACTER THAT WIN FRIENDS

Many people are not capable of forming great friendships because they do not have the qualities themselves which attract noble qualities in others.

If you are uncharitable, intolerant, if you lack generosity, cordiality, if you are narrow and bigoted, unsympathetic, small, and mean, you cannot expect that generous, large-hearted, noble characters will flock around you. If you expect to make friends with large-souled, noble characters you must cultivate large-heartedness, generosity, charity, and tolerance. One reason why so many people have so few friends is that they have so little to give, and they expect so much. A happy temperament, a desire to scatter joy and gladness, to be helpful to everybody, are wonderful aids to friendship. People who are moody and inclined to be blue do not make many friends because these are qualities which repel rather than attract.

You will be amazed to see how quickly friends will flock about you just as soon as you begin to cultivate attractable and lovable qualities.

Justice and truth are absolutely essential to the highest friendship, and cause he is just and true, even when we respect a friend all the more because he is just and true, even when it hurst us and mortifies us most. We cannot help respecting justice and a will that will constantly press forward toward expansion. This course will set into motion the forces of mental attraction, and he will find himself attracting people, things, conditions, knowledge, opportunities, etc ditians, knowledge, opportunities, etc., that will serve the purpose of his Growth, and which will at the same time urge him forward to meet them half way. The Law works in two directions.

Coughs that are tight, or distressing tickling coughs, get quick and certain help from Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. On this account Druggists everywhere are favoring Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. The tender leaves of a harmless lung-healing mountanious shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing Cough, and to soothe, and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Test it once yourself and see! Sold by T. Stevenson.

Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

BRAMPTON JURY COULDN'T AGREE.

Judge Mulock Dismissed Jurors on Arson Case—Stood Seven to Five for Conviction.

At three o'clock this morning the jury in the trial of Frank Ruston charged with arson announced that they could not agree on a verdict and Justice Mulock dismissed them. It is said the jury stood seven to five for conviction.

Our readers are pretty familiar with the circumstances of the case. On Feb. 20 last, Frank Ruston's farm house nearby Dixon's Church, east Chinguacousy, was burned down during the night. Ruston and his ten year-old-daughter were the occupants. He told a thrilling story of awakening from his sleep, half suffocated and on gaining his feet smashing out the window with a chair. Ruston slept in his shirts, drawers and socks. He lifted his little girl out enveloped in blankets and laid her down in the snow, then returned and hurled out bedding and other articles in the room. One of the things he saved was a box loaded with dishes.

Ruston had the contents of his house insured for $700 in the London Mutual and when he presented himself at the office of the company in Toronto he was arrested. A man named Hollis, who had worked for Ruston had been to the company a week or so before the fire and told them a story about Ruston offering him money to fire his buildings and how Ruston had been burying his goods.

Hollis was the star witness for the prosecution and told a long, circumstantial story which seemed to be corroborated by the discoveries made by detectives and others.

Ruston went into the box for himself and absolutely denied that he had set fire to the house and that he had plotted with Hollis.

Some of the doings of Ruston read like a dime novel story. He admitted burying a box of about 18x20x18 in a cement grave in his stable. Hollis said this had been loaded with furs and the best stuff about the house. When search was made for this safe deposit vault it was found that the box had been removed. Ruston explained that he had become suspicious that Hollis might rob it and had removed the box. He denied that it contained anything but a bundle of receipts, insurance policies, and probate papers and some jewelry.

There was a long array of witnesses and the case was not finished until six o'clock last evening. Afterward the Council J. A. Snow, of Toronto, for the Crown and T. J. Blain for the defendant, agreed to forego addressing the jury, letting the Judge's address suffice. The case went to the jury about 11 o'clock and it was three before it was dismissed, Ruston was released on his former bail being renewed.—Brampton Banner.

Relation of the Liver & Kidneys

Functions such that each suffers when the other is deranged.

The liver filters poison from the blood. The kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is giving too much work by over heating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration, therefore the kidneys are overtaxed. The result—Biliousness, indigestion, and constipation, and after a time the kidneys are affected and you have a backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease. You feel drowsy, lazy; tired, skin becomes dry and hot. Fig Pills will put you right at once; they cleanse the liver and the kidneys and purify the blood. You feel like a new person. Take one at bedtime. Price 25c. box.

A GRAND KIDNEY MEDICINE

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him When Everything Else Failed.

Ulverton, Que., March 17th, 1908.

I wish to place on record, for the sake of others who may be suffering in the same way that I suffered, that no medicine I ever took did me so much real good as "Fruit-a-tives" did.

I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill, but nothing gave me any relief, and I was getting discouraged.

I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and did so—and this medicine cured me when everything else failed.

I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," and from the outset they gave me relief and I am now practically well again; no pain, no distress, and all symptoms of kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well, and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I did. To them, I say try "Fruit-a-tives," as they are a grand kidney medicine.

CLARENCE J. PLACEY.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The purity, flavor and strength of "Salada" Tea make it incomparably the best value on the market. It is infinitely more delicious and decidedly more economical than other teas.

James Smelie a Proton young man who was charged with uttering a false note on Wm. J. Gear, of West Luther, was allowed his freedom on suspended sentence and five year bond. A strong petition was presented from his friends of the Mount Forest neighborhood, who spoke highly of the young man.

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.
"Push," said the button.
"Never be led," said the pencil.
"Take pains," said the window.
"Always keep cool," said the ice.
"Be up-to-date," said the calendar.
"Never lose your head," said the barrel.
"Make light of everything," said the fire.
"Do a driving business," said the hammer.
"Aspire to greater things," said the nutmeg.

DOCTOR SAID ONLY ZAM-BUK COULD CURE HER ECZEMA.

In view of the numerous cures which Zam-Buk has worked when all else failed, there is little wonder that in the end the doctor attending Mrs. J. P. St. Denis, of 305 Thompson St., Winnipeg, should tell her there was nothing but Zam-Buk could cure her. The result showed the far-seeing wisdom of this practitioner, and having been completely cured by Zam-Buk, Mrs. St. Denis gives her experience for the benefit of other sufferers.

She says: "Eczema started on one side of my face and nose. At first my nose felt sore, similar to what one feels when having a bad cold. I paid no attention to this, thinking it would pass away in a day or so, but to my surprise it got worse. The nose then became swollen and hard, and turned a purplish red, as well as part of the cheek on that side of my face. As the disease developed, pimples and ulcers broke out, then the skin cracked in places and peeled off in flakes, leaving my face and nose raw and sore. This condition reacted on my general health, and I became very ill. I could get no sleep at night because of the irritation and the pain, and my face was in such a shocking condition that for two months I did not go out of the house I applied remedies which were supposed to be good for skin diseases, but in vain. My doctor also treated me, but without effect, until one day he said that the only thing which would now be likely to cure me was Zam-Buk.

"Acting on his advice, I procured a supply and found that even the first few applications had a soothing effect on the sores. I left off everything else in favour of this balm, and applied it liberally every day to the affected parts. In a remarkably short time, considering the obstinate nature of my disease, we saw traces of improvement, which encouraged us to persevere with the Zam-Buk treatment. Zam-Buk reduced the discoloration, then the hard swelling began to show traces of leaving, the sores seemed to be less angry, and in about three weeks' time most of the sores were healing nicely. To cut a long story short, I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment until my face was cleared completely of all traces of the troublesome and painful eczema."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for cuts, lacerations, burns, eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, festering sores, bad leg, and all skin injuries and diseases. It is also a cure for piles. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto on receipt of price. You are warned against cheap and harmful imitations sometimes represented as "just as good."

FRENCHMAN WON.

New York, April 5.—Tom Longboat was outclassed in the $10,000 Marathon Derby at the Polo Grounds on Saturday. He went down to ignominious defeat, falling into the arms of his trainers exhausted during the twenty-first mile.

The conqueror was Henri St. Yves, a little Frenchman, who put it all over Shrubb, Dorando, Hayes, Maloney and the Indian, and finished fresh in the record time of 2 hours 40 minutes and 50 3-5 seconds, the whole distance of 26 miles 385 yards. It was a marvelous performance. Shrubb was run off his feet in the 26th mile after a game tussle with the victor.

A GREAT SURPRISE

Henri St. Yves, of France up to a short time ago, was a waiter in a London restaurant. Looked upon as a rank outsider and practically despised in the betting, the latest addition to the list of Marathon runners completely outclassed five of the best long-distance athletes in the world and established a new Marathon record. The previous record was 2.41.-30 2-5, held by Dorando, who finished second to St. Yves.

It was one of the greatest races in the history of the sport, and so killing was the pace that Shrubb and St. Yves established new world's records for all distances from fifteen miles as they battled fiercely step for step to keep the lead until the Britisher was compelled to acknowledge defeat and quit the contest. So killing was the pace that Longboat, after being lapped twice, tried to quit, but was forced back into the race, only to stop from sheer exhaustion.

CROWD SOAKED BY RAIN

During this remarkable spectacle 30,000 rain-soaked spectators cheered madly. There was no thought for the inclement weather, and he gathering like it was ever seen at a sporting event in America. For hours the crowd on the hill overlooking the grounds and in the unreserved seats sat unmindful of the rain.

It was a remarkable display. St. Yves had won the Edinburgh Marathon, beating Pat White and other good runners, but this performance was not considered good enough to entitle him to the same consideration before the race as that accorded to Longboat, Dorando, Shrubb and Hayes.

A GREAT RUNNER

He seemed to glide rather than run over the grass track. His feet scarcely left the earth, and he ran with less apparent effort than any man ever seen here before, not even excepting the great Shrubb. His arms were well raised and his body moved in perfect unison with his limbs. He carried the field along at a terrific rate for ten miles, when he gave way to Shrubb. The latter, thinking St. Yves was tiring, kept up the pace for eight miles, but was compelled to bow before the superior speed and stamina of the little Frenchman. All doubt as to the result of the race was removed in the twenty-first mile, when St. Yves opened up a wide breach on Shrubb who at this time was second.

A GOOD MUDDER

The further the men traveled the wider grew the breach, St. Yves proved himself a good "mudder," and reveled in the hard going. The victory was at once emphatic and complete, and places the Frenchman on the top-most pinnacle of Marathon fame. He was reported to have covhave covered the distance in 2.31.23 in a special time tria, over the Olympic Marathon course in London, but few believed him capable of the performance.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail—then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by T. Stevenson.

STOMACH DISTRESS.

And Indigestion Misery Ends Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take one triangule after supper tonight. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist's, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

THOS. C. FERGUSON DEAD.

It is with sincere regret that we are called upon this week to record the death of Thos. C. Ferguson, one of the pioneers of the township of Mulmur, in the 74th year of his age. For the past three years he had suffered from dropsy, gradually becoming weaker, until death came to his relief on Wednesday afternoon, March 31st, 1909. The deceased was born in the township of Tecumseth and came to Mulmur about 53 years ago, settling on lot 11, con. 3, W. H. S., where he lived until about 10 years ago, when he removed to Horning's Mills, where he resided until his death. Mr. Ferguson in his earlier years had always taken an active and leading part in the municipal affairs of the township and had been councillor and deputy-reeve, which position he occupied just previous to his retirement from municipal politics in 1883. The deceased was much esteemed and highly respected by all who knew him and his death will be deeply regretted by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He possessed an amiable and cheerful disposition, and was a man of unblemished reputation and the strictest integrity of character. In religion he was a Presbyterian, and for many years was an elder in the church at Primrose, and at the time of his death held the same position in the church at Horning's Mills. He is survived by a widow, four sons and four daughters and two brothers and a sister. The sons are:—Rev. J. B. Ferguson, Seattle Wash.; Thos. A. Ferguson, living on the homestead in Mulmur; Hugh A. Ferguson, San Francisco, Cal.; Charles Colwell Ferguson, Burlington, Iowa. The daughters:—Mrs. Jas. Torrance, Amaranth; Mrs. Geo. Taylor, Belleville; Mrs. Wm. Ferris, Masonville; Mrs. (Rev.) Allan Lang, Ohio. The brothers are Alex. Ferguson, Huntsville and Hugh Ferguson Amaranth; and the sister is Mrs. R. Crawford, of Toronto. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon at 1.30 from the late residence of the deceased and proceeded to Primrose cemetery, where the interment took place. There was a large attendance at the funeral, testifying to the respect and esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends and neighbors.—Free Press.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cause nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. Emma Chatel, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

QUALITIES OF CHARACTER THAT WIN FRIENDS

Many people are not capable of forming great friendships because they do not have the qualities themselves which attract noble qualities in others.

If you are uncharitable, intolerant, if you lack generosity, cordiality, if you are narrow and bigoted, unsympathetic, small, and mean, you cannot expect that generous, large-hearted, noble characters will flock around you. If you expect to make friends with large-souled, noble characters you must cultivate large-heartedness, generosity, charity, and tolerance. One reason why so many people have so few friends is that they have so little to give, and they expect so much. A happy temperament, a desire to scatter joy and gladness, to be helpful to everybody, are wonderful aids to friendship. People who are moody and inclined to be blue do not make many friends because these are qualities which repel rather than attract.

You will be amazed to see how quickly friends will flock about you just as soon as you begin to cultivate attractable and lovable qualities.

Justice and truth are absolutely essential to the highest friendship, and cause he is just and true, even when we respect a friend all the more because he is just and true, even when it hurst us and mortifies us most. We cannot help respecting justice and a will that will constantly press forward toward expansion. This course will set into motion the forces of mental attraction, and he will find himself attracting people, things, conditions, knowledge, opportunities, etc ditians, knowledge, opportunities, etc., that will serve the purpose of his Growth, and which will at the same time urge him forward to meet them half way. The Law works in two directions.

Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

PURITY FLOUR

You can buy as little as a 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 24, 49, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels

Purity may cost a little more than some flours but you'll find its more than worth the difference. To be genuine, must bear the Purity trade mark.

BRAMPTON JURY COULDN'T AGREE.

Judge Mulock Dismissed Jurors on Arson Case—Stood Seven to Five for Conviction.

At three o'clock this morning the jury in the trial of Frank Ruston charged with arson announced that they could not agree on a verdict and Justice Mulock dismissed them. It is said the jury stood seven to five for conviction.

Our readers are pretty familiar with the circumstances of the case. On Feb. 20 last, Frank Ruston's farm house nearby Dixon's Church, east Chinguacousy, was burned down during the night. Ruston and his ten year-old-daughter were the occupants. He told a thrilling story of awakening from his sleep, half suffocated and on gaining his feet smashing out the window with a chair. Ruston slept in his shirts, drawers and socks. He lifted his little girl out enveloped in blankets and laid her down in the snow, then returned and hurled out bedding and other articles in the room. One of the things he saved was a box loaded with dishes.

Ruston had the contents of his house insured for $700 in the London Mutual and when he presented himself at the office of the company in Toronto he was arrested. A man named Hollis, who had worked for Ruston had been to the company a week or so before the fire and told them a story about Ruston offering him money to fire his buildings and how Ruston had been burying his goods.

Hollis was the star witness for the prosecution and told a long, circumstantial story which seemed to be corroborated by the discoveries made by detectives and others.

Ruston went into the box for himself and absolutely denied that he had set fire to the house and that he had plotted with Hollis.

Some of the doings of Ruston read like a dime novel story. He admitted burying a box of about 18x20x18 in a cement grave in his stable. Hollis said this had been loaded with furs and the best stuff about the house. When search was made for this safe deposit vault it was found that the box had been removed. Ruston explained that he had become suspicious that Hollis might rob it and had removed the box. He denied that it contained anything but a bundle of receipts, insurance policies, and probate papers and some jewelry.

There was a long array of witnesses and the case was not finished until six o'clock last evening. Afterward the Council J. A. Snow, of Toronto, for the Crown and T. J. Blain for the defendant, agreed to forego addressing the jury, letting the Judge's address suffice. The case went to the jury about 11 o'clock and it was three before it was dismissed, Ruston was released on his former bail being renewed.—Brampton Banner.

Functions such that each suffers when the other is deranged.

The liver filters poison from the blood. The kidneys also filter poisons from the blood. When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is giving too much work by over heating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration, therefore the kidneys are overtaxed. The result—Biliousness, indigestion, and constipation, and after a time the kidneys are affected and you have a backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease. You feel drowsy, lazy; tired, skin becomes dry and hot. Fig Pills will put you right at once; they cleanse the liver and the kidneys and purify the blood. You feel like a new person. Take one at bedtime. Price 25c. box.

A GRAND KIDNEY MEDICINE

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him When Everything Else Failed.

Ulverton, Que., March 17th, 1908.

I wish to place on record, for the sake of others who may be suffering in the same way that I suffered, that no medicine I ever took did me so much real good as "Fruit-a-tives" did.

I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill, but nothing gave me any relief, and I was getting discouraged.

I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and did so—and this medicine cured me when everything else failed.

I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," and from the outset they gave me relief and I am now practically well again; no pain, no distress, and all symptoms of kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well, and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I did. To them, I say try "Fruit-a-tives," as they are a grand kidney medicine.

CLARENCE J. PLACEY.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The purity, flavor and strength of "Salada" Tea make it incomparably the best value on the market. It is infinitely more delicious and decidedly more economical than other teas.

James Smelie a Proton young man who was charged with uttering a false note on Wm. J. Gear, of West Luther, was allowed his freedom on suspended sentence and five year bond. A strong petition was presented from his friends of the Mount Forest neighborhood, who spoke highly of the young man.

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.
"Push," said the button.
"Never be led," said the pencil.
"Take pains," said the window.
"Always keep cool," said the ice.
"Be up-to-date," said the calendar.
"Never lose your head," said the barrel.
"Make light of everything," said the fire.
"Do a driving business," said the hammer.
"Aspire to greater things," said the nutmeg.

DOCTOR SAID ONLY ZAM-BUK COULD CURE HER ECZEMA.

In view of the numerous cures which Zam-Buk has worked when all else failed, there is little wonder that in the end the doctor attending Mrs. J. P. St. Denis, of 305 Thompson St., Winnipeg, should tell her there was nothing but Zam-Buk could cure her. The result showed the far-seeing wisdom of this practitioner, and having been completely cured by Zam-Buk, Mrs. St. Denis gives her experience for the benefit of other sufferers.

She says: "Eczema started on one side of my face and nose. At first my nose felt sore, similar to what one feels when having a bad cold. I paid no attention to this, thinking it would pass away in a day or so, but to my surprise it got worse. The nose then became swollen and hard, and turned a purplish red, as well as part of the cheek on that side of my face. As the disease developed, pimples and ulcers broke out, then the skin cracked in places and peeled off in flakes, leaving my face and nose raw and sore. This condition reacted on my general health, and I became very ill. I could get no sleep at night because of the irritation and the pain, and my face was in such a shocking condition that for two months I did not go out of the house I applied remedies which were supposed to be good for skin diseases, but in vain. My doctor also treated me, but without effect, until one day he said that the only thing which would now be likely to cure me was Zam-Buk.

"Acting on his advice, I procured a supply and found that even the first few applications had a soothing effect on the sores. I left off everything else in favour of this balm, and applied it liberally every day to the affected parts. In a remarkably short time, considering the obstinate nature of my disease, we saw traces of improvement, which encouraged us to persevere with the Zam-Buk treatment. Zam-Buk reduced the discoloration, then the hard swelling began to show traces of leaving, the sores seemed to be less angry, and in about three weeks' time most of the sores were healing nicely. To cut a long story short, I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment until my face was cleared completely of all traces of the troublesome and painful eczema."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for cuts, lacerations, burns, eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, festering sores, bad leg, and all skin injuries and diseases. It is also a cure for piles. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto on receipt of price. You are warned against cheap and harmful imitations sometimes represented as "just as good."

FRENCHMAN WON.

New York, April 5.—Tom Longboat was outclassed in the $10,000 Marathon Derby at the Polo Grounds on Saturday. He went down to ignominious defeat, falling into the arms of his trainers exhausted during the twenty-first mile.

The conqueror was Henri St. Yves, a little Frenchman, who put it all over Shrubb, Dorando, Hayes, Maloney and the Indian, and finished fresh in the record time of 2 hours 40 minutes and 50 3-5 seconds, the whole distance of 26 miles 385 yards. It was a marvelous performance. Shrubb was run off his feet in the 26th mile after a game tussle with the victor.

A GREAT SURPRISE

Henri St. Yves, of France up to a short time ago, was a waiter in a London restaurant. Looked upon as a rank outsider and practically despised in the betting, the latest addition to the list of Marathon runners completely outclassed five of the best long-distance athletes in the world and established a new Marathon record. The previous record was 2.44.-20 2-5, held by Dorando, who finished second to St. Yves.

It was one of the greatest races in the history of the sport, and so killing was the pace that Shrubb and St. Yves established new world's records for all distances from fifteen miles as they battled fiercely step for step to keep the lead until the Britisher was compelled to acknowledge defeat and quit the contest. So killing was the pace that Longboat, after being lapped twice, tried to quit, but was forced back into the race, only to stop from sheer exhaustion.

CROWD SOAKED BY RAIN

During this remarkable spectacle 30,000 rain-soaked spectators cheered madly. There was no thought for the inclement weather, and no gathering like it was ever seen at a sporting event in America. For hours the crowd on the hill overlooking the grounds and in the unreserved seats sat unmindful of the rain.

It was a remarkable display. St. Yves had won the Edinburgh Marathon, beating Pat White and other good runners, but this performance was not considered good enough to entitle him to the same consideration before the race as that accorded to Longboat, Dorando, Shrubb and Hayes.

A GREAT RUNNER

He seemed to glide rather than run over the grass track. His feet scarcely left the earth, and he ran with less apparent effort than any man ever seen here before, not even excepting the great Shrubb. His arms were well raised and his body moved in perfect unison with his limbs. He carried the field along at a terrific rate for ten miles, when he gave way to Shrubb. The latter, thinking St. Yves was tiring, kept up the pace for eight miles, but was compelled to bow before the superior speed and stamina of the little Frenchman. All doubt as to the result of the race was removed in the twenty-first mile, when St. Yves opened up a wide breach on Shrubb who at this time was second.

A GOOD MUDDER

The further the men traveled the wider grew the breach, St. Yves proved himself a good "mudder," and reveled in the hard going. The victory was at once emphatic and complete, and places the Frenchman on the top-most pinnacle of Marathon fame. He was reported to have covered the distance in 2.31.23 in a special time tria, over the Olympic Marathon course in London, but few believed him capable of the performance.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail—then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by T. Stevenson.

STOMACH DISTRESS.

And Indigestion Misery Ends Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead, in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take one triangule after supper tonight. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist's, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

THOS. C. FERGUSON DEAD.

It is with sincere regret that we are called upon this week to record the death of Thos. C. Ferguson, one of the pioneers of the township of Mulmur, in the 74th year of his age. For the past three years he had suffered from dropsy, gradually becoming weaker, until death came to his relief on Wednesday afternoon, March 31st, 1909. The deceased was born in the township of Tecumseth and came to Mulmur about 53 years ago, settling on lot 11, con. 3, W. H. S., where he lived until about 10 years ago, when he removed to Horning's Mills, where he resided until his death. Mr. Ferguson in his earlier years had always taken an active and leading part in the municipal affairs of the township and had been councillor and deputy-reeve, which position he occupied just previous to his retirement from municipal politics in 1883. The deceased was much esteemed and highly respected by all who knew him and his death will be deeply regretted by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He possessed an amiable and cheerful disposition, and was a man of unblemished reputation and the strictest integrity of character. In religion he was a Presbyterian, and for many years was an elder in the church at Primrose, and at the time of his death held the same position in the church at Horning's Mills. He is survived by a widow, four sons and four daughters and two brothers and a sister. The sons are:—Rev. J. B. Ferguson, Seattle Wash.; Thos. A. Ferguson, living on the homestead in Mulmur; Hugh A. Ferguson, San Francisco, Cal.; Charles Colwell Ferguson, Burlington, Iowa. The daughters:—Mrs. Jas. Torrance, Amaranth; Mrs. Geo. Taylor, Belleville; Mrs. Wm. Ferris, Masonville; Mrs. (Rev.) Allan Lang, Ohio. The brothers are Alex. Ferguson, Huntsville and Hugh Ferguson Amaranth; and the sister is Mrs. R. Crawford, of Toronto. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon at 1.30 from the late residence of the deceased and proceeded to Primrose cemetery, where the interment took place. There was a large attendance at the funeral, testifying to the respect and esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends and neighbors.—Free Press.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Deputy-Returning Officer's Story of West Ward Count.

The hearing of the Hewson vs. Riddell case was resumed before the Master in Chambers for Ontario, J. S. Cartwright, K.C., in the Court House here at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. J. B. Mackenzie, o Toronto, appeared for Mr. Hewson and Mr. C. R. McKeown for Reeve Riddell. The Court Room was crowded during the hearing which lasted until 5.30 in the afternoon. Mr. Wm. Daniels, deputy returning officer in the West Ward, and Mr. R. A. Pattullo, his poll clerk, were subjected to lengthy examinations. Their evidence which was strongly corroborated by Messrs. E. A. Robinson and R. J. McConnell, went to show that there had been no wrongdoing or any attempt to interfere in any way with the ballots or ballot box.

Mr. A. A. Hughson, town clerk, was called for the purpose of producing a ballot marked with the figures "100" in addition to the crosses. This ballot, which Judge McCarthy pronounced spoiled on the occasion of the recount, was placed among the exhibits.

This closed the case for the relator, Mr. Thos. S. Hewson, except in respect of rebuttal evidence and argument on the facts established and their effect from a legal standpoint.

Mr. Wm. Daniels, the West Ward deputy returning officer, was then placed in the witness box by Mr. McKeown. Before his examination was commenced, Mr. Mackenzie asked to have Messrs. R. Pattullo, E. A. Robinson and R. J. McConnell, the other important witnesses, excluded from the Court Room during the taking of the evidence on Mr. Riddell's behalf. This was agreed to by Mr. McKeown.

To Mr. Riddell's lawyer Mr. Daniels stated that he acted as deputy returning officer in the West Ward at the last municipal election. Mr. Thompson acted as agent for Mr. Hewson and Mr. Robinson in behalf of Reeve Riddell. The agents presented the usual certificates of appointment. When Joseph Gahan came into the booth to vote Thompson asked to have him sworn. After some conversation with Thompson, Mr. Robinson, the other scrutineer, asked him how many voters he had marked to be sworn, Thompson answered thirteen and Robinson replied that he had eighteen. Eventually they agreed not to do any swearing on either side. This agreement took place shortly after the poll opened and before witness had handed a ballot to Gahan. Witness was only asked once to accompany a voter behind the screen. Mrs. McKitrick, Zina St. asked him to go with her into the compartment to explain the ballot. He asked Mr. Thompson and Mr. Robinson to accompany him, but they both declined to do so. Mrs. McKitrick marked her own ballot. Remembered giving Mrs. Marsden and her son, Mr. John Marsden, their ballots Mrs. Marsden went behind the screen to mark her ballots and on coming out handed them to her son. The latter did not interfere with them in any way, but merely handed them to witness. Marsden did not have his mother's ballots in his hands more than a few seconds. No person could see voter marking his ballot behind the screen and neither of the agents had made any complaint about the screen. When he started to count ballots at close of the poll, witness began to turn them out on the table, but table was too small and they were put back in ballot box. Witness called off ballots at first and Mr. Robt. McConnell took them out of the ballot box, unfolded them and handed them to him. Mr. McConnell did this at his request. Thought he called off about half the ballots and then his voice failed and he asked Mr. Robinson to finish calling off. Mr. McConnell continued to take the ballots out of the box. Witness stood near Mr. Robinson and could see all that was being done, except when he was lifting the ballots off the table after they had been called off and handing them to the constable. Could see every ballot as it was called off. Neither Mr. McConnell nor Mr. Robinson interfered in any way with the ballots. Mr. Robinson called out three spoiled ballots, but did not say what way they were marked. These ballots were placed under the edge of the lamp on the centre of the table, and remained there until all the other ballots were counted. Witness did not remember the count at the time the persons in the polling booth rushed out. Neither Mr. Thompson nor Mr. Robinson waited to see these ballots disposed of. Witness, Mr. Pattullo, the constable, Mr. Ribbans, and Mr. Pattullo's little boy remained in the booth after the others went away. Witness counted the three ballots under the lamp for Mr. Riddell and then put them into an envelope. Mr. Pattullo had first called his attention to the fact that these ballots were marked for Riddell and should be included in the count. At that time neither witness nor Mr. Pattullo had any idea how the total vote for the reeveship stood. The three ballots were spoiled for deputy-reeve and for this reason he kept them separate from the other ballots. Took ballot box with all papers including the three ballots over to his own house. Was too ill to do anything else. The statement, however, was filled out in the polling booth. Mr. Pattullo and his boy accompanied witness home. Kept the ballot box, etc. in his house over night. Mr. McConnell and Mr. Robinson called at his house to ascertain the correct return for the West Ward. They did not see any of the ballots and did not ask to see either the ballots or ballot box. They were not in the house more than a minute or so. Witness told them the count. Delivered the ballot box and the three ballots, which he had kept separate, to Miss Murray at Mr. Hughson's office the next morning. Witness testified that he was called before Judge McCarthy at the recount and was shown the three ballots that he had kept separate. They were in the same condition as when first taken out of the ballot box. The Town Clerk came to his house the night of the election. Witness was too ill to see him but told his daughter, who told him Mr. Hughson was asking about the ballot box, to inform him that he would take it down in the morning.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Daniels said that he had been acting as deputy-returning officer in the west Ward for thirty-five years. He had some knowledge of the duties of a deputy returning officer. Poll Clerk acted under his directions. Did not look at the pool-book particularly to see how entries were being made. Was nearer ballot box than the poll-clerk and could see what the latter was doing without rising from his seat. Did not read the provisions of the statute relating to his duties, but knew ain a general way its terms and the duties of a deputy returning officer. Did not know that the voters' qualifications should be entered in the poll-book. Thought that the name of the voter and his residence was all that was necessary. Did not know that it was necessary to state in poll book what ballot papers were given out. Took declaration of office before Mr. Hughson. Did not have a Bible in the polling booth, but could have procured one in a few minutes if required. Declarations of secrecy were read to the agents. Witness contradicted Mr. Thompson's statement that some three or flour electors voted openly. There was not a single person who voted as an illiterate voter. Did not think there was a voter in the West Ward who could not read or write. Mrs. McKitrick was the only voter who marked her ballot in the presence of witness. She did not offer to make any declaration of illiteracy, but merely asked to have ballot explained to her. Witness thought he had the right to go into voting compartment with a voter if the voter requested him to do so. The agents signed the statement a few minutes before five o'clock. The poll clerk and witness did not sign until after all the votes had been counted. It was Mr. Pattullo who suggested that agents might sign statement so that it would be ready. Mr. McConnell said when he came in that he was present in Mr. Riddell's interest. Witness had asked Mr. McConnell to take ballots out of the box. He thought he had the right to do this. After his voice gave out, witness asked Mr. Robinson to call off the ballots. The way Mr. Robinson held the ballots witness could see them. Did not turn his back to Mr. Robinson except when he was lifting ballots that had been called off from the table to hand them to the constable. Ballots were called off and then placed in their respective envelopes. In addition to the three ballots spoiled for deputy-reeve, but good for reeve, there were two spoiled ballots for councillors and one or two for trustees. There were five or six persons present during the counting. They all left before the three ballots placed under the edge of the lamp were counted. If Mr. Pattullo had not noticed that these ballots were good they would not have been counted. Witness put the figures for the reeveship in his statement immediately after counting these ballots. Had never said that he made out the statement after leaving the booth. During the day did not leave the booth for more than a minute or so. No voters got ballots during absence of witness. When Mr. McConnell and Mr. Robinson came to his house one of them asked witness how he was and what the final count was for the West Ward. Did not know at that time who had been elected. Knew that Mr. Hughson came up to his house to enquire about the ballot box. Mrs. Marsden and Mr. John Marsden did not ask for ballot papers together. One followed the other. Did not notice them going behind the screen, but had warned them not to go together. Had handed the three ballots spoiled for deputy-reeve, but good for reeve, to Mr. Hughson's stenographer the morning after the election and had placed the ballot box alongside the other ballot boxes in Mr. Hughson's office. Had not thought of giving the ballot box to the poll clerk and authorizing him in writing to deliver it to the town clerk. Did not go behind the screen with Mr. Hubbard. Did not remember whether Mr. Hubbard gave a secret vote or not.

The next witness was Mr. R. Pattullo, the poll clerk, whose evidence corroborated that of Mr. Daniels on practically every essential point. Mr. Pattullo, moreover, stated that when Mr. Hughson came to the house to enquire about the ballot box, he answered in the affirmative when asked if it would do in the morning. At that time witness did not know who was elected.

Mr. E. A. Robinson, agent for Mr. Riddell, who was next sworn, told substantially the same story as Mr. Daniels and Mr. Pattullo regarding the voting of Mr. and Mrs. Marsden, and Mrs. McKitrick and as to the proceedings in calling off and counting the ballots at the close of the poll. He said his impression was that there were seven spoiled ballots altogether—one for school trustee, two for councillors, three for deputy-reeve and one for reeve. When the result was figured out as 66 for Riddell and 61 for Hewson, the three ballots spoiled for deputy-reeve but good for reeve were still under the lamp and had not been counted. With the count 66 to 61, he and others left, leaving Mr. Daniels, Mr. Pattullo and the constable in the booth. Witness went home and had tea and afterwards came down street, where he heard that Hewson had been elected by either 2 or 4. Mr. McConnell came up to his house later in the evening and asked him if the three ballots placed on the centre of the table were counted for the reeve. He said they were not and then went with Mr. McConnell to Mr. Daniels' house. Mr. Daniels said in reply to a question that the three ballots had not been included in the count as first announced, but that they had been taken into account in his official statement. Witness did not see the ballots or ballot box while at Mr. Daniels' place. Was not there more than two minutes. Had not seen the ballot box or any of the ballots since he left the polling booth the night of the election.

Mr. R. J. McConnell also gave evidence that strongly corroborated the testimony of the previous witnesses. In respect to the three ballots placed under the lamp, he said he had left the polling booth supposing that they were spoiled ballots. About 8 o'clock he went to Mr. Riddell's office and told the crowd gathered there that these ballots were marked for both candidates for deputy-reeve, but only for Mr. Riddell for reeve. He was told they were good for Mr. Riddell. He then left and went to Mr. Robinson's and together they went to Mr. Daniels' house to enquire whether he had counted them or not. Was told they had been counted and that the official statement for the West Ward was 61 for Hewson and 69 for Riddell. He and Robinson were only in Daniels' house a minute or so and did not see either the ballots or ballot box while there.

To Mr. Mackenzie Mr. McConnell said he thought it was Mr. McKeown who had advised that these ballots were good for reeve. Mr. Riddell did not send Robinson and witness to Mr. Daniels' to enquire as to the count. Thought while in the polling booth that these ballots should have been counted, but did not know. Had spoken to Mr. Thompson about his affidavit. Told him there were some things in it that were not true. What he referred to especially was the statement that he had put ballots into his pocket.

Mr. A. D. McKitrick, who was next called, gave practically the same evidence as the previous witnesses respecting the proceedings after the close of the poll. He left the booth when the count stood 61 for Hewson and 66 for Riddell. At that time the three ballots placed under the edge of the lamp had not been counted. Mr. Hewson was reported in the first instance as being elected reeve.

Mr. Mackenzie called Deputy Registrar Collier for the purpose of bringing into question Reeve Riddell's property qualification.

The case was then adjourned to be resumed in Toronto on a date to be agreed on by the Master and counsel for the interested parties.

RELESSEY.

What has become of our literary young men and women, whose writings of events of interest were read with much pleasure and profit during the past years! We hope some one may again resume correspondence at the suggestion of the present writer, who has not the ability to present in correct form the current events of our vicinity. So get your pen and tell the world we are living.

All our residents are busy with the spring work and seeding will soon commence in this favored section "where smiling spring her earliest visit pays."

The past winter has been a busy and pleasant one judging from the many social events which continued in rapid succession since the early winter. Time and space will not permit to give an account of the entertainment of our hosts and hostesses, who, in their usual hospitable way, made merry the nights and days. Among those who have entertained during the past few weeks are the Misses Arthur, Mrs. Robert J. McCutcheon, Mrs. W. J. Halbert, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Mrs. James Irwin, Mrs. Robert Mills, Mrs. Wm. Laverty, Miss Ethel Aikens, Mrs. George Mills, Mrs. Thomas Halbert, Mrs. Robert Laverty, Mrs. Wm. Bowers, Mrs. A. Glover, Mrs. George Irwin, Mrs. Richard Holmes, Mrs. W. J. McCague, the Misses Haddock, Mrs. J. J. Bowers, Mrs. S. Anderson and many others, all of whom carried off highest honors as social leaders.

Miss McDowell has returned to her home in Rosemont after a pleasant visit with Mrs. George Irwin.

Mr. Robert Holmes represented the Methodist church at the Laymen's Missionary Congress in Toronto. He gave an interesting report of the Convention last Sunday, during the absence of Rev. Mr. Partridge.

Rev. Mr. Partridge and Mr. Will Bremner were also in attendance at the Missionary Congress. Miss Bremner, of Camilla, supplied as teacher during her brother's absence.

The Teacher Training Class conducted by Mrs. Robert Mills, has completed the year's work. All took highest marks in the final examination. This fact speaks in highest terms of the efficient work of Mrs. Mills who has labored so faithfully in this good cause. At the close of the winter's work the members of the class were entertained by Mrs. Mills at her home, where a most delightful evening was spent.

The destruction wrought by the wind storm of last week is apparent on almost every farm in this section. Mr. Thos. McFadden, Mr. Robert Holmes, Mr. Wm. McCague, and Herman Forsyth are a few of those whose buildings were seriously damaged. General sorrow is felt at the almost complete demolition of Ebenezer church. However the congregation are not discouraged and have taken steps to have the building rebuilt and enlarged without delay.

Mr. Hugh Maguire has commenced work on his new residence.

Mr. Harry Simpson leaves for Toronto shortly, to engage in business there.

Wedding bells are ringing once more. So near? So surprising! Why didn't you tell us?

The new principal of Walkerton public school is occupying the pulpit occasionally. It appears to us that the teacher-preacher is usually not much of a success at either.—Chesley Enterprise.

While Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Townsend of Terra Cotta were absent from home a few days ago two tramps entered their house. The hired man, John Heast, noticed the men and ordered them off the premises, but the marauders would not go until a rifle was pointed at them.

She Looks so Well and Healthy

That many ask her what she has been using.

It is a common thing to have people tell you how pale and sickly you look, but when they begin to comment on your healthy appearance you may be sure the change is remarkable.

Mr. Samson King, Box 15, Stratford, Ont., writes: "My wife has used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to such good advantage that people are asking her what she has taken to make her so well and healthy looking. Her nervous system was all run down and she suffered greatly from headaches, sleeplessness and indigestion. By forming new, rich blood Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has built up her health wonderfully and made her strong and well. I have also used this treatment with great benefit in toning up the system."

There is no guess work about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It contains in condensed and easily assimilated form the elements of Nature which go to the formation of rich red blood and healthy nerve cells. Every dose is therefore bound to be of at least some benefit to the run down system. 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A MILLIONAIRE.

Hiram Baker Negotiated a Loan of $3.

The Globe of Wednesday, April 7th, had the following interesting news item:—

Hiram Baker, an unkempt-looking man without a collar, who posed as a millionaire from Hamilton, and on the strength of his statements induced a Dundas street real estate dealer named Harvey to lend him $3, was this morning committed to the Sessions for trial by the Police Magistrate.

In addition he had also got $1 from Dr. Woods, of 859 College st., by false pretences.

Mr. Harvey, in giving evidence, said that Baker came to him on the evening of March 13 and talked for over two hours. He told Harvey he owned three farms near Hamilton and had $85,000 in cash in the bank. His intention was to settle $5,000 each on his five sons and one daughter and buy a residence in Toronto for his wife.

Next day he accompanied the witness on a tour of inspection and made an offer of $8,000 on a house, depositing his check for $500. After giving his check he borrowed $3 from the agent, saying that his wife was coming down from Hamilton next day with $5,000 in cash. The check, like Baker's story, proved to be based on a myth, and the prosecution followed.

Several charges laid by doctors who claimed to have been victimized by Baker were withdrawn.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ills.

Mrs. H. G. Greenis, of Amanda St. Orangeville, Ont., says: "I have suffered with my back for quite a long time. A heavy dull pain would catch me in the kidney region and extend around my sides. I would become so languid and done out that I would be scarcely able to attend to my household duties. I could find nothing that would relieve me, in fact I was generally run down when I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and procured a box at Mr. Stevenson's Pharmacy. The results were quick and lasting, my back strengthened and the languid feeling soon disappeared. Mr. Greenis had suffered with symptoms of kidney trouble and I advised him to try Booth's Kidney Pills, which he did and was soon without the slightest symptom. There is nothing just as good as Booth's Kidney Pills and I can conscientiously recommend them." Sold by Dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agents.

EASTER SERVICES.

Special services appropriate to the Easter season were held in the different town churches on Sunday.

• • •

Owing to the illness of the pastor, Rev. A. L. Burch occupied the pulpit in St. Andrew's Church at the morning service. Rev. J. McIlroy, of Camilla, took the evening service. The choir, which was assisted for the occasion by Mrs. Hudson, Miss Henderson and Mr. Angus McPherson, of Toronto, gave a much appreciated Easter song service. The special numbers in the morning were a solo "Christ has opened Paradise" by the choir leader, Miss Nan Huston, and an anthem, "The Resurrection Morn" with solo part by Mr. S. Frost. The evening numbers were solos, "Christ Has Opened Paradise," by Miss Huston and "The Plains of Peace," by Mr. Angus McPherson, an anthem, "Christ is Risen" by the choir with solo part by Mr. Ross McPherson and an anthem, "The Palms" by the choir. By special request the choir will repeat the Easter song service at the evening service next Sunday.

• • •

In the Methodist Church the choir, led by Prof. Laugher, furnished special Easter music both morning and evening. In the morning in addition to the regular numbers Mr. Adams sang a fine solo, "Death shall have no more dominion over Him" and the choir the anthem "Christ the Lord is Risen To-day." The evening numbers were three anthems by the full choir. The pastor, Rev. H. Harper, occupied the pulpit at both services.

• • •

Rev. A. E. Quinn, the pastor, preached to large congregations in the Baptist Church. The choir provided appropriate music both morning and evening.

The Easter services at St. Mark's were quite as largely attended as usual. At the morning service the edifice was crowded. The rector, Rev. Mr. Rix, spoke impressively on an Easter theme. Besides the regular music there were two excellent anthems and also solos by Miss Ethel Irvine and Mr. Douglas Endacott. The children's service in the afternoon was exceptionally good, the children of the Sunday School leading the service in a most acceptable manner.

A DESTRUCTIVE WINDSTORM

The windstorm which swept over Ontario on Wednesday of last week was the worst experienced in this section in many years. Fences were levelled, trees uprooted and scores of windmills wrecked in the country about Orangeville. Several barns were wholly or partly unroofed and in a few instances buildings were blown down. Farquhar Baxter's new barn on the 3rd line east, Caledon, was demolished and Herman Forsythe's barn near Mono Centre, suffered a similar fate. Snell's Methodist Church, on the Mono-Adjala townline and Ebenezer Methodist Church at Relessey were both destroyed. A few of those whose barns were unroofed were Alex. Patterson, Mono Centre, Geo. Reid, Mono; Wm. McKinney and J. B. Walker, Amaranth, and Dan Conley, Erin. Many shed and stable roofs suffered in Orangeville and fully a score of chimneys were blown over, John Cruikshank and Sheriff Bowles were among those whose buildings suffered most. The flag tower and staff on Alexandra Park, erected and presented to the town by the Dufferin Old Boys' Association a few years ago, collapsed and the corporation windmill at the waterworks reservoir was partially wrecked.

DIED FROM HEART TROUBLE.

Emma Nellie Ribbans, daughter of Mr. William Ribbans, James St., died on Good Friday after a short illness from heart trouble. She was 13 years and 10 months old. The funeral was held to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Saturday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Rix conducting the services. Much sympathy is felt for the father and family, who have had a trying time of it lately with sickness.

MRS. JOHN CAMERON.

Her many friends will learn with deep sorrow of the death of Mrs. John Cameron, who passed away at her home on the Centre Road, Caledon, early yesterday morning, after a long and trying illness. The deceased was a sufferer from heart and nervous trouble and had been seriously ill for the last six months. Everything that medical skill could suggest was done to win her back to health, but unfortunately neither this nor the tender care of a devoted husband and family were of any avail. The late Mrs. Cameron was 54 years of age and was a daughter of Mr. Moses Smith, of Holland Centre. Besides her husband she is survived by a family of one son and two daughters—George, a member of Caledon Township Council and Misses Edith and Blanche. The husband and family have the sympathy of the community in their trying bereavement. The funeral will be held from her late home to the Forest Lawn cemetery, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

DEATH OF DONALD McMURCHY.

Mr. Donald McMurchy, one of the oldest and most widely known residents of Erin township, died at his home near Hillsburg early last Thursday morning. He was found by his daughter-in-law lying upon the floor of his bedroom, cold in death. He had apparently been overcome by a weak spell after getting out of bed and finding himself unable to return had sunk down upon the floor with a cushion under his head. Mr. McMurchy was born in Cantyre, Argyleshire, Scotland, on April 10th, 1828, and was therefore within two days of being 81 years of age when overtaken by death. He came to Erin township with his parents when 13 years of age. He is survived by a family of four sons and two daughters. The sons are Thos., of San Francisco, Cal.; Norman, Science Master, of Regina, Sask., Collegiate Institute; John chief machanical draughtsman for the Westinghouse Co., Pittsburg, Pa., and Charles on the homestead. The daughters are Mrs. Alex. McMurchy, Sundridge and Mrs. James Carmichael, Hillsburg. Three brothers and six sisters also survive. The deceased was a man of the strictest probity and was held in the highest respect by the whole community. He was a prominent member of St. Andrew's Church, Hillsburg and a staunch Liberal. The funeral, which was one of the largest held in Erin for years, took place on Monday afternoon to Huxley cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. R. S. Scott, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Hillsburg, assisted by Rev. D. Strachan, of Toronto and Rev. R. Fowlie, of Erin. The pallbearers were Norman, John and Chas McMurchy, sons of the deceased, Angus McMurchy, K.C., of Toronto and Calvin Green, nephews, and James Carmichael, son-in-law.

BRED IN THE COUNTRY.

Every day we thank our lucky stars that we were born and raised in the country. That it was not until after twenty-three years of age that the farm with all of its rugged and healthful associations disappeared to give place to town and city life. Every day we thank our lucky stars that we used to be classed among those people who are called "rubens," "yaps," "country bumpkins," and the like.

Among our choicest memories are the long nights, sleeping next to the roof, where the patter of rain seemed so close to the head that it produced an instinctive cuddling closer together, and an involuntary gratitude that the roof did not leak. The cooing dove on the window-sill in the morning, the scampering of rats in the dead of night when all else was still, produced changing sensations like the shifting scenes of a melodrama.

Everything was near to nature in those days. In the summer we went barefooted. In the fall, when winter approached, one pair of boots which were made by an itinerant shoemaker, who went from house to house, constituting the only boot and shoe manufacturer of the frugal neighborhood. The leather from which the boots were made was tanned at a private tannery a mile or two away. The hide from which the leather was made was stripped from the back of a cow or steer which had been fattened for beef—the only time of the whole year when fresh beef found its way to our table.

Summer pants and shirts were of linen. We helped to pull and break the flax which was afterwards hatcheled and spun, and woven by father and mother, every detail of which was familiar to the whole family. Two suits of this constituted the every-day outfit of clothing for the summer. Sometimes a Sunday suit made of some cheap cotton stuff purchased at the county seat, fourteen miles away. All of us brothers were dressed just exactly alike.

Then the hat made from the rye straw, which we helped to gather, braided by mother and older sisters. Everything we wore, and nearly everything we ate or used was contrived and constructed by means of the homely and meager facilities of the farm.

A few books in the house, including the Bible, were read and re-read many times. The one weekly paper which found its way into our household was read, every word of it, advertisements and all.

The hurrying of haying and harvests, the leisure of long winter evenings, the lingering breaking of spring after the heavy snows of winter, the somber, many-hued autumn with frosty nights and slowly receding sun, flit on the vision as a panorama seen only a day or two ago.

The great sprawling shade trees in the dooryard, the ample, but carelessly kept lawn, dotted with untrimmed rose bushes, neglected flower beds and frowsy shrubbery of various sorts. The thrifty garden that turned out yearly a rich yield of fresh vegetables, berries and small fruit, the untidy barn-yards, browsing herds, the wasteful orchard where the whole ground was strewn with rotting apples from June to November.

There is not a day that these visions do not appear and reappear like some haunting dream that will not be dismissed from memory.

The two little churches, where Baptist and Methodist contended with each other over doctrinal differences. The one-room school-house with its summer term and winter term of three months. The Union Sunday school, where Baptist and Methodist met in Scriptural toleration of each other. These were the only institutions, the only recreations and diversions which helped to round out the rugged, frugal life of the obscure country crossroads.

Plenty of food, plenty of air, plenty of outdoor exercise, unhampered by needless conventionalities, unterrified by pretentious display of learning or wealth, unfettered by distinction of class or creed, a jovial haphazard association in a society where there were no upper or lower classes.

We thank our lucky stars every day that these constitute our early recollections, that such scenes and experiences constitute the foundation upon which every power of mind and body has since been laid.

Upon such a foundation of early experiences city life with its varied and accumulative experiences can safely rest. With events and obligations, privileges and opportunities that would more than have filled a whole year of that by-gone country life with its wholesome leisure and monotonous happenings. What is now commonplace would then have been counted an expensive indulgence, a rare holiday.

It may be distance lends enchantment to the view. It may be in looking back upon these scenes they gather an attractive blue which does not really belong to them—like the blue of some distant mountain far off on the horizon.

Whether this be true or not, at least the recollection of them brings to us a fragrance for which we are duly grateful.

Yes, we say it again, we are glad that our boyhood days were spent in the country where frugality and economy were accepted and practiced with not a murmur, where hardship and self-denial were looked upon as a matter of course. These recollections due to the complexity of city life and the hustle of metropolitan vocations relish and a snap that they never could have otherwise had. The backbone of a city is made up of those men and women who spent the first twenty years in the country. We are proud that we wore the regalia of homespun, and have learned by experience exactly what it means to earn a living by tilling the soil.—Dr. Chase in Medical Talk.

WHAT MAC, THE FARMER, SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 1.—Although the new farmer member has now had the benefit of practically three months of parliamentary experience and has witnessed and taken part in a great variety of proceedings, he still finds that he has many things to learn and many experiences to pass through. He realized this the other night when the question of naval defence and of Canada's duty with respect to the maintenance of the integrity of the Empire, came up on motion of Mr. Foster for discussion.

What first struck the new member was the high order of the speeches—not the high order of the debating for of that there was very little. Broad principles, sound and sane were laid down but in many cases conclusions weak or vague were drawn from them, but still the speeches were pleasing and on the whole above what one usually hears in the House. That was only what one had a right to expect for the speech-making was confined to the leaders on each side of the House and they had had ample time to make preparation, to frame their sentences, perhaps to commit them to paper and possibly to memory, and to make them as eloquent as their ability permitted. And yet it all ended in very little being done and in almost as little being promised.

Another thing that the new member noticed in that debate was the absence of partizan heat and almost the absence of the partizan spirit. Neither party was prepared to quarrel over the proposition that Canada needed naval defence and at the same time neither was prepared to commit itself to a clear-cut definite, tangible plan for providing such defence and much less a plan for assisting the Mother Country, and so the leaders talked in almost perfect harmony and tried to match one another with grandiloquent eloquence which, when sifted to the bottom meant very little, and really called for no immediate action.

And yet the discussion can hardly fail to produce some good. It will tend to direct public attention to the matter of naval defence, it will cause the position of Canada to be studied by the Canadian people, it will tend to inspire a higher and livelier public opinion which in time will make itself felt in the Federal Parliament.

Mr. Lancaster's bill to provide protection at level railway crossings and upon which the House early in the session placed the stamp of its almost unanimous approval, has been amended by the Senate. The amendment, so a majority of the Senate think, improves and makes more operative the principle executive clause of the bill. This clause as amended and passed by the Senate reads:—

"No train shall pass over any highway crossing at rail-level in any thickly peopled portion in any city, town or village, at a greater speed than ten miles an hour, unless such crossing is constructed and hereafter maintained and protected in accordance with the orders, regulations and directions specially issued by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council or of the Board in force with respect to such crossing, or unless permission is given by some regulation or order of the Board. The Board may from time to time fix the speed at any rate it deems proper."

Having been amended by the Senate the bill must go back to the Commons, where the amendments must be concurred in if the bill is to become law. The session is now well advanced, the Government have much business to put through, and possibly will not have time to consider the amended bill. In that event it will drop and if taken up next session it will have to be taken up at the very beginning and carried again all over all the stages through which it has passed this session. At any rate it is too important a matter to be allowed to drop, and it is the duty of every country member to see that that does not take place.

It cannot be denied that the Opposition gave the Government a bad hour or two over the vote for money for the Newmarket canal. Perhaps few people outside of the county of York, Ontario, have ever heard of this projected waterway, which, if ever completed, will extend from Cook's Bay, Lake Simcoe, southward through the county of York, to the small town of Newmarket.

Mr. Wallace, the member for the Centre Division of York, condemned the whole undertaking on the ground that it is a waste of money, that it is not needed, and that there is no business for such a canal—and, in fact, very little water. When projected the canal was to cost only $300,000; now the Government engineers estimate that it will cost fully three times that sum.

Mr. Sharp, of North Ontario, pointed out that the two towns the canal is to serve—Holland Landing and Newmarket—have a total real estate assessment less than the cost of the canal. The Opposition claim that every dollar of the country's money spent on this canal is wasted. It is to be hoped that they are wrong, but the new farmer member who listened to the Government's defence must confess that to him, at least, it did not appear very strong.

From the farmers' point of view, and, therefore, from the point of view of the dominant class in this country, the bill respecting agricultural fertilizers, introduced the other day by Mr. Templeman, Minister of Inland Revenue, is one of great importance and direct practical value. The purpose of the bill is to guarantee to farmers the purity of the fertilizers they purchase; and as it is a Government measure it is almost certain to pass.

The bill provides that every brand of fertilizer sold in Canada must be registered in the Department of Inland Revenue, and then every package of fertilizer sold here must have attached to it a statement giving the name of the brand, its registration number, the name and address of the manufacturer, and the analysis of the fertilizer as guaranteed by the manufacturer.

The penalty clause of the bill reads: "Every person who sells or offers or exposes for sale any fertilizer in respect of which the provisions of this Act have not been complied with; or who sells or offers or exposes for sale any fertilizer which does not contain the percentage of constituents mentioned in the manufacturer's certificate accompanying such fertilizer, shall be liable in each case to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars for the first offence, and for each subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars."

A farmer purchasing a registered fertilizer can obtain an analysis of the same by sending to the Inland Revenue Department a sample of the fertilizer of at least one pound weight and on payment of a fee of five dollars. This fee seems a little high, but farmers of a locality using the same brand of fertilizer could club together, make up the fee among them and have one of them send the sample. This one analysis would answer them all.

The bill does not apply to fertilizers imported for the personal use of the importer nor to a fertilizer manufactured to order and not intended for sale. When the bill becomes law it should certainly do something to protect the farmers from bogus fertilizers and at the same time assist the honest manufacturers.

The fact that a lengthy debate on the operations of the Fruit Marks Act, and the fruit industry generally was led by Mr. Burrell, one of the new members from British Columbia, is an evidence of how fast that province is coming on as a fruit producer. In introducing the subject Mr. Burrell stated that there are now in British Columbia 75,000 acres actually in orchard, "and," said he, "we are only at the commencement of our orchard work." He pointed out that the "closed package," in the Act means only a box or barrel containing apples or pears. He suggested that it be applied to peaches; and further, that importers of fruit into Canada be compelled to use the standard box just as exporters from Canada have to.

In replying to this latter point, Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture said: "The Department of Justice has informed me that the Act does apply to imported fruit and we have always administered it in that view."

In regard to more Fruit Inspectors and more rigid inspection Mr. Fisher promised—"I shall try during this coming season as I did in the past season, to bring about a larger measure to close inspection of the fruit trade. I hope that we will be able to remove any difficulties that may exist in this respect."

Dr. Black, of Hants, Nova Scotia, carried the discussion from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast. Of the fruitgrowers of his province, and of the operation of the Fruit Marks Act there he spoke in the highest terms. "We exported from the port of Halifax last yeaar," said Dr. Black, "between 600,000 and 700,000 barrels of apples, and so intelligently is the fruit grown and so honestly is it packed that the two or three inspectors that are employed in Nova Scotia, one of whom is at the port of Halifax are all that are necessary."

One battle has been fought over the resolution of the Government proposing to authorize a loan of ten million dollars to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company in order to enable it to complete the prairie section of the road which extends from Winnipeg westward to Wolf River a distance of 916 miles, and of which more than a half is now in operation. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, did not appear to relish the task of presenting the resolution; but it had to be done, the money must be obtained and the work pushed on. Practically his whole defence amounted to this—the country was committed to the undertaking and it would be unwise to draw back after so much had been done and such large expenditures made. Owing to the present condition of the money market, the company could not sell their bonds at par. The Government would take them, advance the money and act as bankers for the company.

Mr. Borden severely criticised the whole project. The conclusion he arrived at was that the entire National Transcontinental Railway would cost in all $280,000,000, of which $250,000,000 would be furnished by the people of Canada. What were they going to get out of it? Mr. Maclean, of South York, offered a solution. Let the Government take over the whole thing and make it national property.

It certainly is a gigantic problem, and one that will require the best thought of the financiers to solve. To a farmer member, not accustomed to talking about and much less to handling millions, it looks somewhat as if we are getting into deep water over this huge railway project. Perhaps the eastern section is at present unnecessary, perhaps the whole bargain was not very wise, but having gone into it the country must flounder through somehow. The prairie section for which the loan is required, will certainly prove a boon to the West, and to delay its completion would retard Western development. Of course the money will be advanced and the Government will have to borrow it in Great Britain.—Family Herald & Weekly Star.

Found in the Traveler's Grip

The means by which he cured a very severe case of piles.

Very many traveling salesmen know what it is to suffer from itching piles and will read with interest the following letter:

Mr. W. J. Saunders, salesman for the Sawyer-Massey Co., and who lives at Killarney, Man., states: "After having suffered for three years with a very bad case of piles a friend recommended Dr. Chase's Ointment and I cannot now speak too highly of same. After having used two boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment I can truthfully say that I am cured of piles, and cheerfully recommend it to anyone suffering from this complaint. I am never without a box of this ointment in my grip."

It is impossible to claim too much for Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It seems to have no rival in this regard and the record of cures is simply wonderful.

Nearly any druggist can tell you of scores of cures that have come to his notice. Some of these effected even after surgical operations had failed. 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SHOULD PAY DEARLY.

Last week Joseph Thompson, weighmaster, a respected resident of Shelburne and a good citizen, got married, which he had a perfect right to do. It was his own business, and it was not necessary for him to consult anyone in the matter. On Monday evening of this week a number of young men in town and a contingent from the country decided on giving Mr and Mrs. Thompson an old fashioned charivari. The crowd marched boldly to Mr. Thompson's residence where they fired off guns and three pieces of brick and snow balls through the windows and smashed eleven large panes of glass. It is said Mr. Thompson gave the leaders of the gang $5. They then dispersed and fought among themselves as a wind up. As the transgressors carried torches and lit a tar barrel in front of the house Mr. Thompson had no trouble in securing the names of over twenty five of the law breakers. It is now up to them to get busy and pay for the damages done before an action is entered against them. Mr. Thompson would like to know where the constables engaged by the town were on that occasion and why they allowed his property to be destroyed. — Free Press.

Ten to One

Head Office, Hamilton

To-day usually takes care of itself—it is the uncertain to-morrow for which we must make provision to-day . . . . . .

IT is impossible to tell what the future has in store for us financially. If reverses, sickness, or unexpected emergency arise, the prudent person will have made provision for such contingency, by laying aside in the safe custody of a chartered Savings Bank some regular sum from the weekly earnings

This fund differs from money involved in business, or invested in mortgages or commercial ventures—it IS AT ONCE avilable whenever required. It is an EMERGENCY FUND, always subject to your call. It stands separate and distinct from your business or your investments; and, representing an accumulation of small sums, regularly taken from current income, it is hardly missed, and rapidly grows into a SUBSTATIAL SUM.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON—by its reputation, and the absence of all unnecessary routine—has gained the confidence of Savings Bank depositors, and is popular with those desirous of opening a new Account. Every CONVENIENCE and ACCOMMODATION is afforded all who desire to make use of the service it affords, and an enquiry for the Manager will secure any desired information or attention.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. PE-RU-NA RECEIVES PRAISE

For Relieving Such Symptoms as Debility, Backache and Headache.

Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 North 5th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "As Peruna has done me a world of good I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some who has suffered as I did.

"For five years I really did not know what a perfectly well day was, and if I did not have headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going.

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

MRS. TRESSIE NELSON.

There are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon.

But by far the greatest number of such cases are amenable to correct medicinal treatment.

A vast multitude of women have been relieved from the ailments peculiar to their sex through the use of Peruna as prescribed by Dr. Hartman.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to womankind.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman treats annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all.

While it is not affirmed that Peruna will relieve every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial.

Mrs. Joseph Lacelle, 194 Bronson St., Ottawa, East, Ontario, Canada, writes:

"I suffered with backache and headache for over nine months and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for these troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable, half-dead, half-alive condition.

"I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

Mrs. M. Kliner, 26 E. 26th St., S. E., Cleveland, Ohio, writes:

"I am enjoying good health since taking your medicine. I had suffered for a good many years previous to taking Peruna, and ever since I can say that I do not know what headache or neuralgia is. I can most assuredly say that anybody afflicted with catarrh in any form can be cured by taking Peruna."

A SEWERAGE SYSTEM

Council Appoints a Special Committee to Investigate and Prepare Report.

Corporation Will Purchase Set of Cement Tile Moulds.

The members present at Monday night's meeting of the Town Council were the Mayor, Reeve, Deputy-Reeve and Couns. Collister, Hepton and Tero.

The Clerk was authorized to issue orders for the payment of the following accounts:—Bell Telephone Co., $28.55; Dominion Express Co., 25c.; Thos. Dawson, $2; Samuel Speers, $2.80; John Gough, 68c., $13.08; Harry Bailey, $5.60; Jerry McKinney, $1.50; George King, $7.35; Jos. Corneilius, $2.47; Thos. Campbell, $1.95; Thos. Hall, $1.50; W. J. Hall, $1.95.

An account of $1.35 from J. B. Rusk was referred to the Streets Committee with power to pay if found correct.

A communication from the Town Treasurer drawing the Council's attention to a difference between the amount of the collector's roll and the return of taxes collected by the Sterling Bank and Tax Collector Kelly was referred to the Finance Committee for investigation and report. The amount of the difference is only $8.12.

A communication was read from Mr. Alex. McElwain, of Caledon East, Vice-President of the Caledon Telephone Co., re the granting of a franchise to the company.

Hugh Greenis, Wm. Morrow, Thos. Barber and Mrs. Annie Edginton petitioned the Council for water services. To give the services it would be necessary to lay a 300 ft. extension of the system. The Fire & Water Committee was instructed to report as to the cost.

The Mayor was instructed to communicate with the Hurndall Novelty Mfg. Co., respecting the payment of $500 due to the town on the mortgage held by the Corporation.

Mr. Matthew Varcoe, West Broadway, addressed the Council. Mr. Varcoe wanted permission to cut some poplar second growth opposite some lots fronting on Zina St. Permission was granted.

Reeve Riddell moved that the Fire & Water Committee be given authority to purchase waterworks supplies to the amount of $397.10. The list submitted was as follows:—

3 new hydrants, $100.00; 1 dozen cocks, $9.00; 1 dozen stops and waste $27.00; 1 dozen galvanized street elbows, 60c.; 1 dozen cast st. boxes, $20.00; 500 ft. ¾ inch galvanized pipe, $35.00; 1 dozen Jenkins pump valves, $5.00; 1 cwt. lead wool, $10.00; 1 bundle yarn, $1.00; 1 set of calking tools, $3.75; 1 hammer, $1.25; 1 emery grinder, $9.50; 100 ft. of Red Cross Hose, $85.00; 1 Muller tapping machine, $90.00.—$397.10. The tapping machine will enable the corporation to tap mains for water services without shutting off the water, which has heretofore been the cause of much inconvenience to citizens.

Chairman Collister moved that the Streets Committee be given authority to purchase a set of cement tile moulds at a cost of $72.50. The moulds will make 8, 12, 18 and 24 inch tile. Speaking to his motion, Mr. Collister expressed the conviction that the Corporation would easily save the price of the tile in a couple of years. Other members were of the same opinion and the motion carried without opposition.

On motion of Reeve Riddell, seconded by Deputy Reeve Arnott, the Fire and Water Committee was instructed to report on the cost of an electric motor and power pump for the purpose of pumping water into the elevated tank at the waterworks reservoir. At present the tank is filled by a windmill, which has not been working very satisfactorily and has the additional disadvantage of being dependent on weather conditions. Consequently the tank sometimes becomes empty and if this happens during a period of calm or comparatively calm weather it is difficult to fill it again within a reasonable time.

On motion of Coun. Collister the Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. C. B. Dorland that two dead poplars on his property on Mill St. were in a dangerous condition and to order him to have them removed.

The matter of planting shade trees on 2nd St. and along the Avenue leading to Exhibition Park was referred to the Town Property Committee, which will confer with the Dufferin Agricultural Society.

The matter of taking some action looking to a solution of the vexed sewerage question was introduced by the Mayor. After some discussion a special committee, composed of the Reeve, Deputy-Reeve, Couns. Campbell and Dewar and the Mayor was appointed to investigate and bring in a report.

SPORTSMAN IN NEW HANDS.

The Canadian Sportsman, which has the distinction of being the oldest turf journal in America, has passed from Mr. E. King Dodds into the control of a company with Mr. H. J. P. Good as its editor. Loss of his eyesight and failing health compelled Mr. Dodds to relinquish the control of the publication which he has edited with conspicuous ability during so many years. Mr. Good, his successor, is an all round sporting news editor. He has been identified with the Mail & Empire as sporting editor and with the World as editor of its Sunday edition. For the last two or three years he has also filled the important position of press and publicity agent for the Canadian National Exposition. His successor in this position is Mr. Jack Munro, formerly of the Evening Telegram.

A LENGTHY SITTING.

Spring Assizes Not Concluded Until Saturday Afternoon.

Judgment Reserved in Bowes vs. Marshall and Kent vs. Ocean Accident Company.

Dufferin Spring Assizes, which opened at one o'clock on Monday afternoon, April 12th., before Mr. Justice Clute, did not conclude until 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The Court found it necessary to hold evening sessions Thursday and Friday nights. In addition to the cases reported elsewhere, the following actions occupied the attention of the Court:—

Kent vs. Ocean Accident and Guarantee Company.—As stated in last week's issue the plaintiff, Mr. W. R. Kent, of Orangeville, at that time Inspector for the Federal Life Insurance Company, was severely injured in the Horseshoe railway wreck on Sept. 3rd, 1907. The C. P. R. paid him $4,000 in compensation for his injuries and in the belief that he would be able to resume his duties he accepted $425 in settlement of a claim under an accident policy carried by the defendant Company. It developed subsequently that his injuries were more serious than he had anticipated, amounting in fact to total disability. He therefore preferred a claim for $2,600, less the amount already paid, and upon the Company refusing to reopen the matter, instituted the present action. One of the important points in question was whether the plaintiff's signature to the receipt for the $425 paid releases the Company from any further liability. Judgment was reserved. C. R. McKeown, K.C., for plaintiff; Geo. Tate Blackstock, K.C., and F. V. Johnston, Toronto, for the Company.

Bowes vs. Marshall—An action by Alexander Bowes, of Amaranth, to compel the specific performance of an agreement entered into by the defendant, J. J. Marshall, of Orangeville, for the purchase of Bowes' 250 acre farm, lots 23 and 24, con. 10, Amaranth. The price, which the defendant agreed to pay was $17,000, the consideration being 1,000 acres of land in Saskatchewan at $8 an acre, a dwelling in Orangeville at $2,800 and a mortgage on the farm for the balance of the purchase money. The defence was misrepresentation, excessive price and mental incapacity of the defendant. A great many witnesses were called and the trial lasted from 4.30 p.m. on Thursday until noon on Saturday. Altogether the hearing of the evidence and argument occupied between seventeen and eighteen hours. Witnesses for the defence, including J. H. Hosick, reeve of Amaranth, W. S. Golden, township assessor for the last two or three years and John McLaine, Mono Centre, valued the farm at about $11,000.

Plaintiff's witnesses placed the value at $15,000 or $15,500. His Lordship reserved judgment on the question of the mental capacity of the defendant. Otherwise his findings were in favor of the plaintiff. Mr. A. R. Clute, Toronto, acted for the plaintiff and Mr. J. N. Fish for the defendant.

Wilson vs. Hodgson.—This was the last case on the list. The plaintiff, Frank Wilson, a well-driller, residing in Mount Forest, brought suit to recover $208.38 from George Hodgson, an Amaranth farmer. Wilson made a contract with the defendant to drill a well on his farm and procure a supply of water. When he had drilled down 137 feet he struck a little water. When he got to a depth of 155 ft., he broke his drilling outfit. He quit then and took his machinery away claiming he had fulfilled his contract. Hodgson refused to pay and hence the suit. Action was dismissed. Morphy & Carthew, Listowel, for plff.; C. R. McKeown, for deft.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

Dr. Barr Finds Fault With Method of Paying Post Office Clerks.

Ottawa, April 17th, 1909.—A straight talk between Dr. John Barr of Dufferin and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux in the House this week resulted in the making of a promise by the Postmaster-General that measures should be taken for the more satisfactory treatment of postal clerks in towns and villages and the consequent improvement of the postal service. Dr. Barr raised the point that the service was injured by the system which allows a postmaster to hire his own clerks and pay them only a few dollars a week.

Dr. Barr asked,—What has the population of a town got to be so that the clerks in the post office are paid directly by the government and not by the postmasters out of their revenue? In many cases these postmasters put boys and girls into the post office and give them hardly enough to live on. In many of these towns the postmaster receives quite a large income out of which he has to pay two or three clerks but he gives them so little that he cannot secure persons capable of doing the work and consequently the public service suffers."

Hon. Mr. Lemieux,—"There is no fixed departmental rule but the custom of late years has been to put on the Civil Service List the offices which have approximately an annual revenue ranging between $20,000 and $25,000. In some cases places with a small population will contribute more to the postal revenue than others where the population is larger so that population cannot be taken as a test. Some postmasters are really not acting as they should, because they receive a very nice salary and they under pay their clerks. The representations under that head have been so strong that the department intends to put an end to the grievance."

Dr. Barr,—"I hope the hon. minister will not forget that matter, because it is very important and very urgent. In many cases postmasters who receive a large enough salary to enable them to pay their assistants a fair remuneration, pay them as low as $200 a year and sometimes less. The result is that the public is not served as it should be. The government should look into that matter without delay."

MARRIED HIS NIECE.

But Did Not Know Marriage Was Contrary to Law.

Burton vs. Roberts Traversed to Stratford Assizes.

The case of Margaret Burton, of Minto township, who is asking the Court to declare that she is not and never was legally married to Samuel Roberts, her uncle, and a resident of the same twp., was taken up by Mr. Justice Clute at the Spring Assizes here on Friday afternoon. There was not sufficient evidence forthcoming to satisfy the Court that Roberts was the uncle of the girl he married and on the application of Mr. H. B. Morphy, K.C., of Listowel, who appeared for W. H. Kingston, of Mount Forest, the plaintiff's counsel, the action was traversed to the Spring Assizes at Stratford, commencing on June 15th. The plaintiff will then submit evidence, which she and Roberts hope will satisfy the Court on the question of their relationship. While he did not dispose of the case, the judge took the evidence of the witnesses who were present.

Thomas Burton, of Minto, an uncle of the plaintiff, was the first witness examined. His evidence went to show that William Burton, the girl's father, had married Sarah Roberts, a sister of Samuel Roberts, the defendant in the present suit. Samuel Roberts and Sarah Roberts, he said, were both children of William Roberts and his wife. "Do you know when his father was married?" asked the Court. Witness answered in the negative.

"How do you know that he was married? The Court is very loath to interfere in a case of this kind and unless there is very strict proof of the relationship, the marriage cannot be annulled," remarked His Lordship. Asked where the girl's mother was witness said she was in Alberta and that it was not convenient for her to be present. It was stated that there was a family Bible, containing family records, and this will be produced at Stratford.

Rev. Mr. Wright was next called. He stated that he had solemnized the marriage of Samuel Roberts to Margaret Burton at Palmerston on Nov. 17. The marriage had been perfectly regular, in so far as its solemnization was concerned, and had been by licence. The marriage registration produced by Mr. Wright showed the entry of the marriage. The witnesses were Silas W. Scott and Emily K. Wright, of Palmerston.

Samuel Roberts, the defendant, was then placed in the box. He had always lived in Minto township, and had known his wife since her birth. His wife was born on the farm adjoining the one on which he lived with his parents. She lived in Minto township until two years ago, when she went West with her parents. Witness at present lives with his mother.

Mr. Morphy questioned the witness as follows:—

"Did you know you were related to this girl by blood?" "Yes."

"Did you ever have it suggested to the contrary?" "No."

"And she always recognized you as her uncle?" "Yes."

"Did you know at the time of the marriage that such a marriage was unlawful?" "No."

"What was your schooling? How high did you go at school?" "Part second of the first book."

"Was there anything explained to you by the person who issued the license as to it not being proper to marry a blood relation such as this?" "No, not particular."

"Was there anything read to you?" "There was a copy read to me."

"And about the words in it—could you understand them all?" "No, sir, I could not."

"You say on your oath that you could not understand what was read to you?" "Yes."

"Do you also say that the person who read it to you did not explain? He simply read it to you?" "That is all."

"Then do you or do you not say that you married this girl, not knowing that it was prohibited by law?" "I did not know."

Mr. Morphy quoted from the statutes prohibiting the marriage of blood relations, submitting the extracts from the degrees of affinity and consanguinity, "a man may not marry his niece, a woman may not marry her nephew."

"But is it annulled?" asked the Court.

"I would think so."

"But does it say so?"

"It is prohibited."

"I will hear the remainder of the evidence and argument at Stratford," remarked His Lordship.

WATER IS PURE.

Some of our citizens have been giving expression to the conviction that the town water is the cause of the unusual amount of sickness in town this spring. A week or so ago Dr. T. H. Henry, Medical Health Officer, forwarded a sample of the water to the Provincial Board of Health for analysis. The report of the Provincial Analyst says, "This specimen of water shows neither infection with harmful bacteria nor chemical contamination." If there is a local cause it will have to be sought elsewhere. A much more probable cause is the wretched drainage from many private dwellings and the use of inside closets and cess pools, many of the latter built close to houses and apparently with little regard to sanitary considerations.

WIDOW LOST SUIT.

Jury Returned Verdict for Defendant in Gray vs. Morrison Case.

Judge's Charge Favored the Defendant.

It was about four o'clock on Thursday afternoon when the jury arrived at a verdict in favor of the defendant in the Gray vs. Morrison suit tried at the Spring Assizes here last week.

The trial, which was commenced Monday evening, occupied the attention of the Court all day Tuesday and Wednesday forenoon. There was a direct contradiction in the medical evidence. Dr. John Ferguson and Dr. Wm. B. Kaylor, both of Toronto, who testified in behalf of the plaintiff, Mrs. Wm. Gray, swore positively that Gray's death was due to disease of the brain, caused by pressure from the skull, resulting from a blow. Both doctors swore that the skull was slightly fractured. On the other hand Drs. T. H. Henry and R. N. Kyles, the Orangeville physicians, who performed the post mortem, were positive that there had been no fracture of the skull. They attributed Gray's death to softening of the brain and swore that, when they made the post mortem, they found the heart, lungs and other vital organs in a diseased condition. Both of the local physicians thought it very improbable that a blow with a piece of rubber hose, similar to the "billy" produced in Court, would cause a fracture, but admitted that if the "billy" were loaded with shot a blow over the head would probably fracture the skull.

Gray's remains were exhumed on Wednesday to enable Drs. Ferguson and Kaylor to make an examination of the skull. Shortly before the conclusion of the case on Thursday morning Mr. Gideon Grant, counsel for the defence, suggested that a second exhumation be made to allow the jury to view the skull. The Court, however, declined to accept the suggestion, the Judge stating that he did not consider it within the jury's province to decide a dispute between the doctors.

Frank Anthony, Mrs. Gray's father, was one of the chief witnesses for the plaintiff. Anthony swore that the "billy," a piece of rubber hose about a foot long, was kept behind the bar and that Morrison himself had told him it was loaded. Moreover he had the billy in his own hands and ascertained that it was heavy and was loaded with shot. Anthony also swore that a blacksmith's rasp was kept behind the bar and that Morrison had told him that this was what he had used on brawlers when he kept hotel in Arthur.

Anthony was the only one of the plaintiff's witnesses, who swore that the "billy" was loaded. Samuel Gray, the deceased's father, who was complimented by the Judge when addressing the jury on the honest, straight-forward manner in which he had given his evidence, stated in the witness box that he understood it was loaded, but admitted that he did not know.

Morrison, the defendant, who went into the witness box in his own behalf, denied positively that there was anything inside the piece of hose. He also denied stating that he had kept a blacksmith's rasp to use on disturbers while he lived in Arthur. He admitted having struck a man over the head with a rasp while in Arthur, but said the blow was struck in self-defence, and that the civil action brought against him afterwards by the injured party had been dismissed. Morrison denied striking Gray while the latter was outside the hotel entrance. Gray, he said, had been about the hotel during the day looking for trouble and knowing this witness had done all he could to avoid a quarrel.

In his address to the jury on Thursday morning H. L. Drayton, K. C., counsel for the defence, was particularly severe on Frank Anthony, whose evidence he characterized as unworthy of credence. "Would you hang a dog on the evidence of Frank Anthony?" asked Mr. Drayton after summing up Anthony's testimony. Counsel for the defence made an eloquent and telling address, that undoubtedly had considerable effect on the minds of the jurors.

Mr. Grant's address in behalf of the plaintiff was also excellent and his summing of the facts brought out by the evidence, presented the plaintiff's case in the most favorable light.

In his charge to the jury Mr. Justice Clute pointed out that the case was not simply one of assault or injury for which damages were sought. A man, while in the defendant's hotel, was assaulted and it was claimed so injured that he died from the effects of his injuries. If the evidence offered satisfied the jury that such was the case, then Gray's widow was entitled to such damages as would compensate her for the money loss sustained by the death of her husband. The jury should keep in mind the questions they were to determine and also the attendant circumstances. They should remember that it was Morrison's duty to keep order in his house. If it was necessary to put a man out of the house to preserve order, he was quite justified in doing so, but he must not use any more force than was necessary for that purpose. Frank Anthony, one of the witnesses for the plaintiff, swore that the hose was loaded. He was the only witness who had made this statement and the jury would have to give his evidence just the value they thought it was worth. The jury would also have to exercise its judgment in the matter of the medical evidence, in which there was a positive contradiction. Doctors, who testified for the plaintiff, swore that Gray's death was the result of a blow on the back of the skull. The medical men, who gave evidence for the defence, were positive that softening of the brain had been the cause of the death. Which theory was correct? The jury must draw its own conclusion, but they should ask themselves whether the men who had been ordered by the Crown to make a careful post mortem examination were not in a better position to ascertain the actual facts, than those who made a short examination of the exhumed remains at the grave?

BORN BENEATH THE FLAG.

We first saw light in Canada, the land beloved of God,
We are the pulse of Canada, its marrow and its blood,
And we, the men of Canada, can face
the world and brag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

Few of us have the blood of kings,
few are of courtly birth,
But few are vagabonds or rogues of doubtful name or worth,
And all have one credential that entitles us to brag
That we were born in Canada beneath
the British flag.

We've yet to make our money, we've yet to make our fame,
But we have gold and glory in our clean colonial name,
And every man's a millionaire if he can only brag
That he was born in Canada beneath
the British flag.

No title and no coronet is half as proudly worn,
As that which we inherited as men
Canadian born;
We count no man so noble as the one who makes the brag
That he was born in Canada beneath
the British flag.

The Dutch may have his Holland, the Spaniard have his Spain,
The Yankee to the south of us must south of us remain,
For not a man dare lift a hand against the men who brag
That they were born in Canada beneath
the British flag.

STARTLING STATEMENT.

It's Statements Like That of H. Heyman, Kingston, Ont., That are Making Mi-o-na World Famous For Obstinate Stomach Complaints.

Mr. H. Heyman, 132 Colborne St., Kingston, Ont., says: "Mi-o-na is worth its weight in gold as a remedy to quickly cure long-standing cases of dyspepsia. For years I had suffered with my stomach and could find no cure nor even relief. I could not eat anything, as it would sour and form gas on my stomach that had a pressure on the heart. Heavy pains would come around my sides and pit of my stomach. I was unable to sleep for this and there was nothing to relieve my miserable condition. I was weak and languid and would feel as tired in the morning as on going to bed and perspiration would break out all over my body. I would be so weak from vomiting that I would fall to my knees. My head would ache and spells of dizziness would leave me unable to see. Doctors had termed the trouble gastritis but failed to benefit me. I tried Mi-o-na on advice of a friend, which has cured me when all else failed. I am sound and well and feel grateful to Mi-o-na for my present health.

It's the known results obtained by Mi-o-na that places it far and away above all other remedies and confirms T. Stevenson in offering to refund the money if Mi-o-na fails to cure stomach trouble. 50 cents a box. Relief in twenty-four hours.

LAUREL.

Mrs. Richard Stephens, a well-known resident of this community, passed away at her home, lot 10, 3rd line, Amaranth, about 3 o'clock on Monday morning. Deceased had been ill for two years or longer with diabetes and her death had been expected for some time. Mrs. Stephens was 55 years of age and was a daughter of the late Samuel Keys, of this place. Richard Keys, of Shelburne, and Samuel Keys, of Amaranth, are brothers. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Misses Mabel and Myrtle, who have the sympathy of the neighborhood in their trying ordeal. The funeral, which was attended by a large number of friends and neighbors, was held from her late home to Greenwood cemetery, Orangeville, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. R. Bell conducted the services at the house and grave.

INGLEWOOD.

A number of the farmers in this neighborhood have started sowing.

Mr. W. Balmer has engaged Mr. W. Ford & Sons to dig the cellar for his new house.

Mr. Archie Bowman visited friends on Yonge street one evening last week.

Mr. John McCannell, jr., was away for a few holidays last week.

Mr. Geo. Kidd has hired Mr. David Norwood as his assistant blacksmith this summer.

The Foot-Ball Club have organized a good strong team this season, consisting of men from Claude and Chelltenham and intend winning throughout the league.

Messrs. Wilson & Puckering have bought a new threshing outfit this year and intend doing a large trade.

Mr. John Gilpin has the contract of roofing Archie Clark's barn, which was damaged by the storm.

Mr. J. A. Martin has a fine selection of buggies on hand just now.

CAMILLA.

There is some talk in local circles of the formation of a company with the view of developing electrical energy and light from the power, which might be derived from "harnessing" Canning's Falls. The intention of the promoters seems to be evidently, the supplying of Camilla and the surrounding neighborhood with electric light, heat, etc, branching out with the Falls as centre. However as yet nothing definite has been done and it is likely when matters are gone into more deeply that it will be found to be an investment which would pay little or no dividends, especially since the difficulties of building would be great owing to the location and surroundings of the falls and, moreover, a sufficient supply of water might not be available continuously through out the year. The Falls, as they are at present, are an attraction to many hundreds of people yearly who spend days of ease and enjoyment, viewing one of the beauty spots of nature and why mar this picturesque place with something which is not likely to be a capital investment?

Many of our farmers have begun seeding and some have much of it done.

Mr. Will F. Bremner, who has been home for some months, returned to New York last Saturday.

No Young People's Meeting was held in Camilla church Sunday night on account of the bad roads.

The man who had the harrow tied behind the waggon last week and who did not know it was there until he had gone almost half a concession after wondering all the way what made his team draw so strongly, would like to know who the mischief-makers are, not that he cares, only he wishes to ask the Council for a grant for smoothing down the road with a new sort of a road-drag and he would require witnesses to vouch for his good work but the owner of the harrow, look out for him. There happened to be a culvert somewhere in the way. Repairs cost.

LAUREL.

We are still having very cold, backward weather and there are very few farmers who are doing anything on the land yet. About the only sign of spring is the music of the frogs and the night owls, both of which keep going most of the night. now.

Quite a number attended the Horse Show at Grand Valley on Friday. We have not heard how our local men fared. Herb. did not think it worth while to take his horse over.

Miss Maud Hamilton who is on the sick list, is still in a very serious condition.

Messrs. Attie Hamilton and J. Loudon, of Shelburne, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Gordon on the 14th inst.

Mr. Gordon is right into the wire fence work and reports bright prospects for a good season's business this year.

Messrs. Johnston and Hamilton have started work on their new houses.

Mr. R. Stevenson intends to brick his house this year.

The farmers are complaining of a heavy loss among young lambs this spring. Some of them have lost as high as 75 per cent.

Wind and weather insurance is the talk of the neighborhood since the destructive windstorm of a couple of weeks ago..

Our Mr. Snooks is out taking policies for the Ontario Weather Insurance Co., which came through the ordeal in good shape and is giving every person a chance to protect themselves against loss by payment of a very small annual premium.

Our veteran telephone man and mail carrier, Mr. R. H. Edgar, is booming the telephone business again this spring. He is heading for Orangeville now via Farmington and declares that he will not rest satisfied until he has reached the county town. The time seems to be drawing near when the farmers will be able to sit by their own firesides and learn all the outside news as well as the gossip of their own neighborhood. Success, Bob!

Hughes Bros, are doing a brisk spring trade and seem to be giving universal satisfaction. They are giving the people no excuses for going to Orangeville to do any of their buying.

Earl looks quite dudish in his new patent leathers. Stanley will have to take second place now.

John Maltby, our crack musician, gives us a charming musicale almost nightly now that the weather is getting warm.

All we want now in order to be right up to the minute is a trolly line to the station, a wireless station, a barber shop and a public amusement hall or opera.

When broiling meat in the gas oven the grease often catches fire and makes a smoke. This may be prevented by pouring water in the dripping pan about an inch in depth before broiling the steak or chops. This causes the grease to float.

MR. BENJAMIN BRADLEY.

Mr. Benjamin Bradley, an old resident of East Garafraxa township, passed away at his home on Bythia St., about one o'clock yesterday morning. The deceased, who was 80 years of age, had been in very poor health for five months or longer. His death was caused by an internal trouble of a rather unusual and obscure nature. The late Mr. Bradley was a native of Yorkshire, England, where he was born on March 4th, 1829. He came to Canada when 21 years of age, settling first in Puslinch township in the neighboring county of Wellington. While living here he was married to Miss Tabitha Fountain, a sister of the late Benjamin Fountain, at one time a leading citizen of Orangeville. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley moved to East Garafraxa in the spring of 1858, making their home on the east ½ lot 5, con. 18, where they resided until about a year ago, when they gave up farming and moved to Orangeville. Their marriage, which proved a very happy one, was blessed with a family of seven sons and one daughter. The oldest son, John, died about seventeen years ago. The other sons are John and Benjamin, farmers in Mono; William, of Orangeville; Isaac, of Caledon and Joshua and Joseph, of East Garafraxa. The last mentioned resides on the homestead. Mrs. Wm. Smith, East Garafraxa, is the only daughter. Mr. Bradley had the Yorkshireman's fondness for thoroughness and was known as one of the best farmers in his neighborhood. Shrewd, thrifty and industrious, he used his opportunities to advantage and was successful in accumulating a goodly share of this world's goods. By his neighbors he was respected for his honesty and strength of purpose. He had the happy faculty of looking on the bright side of life and his smile, cheery greeting and good-natured joke will not be soon forgotten by his friends. He was a staunch member of the Methodist Church and up to the time of his illness was seldom absent from his pew at the Lord's Day services. He was a strong Liberal. During his last illness he was attended by Dr. R. N. Kyles and Dr. A. Gibson, of Hillsburg, who had been his physician for years. The funeral will take place from his late residence to Greenwood cemetery at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. Service will be held at 2 o'clock. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family and especially to the aged widow, who is grief stricken by her great loss.

During his illness Mr. Bradley vomited quantities of greenish colored matter, which appeared to contain some vegetable growth. Dr. Gibson procured a sample and forwarded it to Dr. McKinnon, of Guelph, who in turn submitted it to one of the Professors in the Ontario Agricultural College for analysis. The analyst pronounced the growth a species of water plant belonging to the algae order. This growth, which was undoubtedly the cause of Mr. Bradley's illness and death, is of very rare occurrence. Dr. McKinnon, who is one of the oldest practitioners in the Royal City, states that this is the first case of the kind that has come under his observation during a practice extending over forty years. The only explanation the physicians can offer for the presence of the plant is that the seed has probably been carried into the stomach in oysters eaten in the raw state.

MRS. ANDREW HUGHSON.

The death of Mrs. Hughson, wife of Mr. Andrew Hughson, of the "Model Farm" East Garafraxa, took place on Sunday after a brief illness. Deceased was stricken down a short time before her death with pneumonia. Her condition speedily grew critical and despite the loving care of her family and the best efforts of her physicians, she passed away at the time already stated. The deceased lady was 70 years of age and was a sister of Mrs. Wm. Fiddes and the late John Gillespie of this town. She was married to Mr. Hughson about forty years ago. Besides her husband she is survived by a family of four sons and three daughters. The family are Nelson, Andrew, Stewart, Susie and Amelia, at home, Charles G., of Amaranth, and Mrs. W. J. Hunter, of this town. The esteem in which the deceased was held was shown by the large attendance at the funeral, which was held to Greenwood cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, of which she was a member, conducted the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Joseph and W. H. Gillespie, James Montgomery, John Cruikshank, Thos. Wright and J. C. Reid. The family have the sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

MISS MARY McTAGGART.

Miss Mary McTaggart, an old resident of the town, passed away at her home on Church St., on Sunday. The deceased was in the enjoyment of her usual health until Friday, when she was seized with pneumonia. Miss McTaggart came to Orangeville from her native home in Scotland about eighteen years ago and took up her residence with her sister, Mrs. Ann McIntyre, who had come out about two years earlier. She was about 65 years of age and was an industrious, kindly woman, who won the respect of all who knew her. She was an upright Christian woman and a member of St. Andrew's Church, where she had attended worship regularly since coming to Orangeville. A large number of floral tributes bore striking testimony to the regard of those who had known her. The funeral took place from her late residence, Church St., to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. M. Morris officiating. Among the friends present was a brother from Sarnia. Sympathy is extended to the brother and sister in their bereavement.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Lincoott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

The Gospel in Antioch.—Acts xi: 19-30; xii : 25.

Golden Text.—The disciples were called Christians first in Antoich. Acts xi : 26.

Verses 19-20—Who were they that were "scattered abroad"?

Had these men any authority from the church to preach? (See Acts viii : 4.)

Is it the duty of every Christian to preach Christ, whether or not he has been appointed by the Church to do so?

Is it possible to enjoy the fullness of God's love, and never say a word about it?

Are persecutions and all sorts of trouble always helpful to the children of God?

Some of these disciples seem to have been narrow, and preached to Jews only ; other being broader, preached to the Greeks also. What made the difference in these men?

Which is the greater power to broaden our views, and make us love everybody; our environment, or sinking deeper and rising higher in the love of God?

Verse 21—Whether a man is narrow or broad, if he only preaches Jesus, will God use him to extend his kingdom?

Are any efforts to extend the kingdom of God ever in vain?

Verse 22—Did the news that Antioch had received the word of God give the church at Jerusalem joy or sorrow?

What news is the most joyous either to an individual Christian, or to a Church?

What was the purpose of sending Barnabas?

Verses 23-24—What sort of a man was Barnabas?

Is it necessary, or not, to be filled with the Holy Ghost, in order to make converts, or to comfort the children of God, and are these results always attained in the ministry of a man filled with the Holy Ghost?

Do we exhort one another as much as we should, to "cleave unto the Lord?"

Are half-hearted people well pleasing to God?

Verses 25-26—Why did Barnabas start off to Tarsus to seek Saul?

Does it frequently happen that two holy men can do much more together, then they could do working apart?

Where were the disciples of Jesus first called Christians?

What had Christ's followers been called previous to being called Christians?

Verses 27-28—Is the gift of prophecy, that is telling future events, given to any person to-day?

Verses 29-30—Should the church of Christ to-day be a practical brotherhood, caring for one another, and helping each other financially, and in every other way, as the need may be?

Should not the church be doing for its members the work now being done by fraternal societies.

Chapter xii : 25—Barnabas and Saul took the contributions from Antioch up to Jerusalem to relieve the need there, and then returned; was it just as noble work as if they had been up. there preaching?

Lesson for Sunday, May 2nd, 1909. Paul's First Missionary Journey.—Cyprus. Acts xiii : 1-12.

Ugly Skin Sores.

ZAM-BUK REMOVES THEM.

It is just at this season that pimples, blotches,, sores, scrofulous ailments, and eruptions generally, make themselves most felt. Zam-Buk will be found of wonderful use wherever there is skin eruption or deep-seated ulceration. Pimples, blotches, and irritating rashes on the face and other parts of the body indicate a disturbance of the functions of the skin. Impure matter, which the blood should discharge by means of the skin, is allowed to remain in the pores, the process of "exhalation" is interrupted, and just where the bad matter collects, there pimples, ulcers and sores quickly appear, and the skin tissue suffers. To be complete, the treatment must be of two kinds. The sufferer may help to diminish the supply of impurities by taking no rich, greasy and indigestible foods; but, to remove the impurities themselves, the pores must be opened and the skin made healthier by the vigorous application of Zam-Buk, morning and night, and washing frequently with some pure soap. There is none better than the antiseptic Zam-Buk Medicinal and Toilet Soap. Zam-Buk balm stimulates the functions of the skin by the penetration of its refined herbal essences, and thus reaches the root of the disease.

Mr. Arthur B. Griffin, of 191 Picton Street, E., Hamilton, says :—"I was greatly troubled with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. I tried a number of remedies, and also specially dieted, yet the pimples and blotches remained. Acting on the suggestion of a friend, I began using Zam-Buk, and was much pleased to find an improvement after several applications. The itching was alleviated, and the inflammation seemed less. As I continued the Zam Buk treatment, the pimples and blotches became less sore, the itching was cured altogether, and inflammation banished. In the course of a short time every blotch and pimple was removed."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for cuts, lacerations, burns, eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, festering sores, bad leg, and all skin injuries and diseases. It is also a cure for piles. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c. a box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price.

WHAT MAC, THE FARMER, SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 7.—The new farmer member witnessed the other night in the House a stormy scene, which came not wholly as a surprise, now that he has for more than three months watched the proceedings of Parliament and learned how high runs the party spirit there and how little fanning it requires to cause the never dying embers of political contention to burst into a flame of personal animosity. If the storm did not wholly surprise it certainly pained him, and tended not only to lessen his respect for members who pad the debates of the House, but for the House itself as a deliberative assembly. When two hundred and more "honorable gentlemen," chosen to represent the people in their High Court of Parliament, suddenly degenerate into a howling and almost fighting mob the sight is not edifying, nor does it tend to increase public esteem for representative institutions. Our House of Commons does not possess such an abundance of that esteem that it can afford to lose any, and on that account, if for no other, it should try to avoid such scenes as that which descredited it a few nights ago.

Mr. Foster, on that occasion, was the originator of the trouble, but the Prime Minister was the chief offender. It was he who violated the rules of Parliamentary discussion, and, ordered by the Speaker, had to withdraw the offending words.

No doubt what Mr. Foster said was very cutting and, in fact, offensive. No wonder the Prime Minister struck back, but in so doing he went too far and had to withdraw his words which in Parliament practically amounts to an apology.

The issue under discussion when the quarrel occurred and which the dust of the tumult somewhat tended to obscure, was an important one, and the new farmer member could not help feeling that it was decided in a manner that will not tend to honest and efficient administration in the public service. But sometimes such considerations are only secondary when weighed against the exigencies of party politics.

It will be remembered that about a year ago the Civil Service was to a certain extent investigated by three commissioners who criticised it severely. So adverse were many of their findings to the Department of Marine and Fisheries that the Government had to consent to that Department being investigated by a special Commission. The investigation was conducted by Mr. Justice Cassels, who found much to condemn and much to reform. The Government acted upon the report and dismissed a number of the employees of the Department.

That did not satisfy Mr. Doherty, of St. Ann's Division of Montreal. If one department had gone wrong possibly others had done the same, and he moved that other departments be investigated. The Prime Minister said no; there would be no more such investigations; the Government were responsible for the administration, and if the House did not approve of it a vote of censure could be passed. All that sounded very fine but any one who saw and heard the following crowd that supported the Prime Minister in his quarrel with Mr. Foster knew that these words really meant nothing. How could a vote of censure be carried in a House like that?

Of course the end was what might have been expected. The Government called up their forces and voted down Mr. Doherty's motion.

But this question of investigation will not end there. It will be heard from again this session; it will be heard from when the elections are held.

This rang through all of Mr. Daherty's speech, the keynote of which can be heard in his closing sentences, in which he said :

"We must have an untrammelled investigation; it must not be a matter of stopping when you strike at the members or when you strike at the man who was a member and is a candidate, not of stopping when you strike at the man whose bribe went as an election subscription, nor of stopping even if you should reach up—which I am not insinuating in any way; it is foreign to my purpose to do so—to the very head of the department himself. To make it worth anything, we must have an untrammelled investigation."

While all the turmoil of the conflict between Mr. Foster and the Premier was at its height, the thought occurred to the new farmer member—what would happen if the excited members refused to obey the rules of the House and heed the rulings of the Speaker. In the last analysis obedience and order rests on physical force, and if order can be secured in no other way force must be resorted to. The loiterer on the street ordered by the policeman to "move on" usually obeys the command of the officer of the law, but if he refuses to move on the officer by physical force compels him to do so. A similar power is vested in the officers of the House of Commons, and if necessary they can employ force to maintain order. Of these matters the Speaker is the judge and his executive officer is the Sergeant-at-Arms, a genial yet dignified gentleman who at the lower end of the gangway opposite the Speaker, sits behind a little desk, the guardian of the safety of the House and the representative of physical force.

Unlike the Speaker or the Clerk he does not wear a gown but a black coat cut somewhat after the pattern of an ordinary morning coat but decked out with several special ornaments. At his side he bears a sword which probably in the memory of any Canadian politician has never been drawn from its scabbard except, it may be, for the purpose of burnishing the blade. In the early days of English parliamentary history members came to Parliament with swords at their sides. After a time they were left at home but the Sergeant-at-Arms retained his, the emblem of his authority to employ force to maintain order.

When the tumult was at its height the other night one of the members who interjected tnemselves into the quarrel and persisted in interrupting Mr. Foster, was the burly and rather aggressive Mr. Conmee, of the Rainy River district.

After Mr. Conmee in stentorian tones had several times shouted out remarks more or less relevant to the point of order before the chair, Mr. Taylor, the chief Opposition whip, called out—"Keep your bull dog quiet over there."

To which Mr. Conmee replied—"Oh, you just keep quiet. We know all about your little firebrand. We will take care of that."

Mr. Foster—"Now there is a gentleman who sits there and insults me sotto voce across the floor of the House."

Mr. Conmee—"You started it."

It was here that Mr. Foster reminded Mr. Conmee and the House of the Sergeant-At-Arms and his sword and the possibility of appealing to force to secure order and obedience to the rules of debate. Referring to Mr. Conmee across the floor, Mr. Foster said—"I think the Sergeant-at-Arms should take care of you."

That remark suggested the answer to the new member's question, what would happen if disorder should be persisted in and the Speaker not be obeyed. The Speaker would name the offending member, and if that warning were not heeded he would order the offender to be removed from the chamber. It would be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to execute the order. Bad at times as it is, it is a long time since such an order was given in the Canadian House of Commons.

The session is now entering upon its fourth month, spring is coming on, the time of renewed business activity is at hand, and many a member is anxious to leave Parliament Hill behind and get away home in order to attend to his own affairs. A session that extends well into the spring is always a matter of serious inconvenience, but to no class of members more than to those who come from the land. Until within a couple of years ago nearly every session lasted until midsummer, although Ottawa at that session is one of the warmest places in Canada. Then a wise change was made ; the session opened in November and closed in May, but owing to the general elections having been held late last autumn, the new House could not be called together until after the holidays, and so once more spring finds Parliament sitting and with much of the sessional business undisposed of. The greater part of the time is now given to Government bills and fair progress is being made and an effort is being put forth to bring about prorogation before May is out.

The attempt to save the country further expense in connection with the doubtful Newmarket canal met with defeat. A supply bill amounting to forty-six million dollars and based on the portion of the estimates passed in committee of supply, contained the vote for next year's work on the canal. Mr. Currie, of North Simcoe, moved that this item be dropped from the bill. The Government resisted the motion and divided the House when of course, the motion was defeated, but by a majority of only 28, the smallest the Government have had this session. The interim supply bill was then carried and sent up to the Senate. That body passed it and His Excellency the Governor-General came down specially to give it Royal assent. This hurry to get through was owing to the fact that on April 1, the country entered upon a new fiscal year, and the Government required the money in order to meet current expenditures.—Family Herald & Weekly Star.

In preaching in the Shelburne Methodist church on Sunday night Rev. J. S. I. Wilson of Markdale said: "The typical Chinaman is never as well satisfied as when telling a thorough falsehood." Isn't this a very broad statement for a man of the cloth to make?

YOU CAN CURE CATARRH.

J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond St., Toronto, Breathed Hyomei and Cured a Long Standing Case of Chronic Catarrh That Defied All Other Remedies, Also Toronto and New York Specialists.

Without taking a drop of medicine into the stomach, J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond Street, Toronto, tells how the distressing troubles of Catarrh were overcome by simply inhaling Hyomei air. It's the history of tens of thousands of similar cases on record, proving that Hyomei can be depended upon to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Croup. It has no equal for any distress of the breathing organs.

Mr. Taylor says : "Some years ago while on a hunting trip in Northern Canada, I contracted a severe cold that settled in my head and finally affected my throat. It rapidly developed into catarrh and caused a miserable throat weakness. My head would become clogged during the night and there was a catarrhal dropping from the nose into the throat. Many days I had been unable to breathe other than through my mouth and the constant hawking and spitting was almost unbearable. I had been treated by the best throat specialists here and in New York, but nothing benefitted my condition. I obtained Hyomei at T. Stevenson's, and soon found relief, the throat dropping ceased and my head began to clear. I continued with Hyomei for six weeks and after that time I was well in every detail. There has been no return of the trouble since, and I feel grateful in speaking well of Hyomei, as it cured me when all else failed." A complete Hyomei Outfit costs $1.00 and T. Stevenson will refund your money if it fails to cure.

PAULINE JONHSTON'S LITERARY ANCESTRY.

In connection with the death of Algernon Charles Swinburns his lifelong friendship for the critic Theodore Watts-Dunton has been recorded. Watts-Dunton was the literary critic of The London Antheneaum and devoted a great deal of attention to poetry. It is pleasing to recall that to at least one Canadian writer he was very kind—to wit, Miss E. Pauline Johnston. Years ago a lyric descriptive of our Canadian out-of-doors which appeared in a fugitive publication came accidentally before his eye. Appended was a statement that the writer was of Indian lineage. He became intensely interested and wrote in high praise of the lyrical beauty and warmth of the poem, adding that Miss Johnston was "the most interesting woman-poet now writing in the English tongue." Such praise, coming from the friend and mentor of Swinburne was praise indeed.

Though Miss Johnston gets a great deal of her lore and wealth of imagery as a poet from her Indian ancestors, she undoubtedly owes something to her maternal ancestors, for, though it is not very generally known, she is connected with the delightful novelist, W. D. Howells, of whom her mother was a first cousin, and whose father won a host of friends in Toronto while he was American consul here during the presidential regime of Rutherford B Hayes.

Why Christie's Biscuits are the best

GOOD BISCUITS are made by more than one or two manufacturers, and can be baked from any one of a few excellent brands of flour, but the Christie way is different.

The best millers in Canada ship us samples of their flour twice a year, or oftener. We test the samples and select the best brands for our purpose.

We blend the brands which we have proved best—keep on blending and testing by actual baking until we get a dough good enough to sustain, or better, the Christie reputation.

Every ounce of raw material is carefully analysed before it can pass into the mixing room.

The best sugar, pure, fresh creamery butter, new sweet milk and delicious cream—these pure ingredients mixed with our blend of flour, in the Christie scientific way, yields that delightful, appetising crispness and delicate flavor which has made favored above all other table dainties from ocean to ocean.

Yes, Christie's are the best biscuits money can buy, yet they cost no more than just ordinary biscuits.

TIPPING MADE ILLEGAL

Grasset stated that he had gone north with the two men, hired to help him on a four months' hunting trip. They had hard luck, and, running short of provisions, he sent the two back, to where some food was cached and went on alone. That, he stated, was the last he ever saw of either of them. Later Lemieux's body was found by some Indians, he having evidently been murdered and part of his body eaten, the fleshy portions of the body being gone, while the limbs were hacked off and showed that much of the flesh had been cut away.

HOW IT FEELS TO SAIL AN AIRDHIP

Roy Knabenshue Tells of His Famous Ascent from the St. Louis Fair Grounds

Undoubtedly all aeronauts count the first ascension as one of the most dramatic incidents in their lives, says Roy Knabenshue in The Delineator for May. No one who has ever gone into the sky forgets the incidents of his first aerial trip, for the anticipation is so keen and it is filled with so many surprises that the impressions are indelible. I can recall with great clearness my first balloon ascension, which I made from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition grounds in 1904. This first flight was more or less revolutionary. In a sense, it was pioneer work and followed much public discussion and anticipation aroused by the interest taken at the time in aeronautics by the management of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. This was the first general attention given to the possibilities of aerial navigation, and it was occasioned by an offer made by the Exposition management in 1903 of two hundred thousand dollars in prizes for successful flights. Prior to that time even a suggestion of aeronautics had brought only ridicule from all quarters.

It is well enough for a young man to dream of flying through the air steering a mechanically operated airship, but when the time arrives for that ship to be launched the young man is very likely to have some misgivings. I had had considerable ballooning experience prior to my coming to the fair, and I was well aware that there was danger of igniting the gas from the balloon by the exhaust of the gas engine propelling the ship. I realized also that as the ship ascended to any considerable altitude there was some danger of the balloon bursting from internal pressure caused by expansion of the gas through the rapid change, and I imagines what my plight would be should such an accident occur or the gas become ignited from the exhaust.

Speculating upon all the dangers, I kept looking over the crowd that had quickly gathered, and a strange feeling of loneliness came over me—a feeling that I was alone and separated from the world.

From the instant I felt the ship leave the ground the feeling of loneliness vanished entirely, for I was kept constantly occupied in steering and endeavoring to keep the ship upon an even keel. As I saw her headed back to the Aeronautic Field I experienced a sensation of relief, for I realized that in the three minutes I had been in the air I had learned to steer and had the ship well under control.

A GRATEFUL WOMAN

When women approach that critical period in their lives known as the turn of life, they do so with a feeling of apprehension and uncertainty for in the manner in which they pass that crisis determines the health of their after life. During this most important time in the life of a woman, her whole aim should be to build up and strengthen her system to meet the unusual demands upon it. Devotion to family should not lead to neglect of self. The hard work and worries of household cares should be avoided as far as possible. But whether she is able to do this or not, no woman should fail to take the tonic treatment offered by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which will build up her blood and ortify her whole system, enabling her to pass this critical period with safety. We give the following strong proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are constantly doing for suffering women.

Mrs. Margaret Wood, Southfield, N. B., says:—"Some years ago I became a victim to the troubles that afflict so many of my sex, in the very worst form. The doctor in charge neither through medicine nor local treatment gave me any help, and he decided that I must undergo an operation if I was to have any relief. During the next two years I underwent four successive operations. During this time I had the attention of some of the best physicians. From each operation I received some benefit, but only of short duration, and then, I drifted back into the same wretched condition as before. During all this time I was taking medicine to build up my system, but with no avail. I was reduced to a mere skeleton; my nerves were utterly broken down. My blood was of a light yellowish color, and I was so far gone that I took spells in which my lips, fingers and tongue would seem paralyzed. I cannot begin to express what I suffered and went through in those two years. I was completely discouraged and thought I could not live long. Then on the urgent advice of friends I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after some weeks perceived a change for the better. I continued to take the Pills for several months gradually growing stronger and suffering less, and in the end found myself once more a well woman and enjoying the blessing of such good health as I had not known for years. I now always keep these Pills in the house and after a hard days work take them for a few days and they always seem to put new life and energy in my body. I sincerely hope my experience may be of benefit to some other suffering women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicines or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HOW TO CLEAN BLACK SILKS AND LACES

Black silk that needs cleaning may be refreshed by sponging it with ox-gall and boiling water. Rub well on both sides of the silk, until it looks brighter; then squeeze it well out, and repeat the process of sponging and squeezing. The silk must then be thoroughly rinsed in fresh cold water, changing the water three or four times. If possible, dry your silk in the open air, which is better for it than if it hangs in a heated temperature. Before it is quite dry, bring it indoors and pin it out on a table, which will preserve the shape of the silk. If you think necessary, dip the sponge in glue-water and rub it on the wrong side of the silk previous to hanging it out to dry. Use the same mixture that I have already advised—that is ox-gall and boiling water—for cleaning faded black lace, and rinse it afterwards in fresh water. Then take a small piece of glue, pour boiling water on it, and pass the lace through. Clap it with your hands, and pin it out to dry. Cold tea is also an excellent restorative for black lace. Always shake any lace or silk that you intend to wash free of dust beforehand, and be careful to pick out the edges of the lace as you prepare it for drying.

Coughs that are tight, or distressing tickling coughs, get quick and certain help from Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. On this account Druggists everywhere are favoring Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. The tender leaves of a harmless lung-healing mountainous shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing Cough, and to soothe, and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Test it once yourself and see! Sold by T. Stev-

A NURSE'S MISTAKE

Led to Death of Patient in St. Louis Hospital—Administered the Poison to Patient and He Died Soon After

St. Louis, Mo., April 9.—Miss Jeannette Harkness, formerly of Toronto, a nurse in the City Hospital, today accidentally killed Benjamin Waters, a patient. Miss Harkness gave Waters a large dose of formaldehyde instead of a solution of salts. He died an hour and a half later. From the moment she discovered her mistake and called Superintendent Kirchner and his assistants Miss Hgrkness worked heroically to save Waters. Then when physicians pronounced Waters dead she collapsed and became hysterical.

Waters was brought to the hospital on January 17 suffering from a rare skin disease, which caused him to be covered with scales like those of a fish. He also suffered from a spinal complaint. It was Miss Harkness' duty to administer medicine to a number of patients at 5 a.m. She went to a medicine cabinet to get a salts solution for Waters. The medicine was in a large brown bottle. Another bottle standing beside it contained formaldehyde. The position of these bottles had been accidentally interchanged by another nurse without Miss Harkness' knowledge. Miss Harkness took what she thought was the medicine bottle. In the darkness of the early morning she could not see the label. She poured a quantity into a glass and gave it to Waters. He swallowed it and in a moment writhed in pain. "It's burning me up," he cried. Miss Harkness scrutinized the bottle and saw the label. "I've given you poison," she cried. Superintendent Kirchner says he placed more confidence in Miss Harkness than in any other nurse in the hospital. She entered the institution four years ago, having come from Toronto with three other girls who wished to be nurses. She showed exceptional skill and completed her three years' training course with much credit. She became a graduate a year ago.

MRS. SAMUEL RANEY.

Seldom has it been our duty to record so sad a death as occurred at the home of Mr. Samuel Raney, when his wife passed away in the prime of life Good Friday morning. All the care and love that skilled physicians and an anxious household could devise and apply for her comfort and assistance were brought into play, but the fiat of Him who rules our incomings and outgoings had been issued, and after a brief struggle, despite the prayers and entreaties of all who knew and loved her, their appeals were overruled, and before the beautiful Easter morning the sufferer's spirit took its flight to that home the Christian believes is the fulfillment of the life everlasting. Deceased was born at Schomberg, her maiden name being Jennie Gray, and at her marriage went with her husband to live in Adjala, where they resided until coming to Beeton two and a half years ago. She is survived by her husband and one son, Earl; also her father, Mr. E. Gray, of Toronto; three brothers and two sisters, as follows: Mr. Frank Gray, of Toronto; Mr. William Gray, of Owen Sound, Mr. Silas Gray, of Meaford, Mrs. Rogers, of Toronto and Mrs. (Dr.) Jackson, of Bolton. The funeral service was held at her late residence on Sunday after noon, and was conducted by Rev. J. J. Sparling, B.A., after which burial took place in the Beeton Methodist cemetery. The World extends sincerest sympathy to the bereaved ones.—Beeton World.

JUDGE—MILLS.

A happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mills, of Centerville, on Thursday, April 8th, when their only daughter, Florence Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Judge, of Centerville. The ceremony took place at two o'clock and was performed by Rev. W. Petch, of Caledon East, in the presence of about fifty guests. While the wedding march was being played by Miss Lillie Judge, the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father and looked pretty in a gown of white silk mull, trimmed with ribbon and carrying a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Bennett, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, looked lovely in a white gown and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was ably assisted by his brother, Mr. Will Judge. After the wedding breakfast was served, the happy couple left on the evening train for Oshawa and other points. The bride's travelling gown was brown broadcloth and hat to match.

COULD NOT KEEP THIS SECRET

"Six months ago I was cured of piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment," writes Mr. G. A. Swayze, Copenhagen, Elgin Co., Ont. "I had been afflicted for over thirty years and tried all sorts of treatments in vain, so I was surprised and delighted to be cured. I don't care for publicity but would like to tell every one suffering from piles about Dr. Chase's Ointment."

FARMER'S ADVENTURE WITH WIND.

Mr. Matt Ingram, of Churchville, had an adventure on Wednesday afternoon last "that nearly killed the old man," another of which he hopes won't befall him during the rest of his life time. He had gone to the Thomson farm, formerly Whitehead's on the west side about 8 p.m. to stir up the fires and make the house comfortable for his son who was bringing his bride home that day. Mr. Ingram had pulled open the storm door at the front porch and was about to open the inner door when the gale banged the storm door against his head with terrific force and the next moment he, with the door and porch were whisked through the air. When he woke up, he thinks ten minutes later, he found himself under the ruins of the porch fully twenty feet from the house. Mr. Ingram had a black eye and a very sore head for a few days. He says "if he hadn't been the hard-headed Grit that he is it would have been all day with Matt!" Mr. Ingram was wearing his Sunday meeting hat at the time and search as he may he can find no trace of it. He expects somebody in Nova Scotia is sporting about in it by this time.—Peel Banner.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago and Sciatica.

That Was Three Years Ago and He is Still Cured—Why You Should Try Dodd's Kidney Pills First.

Elliston, Trinity Bay, Nfld., April 19th, (Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills not only relieve Sciatica and Lumbago, but cure it once and for all is the experience of Mr. Alfred Crew, postmaster here.

"Yes," the postmaster says in telling his story, "it is three years since I was cured of Lumbago and Sciatica. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it, and I am happy to say the cure was permanent.

"I had Pains in my Back, Cramps in my Muscles, Shooting Pains across my Loins and I often found it hard to get any rest at night, and when I did my sleep was unrefreshing I was medically attended, but without getting any benefit, and at last I was persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used six boxes altogether and they took the pains away and quite cured me."

Nearly every cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills tells of trying something else first. If you use Dodd's Kidney Pills first you will never need to try "something else." They always cure all diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases that are caused by sick Kidneys.

CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc., clearly call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

LIVED WITH WHARF RATS

New York, April 16.—A despatch to The Tribune from Philadelphia says:—With hordes of wharf rats swarming around them and the Delaware River washing about their feet, John Linstinski, a foreigner, and his seven-year-old son were found living in an unused sewer vault in Kensington this morning.

Taken before a Magistrate, Linstinski said that at the death of his wife, six months ago, he had been evicted from his home, and unable to find employment he and his youngest child had lived in the vault since. Four older children, who are at work, lived in another part of the city. Charitable societies took charge of the boy and will find the father work.

WASTE LAND CHANGED TO FOREST.

The forestry problem, like every other problem in which agriculturists are interested, must be considered from an economic standpoint. In most cases a demand is made for immediate returns. Forestry enthusiasts have not been able to convince the public that the returns accruing the first, or second, or third season after planting young trees assume large proportions, but in a report just issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Professor E. J. Zavitz, of Ontario Agricultural College, combines figures with logical arguments to show wherein Ontario farmers can benefit by judicious reforestation of waste lands.

True, trees do not develop into salable timber in a few years. But there are other considerations besides direct cash from the lumber or cordwood sold. What of the influence on field-crop yields, because of increased moisture supply due to snow being held during winter, and the conservation during the growing season by bush-land checking the free sweep of the winds? It is necessary to consider more than the area that is devoted to tree production. There are few localities in Ontario in which one farmer, or more, cannot be found who will testify to the benefits of forest-growth, by stating that the yield on a certain field, protected from the sweep of the prevailing winds, was one to five bushels greater than that of another area of similar soil, but not so protected. On a hundred-acre farm, with sixty acres in crop, an increase equal to two bushels of wheat per acre, at the average market price of wheat—say, 75 cents—would mean $1.50 per acre, or a total of $90 increased returns from practically the same labor and general expenses. On exposed tracts, these figures would be much greater. Particularly in dry, windy seasons is this the case. And this benefit is observable not only on acres immediately contiguous. Bush-lands have an influence for good on a wide district.

In all parts of the Province areas have been cleared that never should have been a lure to agriculturists. Why should man or beast be called upon to labor on hilly tracts, while areas that are more level, and just as fertile, remain untouched? Spring freshets and summer floods result in washouts that never would have been possible had nature's trees remained.

From the aesthetic side, too, there are many factors worth considering. The natural beauty of the country is enhanced; birds are provided with shelter and nesting places; wild game is supplied with a desirable breeding-ground; recreation grounds for the people are preserved; and streams are sustained and made more attractive to fishermen.

Man's inherent tendency to satisfy a selfish interest, without regard to the future, has resulted in a sad neglect of wooded lands and a gradual denudation of acres that never should have been used for agricultural purposes, and which, as bush land, were of benefit to the surrounding district. When forest trees are available, a call to meet payments usually brings disaster to the bush land. Evidently, no thought is given for the smaller growth that rapidly is developing into a valuable asset. In some cases few young saplings or seedlings are to be found, because of the annual inroads of the live stock of the farm. These are problems that can be solved by the individual. Keep stock out of the woodland, at least until the saplings have grown up thick and tall. The most scattering bush will soon reseed itself if unpastured.

Development in manufacturing, and a consequent lavish consumption of all kinds of wood, have brought about a scarcity that is becoming alarming. Gradually-increasing prices point to abnormal profits from all wooded land. The United States, recognizing the rapid decrease in home supply, evinces alarm by a proposal to reduce the United States tariff on lumber from $2 to $1 per thousand. This is an augury of still further increases in lumber prices, and the Americans wish to preserve their home supply by making conditions for import easier. Canadians should exercise the strictest care in cutting down trees, and also take precautions to induce continuous crop ping on areas on which trees now stand.

But that is not all. The non-agricultural lands already bared of trees can be made to give profitable crops by skilled methods of reforesting. Already, some Ontario townships comprise as low as five per cent. wooded land. In 1904, the average for all settled townships was fifteen per cent. A deplorable feature is the scarcity of valuable hardwood. On almost every farm there are at least a few acres that can best be left in bush. Then, there are large tracts of land not suited for agricultural purposes. Private owners must arrange to manage properly the former; for the latter, the only solution seems to be permanent management as Provincial, or possibly municipal, forests.

The problem of reforestation, as considered by Prof. Zavitz, does not advise expenditures in replanting, except where reasonable fire protection is provided, or where there is no chance of natural reproduction of desirable species. As a financial investment, figures are given, taking into account rate of interest, cost of land, cost of plant material, cost of planting, cost of management, and protection and taxation. A thorough investigation in Southern Ontario furnished a basis for expenditures. Taking one acre of white pine as a unit, the total expense, at the end of 40 years, is calculated to be $71.92, and at the end of 60 years, $160.34. Past experience on soil similar to that of Southern Ontario non-agricultural tracts, indicates that an acre of 60-year white pine, artificially planted, will contain about 200 trees, ranging from 12 inches to 24 inches in diameter. At a stumpage value of $10 per thousand feet, this one acre would be worth $800, giving a net profit of $639.66 in 60 years. This is equivalent to a yearly rental of $3.25, capitalized, at 3½ per cent., in addition to 3½ per cent. interest upon all money invested.

Abandoned farms are to be found. In other instances families are trying hard to eke out a living on lands that are not in condition for field-crop production. Rye is most commonly grown. Figuring labor at $2.50 per day for man and team, the cost of production is placed at $3.72 per acre. The average yield is about ten bushels per acre, which, at 75c., gives a return of $7.50, or the discouraging balance of $3.78.

The dearth of timber, and the prospect for present high prices being augmented, demands that farmers study the forestry question. For the year ending March 31st, 1908, Canada imported $9,953,164 worth of forest products, including oak, southern pine, cherry, chestnut, hickory, fence posts and railroad ties. Judicious cutting of trees, careful management of bush lands, and systematic planting of non-agricultural areas, are worth considering.—The Farmers' Advocate.

Bronchitis More Than a Cold

Any cold is serious enough when its dreadful possibilities are considered, but when there is soreness or tightness in the chest and a dry hard cough you can look for bronchitis, which is often confused with an ordinary cold.

It is usually known by aching limbs and body pains, chilly feelings, weariness and weakness, pain in the chest and a tight, tearing cough. Fever, dry skin, thirst, coated tongue and constipation are other symptoms.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine seems almost like a specific for bronchitis because it is so successful in loosening up the cough, aiding expectoration and preventing the inflammation from reaching the lungs.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is so prompt in affording relief and so thorough and far-reaching in action that it succeeds when ordinary cough medicines have no influence. 25 cts. a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

IN FIVE MINUTES.

All Your Indigestion and Stomach Misery Will End.

Eat Your Favorite Foods Without Fear of Dyspepsia or an Upset Stomach Resulting.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Lowney's Brandy Chocolates.

The ingenuity of the liquor traffic in seeking to create an appetite for intoxicants, especially in the youth of the country, is fully displayed in the manufacture of brandy and wine candies.

Recently the authorities in Montreal discovered that there was an extensive trade in brandy chocolates being carried on in that city, twenty-five or thirty of these chocolates being found in a half-pound box, and each containing a half-teaspoonful of brandy. So intoxicating are these candies, boys and girls were noticed in a state of drunkeness from eating them. Because "Birds of a feather flock together," naturally the greatest sale of these—to coin a new word—drinklets was in the vicinity of the cheap theatres and picture shows. An investigation proved that the Walter M. Lowney Company, manufacturers, were carrying on this nefarious illicit traffic. A further search resulted in thirty confectionery dealers being found guilty of selling intoxicating liquor without license. All have been fined $50 and costs.

Toronto is under suspicion of being another centre for this trade. This business bears the hall-mark of the Pit as it is a direct bid for the children. In this connection it is well to remember Christ's words: "It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones."

NEW SCHOOL READERS.

Prices Will be Slightly Higher Than At Present.

Books are Larger and Illustrations The Very Best.

(From Saturday's News.)

Prices of School Books.

	Old	Present	New
Primer..... ... ...10c	6c	7c or 8c
First Reader ...15c	7c	9c or 10c
Second Reader...20c	9c	10c
Third Reader ...30c	13c	16c
Fourth Reader 40c	15c	18c
Total $1.15	49c.	60c or 62c

These are not the official figures for the new Public School readers, but they are how they will figure out if the basis of tendering given The News by a local firm this morning is carried out.

That the new books will not be as cheap as the present re-arranged prices is generally taken for granted, for the simple reason the new books will cost the manufacturer much more in two respects: they are considerably larger, and the paper is much better, and so more expensive. The primer and first reader will be bound in mill board instead of limp. There is also another item of expense, the colored prints of the flag used as a frontispiece in each reader, the second from 184 to 224, the third and fourth readers. It would not be surprising, then, if the new readers foot up to 65 or 70 cents.

At 60 cents they will come pretty close to cutting the old price of $1.15 in two. The discount would be 48 per cent. The price for the primer figures out, proportionately, to 7.5 cents, and the first reader to 9.3

As already announced in The News the primer will be increased from 64 to 96 pages, the first from 96 to 128, the second from 184 to 224, the third from 288 to 352, and the fourth from 344 to 416. It may be remarked that the Government has never claimed that the new readers will be as cheap as the smaller old ones under the rearranged prices.

The work to be done by the successful tenderer is not to set up any type. The Government, in order to control the output, has made plates for every page, and will retain the ownership of these, simply lending them to the successful tenderer, who will do the printing, binding and distributing.

The discount allowed to retailers will be a flat rate of 20 per cent. Previously this was the general rate, but a further discount of 10 per cent. was allowed dealers who gave an order of at least $1,000. The rates quoted to the Government for books to be supplied to them in case they decide upon free books—which, as a matter of fact, has not yet been discussed—will be close to the 20 per cent discount.

It is eighteen months now since the work of preparing these books was begun with Dr. Goggin as the chief adviser. With him on the committee were associated Prof. Alexander, Toronto University; Messrs. J. J. Hughes, I. P. S., Toronto; Henry Ward, Principal Church street school, Toronto; John Waugh, D.Paed, I.P.S., Whitby; David Young, Principal Public Schools, Guelph; T. A. Craig, I.P.S., Kemptville; G. E. Broderick, Principal Model school, Lindsay; W. Atkis, I.P.S., St. Thomas; N. W. Campbell, I.P.S., South Grey.

These have been assisted by members of the Educational Council, and by many public school teachers who sent in suggestions as to the grading of each book, and the whole series. Special attention has been given to this.

The primer will not be limited to any one system, but will provide for all kinds of exercises, the purely phonic, sentence work, etc. A feature will be a number of nursery jingles.

While the selections have been mostly confined to published works, there are several original contributions.

The illustrations promise to be the finest in any set of readers on the continent. Nearly all are original work in which Canadian artists have been engaged. The books will contain many full-page illustrations.

The Bible has been liberally drawn on, it is understood. There are parables for instance, and other gospel selections.

While the standard writers are well represented in every book, more modern ones have also been taken, for instance Mark Twain, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward, Henry Newbolt, Jacob A. Riis, etc.

MRS. EDLER'S SUICIDE!

Elora, April 18.—During a temporary fit of insanity Mrs. George Edler of the township of Pilkington, near Bethel, wandered from her home on Saturday last. A futile search for her was made until today, when it was found that she had been drowned in a creek which runs through the Edler farm. The body was discovered by a neighbor, Mr. Moses Auger. There is every reason to believe it was a case of suicide. She leaves a husband and family of five, the youngest being about ten years of age.

FORGETFUL HUSBANDS

A minister's wife, a doctor's wife and a traveling man's wife, met one day recently and were talking about the forgetfulness of their husbands.

The minister's wife thought her husband was the most forgetful man living, because he would go to church forgetting his notes and no one could make out what he was trying to preach about.

The doctor's wife thought her husband was more forgetful still, for he would start to see a patient, forget his case and travel nine miles for nothing. "Well," said the traveling man's wife, "my husband beats that. He came home the other day and patted me on the cheek and said: 'I believe I have seen you before—what is your name?'"

IN THE SPINSTER'S HOME

A certain spinster in Indianapolis, who had lived alone in her beautiful and stately home for many years, is one of the city's most notable housewives. No childish fingers have ever marred the brilliance of her mirrors and windows, or played havoc with the handsome bronzes in the daintily cared for dining room. At the home of her brother, where several children romp from morning until night, the same exquisite perfection of housekeeping is impossible as may be imagined. One day the spinster's small niece returned home after a tea party at Aunty's, and, in an awed tone, said: "Mother, I saw a fly in Aunt Maria's house, but—thoughtfully—it was washing itself."

A very quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated in Parkdale on Saturday afternoon, April 17th, when Mr. W. A. McMaster, formerly of Orangeville, and Miss Annie Kerr, eldest daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kerr, were united in wedlock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Hincks, pastor of Parkdale Methodist church, in the presence of a few immediate friends. The young couple left afterwards on a trip to the east. The groom's many friends in Orangeville join in extending their hearty congratulations.

FREIGHT CARS DITCHED.

Eight steel coal cars, forming part of a north bound extra C. P. R. train, were derailed just outside the station yard at Tottenham at an early hour on Saturday morning. The train consisted of about twenty cars, but the engine and the first ten or twelve cars did not leave the rails. No person was injured and the damage to the roadbed and cars will not exceed $300. It is said that the derailment was due to a broken wheel flange on one of the ditched cars.

DROVE FROM SOUTH RIVER.

Wm Linklater, an East Luther farmer, passed through town yesterday morning driving a span of horses attached to the two front wheels of a wagon. Linklater has been in the lumbering business near South River, Parry Sound, all winter and was on his way home to put in the spring crop on his farm. He drove the entire distance, coming south as far as Tottenham and then west via Orangeville.

LAWN BOWLERS ORGANIZE.

The annual meeting of the Orangeville Lawn Bowling Club was held in Council Chamber on Tuesday night. There was a large turnout of members and the indications are that the present will be the most successful season in the Club's history. The President, Mr. R. H. Robinson, occupied the chair. The election of officers and committees resulted as follows:—

Hon.-President, Mr. R. H. Robinson; President, Mr. F. W. Ritchie; Vice-President, Dr. W. H. Bowles; Secretary, A. D. McKitrick; Treasurer, J. N. Fish; Executive, the Officers and Messrs. A. Hill, E. C. Clark and A. A. Hughson; Grounds Committee, Messrs. A. L. C. Kirkwood, W. E. Rogers and C. R. McKeown; Auditors, Messrs. W. G. Hyland and W. H. Lugsdin. The Hon.-President, President, Vice-President and Secretary were appointed a Committee to report on the advisability of holding a Tournament. The Committee will present its report at a meeting to be held on the second Friday in May for the annual election of skips and general business. The Secretary reported a membership of 48 last year. This is larger than for any previous year. The Treasurer's report showed receipts, including a balance of $92.99 from 1907, of $271.49 on stock and capital account and of $260.91 on current account. The latter included a balance of $60.91 from the previous year. After defraying all expenses, the Club has credit balances of $85.14 and $89.79 on capital and current accounts respectively. A motion was passed instructing the Treasurer to apply $100 on the mortgage against the grounds. This will reduce the mortgage to $200.

—Rev. Dr. Langford, of Toronto, preached anniversary services in the Methodist Church on Sunday. Dr. Langford, who is a former pastor of the church, is now well advanced in years, but notwithstanding his age, his discourses were characterized by the old-time earnestness, vigor and clarity of thought, that made his deliverances so acceptable to the people of Orangeville during his pastorate here. He was heard by large congregations. Dr. and Mrs. Langford were guests at the Parsonage during their stay in town.

MILITARY TRAINING.

Lively Discussion at Educational Association Meeting.

There was a registration of over 900 teachers and trustees at the annual meeting of the Ontario Educational Association held in Toronto last week. A breezy and vigorous debate was precipitated in the Trustees Department by the introduction of the question of military training in the schools. A great many of the trustees, particularly those from the rural sections, were strongly opposed to compulsory military training. Their opposition found expression in the following resolution proposed by J. J. Morrison, Arthur, seconded by J. H. Laughton, Parkhill:—

"That the Trustees' Association approves a provision looking to the introduction of physical training in public schools, but is opposed to compulsory military training in the same and believes that the matter should be left optional with the trustees of each school section."

In support of his resolution, Mr. Morrison said that it was an axiom that, "As our schools are, so is our country." If the schools were turned into military camps, so would be the country. Much had been heard of late years of the necessity for agricultural education, but the tendency of agricultural training was toward the farm, while military training tended away from the farm.

Dufferin County was to the fore in the debate, Messrs. John A. Best, of Whitfield, and George Little, of Elba, members of the Dufferin County Trustees Association, being prominent in the discussion. Both gentlemen were vigorous in their opposition to the compulsory side of the proposed innovation. Mr. Little is reported by the Toronto World as having said in part:—

"Let any young man who wants to take military drill join the volunteers. We don't care for Lord Strathcona's millions. Our boys have the shooting practice now. They can shoot the fox on the run and the enemy on the run, too. We want our boys to go to school for practical education, but not for little red caps and guns. We can clothe them ourselves."

Mr. Little also told the Association that he had three sons, who drilled in the military camps and he himself had spent four years in the militia. He had nothing to say against military training for those who wanted it, but was opposed to the introduction of a compulsory system into the schools.

The debate was brought to a close by the adoption of a motion for a six months hoist.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING

Rev. B. H. Spence Addresses Citizens of Orangeville on Evils of Barroom.

Citizens Committee to Consider Advisability of a Local Campaign.

Rev. B. H. Spence, Secretary of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, addressed a meeting of the citizens of Orangeville in the interests of local option on Thursday night. The meeting, which was held in the Town Hall, was attended by about 200 persons, of whom probably one half were ladies. Mayor McKitrick occupied the chair and the meeting was opened with selections by a male quartette consisting of Messrs. Wise, Spence, Sanson, and Scott and a short prayer by Rev. G. A. Rix.

At the close of Mr. Spence's address, a resolution, approving of the local option method of suppressing the liquor evil and advocating the organization of a citizens' committee, was introduced by Mr. Alf Wise, seconded by Mr. W. H. Maxwell. The resolution, which was carried by a standing vote, was worded as follows:—

That in the opinion of this meeting the time has come for Orangeville to join in the general movement for barroom abolition in the Province of Ontario by the local option method and we recommend that a Citizens' Committee be appointed to plan for the carrying out of this decision.

At a meeting of temperance men held after the close of the general meeting a nominating committee was appointed to select a permanent Citizens' Committee and report at a general meeting to be called shortly.

In his introductory remarks Mr. Spence announced his intention of discussing the local option method of dealing with the drink system. He started out with the assumption that the barroom is an evil and reminded his audience that it was with the barroom itself that the people had to deal and not with the man behind the bar. The liquor law, he asserted, presumed that the barroom is an evil, because it prevented all, except a certain class of persons, from engaging in the business. One of the strong points about local option was its enforcement by the provisions and machinery of the license law. In this respect it was on an entirely different footing from the old Scott Act. The Scott Act, which was a Dominion enactment, overrode and superseded the provincial license law, wherever it was put into force. Among the evils which flourished under the Scott Act, were the bar leasing system and club selling. Both of these practices were provided against by the Ontario License Act and would be impossible in a local option municipality. Local option would mean better law enforcement, and better law observance. It would also mean better business intensively, because the money that is now squandered over the bar would be expended in the stores and other business places. In support of this argument, Mr. Spence made the statement that the merchants of Owen Sound had come through the recent business depression better than the merchants of any other town of a similar size anywhere in Ontario. Mr. Spence argued that there was no need to worry over the question of accommodation for the farming and travelling public. Wherever the demand existed the accommodation would be forthcoming. In fact local option was the only thing that would put accommodation on a sound business basis. With local option there would be more order, less evil and a better moral tone in the community.

HIS FAMILY INSANE.

A Mulmur Farmer Lays Information Against His Wife and Four Children.

As the result of an information laid by James Johnston, a well-known farmer residing near Lavender, in Mulmur township, five members of his family are now lying in the County Gaol here, charged with threatening to injure the person and property of the informant. The information was laid before Reeve Greer, of Mulmur, and J. L. Williamson, J. P., of Whitfield, who committed the five Johnston s to the County Gaol, where they will remain until the necessary formalities are completed for their committal to an insane asylum. The five prisoners are:—

Ada Johnston, daughter, aged 27.
David Johnston, son, aged 23.
James Johnston, son, aged 29.
Albert Johnston, son, aged 25.

Constables Wm. Laverty, Joseph White and George Wattam drove out from Shelburne and arrested the mother and her family at their home about 4.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. When they reached the Johnston home, it is said the constables found the women in a nude state and had difficulty finding clothing enough about the place to dress them. The officers did not experience much difficulty with the sons and daughter, but the mother put up a vigorous struggle and it was only when she was handcuffed that she ceased to resist. It was quite evident that she was hopelessly insane.

The five prisoners were brought to Orangeville on Thursday morning. The Assize Court was in session when they were taken into the County buildings and the insane cries and noisy argument of the mother and daughter could be heard plainly in the Court Room. The three men were not so demonstrative, but seemed inclined to be sullen and uncommunicative. The mother, who is about 65 years of age, presented a pitiful spectacle. Wild-eyed, dishevelled, with her grey hair hanging loose over her shoulders, she made a weird and repellant figure.

Mrs. Johnston gave the gaol officials considerable trouble the first night or two here. Thursday night it was with great difficulty that she could be induced to go to bed. She shrieked, struggled and attempted to scratch and bite the attendants. She engaged in frequent noisy argument with her daughter, who she repeatedly declared was not her child, but a girl she had taken in off the road when four years old. This the daughter resented. Yet when the old woman was separated from the girl, she entreated to have her returned and it was not until the two were placed in the same cell that she could be quieted.

The case is unusual as well as sad. It is said that Johnston, the father, was at one time a school teacher and yet the family are all illiterates. It is stated that it was pressure brought to bear on the father by neighbors, that induced him to take action to have his family placed where they can do no damage. They have always been weak-minded, but it was not until the last year or so that their condition began to excite alarm. The sons, it is said, had threatened to kill their father and the mother had made an attempt to burn down the buildings.

The Johnston s were arraigned before Police Magistrate Pattullo on Monday, but were remanded until next Tuesday. In the meantime they will be examined by Dr. Carson, examiner under the Lunacy Act, and Dr. Kyles.

HEAVY OR LIGHT SEEDING FOR OATS.

The quantity of oats to sow per acre must be regulated by conditions. In discussing the question Wallace's Farmer states that early oats having a short gain and hence more grains to the bushel require lighter seeding than the late varieties. If the bushels of oats are determined by weight rather than measure, more bushels are required of well cleaned oats than of oats as they come from the machine. Again, the earlier the seeding, the more seed required, because the less time and opportunity for shooting. Still further, the richer the land the less seed is required because of the greater stooling on account of the more vigorous growth. The poorer the land, the less stooling there were will be; hence the larger the amount of seed necessary.

Much also depends on whether the oats are sown with the main object of securing a grain crop, or whether the farmer wants to make sure of a stand of grass and is using the oats as a nurse crop. In the latter case he should sow just enough oats to keep down the weeds. This, again, depends on the cleanliness or foulness of the land, and also on its fertility. There are lands in which a bushel to a bushel and a half of oats will keep down weeds. There are other lands in which it will take from two and a half to three bushels.

Once more much depends on whether the oats are drilled or sown broad cast. If the seed bed has been thoroughly and properly prepared, drilling will save half a bushel of seed to the acre, because it puts them in at an even depth and gives all an equal chance to grow. Whereas if they are sown broadcast there may be weather conditions which will start some of the oats a week ahead of the rest and these last will have a feeble growth and be overshadowed by the stronger growing.

These are the things which the farmer must consider. No one can advise him. In a general way we would say that from two to three bushels of the earliest oats drilled on well prepared ground will give a satisfactory yield. If we were seeding for grass we would use the smaller amount. If seeding late oats with no question of grass, if they were well cleaned, we would put in from three to three and a half bushels. Sometimes a higher yield is secured by 4 bushels; but in our judgment the difference is not sufficient to justify such heavy seeding.

Stock Farmer's Lucky Find

The pleasure he now has in looking after his 250 acre farm.

Life has a new pleasure for the writer of this letter and we shall let him explain why in his own words:

"I could not do a day's work to save my life before I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. Leonard Miller, Canboro, Haldimand Co., Ont., "but these medicines seemed to exactly suit my case and have done wonders for me. Instead of being in misery from pain and suffering, life is now sweet to me and I appreciate good health as I never did before.

"This means a great pleasure to me, for I have a two hundred and fifty acre farm and a large stock to look after. I recommend these medicines because they have cured me and I know they will cure others."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is remarkable because of its tonic effect, reconstructing and building up the system by making the blood rich and red.

STATISTICS IN MEDICINE

OLD REMEDIES RETAIN THEIR POPULARITY

A late despatch from Paris says: Prof. Grimbert presented a notable paper before the Academy of Medicine on therapeutic tendencies in the last ten years. Basing his figures on medicines furnished to 219 large asylums and hospitals by the State Pharmacy, he finds that the old-fashioned medicines retain their popularity.

An expert authority on being interviewed states that the tendencies of the medical profession in Canada are along exactly the same lines. He gives the following old-fashioned vegetable mixture as the safest and best treatment for all stomach and liver troubles, constipation, disorder of the kidneys and bladder, and states that many of the leading physicians use these ingredients in some form, often by some fancy and expensive name:—

Fluid Extract Cascara	½	oz.
Syrup Rhubarb	1	oz.
Carriana Compound	1	oz.
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla	5	oz.

Take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

This acts in a pleasant way, and is free from the bad effects of strong purgatives and synthetics.

We advise all our readers to cut this valuable formula out and use it. Any druggist can supply these ingredients at a small expense. You can mix them at home if you prefer.

CULTIVATION IN RELATION TO MOISTURE.

A dry soil is a barren one for no matter how much fertility there may be in it, it will refuse to grow crops until there is some moisture present. Much of the barren lands and "bad barreness to want of moisture. On the other hand, however, a wet soil—that is one with the pores or spaces too full of water—is just as bad because ventilation and oxidation is shut out. Hence it is that much of the work of cultivation has for its object the regulation of the amount of water in the soil, preventing an excess at any time or a scarcity at other times. The plant obtains all of its food excepting carbon from the soil or through it. These foods are dissolved in the soil water and the water with its dissolved particles is taken in through the roots of the plants. Water is also of importance in securing the germination of seeds. To produce one pound of dry matter of crop requires the passage into the plant of 300 to 500 pounds of water. As the ordinary rainfall during the growing season is not in all cases sufficient to supply this amount, the greatest care must be taken to prevent losses from the surface by evaporation. Generally speaking the more frequent the cultivations the greater the saving of moisture. This is true for clay loams, and possibly for sandy soils, but muck soils which do not form a dry crust on the surface will be better with few cultivations.

A MELANCTHON WILL CASE.

A trial took place in Orangeville on Wednesday, the 7th of April last, in regard to the will of the late P. D. Henry, of Melancthon. The deceased died on the 14th of May, 1908, and after his death it was found that there were two wills. One will is dated the 10th of September, 1907, and the other the 12th of March, 1908. Mrs. Henry, the widow, is executrix of the will of the 12th of March, 1908 and Ashel D. Henry, of Gainsboro, Sask., a son of the deceased, is the executor named in the will of the 10th of September. The deceased kept his papers for some years, as was shown at the trial, in the office of G. M. Vance. He usually drew his own wills and once in a while would change it and come in to the office of G. M. Vance, his solicitor, and leave a new will and take the old one out. After the death of the deceased it was found that he had made a will on March 12th, drawn by James Sloane, a respectable citizen of Melancthon. What the other heirs could not understand about the matter was that on the 25th of March he wrote a letter to G. M. Vance enclosing some papers addressed to A. D. Henry, his son, as executor of his will. The papers contained the list of the names to go on the monument and more in conformity with the will of the 10th of September. In addition to this also it was shown that he was in G. M. Vance's office on the 21st of March and looked at his papers, the will of the 10th of September being amongst them. He said nothing about having made a new will. There was not very much at stake in the matter but the heirs thought it nothing but right that the new will should be proved in solemn form and open court. It was proved conclusively to the satisfaction of the Judge that he made a will on March 12th, 1908, but it could not be explained and no person seemed to understand why he wrote to his solicitor on March 25th afterwards, addressing the above letter to the executor of the former will and also why he did not destroy the older will when he was in Mr. Vance's office. The Judge reserved the question of costs. J. N. Fish, of Orangeville, acted for Mrs. Henry, and G. M. Vance, of Shelburne, for all the heirs.—The Free Press.

WANTED GOVERNMENT TO TAKE CARE OF HIS CASH

Winnipeg, April 13.—An old American farmer from Des Moines walked into the immigration offices today and remarked that he wanted to buy land in this country, but wanted to look around before doing so. He confessed that he knew nothing of banks or people, but had confidence in the integrity of the Government. He therefore asked the officials to take care of his old wallet until he had picked his farm. He handed it over to the commissioner, who on opening it found it contained the sum of $25,000 in greenbacks. It was banked for the old man in the name of the Government. This is a good sample of the class of immigrants coming in from the south this spring. One day last week there were thirty homeseekers from the States who reported at the immigration office, and the smallest sum that any of them had in cash was $5,000. The wealth that is being brought in this spring is astonishing.

Stomach Derangement.

Her Limbs Ached Worn Out—Tired Headaches, Dizziness

Vitol Cured Her.

For years I have been a great sufferer. Life to me was a burden, my limbs ached, I always felt tired and worn out, had no ambition. People could not sympathize with me. In fact at times they imagined it was put on, or a matter of fancy with me, but one who suffered the same as I did knows exactly what it means. I would work when I should be in bed. I was weak, seemed to be void of strength; life seemed to have left me to a certain extent. I have often felt as if I would give the world, if I could feel buoyant and cheerful, really so. I often had to force what little cheerfulness I did have. I was urged to try Vitol, and, my what a change; to-day I am the woman I used to try and picture. I am happy, cheerful and strong; it seems as if I had new nerves, in fact new life.—Mrs. R. Simms, Newcastle, Ont. You may be strong and healthy and buoyant if you will take Vitol. For sale everywhere. Price 50c., box or six for $2.50.

One of the most curious instances of longevity is found in Miss Louisa Courtenay's "Notes of An Octogenarian." A witness in a will case in which Bellenden-Ker, the great English conveyancer, was engaged, was asked if he had any brothers or sisters. He replied that he had had one brother, who died 150 years ago. The court expressed incredulity, and documentary evidence was produced in support of the statement. This showed that the witness' father, who married first at the age of 19, had a son who died in infancy. The father married again at the age of 94, and make the above startling statement.—London Times.

HONEST MESSENGER BOY.

Refused to Take Bribe From Man Who Had Passed Forged Letters of Credit.

A messenger boy in Hoboken who refused to be bribed, has exposed a $75,000 swindle. Following is the way it happened:

Fritz Marx, of No. 362 Riverside drive, had entered into a league with Leo Martin, confidential clerk for Stennick & Co., by which the latter had turned over all the cash to him, receiving $15 a week from Marx.

Marx told the police that he had laid his plot to rob the banking house last fall. He made a trip to Europe early in September, and a few weeks later, Stennick & Co. were notified by the banking house of M. Seidenburg, of Frank-on-the-Main, Germany, that Marx had deposited $15,000, upon which he was privileged to draw.

He returned to Europe and finally brought back a letter bearing the name of the Seidenburg company's president, saying that Marx had fallen heir to $75,000, and that it had been deposited witn Seidenburg, to be drawn against as Marx saw fit. The letter went to Stennick & Co., and soon Marx called. He wanted $25,000. John Stennick looked up the letter, decided it was all right, and paid the money, through Martin.

Marx might have kept on until the limit was reached had he not sent word to Stennick & Co. recently that he would first find out whether the balance of the $75,000 was still at Frankfort-on-the-Main. He wrote out a cablegram to the house of Seidenburg and sent for a messenger.

Patrick Carmody, fifteen, stumbled into Carmody's office and took the message. Martin followed him up the street and offered him $5 if he would give him the message. The boy replied: 'Gwan! I don't want nothing like that."

Martin pleaded with the boy until they reached the telegraph office and increased his bribe to $10. As the boy entered the office he snatched a $5 bill from Martin's hand, dashed up to the desk and threw it down, exclaiming:

"This here mutt offered me this for a bribe. Here's a message to send."

The clerk in charge sent for a policeman. Martin, taken before Chief of Police Hayes, told all about the swindle. The Seidenburg house, he said, had never had an inkling of the $75,000 transaction. The inheritance was fictitious. Marx had forged the name of the Seidenburg president to all the letters that had come to Stennick & Co. None of the letters written by John Stennick had ever reached the Seidenburg firm, Martin having turned them all over to Marx.

THE DECAY IN ANXIETY.

If all the people who have originated or promulgated curses for fear succeed, we shall be soon in the position of having nothing to be anxious about.

Will this be desirable?

There was a man who wouldn't go down a certain pair of stairs before eleven in the morning; another who was afraid to cross the river, on a ferryboat; another who never dared to leave his house for fear it would burn down—and so on through a long list.

Now, these are improper anxieties—they proceed from pathological conditions.

But are there proper anxieties, and should they be kept alive?

A person in a Christian Science Church once fainted away and fell to the floor. Several people looked around but no one offered to help. No one cared—or dared—to display any anxiety. Eventually the person came to, and with some difficulty got out, where she was helped home by strangers on the street.

Of course she was to blame. She had not yet reached the plane of thought where she was conscious that fainting away is an error of mortal mind.

But when all the world gets there—when everyone is blissfully unconscious of suffering, and has no sense of responsibility about anything—what will happen? It is possible, of course, that if the thing is done thoroughly enough, it will remedy itself.

For example, it is only half the battle to say that we ought not to be anxious about our debts. When the cycle is completed, and our creditors are not anxious about them—when we can run up as many bills as possible, and the slightest intimation on our part to the creditor is met with a smile of protest and the statement that they wouldn't think of troubling us—for the simple reason on that there is no such thing as trouble—won't that be the millennium?

It ought to be.

Think also of having our favorite child go wrong, and smile as we hear of his downfall.

That seems to be the logical outcome of the new thought. Why shrink from it?—Thomas L. Masson, in Life.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail—then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by T. Stevenson.

Brampton public school trustees have decided to inaugurate the penny bank system.

A Birthday Fund has been started by many parents to provide a start in life for their children when reaching twenty-one

AN excellent means of providing a son or daughter with a good start on life's journey when they come of age, is to open a Birthday Savings Bank account in the child's name. Each birthday, deposit a sum to their credit, equal to their years—at five years, $5.00, and at ten years, $10.00.

These sums, with interest, will amount in twenty-one years to quite a substantial sum—especially if the child is encouraged to deposit its pocket money in the same fund.

At twenty-one, turn the control of the account over to the son or daughter. It will either provide a start in life, or form an incentive for further steady accumulation, that will make for SUCCESS and a COMPETENCE for old age.

The Growing Bank Account is a valuable object lesson, and the child will generally make every effort to add to the sum as it watches it grow. Children thus start life with a good foundation laid for SUCCESS and PROSPERITY.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON specially invites these Birthday Fund Savings Accounts, and provides every facility and convenience for their opening and operation, under the control of either, or both, parents.

HEAVY OR LIGHT SEEDING FOR OATS.

The quantity of oats to sow per acre must be regulated by conditions. In discussing the question Wallace's Farmer states that early oats having a short gain and hence more grains to the bushel require lighter seeding than the late varieties. If the bushels of oats are determined by weight rather than measure, more bushels are required of well cleaned oats than of oats as they come from the machine. Again, the earlier the seeding, the more seed required, because the less time and opportunity for shooting. Still further, the richer the land the less seed is required because of the greater stooling on account of the more vigorous growth. The poorer the land, the less stooling there were will be; hence the larger the amount of seed necessary.

Much also depends on whether the oats are sown with the main object of securing a grain crop, or whether the farmer wants to make sure of a stand of grass and is using the oats as a nurse crop. In the latter case he should sow just enough oats to keep down the weeds. This, again, depends on the cleanliness or foulness of the land, and also on its fertility. There are lands in which a bushel to a bushel and a half of oats will keep down weeds. There are other lands in which it will take from two and a half to three bushels.

Once more much depends on whether the oats are drilled or sown broad cast. If the seed bed has been thoroughly and properly prepared, drilling will save half a bushel of seed to the acre, because it puts them in at an even depth and gives all an equal chance to grow. Whereas if they are sown broadcast there may be weather conditions which will start some of the oats a week ahead of the rest and these last will have a feeble growth and be overshadowed by the stronger growing.

These are the things which the farmer must consider. No one can advise him. In a general way we would say that from two to three bushels of the earliest oats drilled on well prepared ground will give a satisfactory yield. If we were seeding for grass we would use the smaller amount. If seeding late oats with no question of grass, if they were well cleaned, we would put in from three to three and a half bushels. Sometimes a higher yield is secured by 4 bushels; but in our judgment the difference is not sufficient to justify such heavy seeding.

Stock Farmer's Lucky Find

The pleasure he now has in looking after his 250 acre farm.

Life has a new pleasure for the writer of this letter and we shall let him explain why in his own words:

"I could not do a day's work to save my life before I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. Leonard Miller, Canboro, Haldimand Co., Ont., "but these medicines seemed to exactly suit my case and have done wonders for me. Instead of being in misery from pain and suffering, life is now sweet to me and I appreciate good health as I never did before.

"This means a great pleasure to me, for I have a two hundred and fifty acre farm and a large stock to look after. I recommend these medicines because they have cured me and I know they will cure others."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is remarkable because of its tonic effect, reconstructing and building up the system by making the blood rich and red.

STATISTICS IN MEDICINE

OLD REMEDIES RETAIN THEIR POPULARITY

A late despatch from Paris says: Prof. Grimbert presented a notable paper before the Academy of Medicine on therapeutic tendencies in the last ten years. Basing his figures on medicines furnished to 219 large asylums and hospitals by the State Pharmacy, he finds that the old-fashioned medicines retain their popularity.

An expert authority on being interviewed states that the tendencies of the medical profession in Canada are along exactly the same lines. He gives the following old-fashioned vegetable mixture as the safest and best treatment for all stomach and liver troubles, constipation, disorder of the kidneys and bladder, and states that many of the leading physicians use these ingredients in some form, often by some fancy and expensive name:—

Fluid Extract Cascara	½ oz.
Syrup Rhubarb	1 oz.
Carriana Compound	1 oz.
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla	5 oz.

Take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

This acts in a pleasant way, and is free from the bad effects of strong purgatives and synthetics.

We advise all our readers to cut this valuable formula out and use it. Any druggist can supply these ingredients at a small expense. You can mix them at home if you prefer.

CULTIVATION IN RELATION TO MOISTURE.

A dry soil is a barren one for no matter how much fertility there may be in it, it will refuse to grow crops until there is some moisture present. Much of the barren lands and "bad barreness to want of moisture. On the other hand, however, a wet soil—that is one with the pores or spaces too full of water—is just as bad because ventilation and oxidation is shut out. Hence it is that much of the work of cultivation has for its object the regulation of the amount of water in the soil, preventing an excess at any time or a scarcity at other times. The plant obtains all of its food excepting carbon from the soil or through it. These foods are dissolved in the soil water and the water with its dissolved particles is taken in through the roots of the plants. Water is also of importance in securing the germination of seeds. To produce one pound of dry matter of crop requires the passage into the plant of 300 to 500 pounds of water. As the ordinary rainfall during the growing season is not in all cases sufficient to supply this amount, the greatest care must be taken to prevent losses from the surface by evaporation. Generally speaking the more frequent the cultivations the greater the saving of moisture. This is true for clay loams, and possibly for sandy soils, but muck soils which do not form a dry crust on the surface will be better with few cultivations.

A MELANCTHON WILL CASE.

A trial took place in Orangeville on Wednesday, the 7th of April last, in regard to the will of the late P. D. Henry, of Melancthon. The deceased died on the 14th of May, 1908, and after his death it was found that there were two wills. One will is dated the 10th of September, 1907, and the other the 12th of March, 1908. Mrs. Henry, the widow, is executrix of the will of the 12th of March, 1908 and Ashel D. Henry, of Gainsboro, Sask., a son of the deceased, is the executor named in the will of the 10th of September. The deceased kept his papers for some years, as was shown at the trial, in the office of G. M. Vance. He usually drew his own wills and once in a while would change it and come in to the office of G. M. Vance, his solicitor, and leave a new will and take the old one out. After the death of the deceased it was found that he had made a will on March 12th, drawn by James Sloane, a respectable citizen of Melancthon. What the other heirs could not understand about the matter was that on the 25th of March he wrote a letter to G. M. Vance enclosing some papers addressed to A. D. Henry, his son, as executor of his will. The papers contained the list of the names to go on the monument and more, in conformity with the will of the 10th of September. In addition to this also it was shown that he was in G. M. Vance's office on the 21st of March and looked at his papers, the will of the 10th of September being amongst them. He said nothing about having made a new will. There was not very much at stake in the matter but the heirs thought it nothing but right that the new will should be proved in solemn form and open court. It was proved conclusively to the satisfaction of the Judge that he made a will on March 12th, 1908, but it could not be explained and no person seemed to understand why he wrote to his solicitor on March 25th afterwards, addressing the above letter to the executor of the former will and also why he did not destroy the older will when he was in Mr. Vance's office. The Judge reserved the question of costs. J. N. Fish, of Orangeville, acted for Mrs. Henry, and G. M. Vance, of Shelburne, for all the heirs.—The Free Press.

Winnipeg, April 13.—An old American farmer from Des Moines walked into the immigration offices today and remarked that he wanted to buy land in this country, but wanted to look around before doing so. He confessed that he knew nothing of banks or people, but had confidence in the integrity of the Government. He therefore asked the officials to take care of his old wallet until he had picked his farm. He handed it over to the commissioner, who on opening it found it contained the sum of $25,000 in greenbacks. It was banked for the old man in the name of the Government. This is a good sample of the class of immigrants coming in from the south this spring. One day last week there were thirty homeseekers from the States who reported at the immigration office, and the smallest sum that any of them had in cash was $5,000. The wealth that is being brought in this spring is astonishing.

Vitol Cured Her.

For years I have been a great sufferer. Life to me was a burden, my limbs ached, I always felt tired and worn out, had no ambition. People could not sympathize with me. In fact at times they imagined it was put on, or a matter of fancy with me, but one who suffered the same as I did knows exactly what it means. I would work when I should be in bed. I was weak, seemed to be void of strength; life seemed to have left me to a certain extent. I have often felt as if I would give the world, if I could feel buoyant and cheerful, really so. I often had to force what little cheerfulness I did have. I was urged to try Vitol, and, my what a change; to-day I am the woman I used to try and picture. I am happy, cheerful and strong; it seems as if I had new nerves, in fact new life.—Mrs. R. Simms, Newcastle, Ont. You may be strong and healthy and buoyant if you will take Vitol. One of the most curious instances of longevity is found in Miss Louisa Courtenay's "Notes of An Octogenarian." He replied that he had had one brother, who died 150 years ago. The court expressed incredulity, and documentary evidence was produced in support of the statement. This showed that the witness' father, who married first at the age of 19, had a son who died in infancy. HONEST MESSENGER BOY.

Refused to Take Bribe From Man Who Had Passed Forged Letters of Credit.

A messenger boy in Hoboken who refused to be bribed, has exposed a $75,000 swindle. Following is the way it happened:

Fritz Marx, of No. 362 Riverside drive, had entered into a league with Leo Martin, confidential clerk for Stennick & Co., by which the latter had turned over all the cash to him, receiving $15 a week from Marx.

Marx told the police that he had laid his plot to rob the banking house last fall. He made a trip to Europe early in September, and a few weeks later, Stennick & Co. were notified by the banking house of M. Seidenburg, of Frank-on-the-Main, Germany, that Marx had deposited $15,000, upon which he was privileged to draw.

He returned to Europe and finally brought back a letter bearing the name of the Seidenburg company's president, saying that Marx had fallen heir to $75,000, and that it had been deposited with Seidenburg, to be drawn against as Marx saw fit. KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health Saving Explained by an Orangeville Citizen Who Knows from Experience.

Many Orangeville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help.

The reason so many use Booth's Kidney Pills is their quick relief for all Kidney weakness. Here is what an Orangeville citizen says:—

Mrs. M. McKenney, of Broadway, W., Orangeville, Ont., says: "Very often I would suffer with severe attacks of pain in the small part of the back and region of the kidneys. I would be scarcely able to stoop or straighten myself up. I would take cold easily and it would invariably settle in my back. I had tried several different remedies but without any apparent relief. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement and procuring a box at Mr. Stevenson's Pharmacy, I began their use. They quickly relieved me, the pain and tenderness left my back, and has not returned since. I feel better and stronger than in a long time and can highly recommend Booth's Kidney Pills." Sold by Dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agents.

Rheumatic poisons are quickly and surely driven out of the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—liquid or tablet form. Dr. Shoop's booklet on Rheumatism plainly and interestingly tells just how this is done. Tell some sufferer of this book, or better still, write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., for the book and free test samples. Send no money. Just join with Dr. Shoop and give some sufferer a pleasant surprise. Sold by T. Stevenson.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail—then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by T. Stevenson.

The average time of service is 3¼ years and 17 years is the longest term, only one teacher having taught for that time.

AFTER USING PE-RU-NA I AM COMPLETELY CURED

Mr. L. A. Cote, Assistant Manager Hotel Victoria, Quebec, Can., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh for about eight years, and have tried many physicians or specialists for this sickness, and never obtained any relief. It was only after using your Peruna medicine that I began to get better. I have used ten bottles up till now, and am glad to say that I am completely cured. I am glad to let the public know it. A good thing is never too dear."

We have on file many testimonials like the one given here. Probably no other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

The ninth annual meeting and convention of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Consumption and other forms of tuberculosis is to be held in Hamilton on Wednesday and Thursday, May 19 and 20 next.

The morning of the first day will be devoted to the reading of reports and the appointment of committees. In the afternoon Dr. White, of Pittsburg sanatorium will deliver an address on The Duty of Municipalities in Reference to Tuberculosis. In the evening of the same day his worship the mayor will deliver an address of welcome after which Dr. Adami of Montreal, will speak on a subject which ought to command attention, How One Can Do Most Good in Arresting Tuberculosis at the Smallest Outlay.

The topic set down for general discussion during the forenoon of Thursday is The Duty of the People Toward the Movement for the Extinction of Consumption. Hon. Adam Beck, Mr. Downey, M.P.P., Dr. Fagan of Victoria, B.C., Dr. Geo. D. Porter and a number of others, both physicians and laymen, are expected to take part in the discussion of this subject.

On Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock the meeting will adjourn to the Mountain sanatorium to attend a reception given by the ladies of Hamilton. Not the least uninteresting part of the program is the visit to the sanatorium, where it will be seen now much can be done for the treatment and cure of consumption at a moderate cost. The success of the Mountain sanatorium should furnish an object lesson well worthy of the study of municipalities contemplating action for the reduction of tuberculosis with in their own neighborhood.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1909

The greatest and most momentous investment that anyone can make is the investment of his life, and more than any other, this investment should be made with earnest care. Especially by the young man deliberating on the career to which his time and powers shall be devoted should the question be faced with the utmost seriousness. How can I spend the years allotted to me on earth so as to make the most of them, how invest them so as to reap the richest reward?—The Presbyterian.

It is evident that the citizens of Orangeville must make up their minds to deal seriously with the question of a proper sewerage system. There are a number of private drains throughout the town, but in some instances the outlets are so placed that they are little short of a nuisance and a standing menace to the health of the families living in the immediate neighborhood. Sewers too should precede a system of permanent road improvement, which is another of the town's crying needs. The Council should go into the question very thoroughly and if the cost is not found prohibitive it would be well to have a by-law submitted to the property holders at next municipal election.

The article from the Toronto Daily Star, republished elsewhere in this issue, is not at all just to the people of Melancthon. The arson outrages which sent the Ballards to Kingston penitentiary, and the Coulter and Spanhouse tragedies have brought the township a great deal of undesirable notoriety, but it must be borne in mind that only a very small proportion of the people of Melancthon were even indirectly implicated in these occurrences. The municipality is the largest in Dufferin and its people are just as industrious, as law-abiding and as progressive as the people of any other township in this or any of the neighboring counties. The section of the township comprised in the old survey has been denominated "the garden of Dufferin" and not without reason, for it would be difficult to find a finer or more fertile block of land anywhere in northwestern Ontario.

The Whitney Government is to be congratulated on the exceedingly low price at which it has succeeded in making the contract for the new series of Public School readers. From $1.15 to 39 1-5 cents is a mighty drop and the fact that the new readers are to be larger and printed on better paper than the old makes the difference even greater than the prices indicate. The publishers must have made immense profits at the old prices. These profits unfortunately came out of the pockets of the common people—in many instances out of the pockets of those who could ill-afford their children the advantages of the education they felt was their due. At the prices which the new contract assures, the poorest home should not find the buying of school books a serious undertaking.

LICENSE BOARD MEETS.

Orangeville Hotelmen Granted their Licenses for Coming Year.

Dufferin County License Commissioners met in the Court House here on Thursday to consider the applications for tavern and shop licenses for the year May 1st, 1909 to May 1st, 1910. The members present were Mr. Samuel Graydon, Grand Valley, Chairman of the Board, and Mr. R. L. Mortimer, of Shelburne. Inspector McDowell was present at the meeting and furnished the Board with reports on the different houses. Dr. A. J. Hunter, the third member of the Board, is travelling in Europe at present.

All the Orangeville licenses were granted outright as follows:—Mrs. Carrie Booth, shop license; John Harshaw, American; T. H. Glaze, the Queen's; Wm. Ruddy, Grand Central; John Bennett, Hotel Alexandra; Richard Young, Commercial, and J. E. Morrison, Dufferin House.

The Queen's and Mansion House, Shelburne, were also granted their licenses. The application of Richard Backus, of the Royal Hotel, was held over until Mr. Backus agrees to make certain improvements to his house. The Grand Central hotel, Grand Valley, was granted its license outright, but the applications in behalf of the Commercial and Dominion Houses were held over.

The Royal and the two Grand Valley hotels will likely be given their licenses at a meeting of the Board in Grand Valley on Saturday. At this meeting the Board will also consider an application to transfer the license held by Frank Crozier for the Commercial Hotel to Rich. Forgrave and Thos. Reid.

DELICATE LITTLE CHILDREN MADE WELL AND STRONG

The little ones are frail. Their hold on life is slight. A slight disorder may become serious if not promptly attended to. At the very first symptom of trouble Baby's Own Tablets should be given. This medicine promptly cures indigestion and all stomach troubles, constipation, diarrhoea, and brings the little teeth through painlessly. You can give the Tablets with equally good results to the new born baby or well grown child. Mrs. R. G. Flewell, Uxbridge, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and find them a perfect medicine for stomach and bowel troubles." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHEAP READERS.

New Public School Series Will be Published at 39 1-5 cents a Set.

T. Eaton Company Awarded the Contract.

Sir James Whitney announced last week that the contract for the publishing of the new Ontario school readers had been awarded to the T. Eaton Company, Limited, at a price which means a net cash price of 39 1-5 cents per set of five books, which formerly cost $1.15.

The Prime Minister made this explanation in connection with the awarding of the contract:

"The contract for the new Ontario readers supplies handsome, modern school books at prices which are without a parallel in Canada. The retail price of the set of five readers is forty-nine cents. From this there is a discount of 20 per cent. (available to anyone), making the net price of the set thirty-nine and one-fifth cents. This astonishing result is due mainly to two causes: the policy of the Government in insuring high quality and standard by making and owning the plates, and, secondly, in throwing the printing and publishing open to public competition. This policy has met with complete success. Ontario will now have school readers of unsurpassed quality at prices not enjoyed by any other Province."

Sir James pointed out that when the Conservative Government assumed office in 1905 the price of Ontario readers was $1.15 per set. Then there were the investigations of the Text Book Commission. A short contract for a year and a half was then awarded to the lowest tenderer, at 49 cents per set. But this was for old books, and the prices secured were ridiculed as bargain rates for old stock and unobtainable later.

The following tables will show the difference in the cist of producing the new readers and the old ones:

Net prices ...	1905	1907	1909
Primer	$0.10	$0.04	$0.03	1-5
Part II..... ...	0.15	0.06	0.04	4-5
2nd Reader ...	0.20	0.09	0.04	1.5
3rd Reader ...	0.30	0.14	0.11	1-5
4th Reader ...	0.40	0.16	0.12	4.5
Total for set	$1.15	$0.49	$0.39	1-5

The prices obtained by Ontario, as compared with those under the recent contract made by Saskatchewan and Alberta, are as follows:

Primer	04	.03	1-5	.20	13.68
Part II...	.06	.04	4-5	.25	16.54
2nd Reader ...	.09	.07	1.5	.35	18.91
3rd Reader ...	.14	.11	1-5	.45	23.75
4th R eader...	.16	.12	4-5	.50	27.36
Total for set	.49	.39	1-5	1.75	1.02 1-5

On the figures for the sale of readers in past years supplied by the department the new books will mean this year a saving of over half a million dollars to the purchasers throughout the Province on the price of the present series, and over $125,000 per year thereafter for the decade during which the contract remains in force.

Mr. J. C. Eaton, president of the T. Eaton Company, the successful tenderers, is a Liberal in politics, and at the last annual meeting of the Toronto Reform Association was elected one of the vice-presidents of that association.

HE IS BACK AT WORK AGAIN

Abraham Garand's Rheumatism Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Suffered for Five Years and Was Four Months off Work, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Alfred Station, Ont. (Special.)—After being laid off work for four months by kidney disease and rheumatism, from which he had been a sufferer for five years, Abraham Garand, a section man on the railway here, is back at work again and he gives all the credit for his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am forty-one years old," Mr. Garand said when asked about his cure. "And have been section man here for ten years. For five years I suffered from kidney disease and rheumatism, also sciatica in my right hip, which descended to my feet. For four months I could not work. Reading of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills led me to try them. I used nine boxes in all and to-day I am advising all who suffer from rheumatism to use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Rheumatism and sciatica are caused by diseased kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Cure the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and they will strain the uric acid out of the blood. Then you can't have rheumatism.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

Hillsburg young men have organized a baseball club. The officers are; President, W. Duthie; Manager, Fred McMillan; Captain, Fred Smith.

• • •

The junior lacrosse players of the town held an enthusiastic meeting in the Council Chamber on Wednesday night of last week. The meeting decided to enter a team in the juvenile C. L. A. series and to officiate with the Dufferin Lacrosse Club. The officers of the Dufferin Lacrosse Club were appointed officers of the affiliating organization and the following committees were appointed:—

Team Committee—Herb. Golden, Wilfrid Halbert and Fred Wright.

Management Committee—Messrs. J. W. Aiken, H. F. Tuck, S. H. Bray and Thos. Wright.

It is believed that the juvenile C. L. A. series will do much to revive interest in lacrosse in the smaller towns and villages. It will develop young players, who will in time furnish material for teams in the junior and intermediate series.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH MELANCTHON?

THE ODDITIES OF ONE OF DUFFERIN'S TOWNSHIPS

Correspondents Discuss Question From Widely Different Standpoints.

The other evening the Toronto Daily Star published a cleverly written article under the above caption. While admiring the skill and ingenuity of the writer, we may say that in our opinion the author has drawn a very unfair and misleading picture of Melancthon and its inhabitants. That this opinion is shared by others is evident from the subjoined communication from the pen of Mr. W. N. Irwin, of this town.

The condition of affairs in Dufferin Grey and Simcoe at the present time would afford the specialist in mental diseases plenty of food for thought in his attempt to arrive at the causative factors in this wave of insanity which seems to be overwhelming this young country.

The late terrible tragedy which took place in the Township of Melancthon seems to have thoroughly aroused all thoughtful people to a sense of the danger that awaits them in their neglect to grapple with this evil, and now, since the spring has opened, up, a thorough house-cleaning seems to have been inaugurated. Five persons in one family in Mulmur were arrested on Saturday and jailed at Orangeville on the charge of insanity.

• • •

It will be remembered that the swamps of Melancthon Township afforded some years ago protection to one of the worst gangs of firebugs that ever molested Ontario, and, later on, when nature required a spot in which to drop her meteors, she chose this same township.

Mastodons in all the glory of their colossal dimensions have been unearthed in the swamps of this same district, and bears, wildcats, and deer are yet frequently seen. It was here also that the Indians kidnapped the children of Mr. Horning, the founder of Horning's Mills, which Wm. Monroe, an old school teacher of those days, has told us of in his book, "The Early Settlers of Melancthon."

It is related in one of the name books of Ontario, that this township was surveyed by a Roman Catholic, who declared it to be the poorest land he ever saw, and she therefore called it after one of the meanest men that ever lived—which man was, in his opinion, the Protestant Reformer, Philip Melancthon.

• • •

There are, perhaps, more varieties of sectarian quackery rife in this district than in any other of its size in Ontario. Dunkards, Evening Lights, Mennonites, Latter Day Saints, and numerous other sects have their meeting houses scattered in profusion throughout the township, from whose pulpits amateur religionists harangue congregations in all the mystic language of the Book of Revelation, and with countenances radiant with the divine fire. It is an occurrence not infrequent to see some drooling enthusiast who has furnished himself with a gun and ammunition awaiting the battle of the Lord—the great Armageddon, which he firmly believes is shortly to take place.

The words of truth spoken by the great historian are nowhere more apparent; that the people look upon all these forms of religion as equally true, the philosophers are equally false, and the politicians as equally useful. If a man wishes to rise to eminence in Melancthon, he takes to the pulpit, and there developes the nerve, confidence and verbosity so necessary in public life.

However, there is likely soon to be a change. The good roads scheme of the Ontario Government, which is likely soon to be adopted, the prospective electric railway through these parts, and the drainage operations going on for some years past, together with the forest fires of last year, are all operating together to bring this part of the County of Dufferin in touch with the general progress of the country at large, and we hope the effect upon the residents will be for the good of all concerned. — The Daily Star.

NO CHANGE IN PEEL.

Peel License Commissioners met in Brampton on Friday. All the licenses granted last year—21 in all—were renewed. This is the first year in which Albion township and Bolton village have come under the jurisdiction of the Peel Licence Board. Local option exists in Bolton and as a consequence there were no applications to deal with from that municipality. The Board, it was thought, might refuse to grant one or more of the Albion licenses. However, the Commissioners decided not to do any lopping off this year. A local option by-law will be submitted to the electors of the township next January, and in view of this the Board thought it advisable not to make any changes until the people had given expression to their wishes.

TEMPLE OF FAME.

The Daughters of the Empire have undertaken the production of this gigantic spectacular performance on behalf of their Hospital Fund.

On May 11th and 12th the famous characters of history will be paraded before the people of this vicinity in suitable apparel, and each set up her claim for the crown of honor to be bestowed. This great production was given in Orangeville a number of years ago and was highly appreciated. The ladies are sparing no pains to make the coming entertainment one of the best that has ever been given in this town. The costumes will be elaborate, the marching attractive and the singing of very high class order. Tickets will be at the very reasonable prices of 25c. and 35c., and fuller particulars will be given both by posters and by the later editions of this paper.

—Hear the great singers and elocutionists. Town Hall, May 11th and 12th.

A clever article, under the above caption, which appeared in the Toronto Star of the 21st, inst, causes one to grow reminiscent, furnishes food for thought and suggests a line of historical research into the matters referred to.

With a view to encourage investigation of the truth, the pursuit of knowledge, an enquiry into the conditions which are said to obtain in Melancthon, the writer begs to make a few remarks.

Although not claiming to be a specialist in mental diseases, or an authority on penology, it may be stated, as Mark Twain observed, on reading accounts of his death, "the reports have been most grossly exaggerated."

It is unhappily true that the township in question sometime ago attained an unfortunate notoriety through the depredations of the Ballard family. However the whole gang was rounded up, and given long terms in the penitentiary, and not one of then ever returned to the township, and the crime of arson has been unknown in Melancthon for nearly two decades.

The Spanhouse tragedy is all the more deplorable, as there were grounds for believing that Stewart had been insane for some time previously to the murder, although his homicidal tendencies were not suspected hence he was not locked up.

The Star writer is unconsciously humorous in his reference to Melancthon having been selected by nature as a good location on which to drop a few meteors, forgetting the fact, that when Jupiter recently wanted a spot at which to hurl a few thunderbolts, he chose the tower of the City Hall, Toronto, and it would be unkind to suggest that the architectural pride of the Queen City harbors any bad people. However meteors are admittedly hard to control.

Indians in Melancthon, or in Dufferin County, are now about as plentiful as polar bears. The kidnapping referred to is said to have taken place about seventy-five years ago, and may be "legend or myth." The last authentic case of attempted kidnapping was when R. J. Woods, of the township referred to, tried to kidnap the seat of Charlie McKeown, M. P. P. for Dufferin, in the Ontario Legislature. The man from the north was nearly successful, and hereafter "Charlie" will be more careful.

As to the name of the township and the surveyor thereof, so far as the writer has been able to ascertain the name of the latter was Allan Robinet.

Concerning the early survey of Melancthon, the writer has in his possession the original instructions of Thos. Ridout, Surveyor General, dated 4th. of January 1820, directed to Allan Robinet, of the township of Toronto, directing him to survey some 330,000 acres therein described, of which the present township of Melancthon formed a part.

Mr. Robinet was a man of high Christian character, not a Roman Catholic, but, as may be inferred from his letters, also before the writer, a Baptist.

An extract from a letter to his brother Thomas Robinet dated July 25th, 1841 and written from the state of Ohio, will prove interesting and illuminating, indicating, as it does, the fine mind of the man, and throwing light on the condition of affairs in those turbulent and troublesome times. Amongst other things Mr. Robinet, evidently an ardent Imperialist, writes as follows:—

"I have great reason to fear that difficulty will at no great distance take place in Canada, and indeed it is what I should much deplore. The subjects of Great Britain (could they but know it) will never at any future time enjoy more freedom and greater privileges than they did whilst I resided within the Province of Canada. Man, I am satisfied is a creature of discontentment and nothing mortal will or ever was designed to satisfy the desires that are immortal — as well might the discontented spirits of Canada attempt to beat down the Rocks of Gibraltar with a mallet of cork wood, as to dream of forcing a separation from Great Britain. If it is ever done it must be by peaceful means, and he who would for a moment assist in any measure that would in any way tend to destroy the peace and good understanding of the two nations is no friend to either or himself. I well know that there are many in the United States who are for some evil purpose associated together in secret societies, I am well assured also that the Government of Canada are also aware of all their designs and if they do attempt to rise again or disturb the peace of Canada, I shall expect to hear of their getting such a cutting up as will learn them to act within the sphere of neutrality, and the bounds of duty."

Melancthon certainly was not the "meanest man who ever lived." "He was born at Bretten in Baden in Feb. 1497, and died at Wittenberg in April 1560, famous, as the collaborator of Luther."—(See Century Dictionary Vol. IXX) Of him Chambers' Encyclopaedia (last edition, Vol VII) says, "Owing to his learning he was regarded as another Erasmus." The natural sweetness of his temper is referred to "By his calm wisdom, and his reputation, Melancthon did much to save the Reformation from those excesses which would have made its progress impossible." Truly not a bad man to call a township after. Far better than was the fate of the residents of three Simcoe townships, which were named by the wife of a former governor of Upper Canada. "Tiny" "Tay" and "Floss"—suggested by the names of her three pet puppies. Now it is the practice to call new townships after politicians, and it is an obscure one, who has not, or will not have his cognomen so perpetuated.

It may here be observed that Melancthon is the largest and wealthiest municipality in Dufferin County, comprising about 73,000 acres, and having an assessment of nearly two million dollars. There is no better land anywhere and the township produces some of the best hay and oats grown in the province. There are eighteen schools and sixteen churches. Seemingly there are too many varieties of the latter, but some one has said "variety is the spice of life," and the writer can give a list of over two hundred sects in England alone. Don't be too hard on Melancthon township on account of the fact that the inhabitants like a little individuality in such matters.

It is not pretended that the township was always a garden. The early pioneers found it a wilderness of an uninviting aspect, but the idea cannot be permitted to be disseminated that the main by products of Melancthon are fire bugs, lunatics, meteors, mastodons, bears, wild cats, Indians and religious cranks. Such delusions must be exploded, such airy figments dissipated and the true story told. The great township is inhabited by a race of sturdy men mostly agriculturists, and, it must be admitted generally Tories. The latter fact is chronicled by the writer with peculiar pleasure.

INSTANTANEOUSLY KILLED.

Sad Death of William Forsyth, of Camilla.

William Forsyth, a well-known Mono farmer, was instantaneously killed on Saturday forenoon. During the windstorm a couple of weeks ago, a small outbuilding on the Glenoe school grounds, lot 20, Prince of Wales Road, Mono, was blown over. Last week the teacher sent notes to Forsyth and William McKim, two of the trustees, informing them of the fact and asking them to endeavor to have the damage remedied on Saturday. Forsyth went to the school on Saturday forenoon and attempted to raise the overturned building to its former position. About two o'clock in the afternoon McKim came along and found the unfortunate man's body lying under the building. He had fallen face down with his neck across a rail. The falling structure caught him on the back of the head, breaking his neck and forcing his face into the earth. Death was instantaneous. Mr. Forsyth was 58 years of age and is survived by a widow and a family of one son and four daughters. Coroner James Henry, who was informed of the sad occurrence, drove out on Sunday and after viewing the remains decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Our readers will find an extended report of the distressing fatality by our Camilla correspondent. The unfortunate man was a twin brother of Mr. John Forsyth, of this town.

HILLSBURG HORSE SHOW.

Large Attendance and Keen Competition.

Hillsburg held its 33rd Annual Spring Horse Show on Tuesday, April 20th. While rather cool the day was otherwise very favorable and as the farmers had not commenced their spring seeding there was a large attendance. FREIGHT CARS DITCHED.

Eight steel coal cars, forming part of a north bound extra C. P. R. train, were derailed just outside the station yard at Tottenham at an early hour on Saturday morning. The train consisted of about twenty cars, but the engine and the first ten or twelve cars did not leave the rails. No person was injured and the damage to the roadbed and cars will not exceed $300. It is said that the derailment was due to a broken wheel flange on one of the ditched cars.

Morris last Wednesday afternoon at two thirty o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Miss Gertrude, was married to Mr. Frederick D. Rutledge, C. P. R. agent of Credit Forks. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Rose, Presbyterian minister. The bride looked very beautiful in a dress of blue silk with yoke of all over lace and carried a boquet of carnations. She entered the parlor leaning on her father's arm to the wedding march played by Miss Maggie Dean, cousin of the bride., and stood directly under a large wedding bell. The bridesmaid was May Morris, sister of the bride. The groom was supported by his brother. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain and to the bridesmaid a crescent brooch. The tables were beautifully decorated in pink and white. The bride's going away dress was of green satin cloth with hat to match. She was the recipient of many beautiful presents. The happy couple left amid a shower of rice for Toronto and North Tonawanda, New York. We wish them happiness and prosperity.

MONO MILLS.

Sincerest regret is felt since it became known that Rev. James W. Orr, who was for over 14 years the successful and esteemed pastor of the Presbyterian church here, was dead.

His death occurred at Dorchester on the 13th inst. The funeral to his former home in Goderich was held on the 15th. He possessed many of the qualities which marked him as a successful pastor and teacher and enabled him to win the affections of his people in whose minds and hearts his memory will long be cherished. After leaving Mono Mills he was for a short time pastor of Alma and Cumnock, in Guelph Presbytery, and had been in Dorchester about four years. His death was caused by heart failure. He was a brother of Mr. Robt. Orr of this place.

Rev. F. Davey addressed his congregation on Sunday evening last in the interests of the "Lord's Day Alliance." Since the coming in force of the new Lord's Day Act some sixteen months ago, a marked improvement in Sabbath observance is noticed in all parts of the Dominion. In large departments of labor, where employees never were allowed the privileges of the Sabbath Day they now are allowed the Sabbath to themselves and the same improvement exists in regard to picnic resorts, Sunday excursions and in the morals and conduct of the people all through the country.

The two Sunday Schools in the village will both open for the summer term next Sunday. The Presbyterian in the morning at 10 o'clock, and the Anglican in the evening at 6 o'clock. Both schools are starting out with bright prospects of a successful summer's work and a full attendance of all the pupils is requested.

CAMILLA.

Mr. William Turnbull, of Ottawa, who has been spending the winter in Texas is visiting friends here.

Miss Lizzie Henry is visiting Toronto friends.

Mr. James Large, of Rochester, is visiting his brother, Dougal.

Mrs. and Miss Laura Henry, of Blount, were guests at Mr. Wm. Canning's over Sunday.

It is seldom if ever that the residents of this community have been so saddened and shocked as they were Saturday afternoon when it was learned that William Forsyth had been suddenly called to that country from whence no traveller ever returns. He had been busily engaged putting up an outbuilding at the school house, which had been overturned during the wind storm and it is supposed that the support he had holding it up slipped causing the building to fall and crush him causing instantaneous death. The body was found by Mr. Wm. McKim, and he with the assistance of the neighbors, had it conveyed to the blighted and grief stricken home. The late Mr. Forsyth was born in Pennsylvania about 58 years ago. Shortly afterwards his parents came to this country and settled on the farm adjoining the one where the deceased has resided for the past thirty years. Twenty-five years ago he was married to Miss Margaret Howard, daughter of Joseph Howard, of Toronto. He was an untiring worker always ready to assist and befriend where necessary. He had been an active worker in St. Andrew's Church for a goodly number of years, serving first on the managing board and for the past ten years being one of the elders. He also took an active interest in school affairs, having been a trustee of the Glenoe school almost continbously since its erection sixteen years ago. He was a gentle and loving husband and father and to the bereaved ones in their hour of sore trial goes out the heartfelt sympathy of all. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, four daughters and one son, besides six brothers and four sisters. The latter are :—His twin-brother John, Orangeville; Jas. Granger; Peter, St. Catharines ; Thomas, Thorold; Robert, Caron, Sask.; Richard, Oxbow, Manitoba ; Mrs. John Scott, Granger; Mrs. Jas. Dunnett, Mrs. William Wilson and Miss Grace Forsyth, of Toronto. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon to Mono Centre burying ground and, despite the inclemency of the weather, was very largely attended. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. James McIlroy. The bearers were three brothers of the deceased, and James Dunnett, George Fleming and William Howard. Among those from a distance in attendance were all the relatives except those in the West, Mr. Walter Dunnett, of London, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, of Mono Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howard, Misses May and Stella Howard and many others.

The cheese factory will in all probability have a profitable season this year. It is expected to re-open in a couple of weeks.

FLORENCE KINRADE WAS MISSING.

Young Woman Failed To Show Up at Inquest and Crown Officials Will Arrest Her.

HAMILTON, April 23.—A bench warrant was issued by Coroner Anderson here tonight for Flotence Kinrade, as a material witness in the enquiry into the death of her sister Ethel Kinrade. The warrant was placed in possession of Detective Miller, who leaves for Toronto tomorrow morning.

This followed on an exciting scene that occurred tonight when, after three-quarters of an hour wasting, and the inquest resumed, the crown sounsel, George Tate Blackstock, K. C., put Detective Miller on the stand to swear that he had personally served a subpoena upon Florence Kinrade, and stated that she was not present. He then requested the issue of a warrant to compel her attendance to give evidence on Monday night. Detective Miller had previously telephoned to Toronto and assured himself that the Kinrades were still at their apartments.

G. Lynch Staunton, K.C., acting for the family, jumped up with the air of a man who was going to force the fighting. The atmosphere grew intense after his first sentence, which directly controverted the attitude he has hitherto observed.

"I wish to say that Florence Kinrade is acting under advice of counsel," he began. "She was physically unfit to attend," he said, Moreover, he desired to contest the action suggested.

"You have exhausted your authority," he informed Coroner Anderson. "I will take it upon me to advise you not to issue the warrant, and ask you to adjourn for a reasonable length of time, and I say that Monday is not a reasonable time."

MR. BLACKSTOCK IS VEXED

Mr. Blackstock rose at once to dissent. He spoke with more vigor than he has done since the proceedings began.

From the opening of the enquiry counsel for the family had placed them, he said, as witnesses at the disposal of the crown, which was a perfectly proper proceeding, and to be expected under the circumstances. He regretted the departure from the procedure.

This was the first intimation the crown had received that the persons subpoenaed were acting on advice in remaining absent. On the contrary, the crown had applied the previous evening to know if the witnesses would be here, and had been informed that he did not know whether they would be here or not. It now appeared that, on counsel's advice, they had been acting entirely against the expectations of the crown. Much as he wished to meet the views of anyone in the matter, he must dissent from the application for a further postponement.

Mr. Lynch Staunton followed at once. He spoke in studied, deliberate tones.

"I consider the insinuations made by counsel for the crown unbecoming, but of course he may make insinuations."

By this time the atmosphere was like August in a thunderstorm.

THE CORONER RESENTS

"If you choose to be hectored into issuing a warrant by insinuations—" he proceeded, every word hurtling like a vivid flash through the silence, until the thunder rumbled.

"They are not insinuations, they are facts," interrupted Mr. Blackstock.

"They are not facts," was flashed back.

Then the coroner had his word. "I have not heard any insinuations from counsel for the crown and I do not think you have any right to say that I can be hectored into doing anything I do not approve," he declared.

"I did not say you could be hectored," was the way Mr. Lynch-Staunton defined his point.

The coroner did not appreciate the distinction and intimated that he would issue the warrant and adjourn till Monday.

"You have no authority to issue the warrant," Mr. Lynch Staunton warned him.

"The law says so," was the final bolt of the storm.

—On Saturday morning the train officials on the Owen Sound passenger train handed a badly intoxicated passenger over to Chief Speers. The Chief placed him in the lock-up for the day and by evening he had sobered sufficiently to be able to proceed on his journey.

BROTHER TOLD BROTHER

One Suffered for Fifteen Years, the Other for Thirteen.

The convincing powers of a testimonial were never more clearly shown than in the case of Mr. Hugh Brown. A brother, Lemuel Brown, of Avondale, N.B., read in the paper about Hon. John Costigan being cured by "Fruit-a-tives." Knowing the Senator would only endorse a medicine which had cured him, Mr. Lemuel Brown tried "Fruit-a-tives." They cured him of Chronic Indigestion and Constipation, so he urged his brother to try them.

Hartland, N.B., Oct. 28th, 1907.

"Three doctors told me that I had Liver Disease and serious Stomach Trouble. My stomach was very weak. I took their medicines for thirteen years and grew worse. My brother (who was cured of terrible Indigestion by "Fruit-a-tives" after suffering for 15 years), recommended me to try these wonderful tablets. I bought half a dozen boxes and have just finished the sixth. I eat all kinds of hearty foods without distress and am greatly improved in every way. "Fruit-a-tives" also cured the Chronic Constipation which was so distressing in my case."

Paul's First Missionary Journey.—Cyprus. Acts 13 : 1-12.

Verse 1.— Where was Antioch ?

What constituted a Christian church, then, and now ?

What was the difference between prophets and teachers ?

Verse 2.—What is meant by "ministered to the Lord?"

What mental, physical or spiritual benefits are there derived from fasting ?

How long should a person abstain from food, in order to constitute a Christian fast ?

What right has the present day Protestant church to discontinue the practice of fasting ?

When would the ears of a company of godly men be most sensitive to the voice of God, during a feast or a fast ?

Was there any connection between their ministering and fasting, and the Holy Spirit speaking to them ?

Is the Holy Spirit apt to speak to those who are not intensely engaged in the cause of God ?

What is necessary in order to cultivate an ear for the voice of God ?

Should we all be "called" of God, before undertaking any kind of work ?

Verse 3.—Ought the church to-day to send out missionaries to new districts, and to heathen countries ?

If it is the duty of the church to send out missionaries, is it, or not, the duty of every person, whether a member of the church or not,to help support them ?

Why did they fast and pray, before sending Paul and Barnabas on their mission ?

Would it be a help to each local church to-day, to fast and pray before each missionary meeting ?

Do you think the women took part in this service, and whether or not what reason is there to debar women from any of the church's work ?

Verse 4.—Is it possible or practical, to be guided in every journey we take, and in all else by the Holy Spirit ?

Should a pastor ever take charge of a new church, without being directed to do so, by the Holy Spirit ?

Please point out on the map, in your Bible, where Seleucia, Salamis and Cyprus are situated.

Were they consciously, or unconsciously, directed by God the Holy Spirit, all along their journey ?

Verse 5.—Should men and women, in the ordinary walks of life, be as faithful in preaching the gospel, or testifying for Jesus, wherever they may be, as Paul and Barnabas were?

Verse 6.—How many places mentioned in this lesson, are situated on the Island of Cyprus ? (See your map.)

What motives had likely induced this Man Elymas, to claim to be a prophet ?

Verses 7-8—How do you account for a man being so bad, as to try to prevent another man from serving the true God ?

Verses 9-12—Are good men justified in rebuking bad men with vehemence, when they would stop a work of love and mercy ?

Is it possible for a bad man to escape the just penalty of his sins ?

DOESN'T CARE FOR STYLE.

Wheat King "Jim" Patten, of Chicago, Wears Ordinary Clothes.

Goes to Church Regularly and is a Liberal Giver.

Chicago, April 21.—Wheat has gone back from its recent high prices, but that does not seem to worry James A. Patten, who is said to have pretty well cashed in and pocketed a few million dollars' profits. Still a glance back over the field and a glance at the man himself is interesting.

When wheat had passed the dollar sign men who had laughed at Patten began to pity him. In getting over the dollar mark these bags of wheat were inclined to wabble. One day wheat was $1.04 and the next day perhaps it went back to $1.01, or something like that. But Patten continued to buy.

For Patten is this type of man. He began buying on Patten judgment. He figured that May wheat would be worth $1.25, regardless of the boosts of speculation. Even Patten couldn't change a Patten judgment in such a matter as that.

On December 1 last Patten called in some of the wheat that he had been buying. There were about 11,000,000 bushels of it, of which 6,000,000 bushels are said to have come grudgingly from Armour granaries. The Patten horde of employees checked the wheat as it came in, and Patten signed the checks in payment. Checking and paying, checking and paying have been going on ever since, varied now and then by the flustered enquiries of millers and exporters who need the grain. The Patten reply has been at such times :

"Let's see, what was the opening price this morning ? Well, it's 2 cents above the market price f. o. b.' And on this basis real wheat was turned over to real millers for the making of real flour, to be used in real bread, cookies, pies, cakes, and commercial ice creams.

For Patten hadn't concerned the market ! Anybody could buy Patten wheat that was real wheat on this 2-cent margin. Patten asks, on this point, if a man dealing in pants decides to buy up all the pants made in all the pants factories in the country just because they were good pants and cheap at the wholesale price, would the world charge that he had cornered the pants market?

The simile is expecially apt, coming from "Jim" Patten, for "Jim" wears only pants. They are everyday sort of pants, too, for "Jim" says that he never yet has floundered into evening trousers, with the attendant full moon shirt and top hat. Mrs. Patten is said to have declared,time and again, that it's just awful that "Jim" won't, but "Jim" won't; and when "Jim" won't, he won't, and that's all there is to it.

"I told everybody that asked that wheat was going to a dollar and a quarter," says Mr. Patten; "I told 'em that away last fall. Why didn't they buy wheat? My money wasn't different in either taint, texture, weight, or fineness. But everybody left me to do the buying. Now they're hollering cause I've got it. Why didn't the seller keep it? Why didn't somebody else buy it?"

There have been many who knew him who couldn't understand why Patten sticks on at the game. It is conceded that he doesn't need the money. But again, that little incident of last fall, when Mrs. Patten took a little plunge in de luxe editions of assorted books to the tune of $22,500 or so, the point does seem to be so well taken. At $1.50 for wheat, $22,500 will buy a whole lot of it, especially on margins.

More than this, it was "Jim" Patten who last year, hearing that the Art Institute needed a little money, wrote his check for $250,000 in response to the need. When North-Western University was scheming and planning for a gymnasium along co-educational lines, involving bloomers for the horizontal bar work, "Jim" Patten came up with a modest little $125,000, which didn't appear to anyone as having taint of corners on it.

It was James A. Patten who, tired of a church mortgage that had dragged along, finally stepped up and lifted it himself.

In the matter of attending church, Mr. Patten is looked upon as one of the never-absent when he is in town. He is quite as regular as is his pastor. Holding this record as an attendant upon services of the Presbyterian church in a Provincial town it speaks for the Patten backbone when he gives openly $125,000 to a Methodist North-Western University. But this is an interpretation of the liberal views of James A. Patten. Such broadness can't be overlooked when one comes to a study of the "Jim" Patten assertion that he hasn't cornered the wheat market.

The Patten home in Evanston is one of the show places of the suburban city. Its snow-white Vermont granite is relieved by glass mosaics of softening colors and tints, making of it the first house in colors executed on this side of the Atlantic. A quarter of a million dollars is tied up in the residence building, to say nothing of its elaborate furnishings and costly library.

But this costly residence is home to "Jim" and James A Patten alike. "Jim" returns to it from a day on the Board of Trade, his 190 odd pounds clothed in a $30 suit,and he sinks down into a chair or couch or davenport with all the abandon of a farmer coming in from the hayfield at sunset. If the evening has been appropriated by Mrs. Patten for a formal entertainment of friends, "Jim" doesn't abate by jot or title either the $30 suit or the farmer pose. Often he has attended recherche affairs, long after 6 o'clock p.m., wearing these duds in which he had sauntered among the crowds in the corn, oats, and wheat pits of the "floor."

In the meantime, however, flour is going up.

Not long ago a young couple entered a railway carriage at Sheffield and were immediately put down as a bridal pair. But they were remarkably self-possessed, and behaved with such sang-froid that the other passengers began to doubt if their first surmise was correct after all.

As the train moved out, however, the young man rose to remove his overcoat, and a shower of rice fell out, while the passengers smiled broadly.

But even that did not affect the youth, who also smiled, and, turning to his partner, remarked audibly: "By Jove, May! I've stolen the bridegroom's overcoat!"

THE ROCK.

(By A Banker.)

Guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean, and almost within cannon shot of Africa, stands a mighty upheaved natural fastness; one of the most impregnable fortresses in the whole world; which, though of limited extent, yet is one of the most valued appanages of the British Crown, as commanding the short route to India, to Australasia, 'and to other of the numerous territories of that mightiest Empire the world has ever seen—Greater Britain.

Forced upwards by some tremendous natural agency, the Rock of Gibraltar rears its lofty maned head like some gigantic lion crouching defiantly for an onslaught. And, on closer inspection, it is indeed a formidable defence against any foe. Bristling with innumerable cannon, honeycombed with galleries pierced with embrasures, from each of which a powerful gun projects, with masked batteries invisible to the enemy, but armed with gigantic cannon of the latest type; galleries cut in the rock in all directions; vast storehouses capable of storing sufficient food to sustain a garrison for a long siege; it would appear impossible for any for to lower that proud flag which has so long braved the battle and the breeze.

And the slopes of that Rock are in parts extremely beautiful. Public and private gardens, adorned with palm trees and flowering trees and shrubs, which in that genial clime grow in wild luxuriance; while higher up the Rock brilliant wild flowers carpet it with parterres of many hued bloom; the forests, yet higher, being the abode of a number of large monkeys of the baboon type, said, in times of dearth of their natural food, to descend from their fastness and even savagely to attack unwary wayfarers.

In the town itself is a motley, crowded assemblage of many nationalities; turbaned Moors from the opposite coast of Morocco; Spanish peasants and others in their picturesque costume—though the graceful mantilla is giving place to the Parisian hat, and the sombrero to the ungraceful, inelegant, but extremely popular and universally worn cap—perhaps the most inartistic headgear ever worn by civilised man; with negroes of many shades of colour; many British soldiers in varied uniforms; policemen also in the familiar form; Europeans of many nationalities; sailors on leave from the fleet of ironclads lying in the harbor, and many others.

And to some the contemplation of that stately Rock is a reminder that the Rock of Ages is the surest defence both for time and for eternity. For the Saviour of the world, who by His sufferings and death has redeemed contumely were borne as the punishment due us—for all that agony and all that scorn and to us—is ever ready to receive all who will but come unto Him for eternal life in the land of glory.

A CASTLE IN THE CLOUDS.

(By A Banker.)

A few miles from Lisbon, and in the immediate neighborhood of lovely Cintra—well named "the garden of Europe"—stands, on the peaked summit of an isolated mountain, or lofty eminence, an ancient citadel erected by the Moors at the time when that now degenerate race were masters of that portion of Southern Europe.

The zigzag road winding amidst a wealth of luxuriant vegetation is here and there of extreme beauty and natural attractions, bordered on each side by wild masses of enormous detached boulders brought by glacial agency from some still more elevated mountain range and stranded on that lofty peak when the ancient ice at length succumbed to the more genial clime which then supervened. Here and there 'midst this wilderness of rock are bushes of lovely white heather; plants of a most beautiful gentian of a vivid blue almost equal to that of the wonderful variety frequently found in the Alps; stretches of rock covered with profusely flowering "periwrinkles" of a delicate mauve; with, although still winter, many another gem of the floral world.

Higher, higher, and still higher, the public road an length terminates at the gates of the royal castle of Pena, the remainder of the ascent being performed on foot along winding path ways amidst great shrubs of camellias in full flower, numerous varieties of palms, the handsome Australian glory-pea—the flower like a scarlet lobster-claw, with many other subtropical plants and trees. At length the great castle is reached, and the visitor enters through a quaint doorway studded with stone cannon balls. After passing through a number of halls and reception rooms, some decorated by the Moors in arabesque designs, some of more modern ornamentation, an exterior gallery high up the external walls of the castle is entered, whence a glorious view of the attractive surroundings is attained. On one side the mountain range of the Sierras uplifts its lofty snow-covered peaks; beneath, the undulating plains of Portugal, dotted with farmhouses and handsome villas, oliveyards and vineyards, woods and forests; while southwards, margined with a snow-white line of foam, is the mouth of the Tagus, whence those Portuguese sea-dogs of old sallied forth to cross the broad ocean in quest of spoil and of conquest in a New World.

But there are now no more new worlds to be discovered. For practically the whole habitable globe has been visited by explorers and by missionaries, and the good news has been proclaimed of the sojourn upon this earth of the Son of God in order by making expiation Himself for mankind's transgressions, to nullify both the effects of the Fall, and also to satisfy the demands of inexorable Justice on behalf of all and any who will accept Him as their Saviour and their Deliverer from the wrath to come.

I don't care for publicity but would like to tell every one suffering from piles about Dr. Chase's Ointment."

LENGTHENING LIFE.

(Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale University.)

Human life in America could, by the adoption of hygienic reforms already known and entirely practicable, be lengthened by over one-third—that is, over fifteen years. This calculation has been made very conservatively and is probably several years inside the truth. For typhoid fever, experience in Lawrence has shown that the introduction of a public water filter reduced the typhoid mortality by eighty per cent. In Munich the cleaning of cesspools and other hygienic measures reduced the mortality from typhoid by ninety-seven per cent. On the basis of these and other facts, it was conservatively estimated that eighty-five per cent. of the deaths now occurring from typhoid fever in the United States could be easily prevented. Professor Sedgwick recently announced the truth of Hazen's theorem—that for each life saved from typhoid, two or three lives are saved from other diseases. This cumulative effect, however, was not taken into account in the calculations, nor was account taken of the constant advance being made in preventive medicine.

For these and other reasons, the calculated estimate of the improvability of human life is regarded as ultra-conservative. Tuberculosis is known to be preventable. In my table, it is entered as only 75 per cent, preventable; pneumonia as 45 per cent, preventable, typhoid as 85 per cent.; diphtheria, 70 per cent. These conservative figures are among the highest allowed. Many diseases, such as cancer, are recorded in the table as zero per cent. preventable, although the best expert opinion would allow some degree of preventability, if prevention begins early enough in life.

PURITY FLOUR

And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period.

Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage. That's "Purity."

"Purity" flour may cost a little more, but is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.

THOSE WERE VERY HAPPY DAYS.

Resting by the fireside one evening with an evening paper on my lap and a peaceful pipe between my teeth, I gazed into the flickering flames. My day's labors were o'er, responsibility was off my hands and I was at peace with the world. No one was in the room to disturb me and with my eyes glued on the burning embers, I mused of by-gone days; days of my youth.

My thoughts drifted to various places I had made my home and they gradually wandered to the pride of Dufferin county, the little burg of Orangeville. Forgotten picturesque Orangeville! What fond memories have I of that unique little hamlet. And to think it is almost dead; lying dormant and secluded from the outside world. And oh! what loving reminiscences now linger in my mind, ones that would touch the heart of anyone patriotic to their old and native haunt.

The glow from the hearth had faded on the carpet, the embers had died away leaving the ashes smoldering. I touched a button under the mantel and a cheerful radiance flooded the room, and then I picked up the journal and turned over the leaves to the sporting page and lo! before me, staring into my eyes was a little paragraph. It was situated on the bottom of the page under a huge display "ad" and I read it several times. It was to the effect that the Dufferins of Orangeville intended to once more jump into the National game—lacrosse.

What grand recollections ran turmoil through my brain. That little five line item looked as good to me as a two-column or one of larger dimensions. It set me dreaming. I puffed away at my "trusty" and the blue smoke from the Virginian weed curled lazily ceilingwards, forming a thin cloud and through that volume of "sweet content" I saw things. Realizations of things that happened ages ago flitted past my eyes.

I recalled the good old days when the "green and white" used to carry away the lacrosse honors; victories that placed my old home town in the limelight but that are now aim, joyful dreams of days gone by. I remembered the huge bon-fires on Broadway that attracted the entire town to celebrate a victory, and when our players alighted from the train, arriving home after applying whitewash to a bunch of would-bes in Toronto or elsewhere and being greeted by cheers from men and shrieks from the gentler sex and children and the boom of jumbos—sorry to say there were no cannon in existence in the town then. And one of the most enthusiastic was an elderly lady accompanied by her little daughter, both decorated from toes to headgear in those two grand old colors. In the midst of the confusion, yelling, pandemonium several stalwarts would step forward and hoist each player on their shoulders and carry them from the depot. And the old lady referred to would remark, "I just knew you would win boys." And she would raise her umbrella with the green and white ribbons attached and waving, would utter, "Hurrah for our boys!"

Weren't those the good old days? And we all realize the great rapidity with which the years slip by. All those great celebrations are now peaceful, delicious dreams—dreams that are true.

And now when you look into the past, wrinkles gather on your brow and while the machinery under the crust of your cranium is working over-time you wonder what has really happened. Have the town athletes with lacrosse proclivities sought another recreation such as hide-and-go seek or checkers? It's a conundrum isn't it. However, there is one consolation in the fact that several veterans are going to don the uniform and re-enter the roarin' game. There are several good players left in the burg no matter if many were lured away by that green colored stuff and probably once more the Duffs will land the bacon provided by the C.L.A.

Ain't I optimistic and also pessimistic but tonight as the rain bangs against the windowpanes of the room and the wind sighs and whistles through the tall poplars I'm in a reminiscent mood and memories of my boyhood days when I loved and still love Orangeville when she used to be the hub of lacrossedom are recalled, and I hope with all my heart to see the little town once again cop the glory. She gobbled up everything in that line when I was in my prime and now that strands of iron grey hair can be seen on my roof garden and I'm just an old sport or a hanger-on as you call 'em, I'd like to see the town of my youth display the stunts they did a few years ago. Perhaps people are of the opinion I'm a grouch but I have to relieve my mind at times, but getting optimistic again, there is a chance—yes, a fighting chance—that Idylwyld may see the younger element of the sport bring notoriety back to the town which has lost its prestige as the king bee of the noble game and has degenerated into a place, which when mentioned, outsiders quoth, "Yes, they did at one time have a team in that joint but I don't know where it is. Tell me can you locate it on the map." But just let's live and hope.

When I travel back into the past which seems but yesterday I muse over the happenings on the lacrosse grounds. Picture the "fair grounds" and the glorious days spent there. Remember when the Dufferins glided up and down on the green turf having a mere workout while the opposing twelve peered on with wonderment gathering in all kinds of new wrinkles our own team was displaying. Do you recall the accurate shots of our home players and how our firing line used to sweep in on the enemy's nets. But why should I spiel all these things over again? You all are aware of the facts:

Yes, on good old Idylwyld, which still I presume is still used for athletics, there were some exciting contests. So you see I haven't been away from Orangeville so long when I speak of the latter grounds.

I was so doughty on this Indian game and such a rooter for the locals, I used to lean against the fence sometimes an hour previous to the starting of the doings and across the campus, here and there, I could detect many of the town's young offsprings crawling inch by inch underneath the tall fence—money didn't jingle in their pockets—and also some grown-ups leaping over the ragged-edged boards. My! wasn't that a fine police gang we had? Should have been decorated with bronze tags.

Then I turned my gaze in the direction of the grand stand and there immediately over the door of the players' quarters, my optics, which are growing dim now, spied an old lady with her little daughter, both dressed in green and white or as near those colors as possible and bless me if it isn't that same old lady, the most enthusiastic of the fans, a patriot, a stand-by. And as the players go in and out of the dressing room she greets 'em all and cheerful words come from her lips. She springs some ludicrous jokes and her tone is a rich Irish brogue.

The game is under way. The Dufferins get the ball. Charlie Shore is running or rather rolling down the field. He is attacked. He smiles his characteristic smile to tantalize the opponent. He dodges as the crowd cheers and passes the rubber to Paddy Kelly, Jimmie Swain or Joe Hatcher, who shoots. The sphere whizzes swiftly through the air. The net bulges out. Is it the wind? The umpire raises his paw. Hurrah! hurrah! hurrah! a deafening roar goes up. The crowd becomes dippy. Hats are shooting through the air, and above all the noise that rich, silver, encouraging voice of Jack Aiken is heard.

The end of the game draws near. The Dufferins have a good safe lead and finally they land the cake. It's just a repetition of the same old story—the Duffs win, and everybody journeys home in a complacent, hilarious mood.

And the last incident I will mention before I apply the brakes is the great, glorious win of the year. The one that made the thrills play havoc with your spine—the championship of the C.L.A. and the winning of the magnificent, silver shield emblematic thereof. Then came the presentation of the watches to our heroes. But then what's the use of exhuming all that? You undoubtedly remember the details.

This is, just my final wish and if the longing was fulfilled I'd step a jig regardless of my uncertain props and that is, that the good old town of Orangeville, my native haunt, will again land the merchandise and regain its lost laurels and that the resurrection of the national game will occur in my home town immediately.

I've had my little say now so I guess I'll totter off to bed, creep under the sheets and dream of the day when the championship rag will appear again on the flag staff of the grand stand and overlook Idylwyld, the field where in days of long ago there were some lively doings.

Baby Fell on to the Stove

Mrs. T. S. Dougall, of 523 Flora Avenue, Winnipeg, says:—"My baby girl was arranging some of her doll's washing on a clothes-rack beside the stove, when she fell, and her hand, being thrown out to try and save herself, came in contact with the side of the hot stove. She sustained a serious burn, and her cries and screams were terrible.

"I sent out to the druggist for the best remedy he had to use on a burn. He said there was nothing to equal Zam-Buk, and sent back a supply. I applied this, and it soothed the pain so quickly that the child laughed through her tears. I bound up the hand in Zam-Buk, and each day applied Zam-Buk frequently and liberally, until the burn was quite cured. The little one was soon able to go on with her play, and we had no trouble with her during the time the burn was being healed. I feel very grateful for this cure, and would recommend all mothers to keep Zam-Buk handy for emergencies like this."

This is good advice. Zam-Buk, being purely herbal in its composition, is particularly suited to the delicate skin of children. While a powerful healer, it is also highly antiseptic. Applied to a burn, a cut, a scald or a scratch—to any injury of the skin, in fact—it will kill all disease germs, and removes all danger of festering, blood-poisoning, or inflammation. At the same time, it stimulates the cells to great activity, and fresh healthy skin is soon produced to repair the damage. Fifty cents spent on a box of Zam-Buk has saved scores of people as many dollars, to say nothing of saving hours of pain!

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gentle, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

PESONALITY OF GOD.

Lexicographical Definition Is Not Sufficient.

What Is the Nature and Essence of the Divine Person?

Editor of the Banner.

Dear Sir,—I have just been reading Rev. George W. Hewitt's statement of his belief concerning the personality of God. He has said many good things about God, every one of which any Christian Scientist can readily endorse, but more needs to be said. The lexicographical definition that "person is being possessed of personality" is not sufficient. To say "person is person" is not to define person. It is not adequate to consider what the person of God possesses. The question is, what is that person? What is the nature and essence of God's person? Jesus said, "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." To know God in the full sense of the term means to know all there is to know,—means to know all about God. However, Mr. Hewitt's statement that God is "infinite and eternal Spirit" may be considered a sufficient definition if we understand the meaning of the word "Spirit,"—that it refers to Mind in contradistinction to matter, and here may be our point of common agreement. The Century Dictionary defines person as "self-conscious being." This is a good definition of God. God is the All-wise, the All-knowing, the one infinite self-conscious being. Now I trust that the gentleman will stick to his text and will reason according to the premise which he has laid down. Then he will have no trouble in endorsing the entire teaching of Christian Science. The Scriptures teach that "God is good," "God is Love," "Spirit is Truth." Summing up these various Scriptural definitions of God we have the statement God is Spirit, Truth, Love, good. The Scriptures also teach that God made all that was made, including man in His own "image and likeness," that God saw all that He had made "and, behold, it was very good." Does the gentleman believe this Bible teaching? If so, he is compelled to accept the teaching of Christian Science, that God made not evil, that He made man after "His" own "kind." He made man possessing His own characteristics, therefore, incapable of sin, sickness and death.—as Solomon said, "made him to be an image of His own eternity." Since God made all that was made, "and without Him was not anything made that was made," and sin, sickness and death are no part of the "very good" things which God made, we cannot escape the conclusion that sin, sickness and death never were made, that they therefore have only a mythical existence. They have only the reality which dreams have and they disappear as mortals awake through the understanding of Truth. Man the image and likeness of the "infinite eternal Spirit," the infinite good, can neither be evil nor lapse into evil; hence the teaching of Christian Science that man the image of God remains forever intact as man, and that evil, which appears to be associated with men, is no more a part of the man than is the besmirching clay a part of the diamond.

I would assure the gentleman that I must not disagree with Mrs. Eddy's teaching, for the only hope that I have in maintaining my position is in Mrs. Eddy's teaching. If I should in any degree deviate from her premises I should lose my point.

Our critic has already admitted that God is "infinite and eternal Spirit." Eternal means without beginning and without end, and as applied to God it means that He has always existed and always will exist as infinite Spirit. We assume that the gentleman believes that Spirit is really something, really substance. Mrs. Eddy's teaching that "God is All" means that God is the only real substance, Life and Intelligence. If, as our critic has stated, God is infinite, He must be the only presence. Beside Him there can be no entity or being. Thus we prove that there could not possibly be any other substance beside the infinite Spirit. It is already admitted that God is everywhere and it is certain that He has never been displaced and that He never will be displaced, because, as it is admitted, God is eternal.

The Bible does not teach that the "material universe" was "created" by the word of his power; in other words, it does not teach that the world was created materially. The use of the term "Word" gives us an important hint as to the nature of the creation. A word is an expressed idea. The use of the term "Word" implies that the world was created ideally, spiritually, not materially. A proper deduction from this premise is that the material universe is nothing more nor less than an erroneous dream about creation. It is only a false sense of the spiritual creation. If we reason consistently with the premise which our critic has given us, we cannot arrive at any other conclusion.

Our critic is probably familiar with the original Greek and will agree with us that the article "a" in the text "God is a Spirit," may be omitted or supplied, according to the opinion of the translator. In fact, scholars declare that there is nothing in the original text to warrant the use of the article. In keeping with this I would call attention to the fact that some of the most reliable of modern translations render the text "God is Spirit," omitting the article. The latter translation is entirely consistent with the general teaching of the Scripture on the subject, while the former is not. If Spirit, God, as our critic has already intimated, is infinite, there can be but one Spirit. The universe, including man, is spiritual, but is not Spirit. It is substantial, but is not substance. It is intelligent, but is not Intelligence. The universe is not a part of the Creator, but the expression or manifestation of God. God always remains God, while man always remains man. Creator always remains the expression or reflection of substance, the "image of God." This definition of man, however, does not depreciate the importance of man or make him less an intelligent creature, for he reflects every characteristic and every attribute of God, even the rational, thinking capacity of divine Mind. Pantheism teaches that the universe, taken together as a whole, constitutes Deity. Pantheism is due to the result of an effort to establish a belief that the universe is substance, and at the same time maintain the idea that God is substance and is infinite. If we assume that the universe is substance and occupies space, we must either assume that a part of God is displaced or that God is sub-divided to make up the universe. Both of these conclusions are erroneous and both are out of harmony with Scriptural teaching. The only consistent deduction from the Christ teaching is that God is All in all, that God is the only substance, and the universe is His reflection, and that every creature of God exists as an idea in the divine Mind and that, therefore, the material appearance of created things is only a false appearance. Sin, sickness and death are the outcome of a misapprehension and a misuse of creation, including the false individuality of the man himself. It is the mission of Christian Science to awaken mortal man to a consciousness of his real spiritual being as a creature of Spirit, in order that he may follow the Scriptural admonition to "work out" his "own salvation," by putting "off the old man with his deeds" and putting "on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of Him that created him."

The gentleman declares, "Mrs. Eddy herself denies that Jesus Christ has any part, in any way, in the healing performed by Christian Science." On the contrary, Mrs. Eddy plants herself unreservedly upon the Scriptural declaration of the Master, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the herself unreservedly upon the Scriptian Science does not depend upon the human personality of Christ Jesus, but upon the spiritual way which he knew and practiced, and which we may all know and practice if we obey the injunction of Paul, "Let that Mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." Christian Science insists that God is the only power and every result of Christian Science practice is by reason of its implicit reliance upon the one power. Jesus proved what could be accomplished through the divine power, while Christian Science shows how it can be done by formulating a scientific system based upon the premises which the Master taught. Jesus himself declared, "I have many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth." Christian Science is the Spirit of truth to which the Master referred, that is, the spiritual understanding in contradistinction to a material sense of truth,—a spiritual understanding of God and His creation in contradistinction to the false, material evidence. Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The word "free" should be taken in the broadest possible sense. It includes freedom in every way,—freedom from sin, freedom from sickness, freedom from all the evil results that are contingent upon misapprehensions and misdeeds.

The gentleman undertakes to explain how Christian Science heals. It seems to me that this can more safely be left to the Christian Scientists, for surely no one knows better how Christian Science heals than the one through whom the healing is done. The gentleman declares that Christian Science heals through (1) "The force of a strong will—personality—over one weaker than itself." (2) "Suggestion." The fact is, as any one will discover who undertakes to heal through Christian Science, that there is no human will, personality, or suggestion in Christian Science treatment. Thousands of persons have been healed by reading the Christian Science text-book, who have never had a treatment from a Scientist. Some of these are in distant parts of the world and have never even had the opportunity to talk with a Christian Scientist. This is unmistakeable evidence that it is the understanding of the divine power contained in the book which heals. Again, a little child has been known to heal a strong minded man. Some years ago a woman, who prided herself on her extremely powerful mentality, was suffering with a headache and went to a Christian Scientist for the sole purpose of proving that the Scientist could not destroy her headache. She afterwards confessed that notwithstanding her mental determination not to be influenced she soon felt her headache slipping away and in a few minutes she was entirely healed, and was convinced that she had not been overpowered by will force, but that there had been imparted to her the truth which destroys error. Christian Science heals the sick exactly as the light dispels the darkness, and for the same reason, namely, that the one is real and the other is unreal.

In reply to our critic, I would say Christian Scientists believe in the atonement which is taught in the Scriptures, though they may differ from the interpretation thereof which is given by some theologians.

Yours sincerely,

ALFRED FARLOW.

About 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon T. Smith was brought to the Western hospital at Toronto from Tottenham with his left foot so badly crushed that amputation above the ankle was necessary. He is now getting better no serious complications are expected. He is about 50 years of age. It is reported he is an employee of the C.P.R. and was engaged beneath a car when it was started and ran over his foot. A doctor from Tottenham came down with him.

PROVINCIAL RIGHTS.

Commons Declines to Pass Ontario and Michigan Power Co. Bill.

Dr. Barr Opposes Measure in Vigorous Speech.

Ottawa, April 24th, 1909.—The Commee bill to incorporate the Ontario and Michigan Power Company was knocked out this week by the Opposition, whose strong fight for the rights of the Province of Ontario eventually won over Sir Wilfrid Laurier by whom the bill was finally sent to limbo. The bill proposed to incorporate as a Dominion corporation a company clothed with wide powers for the development of electrical energy on the Pigeon and Nipigon Rivers, giving them incidentally authority to appropriate and the right to send half their power into the United States. One of the best speeches against the passage of this measure was that of Dr. Barr, of Dufferin. Dr. Barr said :—

"Mr. Chairman, it is not my intention to detain the committee with any extended remarks on this occasion, but I would not like to see this Bill, that I consider so important to this country, pass without entering my solemn protest against the interference with the rights of the province of Ontario which is involved in the measure. I do not think that any speaker on the other side of the House contended that this Bill does not enroach upon provincial rights. I was somewhat surprised at the speech of the hon. Minister of Justice (Mr. Aylesworth). Brilliant and strong as it was thought to be and as it was, and no doubt intended as it was to make an impression on this committee, I could not help noticing that he balanced and turned one way and the other to as great an extent as it was possible for him to do. I do not believe that he liked the task imposed upon him of defending so iniquitous a Bill as this one is. The only argument that he put forward in support of this Bill was that it has passed the committee, and he said that, in having passed the committee, this House should adopt it. I think that is the most dangerous doctrine that can be put forward. It would be a severe blow to the independence of this House if we were to consider that any Bill that had passed the railway or any other committee should go through this House in the form in which it has come from the committee. That committee is only intended to investigate and inquire, but it was never intended that the consideration of a Bill by the committee should ensure its passage through this House. What are the facts in connection with this Bill? If there was ever a Bill which has passed the Railway Committee which should receive careful consideration at the hands of this House it is the Bill which we have now before us. There are a number of the members of the committee who take a deep interest in the different Bills that come before it, but I am sorry to say— and I am not speaking of one side or the other—that there is a large quantity of voting material available when it is required. Whenever a Bill is presented which is difficult to get through the committee and this House there is a certain amount of drumming up in order to fill the back seats of the committee—the smoking department of it—and the result is that when voting time comes these members are on hand to give their votes although many of them do not know anything of the merits or demerits of the Bill. This is a Bill on which the drumming up process was in evidence to a greater extent than in regard to any Bill which we have had before the committee this session. When this Bill was before the Railway Committee, when we pointed to the iniquitous provisions of it, we had only to look around to see behind the force that could vote down our objections, no matter what arguments we employed, no matter what position we took upon this great question that we consider of the utmost importance. It was under these circumstances that a vote was not insisted upon in the committee. We said: Let the Bill go through and throw the responsibility upon them. We could scarcely get in a remark because we could not occupy five minutes without such a noise being made behind us that we could not be heard. That was the reason why we let this Bill go through, and it was not because we did not believe it was a most iniquitous measure. We believed that when the Bill came to this House there would be such a weakening of the support of those who were promoting it, that it would not be possible for the measure to pass. It is not now so iniquitous as it was when it was before the committee. At that time we were convinced that it was so flagrant an attempt to violate the principle of provincial rights that it could not pass the House, but we are free to admit that the amendment which has been proposed makes a little improvement in it. Still the Bill is one which should not pass. Our water-powers are amongst the greatest assets we have. We can only look forward to the time when our water-powers must supply a want which no other resource in this country can supply. It is a well-known fact that year after year fires are sweeping away our forests and that our supply of coal in the lower provinces is becoming less. Under these circumstances I think it is a most unfortunate thing that we should alienate our natural resources. In looking over the history of the parliament of Canada and that of the province of Ontario, I think my hon. friend the member for Thunder Bay and Rainy River (Mr. Conmee) will agree with me when I say that as far as these natural resources are concerned my hon. friend has figured largely not only in this House but in the provincial House. I well remember in the dying days of the session of 1904 a fight over the Kakabeka falls when my hon. friend and his friends secured the right to that water-power from another company. We thought that was unjust and unfair, and there is no doubt that my hon. friend's action then alienated a large number of voters. The responsibility of that dying government seemed to be thrown upon my hon. friend and he was deserted by his former friends as well as the Conservatives. The result was that the action of two years before was reversed, and that company is now going ahead under the control of other men. Now we find my hon. friend going along a different line.

I think my hon. friend had charge of the Kakabeka Falls Bill; he certainly had charge of one that passed some time before that.

The question of water-powers has engaged attention in the past, and it is a subject that we should carefully guard. It is important to consider whether it is in the interest of the country that the province should have control of water-powers. It would appear from the success of the Ontario government in developing water-powers during the last few years that as far as possible we should leave them under provincial control. The result of the last provincial election in Ontario demonstrated that the people of that province strongly approve of the policy of the provincial government in developing water-powers and in guarding provincial rights. In the early days of the government of Sir Oliver Mowat, the Liberal party proclaimed themselves the champions of the rights of the provinces. We have to-day in Ontario a government that consistently follows the same policy and guards the rights of the province against every attempt at enroachment. I believe that it will be no longer possible to dissipate our natural resources and to give away this great asset which we are tonight endeavouring to guard. It seems unfair for the Dominion government to endeavor to enroach on the rights of provincial governments. My own view is that a large number of these questions which may give rise to friction at any time should be referred to the Privy Council in order that the rights of the Dominion and of the provinces may be more exactly defined. In the meantime before the committee an able lawyer representing the government of Ontario voiced that government's objection to this Bill, and it was evident that that government considered it of the greatest importance. Under these circumstances I submit that in passing this Bill we would not be acting in the best interests of the country. I hope the government will carefully consider this question, and that the House will vote down the Bill."

Animals of the Forest Digure in Armorial Bearings Sanctioned by Court of St. James

Ottawa, April 23.—A royal warrant assigning crest and supporters to the Province of Ontario has been issued by the College of Arms, London.

It is provided that:

"Whereas her late Majesty Queen Victoria was graciously pleased to warrant under her royal sign manual, bearing date the 26th day of May, in the 31st year of her majesty's reign, to assign certain armorial bearings to the Province of Ontario, in our Dominion of Canada, and whereas for the greater honor and distinction of the said province we are desirous that a crest and supporters should be assigned thereto: Know ye, therefore, that we, of our princely grace and special favor, have granted and assigned and do by these presents grant and assign the following crest, that is to say, 'Upon a wreath of the colors of a bear passant sable, and the supporters on the dexter side a moose, and on the sinister side a Canadian deer, both peoper,' together with this motto, 'Ut Incepit Fidelis Sic Permanet,' as the same same are in the painting hereunto annexed, more plainly depicted to be borne for the said Province of Ontario on seals, shields, banners, flags or otherwise, according to the laws of arms."

It is understood that E. M. Chadwick of Toronto designed the crest.

WILLING TO TAKE CHANCES

"So you're going to marry Mary?" said the mistress inquiringly.

"Yis, mum.

"Are you sure you are not making a mistake."

"Well," returned the cook thoughtfully, "he's not the best man in the world, to be sure, but if I have him go how kin I be sure of gittin' another wan? I've been thinkin' about it, an' it looks to me like it's right an' proper to take what ye kin git when ye kin git it. Them that holds on for the big prize has been known to lose the little wans. I think I'll take Mike."

The Drop Business.

"Come in, Patrick, and take a drop of something."

"No, Mike; I'm afraid of drops ever since Tim Flaherty died."

"Well, what about Tim?"

"He was one of the liveliest fellows in these parts, but he began the drop business in Barney Shenon's saloon. It was a drop of something out of a bottle at first. But in a little while Tim took a few drops too much, and then he dropped into the gutter. He lost his place, he lost his coat and hat, he lost money; he lost everything but this thirst for strong drink. Poor Tim! But the worst is to come. He got crazy with drink one day and killed a man; and the last time I saw him he was taking his last drop—with a slipping noose around his neck. I have quit the drop business, Mike. I have seen too many good fellows when whiskey had the drop on them. They took just a drop from a bottle, then they dropped into the gutter, and then dropped into the grave. No rumseller can get a drop on me any more, and if you don't drop him, Mike, he will drop you."—The Vanguard.

New Health for School Girls

Restorative treatment which brings new vigor to the nerves and new color to the cheeks.

Is a girl's health to be sacrificed in order that she may pass high at examination time? Is her future happiness to be risked for examination marks?

Mrs. S. A. Boney, 92 Charlotte St., Brantford, Ont., writes: "My daughter was attending school and the close confinement and application to her school work exhausted her nervous system so that she suffered a great deal with headaches and was very nervous, irritable and easily excited.

"I procured Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for her and we soon noticed marked improvement in her health. The headaches were entirely cured, her color became better and her system was strengthened and built up. I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a splendid medicine for children."

There is nothing like preventing serious disease by keeping the blood rich and red, the nervous system strong and healthy and the vitality of the body at high water mark. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food accomplishes these results. 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

RUTLEDGE—MORRIS.

A very pleasing event took place at the home of Mr. George Morris, Alton, on Wednesday, April 21st, at 3 o'clock, when his eldest daughter, Gertrude Agness, was united in marriage to Mr. R. DeWitt Rutledge, C. P. R. agent, Credit Forks. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. W. Rose, B.A., of Alton, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. As Miss Margaret Dean, of Alton, played the wedding march, the bridal party entered the drawing-room, and took their places under an arch of evergreens. The bride, who was attended by her sister, Miss May, looked charming in a gown of pale blue silk, trimmed with white over-lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmaid was dressed in white mull and carried carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Charles Rutledge, of Flesherton. The gifts were numerous and costly and testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held. After the ceremony a dainty wedding repast was served. The happy couple left on the six o'clock train for a two weeks' honeymoon visit to Tonawanda, N. Y. After their return they will reside on the Credit Forks.

PIRIE—WALSH.

A very interesting and pretty wedding took place last Wednesday afternoon when Miss Greta Walsh, daughter of W. J. Walsh, K.C., and Mrs. Walsh was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Dr. George R. Pirie. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Dean Paget in the Church of the Redeemer, which had been beautified by masses of flowers, artistically arranged. To the magnificent strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march, played by Mr. Wrigley, who is an intimate friend of the groom, the bridal party entered the church. Very sweet and winsome the young bride appeared leaning on the arm of her father, and attended by Miss Sutherland and Miss Pirie. She wore a very lovely gown of white satin, fashioned in becoming long lines and ornamented with rich lace. The long bridal veil of tulle softly draped the pretty figure. She carried an armful of white roses. The bridesmaids were charming in attractive frocks of rose crepe de chine, with picture hats, trimmed with tulle and roses. Each wore a pretty pearl crescent, the gift of the groom, who was himself attended by his brother, Jocelyn Pirie, and K. L. Downey. Soft strains of music accompanied the dignified and impressive service of the church, and burst again into glorious harmony as the bridal party left the church. A small reception followed at the home of the bride, and universally popular as both Dr. and Mrs. Pirie are, they were fairly showered with felicitations and lovely gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome necklace of amethysts and to the groomsmen pearl scarf pins. Later in the afternoon the young married couple left for a short wedding journey to the coast, the bride wearing a fashionable costume of blue cloth, with large hat in the pretty taupe shade trimmed with foliage.—Calgary Herald, April 14.

SAD FAMILY STORY.

James Johnston's Wife Insane for 27 Years.

Son Brooded Until Reason Was Dethroned.

James Johnston, the father of the insane family from Mulmur township, at present confined in the County Gaol here, was examined before Police Magistrate Pattullo yesterday morning as to the history of his family. Johnston, who was formerly a school teacher, is a man of more than average intelligence. He uses good English and seems inclined to be quite talkative. It was a strange tale of domestic trial and unhappiness that the old man — for he is well advanced in years—told the magistrate.

Johnston said that he was married forty years ago at Elmgrove in the County of Simcoe. His wife, who is slightly older than himself, was born at Etobicoke sixty-six years ago. She first began to show signs of insanity about 27 years ago, shortly before the birth of his daughter, Ada Jane. Johnston was at that time teaching school at Columbus, Ontario County. The woman's insanity took the form of unreasoning jealousy. She became destructive and would smash the furniture, dishes and other household articles and on several occasions threatened to poison her husband. On one occasion she obtained a gun, which was only taken from her with difficulty. She had also attempted to burn down the farm buildings. According to Johnston's story the woman is not an epileptic, but is incurably insane.

There was no insanity in her family. Mrs. Johnston could sign her name, but had never gone beyond the third book at school. She would go out to the pump in the coldest winter weather in her bare feet and clad only in a night dress, but never contracted a cold from the exposure.

James Johnston, one of his sons, the witness described as simple from his birth, but a good worker. He was easy to manage, but could not be trusted to take care of himself. He is 36 years of age, is not in any way vicious, talks very little, but is healthy and very strong.

A neighboring farmer promised David, another of the sons, that if he would work for him for ten years he would give him his wife's sister as a wife and will her the farm. David worked with him for three weeks and then quit without getting any pay. This was five years ago and the lad brooded over the matter until he became completely deranged. He is in constant fear that the woman will sue him for breach of promise. Until this trouble occurred David was a good worker. Johnston told the Magistrate that David and Albert had set fire to a straw stack rather than spread the straw about.

The daughter, Ada Jane, aged 29, cannot speak plainly. Her father testified that she had a terrible temper and was very irregular in her habits. She had no education, had been weak-minded for several years, but physically was strong and healthy.

Mr. Pattullo will make his report and transmit the evidence to the Inspector of Prisons, who will likely make the usual order for the transfer of the unfortunate family to an asylum for the insane. Mr. Johnston has rented his farm. He seems to be an honest, though somewhat peculiar man, and is entitled to sympathy in the unfortunate condition in which he has been placed.

MRS. GEORGE ISLAND.

Orangeville has lost an esteemed resident in the person of Mrs. George Island, whose death took place at her home, corner Second St. and Third Avenue, about noon on Saturday. The deceased was taken ill two weeks before her death with the typhoid influenza that has been prevalent in town this spring. Her condition speedily grew critical and some days prior to her death her friends were informed that her chances for recovery were not at all favorable. The late Mrs. Island was 67 years of age and was born in the township of Toronto Gore, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shaw, prominent residents of that place. She was married to Mr. Island on June 13th 1866. The union proved a very happy one and was blessed by a family of six sons and a daughter, all of whom survive. The sons are Samuel L., of Caledon, Arthur, of Duluth, Minn., and Robert H., George E., William A., and Frank, of Mono. Mrs. J. E. Jenkins, of Mono, is the only daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Island resided on their fine property on the 1st line, east, Mono, until about three years ago, when they gave up the cares and responsibilities of farm life and removed to Orangeville. The deceased lady was a true-hearted Christian woman, whose kindness and ready sympathy won her a high place in the affections of her friends and neighbors. She was devoted to her husband and family, to whom her death means an irretrievable loss. General sympathy is felt for the sorrowing husband and family in their bereavement. The esteem in which the departed woman was held was shown by the unusually large attendance at the funeral on Monday afternoon. All classes and denominations of our citizens were represented and a great many of the Mono and Caledon friends of the family were present to pay their last tribute of respect. The service was conducted by Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's Church, Rev. G. W. Hewitt assisting. The pallbearers were the six sons.

MISS MILLIE BANKS.

Miss Millie Banks, daughter of the late James Banks, of Perm, who was killed in the Caledon wreck in September 1907, died at her home on 1st St. on Thursday evening after about three weeks illness with pneumonia. The deceased was a bright, amiable young woman and had made many warm friends during her short residence in town. Much sympathy is expressed for the mother and brothers and sisters in their trying bereavement. Miss Banks was 30 years of age. She is survived by two brothers, Earl and Thomas, of Perm, and six sisters. The latter are Mrs. A. H. Keyes, Amaranth; Mrs. W. J. East, Mono; Reta, of Perm; Bertha, of Toronto, and Edna and Robina at home. The funeral was held from her late home to Laurel cemetery on Saturday. The funeral service was held in Laurel Methodist church and was conducted by Rev. T. R. White, assisted by Rev. J. R. Bell.

MR. ALEXANDER SPEERS.

The death of Mr. Alexander Speers, a lifelong resident of Caledon township, occurred at his home, lot 15, con. 6, east, on Wednesday of last week after a short illness. The deceased, who was 82 years of age, had suffered from nerve trouble for some years, but apart from this was in the enjoyment of good health until eight days or so prior to his demise. Mr. Speers was born and had always lived in Caledon. He is survived by a widow (nee Miss Mary Penelton, of Mono) and a family of four sons, and three daughters. The sons are Thomas, Alexander, James and Arch. Speers, all of Caledon, and the daughters, Mrs. Walker, Orangeville, Mrs. David McMullen, Caledon, and Mrs. Crawford, Albion. One brother, James Speers, of Caledon, father of Chief Speers of this town, also survives at the remarkable age of 94 years. The funeral was held from his late residence to St. John's Church cemetery, 7th line, Mono, on Friday afternoon. Rev. A. C. Collins, rector of Mono Mills parish, held the funeral service in the church, which was crowded to the doors. The pallbearers were the four sons and Messrs. Geo. McMullen and Crawford, sons-in-law.

DIED IN MINNESOTA.

Mrs. Hugh. McGowan died at her home near Lowry last Friday, April 16, after an illness of a month's duration.

Mrs. McGowan was born in Ireland seventy-two years ago. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Connor. She emigrated to Ontario at the age of six years. On May 1st, 1861, she was married to Hugh McGowan. The family moved to this state in 1891 and have been residents of the county since then.

The deceased was survived by her husband and six children, Mrs. Alex. Oliver of Marsville, Ontario; Mrs. Carl Johnston, Wheaton, Minnesota; Robert McGowan, Pilot Mound, Manitoba; Mrs. H. N. May, Duluth, Minnesota; James S. McGowan, Weyburn, Saskatchewan, and Bert McGowan of Lowry. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Robert Donaldson, of Ontario. Funeral services were conducted on Monday by Rev. W. A. Rice, of Glenwood at the Evangelical church at Lowry with interment in the cemetery near that village. All of the children excepting Mrs. Alex. Oliver were present at the funeral.

Mrs. McGowan was a good, Christian lady who enjoyed the esteem of all her acquaintances. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of a kind and devoted mother. — Glenwood (Minn.) Herald.

From the same paper we learn that Mr. McGowan has gone to Weyburn, where he will spend the summer with his son, James. Mr. and Mrs. McGowan were at one time esteemed residents of East Garafraxa.

A BAD MIXTURE.

Whiskey and Religion Didn't go Well Together.

Geo. McDonald has a Broken Leg and Wm. McNamara is in Gaol.

George McDonald, a young man, whose home is near Mono Centre, is lying in the Hotel Alexandra with a battered face and a broken leg.

William McNamara, a farmer from the Hockley neighborhood, was arrested on Monday and until yesterday afternoon was confined in the County Gaol charged with maiming and unlawfully wounding McDonald.

The two men, who have been acquainted for three years or longer, met in town Saturday evening. Early in the evening they had a few drinks together, then went to the Red Rose theatre accompanied by Geo. Hamilton, of Ballycroy. After leaving the theatre they went to the Commercial hotel yards, where they had more drinks, from a bottle of whiskey that McNamara was carrying. The two men got into an altercation and finally came to blows. The fight was continued inside the hotel, where the men fought for some time before they were separated. McDonald, who seems to have been rather badly intoxicated, got the worst of the fistic argument. After washing the blood off his face he left the hotel and started to walk home, a distance of about seven miles. About midnight George Nicholson, of the Mono Quarries, while on his way home, was startled by hearing groans. Upon investigating he found McDonald lying on the roadway in an unconscious condition. Nicholson summoned help and the injured man was conveyed to the Hotel Alexandra. Dr. Carson, who had been summoned, found his face badly bruised and his left leg broken midway between the knee and ankle. When McDonald had recovered sufficiently to tell his story, he said that McNamara had overtaken him on his way home, jumped from his buggy, pummelled him, broken his leg and left him lying on the road.

Acting on the information given by McDonald, Chief Speers swore out a warrant for McNamara's arrest. Nightwatchman Halbert drove out to the accused's home, lot 11, con. 7, east, Mono, Monday forenoon and arrested his man without any difficulty. McNamara took his arrest quite coolly, admitted fighting with McDonald at the hotel, but denied that he had seen anything of the injured man after the fight. He was taken before Police Magistrate Pattullo, who remanded him to the county gaol until three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The Magistrate examined the complainant, George McDonald, in his room in the Hotel Alexandra yesterday afternoon. A. A. Hughson, acting Crown Attorney, represented the Crown, Mr. J. L. Island appeared for the accused, and Mr. C. R. McKeown was present in McDonald's behalf. McDonald told substantially the story we have just narrated. He had come to town about two o'clock and had been drinking ale until he met McNamara. He had one drink of whiskey from the bottle McNamara was carrying before going to the Red Rose and a couple more in the Commercial yard after the show. They got quarrelling and McNamara told him that he (McDonald) never had any use for Roman Catholics. Witness replied that he had always used McNamara alright. McNamara struck him and the fight commenced. After they were parted, witness washed his face and a little later started to walk home. When he was about opposite Menary's barn (near the Exhibition grounds) he heard McNamara shout. "Here's the d— b— I'm looking for." At the same instant a rig stopped and McNamara jumped out and struck him a blow on the back of the head, knocking him down. His assailant then jumped on his leg exclaiming, "I'll leave you that you won't follow me anywhere." He then became unconscious and when he came to found himself in bed in the hotel with a broken leg.

After taking McDonald's evidence, the Magistrate adjourned the hearing until June 1st. McNamara was granted bail, the Crown agreeing to accept his own bond for $1,000, his two brothers as sureties in $500 each and $300 cash

McDonald and McNamara are both young men and neither of them is married. McDonald, who is a thresher and stone-mason, is ordinarily a quiet, civil fellow and is well-liked by nearly everyone. McNamara also bears a good reputation in his own neighborhood, but drinks a good deal when he gets out. The two men were on friendly terms when sober. The unfortunate episode seems to have resulted from over-indulgence in bad whiskey.

McDonald's mother is attending him in the Hotel Alexandra. Mr. John Bennett, landlord of the house, and his wife and family have been exceedingly kind to the injured man and have done all they could to make him comfortable. Dr. Carson expects to put the fractured limb into a plaster of paris cast to-day. McDonald will probably be removed to his home in a few days.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

A freight train running as an extra, with engine number 35 jumped the rails on the Caledon mountain about half a mile from Cardwell Junction on Saturday morning. Twelve of the cars rolled down a twelve foot embankment. Traffic on the line was delayed for several hours. The road bed was badly torn up, but fortunately no person was injured. The engine and some of the front cars did not leave the rails. The first car back of the engine was loaded with horses and settlers effects belonging to Percy Kelly, of Horning's Mills, a nephew of Mr. Richard Kelly, Zina St.

WHAT MAC THE FARMER SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 15.—There is no teacher like experience. It raises one's point of view and widens one's range of vision, and the knowledge it imparts is usually practical and therefore useful. The benefit of such a teacher the new farmer member has now had in the House of Commons during the past three and a half months. He has tried to heed the lessons, and some portion at least of the benefit he has derived from them he desires to share with his readers.

One thing that he has learned with deep regret and reluctance is that in matters involving party interests—and most of the matters coming before Parliament are of that class—the House of Commons is to a very limited extent a deliberative assembly. It was intended to be such, and at times in its history the intention was carried out, but owing to the extent to which the party system has been carried all that has largely disappeared. In a real deliberative assembly a question would be taken up on its merits, and the conclusion arrived at would be the one that the deliberation logically and honestly led up to.

How often is that the case in the House of Commons? So rarely that when it occures it is looked upon by the House as something little short of wonderful. If the Government bring in a measure no one is in doubt what will be the attitude of a majority of the members—their supporters as they are called—who are sure to support it through thick and thin, just as the Opposition are certain to attack it tooth and nail. What the end will be is well known when the debate begins, for the arguments advanced by each side have no more effect upon the other side than has water poured on a duck's back. There is much talking, most of which is little better than wrangling, but of fair-minded, serious deliberation in the common acceptance of the term there is practically none.

Of course it will soon become evident to a closer observer of this party warfare that among the members of each contending force there is concerted action, and where there is such action it is evident there is a prearranged plan understood and acquiesced in by all the members of the party. And here appears a phase of parliamentary life that so far as the public are concerned is kept in the background as much as possible; here comes into operation an organization that the constitution does not provide for, which has no formal, legal existence, yet which during the past decade or so has arrogated to itself many of the functions of Parliament and almost superseded Parliament as a deliberative assembly. That organization is the party caucus. The caucus discusses and decides lines of policy, and Parliament often merely registers its discussion.

A party caucus consists of all the members of the House in good standing in that party. No independents are wanted there; no men whose party allegiance is open to the least suspicion. It is held in the room in the House set apart as the party's head-quarters, and every effort is put forth to make the caucus as secret as the meeting of a Masonic lodge. The doors are doubly guarded so as to make sure that there are no keyhole listeners. None but the "faithful" are admitted and secrecy is enjoined, yet little bits of information often trickle out of these meetings and reach the ears of the newspaper correspondents.

Before the Government introduce an important measure of policy they usually lay it before a caucus of their supporters. A private member takes the chair and the Ministers explain what they propose doing. Objections raised are explained away, if possible. Sometimes measures have to be modified, but at any rate the end desired is arrived at for the members agree to vote the measure through the House; and so having made sure of their force the Government are prepared to go into the House and meet their opponents.

After the measure has been introduced into the House the Opposition usually hold a caucus. Here they decide upon their line of action. They agree to fight the measure on such and such grounds, to move certain amendments, and attempt to block the passage of the bill for a time, for that is about all they can expect to accomplish, knowing that in the end the will of the majority must prevail. As for winning support by their arguments, as for converting any of their opponents, they know that is absolutely out of the question. And so from the caucus each garty goes into the House with the minds of its members fully made up as to what they are going to do with the measure in question. One side is going to support it to a man, the other side is going to resist it with as great unanimity. The speeches are made, the arguments are presented, but when the vote is taken the members stand just where they had decided to stand in the caucuses held days, perhaps weeks before.

It, therefore, comes to this, that the principal service the debates render is to inform the country of what can be said for and against a certain measure, and as Parliament no longer sits in impartial judgment upon the Government, it is well that the people should be kept informed, for it is the people who finally try them at the polls. Mistakes made by the people at a general election are seldom nowadays rectified by Parliament which is all the more reason for the electors being well informed and for the elections being held in such a manner as to give the country an opportunity of honestly expressing its opinion.

Parliament building during a prolonged recess, like that over the Easter holidays, has an air of lonliness about it similar to that which hangs over a school house during vacation. The life seems gone out of it, the bustle and excitement so much in evidence when the House is sitting, have disappeared, and the few who saunter through the empty corridors or loiter in the almost deserted rooms seem spiritless and dejected. All the members are away home except those living in the far West and in parts of the Maritime Provinces, whose homes are too distant to make the journey practicable. They come up to the House for their mail, they look over the newspapers in the reading room, and they try to catch up with their correspondence, but even with it all time seems to hang heavily on their hands. Out in the entrance vestibule hangs a large placard bearing the words: "The House is adjourned", and the chamber which only a day before was the scene of forensic warfare, is now quiet enough. A messenger or two and a few pages are in charge. They have nothing to do but lounge in the members' easy chairs, and sometimes they amuse themselves by playing at Parliament. The holidays at an end back the members come and take up again their parliamentary duties. There will be no more holidays until prorogation, and the hope is that all will go home not later than the last week of May.

Probably the next important matter to be taken up will be the budget. Mr Fielding is late, with it this session, but it may be that the debate will be cut short. An attempt was made to draw from him the other night a statement respecting possible tariff changes, but very properly he refused to be drawn. Changes in the tariff are never made public until announced to the House in the budget speech. They go into force at once and that very night, as soon as the speech is made, they are sent by wire to every collector of customs in the country.

When the matter came up a few nights ago, speeches were delivered, each urging higher protection on certain lines of goods. The claims of the woollen manufacturers were urged, the claims of the pork-raisers and the bacon curers and so forth, all of which Mr. Fielding promised would be considered by the Government, but not one hint would he give respecting what was going to be done.

What struck the new farmer member in all this was the absence of any one to represent the interests of the consumer, and further, what a small figure free trade principles, or even revenue tariff principles, cut in the House to-day. The Conservatives, of course, are protectionists on principle, and by practice. Eighteen years of wandering in the wilderness of Opposition and twelve years of the sweets of power and office, seem to have brought the Liberals around to the same point of view, about the only difference being that while they do not profess the protectionist faith they practice it all the same.—Family Herald & Weekly Star.

Is Your Back the Weakest Point?

Does it play out first when you have steady work to do.

Under these circumstances you can be pretty sure that the kidneys are weak and disordered and that the back pains are really kidney pains.

Other symptoms are deposits in the urine after standing, pain and smarting when passing water, frequent desire to urinate, also headache, dryness and harshness of the skin and pains in the limbs and body.

Mr. Geo. Tryon, Westport, Leeds Co., Ont., writes:—"For two years I was completely laid up with lame back and could neither walk or ride. I tried many medicines and the doctor's treatment did not help me.

"A friend told me about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and this medicine completely cured me. I have never had a lame back or kidney trouble since and my cure has been the means of selling many boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills." Why He Couldn't Stay.

There is an amusing story about Matthew Arnold in his character as school inspector told in a book by a brother inspector. Arnold's district consisted of Westminster and Edmonton, "a ridiculous grouping."

His official address was "The Athaeneum," and he lived, I believe, at Esher. By the treasury rules, if his work at Edmonton required his attendance for two or more consecutive days, he was bound after the first day to spend the night there or to refrain from charging his train and cab fares home again. Being a poet, of course he returned home and charged his fare every day. "The knight of the blue pencil," as he called his enemy, sharpened his blue pencil and wrote, "Mr. M. Arnold, H. M. I.—Why not stay at Edmonton?" And the great man plaintively replied, "How can you expect me to stay at Edmonton when John Gilpin couldn't?" The account was passed.

GROWING BOYS AND GROWING GIRLS

Need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Give Them Health and Strength.

Growing boys as well as girls need such a tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to keep the blood rich, red, and pure and give them health and strength. Mrs. Edward Koch, postmistress at Prince's Lodge, N.S. tells the great benefit her little son has derived from the use of this world famous medicine. Mrs. Koch says:—"My little son, Reginald, had been troubled with anaemia almost since birth. He was always a sickly looking child, with no energy and little or no appetite. His veins showed very plainly through his skin and he had several serious attacks of stomach and bowel trouble, and on one occasion his life was despaired of by two doctors who were attending him. His little body was slowly wasting away until he was nothing more than a skeleton. He was peevish and fretful and a misery to himself. Having read and heard so much of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I determined to try them in his case, and after giving them to him for a couple of months they certainly worked wonders with him. To-day he is fat and healthy looking; he has a hearty appetite, is able to play like other children, and is bright and energetic, instead of dull and listless as he used to be. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have changed my puny, sickly child, into a rugged, hearty boy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured his sickly boy because they went down to the root of the trouble in his blood. That is why they never fail. Bad blood is the cause of all common diseases like anaemia, (bloodlessness) eczema, paleness, headaches, indigestion, kidney trouble, neuralgia, rheumatism and the special ailments that only growing girls and womenfolk know. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills don't bother with mere symptoms, they cure diseases through the blood. They don't cure for a day—they cure to stay cured. Do not take any pills without the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THEY FELL TWO MILES.

Thrilling Adventure of Two Lady Balloonists.

The terrible fall of two women parachutists from a height of more than two miles was recently described by one of them.

The women—Miss Daisy Shepard and Miss Louie May—who made an ascent from Longton (Staffordshire), came down at Field Farm, four miles from Uttoxeter, and Miss Shepard was seriously injured. Miss May escaped practically unhurt, and was able to go home at once. Miss Shepard is confined to bed at Field Farm suffering from an injury to her spine, but she is in high spirits and confident of a speedy recovery.

"I love ballooning," she said, "and I am as much at home in the air as I am anywhere. You see I was all right. It was my companion, Miss May, who was in trouble.

"Her parachute refused to work, and we were not able to descend when we intended to at a height of a few hundred feet. We went up and up until we had reached a height of 11,000 feet. We passed through two clouds, and that made matters worse, as the clouds made the material of the parachute wet.

"I hardly know what happened. I remember Miss May jumping on my knees. She must have leaped five feet through the air. It was a very risky thing to do, but she did it splendidly, and then we began to descend.

"My parachute was built to carry only one passenger, and the extra weight made it descend with terrible rapidity. Miss May was on my knees all the way, and she was not injured much.

"We were using a new apparatus for freeing the parachute, which worked all right in the tests, but failed in actual practice."

The injury to Miss Shepard's spine is said to be serious, but not incurable.

FANCY SUITS FOR MEN NOW.

Elaboration in Men's Attire the Rage This Season Says Clothier and Haberdasher.

The attire of the well-dressed man has undergone a revolution during the past year. Plainness in men's apparel is a thing of the past. Elaboration has come, and now we are to have fancy features in suits for men. No suit will be worn this spring that has not some distinguishing mark of the season's styling. The innovations are made for the sake of smartness, but the necessary touch of dignity will not be lacking.

Color harmony will be the chief new feature in male dress. The vogue for solid colors has resulted in a tendency towards color matching in various parts of the attire. Hose scarf and handkerchief worn in the breast pocket will be uniform in color for summer wear, and in many cases the uniformity will extend to the hat, shirt and belt.

The apparel modes of 1909 are distinctly novel. To be correctly informed as to what these style innovations mean is an absolute necessity for every man who takes any pride whatever in his personal appearance. Informal day dress worn for any informal day or evening purpose, such as business, travelling or for country use, does not toe the mark of strict formality. The strict dictates of usage are not adhered to during the months between April and September. Nevertheless, such apparel as this has its essential features, the general points of which we will summarize:

The suit.—Single or double-breasted coat with self or fancy waistcoat. Trousers of same material as coat. The approved coat style follows the two or three-button model with long neatly graduated lapels and deep centre vent. The skirt has a slight "flare" from the waist over the hips. It is in the sleeves and pockets that suits will show the novelty features. The cuffs will be worn in an endless variety of designs, in which buttons, seams and straps will form the features. Pockets will be cut both curved and diagonally, and designs similar to those used in the cuffs will be applied to them. Vests will show a flap depending from the outer edge of the pocket, and will be collarless.

The Shirt.—White or fancy shirts, plain or pleated, stiff or soft bosom will be the correct thing for informal wear. Cuffs will be attached on all informal garments. The coat style will be much worn. Stripes predominate in shirt patterns.

The Collar.—For informal wear the fold collar with the close front enjoys the most popularity. The wing collar with rounded tabs will also be accepted.

The Scarf.—The straight four-in-hand in the narrower widths has almost an exclusive call. The shades harmonize with the suit and range from taupe, the new smoke-shade, to grey, green and brown. Solid colors without pattern will be the choice of dignified dressers, while the patterns will consist of stripes only.

The Shoes.—Either tan or black, laced or cut low. Dark red tan will also be a popular color.

The Hat.—Soft shapes in green, grey and brown predominate. The hard shapes will have flat rims and be worn in more subdued colors.

The Underwear.—Coat style shirts and knee length drawers of nainsook, pongee, silk or silk mixtures.—Clothier & Haberdasher.

A Curious Looking Egg.

A shark's egg is one of the most odd looking things imaginable and has no more resemblance to an egg, strictly speaking, than it has to a paving stone. In one variety it is pillow shaped and has a long "horn" or "feeler" at each corner. It is about two inches long and the color almost pure black. It is unprovided with shell, as we understand that word, but the contents are protected by a thick, leathery covering which has almost as much elasticity about it as a covering of rubber would have. The "feelers" mentioned catch hold of and wind themselves around pieces of seaweed and other floating objects and hang until the egg is hatched. One variety of the shark lays eighteen eggs during the month of April. These float about until early in December, when the little sharks emerge.

The effectiveness of housecleaning can be materially increased by the use of paints and varnishes. Your work will show results, the house will not only be cleaner but look cleaner.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS BRIGHTEN UP FINISHES

A Birthday Fund has been started by many parents to provide a start in life for their children when reaching twenty-one

AN excellent means of providing a son or daughter with a good star on life's journey when they come of age, is to open a Birthday Savings Bank account in the child's name. Each birthday, deposit a sum to their credit, equal to their years—at five years, $5.00, and at ten years, $10 00.

These sums, with interest, will amount in twenty-one years to quite a substantial sum—especially if the child is encouraged to deposit its pocket money in the same fund.

At twenty-one, turn the control of the account over to the son or daughter. It will either provide a start in life, or form an incentive for further steady accumulation, that will make for SUCCESS and a COMPETENCE for old age.

The Growing Bank Account is a valuable object lesson, and the child will generally make every effort to add to the sum as it watches it grow. Children thus start life with a good foundation laid for SUCCESS and PROSPERITY.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON specially invites these Birthday Fund Savings Accounts, and provides every facility and convenience for their opening and operation, under the control of either, or both, parents

"I also induced a young lady, who was all rundown and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring.

"I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."

MR. T. BARNECOTT.

EVERY year, during the inclement weather of winter, there is an epidemic of la grippe. The disease is really catarrhal in nature, but from the form it assumes, has been commonly termed the "grip."

Splendid Remedy for La Grippe.

Mr. Frank H. Fielder, 213 Pleasant Ave., Montgomery, Ala., formerly principal of Haynesville High School, writes:

"I can truthfully say that Peruna is a splendid remedy for la grippe and a good tonic for building up the system."

La grippe is very tenacious when it once gets a firm hold upon the system, and in addition to a thorough, systemic catarrh remedy, a great deal of patience and persistence in the treatment are required to eradicate the disease.

Peruna, an internal catarrh remedy, is one of the best medicines ever devised to meet the exigencies of these cases. The large number of commendatory letters received by Dr. Hartman, the inventor of Peruna, in behalf of his remedy is proof sufficient of its value as a reliable medicine for the "grip."

Mr. Frank Bauer, Minneiska, Minn., writes: "I suffered with la grippe. My lungs felt as if knives were sticking in them. I took Peruna and in four days I was able to go out."

EATING TOO MUCH.

There appears to be a good deal of unity amongst the physicians regarding people eating too much, and not taking sufficient exercise. They say we eat more food than we require, and the working overtime of our stomach machinery causes a breakdown and consequent trouble. One of these authorities in Dr. Daniel Sager, an English physician, who has recently published an interesting volume on the art of living in good health, and devotes a chapter to the question of meals. Dr. Sager claims that during the zenith of Roman and Grecian civilization it was an established rule that no man should eat until he had leisure to digest—in other words, at the end of the day's work. The one-meal rule was, according to this authority, the practice among the nations living along the shores of the Mediterranean, for several hundred years. Just when or how we broke this habit is not explained, but that is has not helped improve the physical condition of humanity as a whole cannot be denied.

It is not claimed that the one-meal a day plan would do for those engaged in heavy manual labor, but for the brain workers, or those employed in sedentary occupations, it is regarded as the ideal system. In any event we can eat but twice a day and eat naturally—which means giving the digestive apparatus a chance to rest. The belief that we must eat three meals each day to maintain health is unquestionably one of the principal causes that leads to serious illness.

Dr. Sager points out that the two-meal-a-day plan may be carried out satisfactorily in two ways. There should be at least seven hours from the beginning of one meal to the beginning of the next, and in many instances the time may be extended to eight or even nine hours. At least four hours should elapse between eating the last meal and going to bed. One plan calls for a breakfast and no luncheon, while the other prescribes the omitting of breakfast and the adoption of a fairly hearty mid-day meal.

An Explanation and Retraction.

On February 4th last an article was published in The Banner with reference to the protest against Reeve Riddell and the proceedings to unseat that gentleman. On Wednesday afternoon last, or nearly three months subsequently, an interesting and awesome document, the recipt of which nearly precipitated an attack of heart failure, was delivered to the editor, whilst quietly wending his way along Broadway all unthinking of any impending ill. The service was effected by Mr. T. S. Hewson, the defeated candidate for the reeveship, who greeted us with a geniality and an appearance of cordiality, which was as unusual as it was unexpected. We at a loss to account for this sudden assumption of friendliness, unless it was that the privilege of being allowed to be the bearer of good tidings had filled the bosom of the amateur process-server with a newfound joy, that had bubbled over and illumined his countenance with an irresistible, irrepressible effulgence, that seemed almost to overspread and relieve the sombre hue of the hirsute adornment, with which prodigal nature has endowed this modern son of mighty Vulcan. When ye editor had recovered from his surprise and momentary trepidation, he summoned up courage to peruse the document, the purport of which was as follows :—

To A. D. McKitrick, Proprietor and Publisher of the Orangeville Banner.

I hereby give you notice of my intention to bring an action in the High Court of Justice for Ontario against you by reason of the publication in the newspaper above-mentioned of the following references to myself, the same having been designed by you, as reflecting upon me in my professional capacity, as a Barrister-at-Law and a Solicitor of the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario : "Mr. Mackenzie, it may be remarked, is known by the sobriquet of "Certiorari Jim," owing to his practice of appealing from the decisions of the lower courts, local option bylaws having been frequently subjected to his keen scrutiny. At present he has a libel suit against a certain newspaper for calling him a "Barrator" which is, according to Blackstone, one who frequently excites suits of law, a common mover and maintainer of suits and controversies, an encourager of litigation."

J. B. MACKENZIE.
704 Continental Life Building,
Toronto.

Dated the 27th day of April, A. D., 1909.

It will be noticed that Mr. Mackenzie claims the article reflects upon him in his professional capacity as a barrister and solicitor. Surely not! Mr. Mackenzie, we are informed on excellent authority, is known by the sobriquet of "Certiorari Jim," by his professional brethren in the city, and certainly no offense was intended. There are several legal gentlemen in Toronto, with the same patronymic as the aggrieved barrister and had we, in our rural innocence and simplicity of mind, alluded to him as "a Mr. Mackenzie", we are afraid, in the words of a former vice-chancellor and famous wit, that our readers might exclaim, "That's no clue to the gentleman's identity." We can only regard it as unfortunate that in our endeavor to indicate with precision, and without any thought of disrespect, the particular personage referred to, we should have unwittingly incurred the gentleman's displeasure.

Will our readers bear with us while we recall one of Aesop's fables : "A Lion, fatigued by the heat of a summer's day, fell asleep in his den. A Mouse ran over his mane and ears and woke him from his slumbers. He arose and shook himself in great wrath, and searched every corner in his den to find the Mouse. A Fox, seeing him, said, "A fine Lion you are to be frightened by a Mouse." "'Tis not the Mouse I fear," said the Lion. "I resent his familiarity and ill-breeding."

"Little liberties are great offences." Perhaps this is our trouble. However, we apologize for our "familiarity and ill-breeding," hereby retract the apparently offensive appellation and express our contrition for its use in our columns.

The latter part of the above notice of action is not quite so clear to our obtuse mind and wherein we have offended is not at all obvious. It is not fair to garble, or select, out of an article what may serve one's own purpose. This is a simple proposition, which cannot be disputed. If Mr. Mackenzie had perused our article further he would have read these lines immediately after the words, "An encourager of litigation," — "This is of course not the fact, for Mr. Mackenzie has a perfect right to accept retainers from any person." Is this not Mr. Mackenzie's position, or does he wish a judicial decision that we are wrong in our emphatic statement? One must state an assertion before it can be intelligently denied ; one's premises must be set out before conclusions are reached. All this is surely plain enough without being subjected to Draconian laws, or having the sword of Damocles suspended over our devoted head. We have not said that Mr. Mackenzie is a "barrator" and do not propose to do so unless his actions should warrant the statement. We have on the contrary denied the allegation of a brother editor, not as well informed as to the facts, perchance, as ourselves. What more could we do? We pause for a reply.

The above is written in the hope that this prompt explanation and apology for the offence and mental disquiet we have unwittingly caused Mr. Mackenzie will effectually dispel the dark clouds that are lowering over the sanctum and threatening to rudely disturb the quiet of our usually peaceful and uneventful avocation, remove all misapprehensions, misconceptions and erroneous conjectures, so that after a little time the great world may move on as heretofore and that in our own circumscribed sphere of duty, writs of certiorari to the contrary, notwithstanding, we may be permitted to continue in peace our prosaic and unremitting task of endeavoring to edit the best weekly journal in northwestern Ontario at one dollar a year, payable—occasionally in advance. Meantime we await the outcome of our desire to give our readers all the news that is worth recording with that equanimity and confidence that is inspired by a regard for honesty and truthfulness, a progressive policy and a desire to see British fair play.

The School Book Contract.

The Banner made the statement last week that the Whitney Government was to be congratulated on making the contract for the publication of the new public school readers at such a low price. We do not see any reason to revise this opinion, but there is one feature of the contract, which, in our opinion, must be regarded as particularly unfortunate. We refer to the provision that the discount allowed on the retail price is available to anyone who wishes to buy direct from the publishers. This means that any boy or girl in the province can go to the T. Eaton Company and buy a reader just as cheap as the retail book seller. The T. Eaton Company can be depended on to advertise this fact for all it is worth as a means of further developing their already immense departmental store business. Outside the city of Toronto this business is done at the expense of the retail dealers in the villages and small towns of the province. Is it to the interest of the people that a huge city monopoly should be built up at the expense of the retailers in the smaller cities, towns and villages? It is surely indefensible that a Government should lend itself to the purposes of such a monopoly and yet this is what the Whitney Government seems to have done by allowing the insertion of this objectionable provision in an otherwise excellent contract. This is what Printer and Publisher, the official publication of the Canadian Press Association, has to say on the subject :—

"One of the most serious blows ever levelled at the retail trade of the Province of Ontario has been dealt by the Whitney Government. In awarding the contract for the new Ontario readers to the T. Eaton Company, of Toronto, they have done irreparable injury to local merchants all over the province. It is hard to realize that the Government could have made such a blunder. The hearty support of the business interests of the cities, towns and villages of the province must surely mean more to them than the favor of a Toronto departmental store. We are credibly informed that permanent officials of the Government did not realize what damage they were doing when they recommended the acceptance of the Eaton tender. It is no secret that the books will be sold at a loss when disposed at the contract price. The Eaton Company tendered away down just to get the business. It means something to them to have their name on the books. It means more to have the business in other school books and supplies, which will accompany the readers. Cornering this contract was about the cleverest thing the Eaton Company ever did."

Every ambitious growing town, according to one of our exchanges, comprises three elements in its population. Those who work patriotically, vigorously and intelligently for its advancement; those who are in a state of apathy or indifference, and those who take a curious delight in discouraging the efforts of others by ridicule and by a persistent denial that any progress can or has been accomplished, and by boasts of every other town besides their own. The last class, our cotem continues, are called croakers, but they are really something worse, for their opposition does not arise, simply from despondency, but from that unenviable spirit that will neither act itself nor suffer others to act.

UNSEASONABLE WEATHER.

The people of Ontario have been experiencing anything but seasonable weather for the last three weeks. It has been unusually chilly for this time of the year and either raining or snowing about every other day. Last Thursday there was quite a heavy snowfall accompanied by a raw, disagreeable east wind. The storm seems to have been general all over Western Ontario. In the neighborhood of London and St. Thomas the snow fell to a depth of about six inches. Three or four inches fell in this locality, but the high wind caused it to drift badly and snowdrifts three or four feet deep were reported from some places. Monday morning there was another heavy fall of the beautiful, but sunshine and a change to higher temperature caused it to melt away very rapidly. Tuesday was a fine spring day, but yesterday turned cool and dull and at time of writing there is every indication of more wet weather. Hicks' Almanac attributes the climatic vagaries to the Mars influence, which was at its strongest during March and April, but is now subsiding and should soon cease to affect weather conditions to any appreciable extent. May, we are told by the same authority, is likely to be more pleasant than for the last two or three years. This is encouraging, until one recalls the frosts and snow in May 1907 and the abnormally wet weather during the same month last year.

$1260 AND COSTS.

W. R. Kent Wins Suit Against Accident Insurance Company.

Judgment for Plaintiff for Full Amount of Claim

Mr Justice Clute has given judgment for the plaintiff for $1260 and costs in the action of Kent vs. The Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Limited. The case was tried at the Orangeville Spring Assizes held here a few weeks ago. The plaintiff, Mr. W. R. Kent, who was at the time an inspector of agencies for the Federal Life Insurance Company, was one of the passengers on the excursion train that was wrecked on the "Horse Shoe" Curve in September, 1907. He was injured in the accident, but was able to return to Orangeville the same evening and did not at the time think he had sustained injuries to any serious extent. He subsequently found out that he had been injured more seriously than he had at first thought and eventually put in a claim to the defendant company for eight weeks disability insurance under a policy that he was carrying at the time of the accident. The company sent plaintiff a cheque for $475 in settlement of the claim. On the back of this cheque there was a printed receipt which Mr. Kent signed and which stated that he acquitted and discharged the Company from all and any further claim under said policy, "which I have or might hereafter have, as the result of said injuries." Plaintiff contended that he did not read this over and did not notice at the time that it was a release of all his claim. After signing the receipt, instead of improving as he expected, Mr. Kent gradually became worse and for a period of twenty-one weeks and some days was totally disabled. He therefore preferred a further claim on account of having been totally disabled and, being unable to secure any recognition of his claim from the Company, he instituted the action already referred to. His Lordship held that the defendants were not entitled to set up the receipt as a bar to the action. The plaintiff had suffered and was still suffering serious ill-effects from his injuries. These he did not anticipate and consequently did not take into consideration at the time of the settlement. On this account His Lordship held that he was clearly entitled to recover.

The decision has been received with general satisfaction in Orangeville, where Mr. Kent has been for many years a prominent and respected citizen. It is also regarded as a notable victory for Mr. C. R. McKeown, K.C., to whose skill in conducting the case much of the credit for the favorable decision is due. What makes Mr. McKeown's win more noteworthy is the fact that the Company was represented by Mr. Geo. T. Blackstock, K.C. one of the most brilliant members of the Toronto bar, and a recognized authority on insurance law. In his argument Mr. McKeown maintained that under clause A 4 of his policy Mr. Kent was entitled to $50 a week for a period of 52 weeks in the event of total disability during the whole of this time. Under clause A 5 he was entitled to $12,50 a week for 26 weeks from the date of the accident in the event of partial disability. Plaintiff appeared to have been settled with by the Company for 8 weeks total disability, and 2 weeks partial disability, by the payment of $425, leaving 14 weeks time during which he was partially disabled, for which no settlement had been made. This period, Mr. McKeown held, was covered by clause A 5, under which his client was entitled to a further sum of $175. From April 14th, 1908 to September 3rd, 1908, a period of 21 weeks and 5 days, Mr. Kent was totally disabled and was entitled to $50 a week for this period, making the sum of $1085, This made a total claim of $1260, which is exactly the amount of the judgment Mr. McKeown succeeded in securing.

$500.00 FOR A NAME.

The publishers of the Canadian Courier want a name for a new agricultural paper they are about to bring out. They want a particularly good one, too, and are willing to spend a lot of money to get the cleverest and most suitable name anyone can think up.

So they are holding a contest, with $500 in cash hung up as prizes. As the publication is to appeal especially to Farmers, Stock Raisers, Fruit Growers and Horticulturists, the contest is limited to those actually engaged in these occupations.

The new publication is to be a large illustrated weekly, subscription $1.00. It is intended to be as national in character as is the Canadian Courier, and to circulate throughout the Dominion. Mr. J. H. S. Johnstone, who for ten years was associate editor of America's best stock journal, the Chicago "Breeders' Gazette," will be the editor. This seems to be a pretty good guarantee that the new weekly will be full of original and attractive features, and that the information it gives on agricultural matters will be authoritative.

The prizes offered for the best name are certainly attractive, and should bring in some clever suggestions. Particulars of the contest are given on another page.

GENEROUS TREATMENT

Farquhar Baxter, a Caledon farmer whose new bank barn was wrecked during the windstorm a few weeks ago, should feel well satisfied with the treatment he has received from the Ontario Farmers' Weather Insurance Mutual Company. Baxter had insured the building in this Company on March 22nd last. The Head Office had not received the application at the time the storm occurred, but nevertheless the Company paid the claim of $1000. in full. The Directors of this Company passed on 187 claims at their last meeting a week ago Saturday. They were nearly all for losses during the big windstorm.

TOWN FATHERS MEET.

Council Decides To Place Two Additional Lights on Streets.

Committee Will Attempt to Secure Better Railway Connection at Inglewood Junction

The following accounts were passed by the Town Council at Monday night's meeting :—

J. R. Gillespie, $4.80; Hamilton Stamp & Stencil Works, $3; Dominion Express Co., 55c.; J. H. Huston, $6.45; Angus Ferguson, $2.85; John Gough, $9.90; Thos. Hall, $2.03; Wm. Bracken, $2.70; James Grahame, $7; John Hammond, $38.10; Cataract Electric Co., $182.10; Adamson & Sproul, $2.50.

An account from Mr. Jos. Foster, for $126.50 for services as assessor was referred to the Finance Committee for report.

Messrs. C. R. McKeown, A. L. C. Kirkwood and W. E. Rogers appeared before the Council as a deputation from the Orangeville Lawn Bowling Club. Mr. McKeown, who was chief spokesman, said that members of the Club had contributed nearly $50 toward the $500 paid the mill-owners for the West Ward race privilege. The understanding was that the corporation would close the stream on the west side of the bowling green. The club desired the Council to either complete the tiling or fill in the stream. As an alternative proposition Mr. McKeown stated that if the corporation would transfer the strip of ground between John St. and the green to the bowling club, the latter would undertake to either tile or close the stream and also to level and beautify the property.

On motion of Reeve Riddell the matter was referred to a special committee consisting of the reeve, deputy-reeve, and Couns. Campbell, Dewar, Hepton and Tero.

A number of unimportant communications were read and referred to the proper committees. The Union of Canadian Municipalities preferred its annual request for a membership fee of $10. Orangeville has never identified itself with the Union and consequently Council did not take any action.

Two petitions were presented asking for additional street lights. W. J. Gordon, Geo. Wilcox and several other citizens asked for a light at the corner of 1st St. and 4th Avenue and J. N. Fish and other residents on West Broadway preferred a request for a lamp at the corner of Broadway and Louisa Sts.

After some discussion Reeve Riddell moved, seconded by Coun. Dewar, that a 50 candle power incandescent lamp be placed at each of the places designated. The motion was adopted without dissent. The lamps will be erected under the supervision of the Street Lighting Committee.

Councillor Dewar presented the Treasurer's statement for April.

Chairman Campbell, of the Town Property Committee reported verbally respecting the planting of shade trees on 2nd St. and along the avenue leading to the Exhibition grounds. Mr. Campbell said that the Agricultural Society would only agree to bear half the cost on the portion of the street between 4th Avenue and the Exhibition grounds. He did not think the Corporation should undertake the expenditure but suggested the advisability of considering some general plan for encouraging tree planting along the streets. He thought this might be done by paying a small bonus for each tree planted.

Councillor Tero thought the town had no money to spend for tree planting while the streets were in their present deplorable condition.

Coun. Dewar said that in many municipalities the corporation bought the trees, had them conveyed to some central point in loads and gave them free of cost to citizens who would plant them along the streets opposite their properties. The plan worked well elsewhere and might be adopted with advantage in Orangeville.

Shortly before the Council adjourned, the Mayor brought up the matter of the unsatisfactory connections between the C. P. R. and G. T. R. at Inglewood Junction and invited the Council to consider the advisability of bringing the question to the attention of the Railway Commission. Councillor Dewar was very doubtful whether the Commission would do anything. The Clerk pointed out that a formal application and an appearance before the Commission would probably be necessary. Eventually the matter was referred to a Special Committee consisting of Councillors Campbell, Dewar and the Mayor.

PRICES FOR NIAGARA POWER.

A meeting of representatives from Milton, Acton, Brampton and George town was held in Georgetown recently to consider the cost of procuring electric power from Niagara Falls. Quotations were read from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, the prices being for 24 hour power, based on a double circuit 110,000 volt line from Trafalgar to Georgetown, with an interswitching station at Trafalgar and a step-down station at Georgetown, from which point the power would be distributed to the four municipalities at 13,200 volts. The cost would be as follows :—

Georgetown for 800 h. p....	$27.17
Brampton for 600 h. p....	28.93
Milton for 500 h. p.	28.56
Acton for 600 h. p.	30.46

These amounts include all costs of transmission and transformation distribution at 13.200 volts and power at Niagara Falls at $9.40 which will be reduced to $9.00 as soon as the quantity used by the Commission exceeds 25,000 horse power. It is estimated that $5.00 per h. p. per annum added to the above rates would pay all expenses of installing.

—Miss Buschlen, of Toronto, a violinist of repute, will take the part of Marie Hall at the Temple of Fame.

A DAIRY FARM COMPETITION.

A committee composed of leading farmers and dairymen representing the dairy cattle breeders' associations and the dairymen's associations of Ontario, have completed arrangements for the holding this year, of a dairy farms competition through Ontario. The prizes will consist of 60 gold and silver medals, and diplomas, as well as a large number of special prizes, the details of which have not yet been arranged.

The Province will be divided into four districts as follows :—from Kingston east; from Kingston to Yonge St., Toronto; western Ontario north and south of a line running from Hamilton to Goderich. There will be a competition this year, for the best farms in each district and 5 gold and 10 silver medals will be offered this year in each district.

The farms will be judged twice; once about July 1 and again some time during December, thus giving the judges an opportunity to see the farms under winter and summer conditions.

Next year, the farms in eastern Ontario and all farms in western Ontario which win prizes in the competition this year, will be allowed to compete in special competitions to decide the best farm in eastern Ontario and the best farm in Western Ontario. Two years from now, it is proposed to hold a final competition, in which the leading farms for both eastern and western Ontario will compete to decide the best farm in the Province. Exceptionally fine prizes will be offered in this final competition.

All branches of farm work will be included in the competition. In all 1000 points will be offered. These points have been subdivided as follows :—House and surroundings, 150; farm buildings, 150; live stock, 200; crops, 200; farm management, 150; farm machinery, 75; permanent improvements, 75. Several prizes will be offered to the farms that score the highest points on the house and surroundings; on poultry; on orchards and other similar departments.

Competitions of this kind were held in Ontario some 25 years ago, and created great interest. The gold medal farmer in the Province at that time was Mr. Simpson Rennie, the well known Farmers' Institute speaker, who now lives in Toronto.

The committee which has charge of the competition is composed of Messrs. H. Glendinning, of Manilla; G. A. Gillespie, of Peterboro, representing the Eastern Ont. Dairymen's Association; Mr. D. A. Dempsey, of Stratford, and C. R. Wallace, of Burgessville, representing the Western Ont. Dairymen's Association; Mr. W. W. Ballantyne, of Stratford, D. Duncan, of Don; George McKenzie, of Thornhill,; R. F. Hicks, of Newtonbrook; Gordon Gooderham, of York Mills; Simpson Rennie and W. G. Ellis, of Toronto and H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro, the Secretary.

Full particulars about the competition may be obtained from the Secretary. Already a number of leading farmers in Ontario have indicated their intention to take part in the competition which promises to create a great interest and be productive of much good.

Miss Edna McDonald, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald, of Corbetton, died on April 22nd after a long illness.

The Uses of Bile in Digestion

Bile is quite as important as are the gastric juices in the process of digestion.

Without bile human life is short; for, Bile hastens the passage of the food along the alimentary canal.

Bile prevents the fermentation of food in the intestines, which in turn causes gas, wind, flatulency.

Bile, in short, is Nature's cathartic and maintains a regular and healthful process of digestion and of elimination of waste matter by way of the bowels.

But to have a regular flow of bile the liver must be kept healthy and active and just here is where Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills come in, for they are definite, specific and direct in their action on the liver.

It is only by setting the liver right that constipation can ever be cured. It is only by making the liver healthy that Biliousness and bilious, sick headaches can be thoroughly overcome. It is only by making the liver active that the most difficult cases of indigestion and dyspepsia will ever vanish.

BRITISH TAXPAYERS AND THEIR WOES.

Speaking of the hardship often inflicted by the British system of death duties a Toronto gentleman mentionthe case of three brothers who were killed, one after another, in the War. The eldest was the first to fall. His estate, after paying the income demanded by law, passed to his younger brother. He, too, met his death shortly after,and the property he had inherited passed to the youngest, after having paid toll again. Then the third of the brothers was killed in action, and once more the estate was fined, before becoming the property of his heirs. The three taxes, following each other at such short intervals, almost entirely consumed the estate, and what was once a valuable property became a very trifling legacy.

There is an estate in Hertfordshire, mentioned by a writer in Chambers' Journal, which has passed through the hands of four heirs within fifteen years, three of them being elderly brothers. Their nephew, who now owns the place,is obliged to live in a small portion of the once noble residence. The rest of the house is closed and going to ruin. The numerous hands who once earned their living on the place have been turned away, because of the owner's inability to employ them, and it is expected that it will be many years before the estate recovers from the enormously heavy death duties. As a rule, landed estates are not great money makers. While their aggregate rent roll may be large, they require an army of men to keep them up, and usually demand the investment of large sums on capital account. The late Duke of Devonshire, one of the wealthiest of peers, complained that he could not afford to paint and glaze one of his residences that needed renovation, because the estate to which he had lately succeeded was still staggering from the death duties and the inheritance tax.

LITTLE—WHITEOAK.

Mr. William John Little, of Toronto, son of Mr. George Little, of Elba, and Miss Lillian Whiteoak, daughter of Mr. James Whiteoak, of Markdale, were married in Parkdale Presbyterian Church last week. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. A. L. Geggie. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Whiteoak, and the groom was supported by Mr. Walton Avison. The happy couple took the train immediately afterwards for Shelburne and Markdale. They will visit friends in these places and also in Mono before returning to their home in Toronto.

BLOUNT.

The Blount branch of the Women's Institute will hold its regular monthly meeting in Mitchell's Methodist Church on May 13th at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Burry will give an address on "Mrs. Wiggs in the Cabbage Patch." All members are requested to be present as there will be the election of officers for the coming year.

DUFFERIN TRUSTEES ASSOCIATION.

The Executive of the Dufferin Trustees Association met in Shelburne last Saturday and drew up a programme for the first annual convention of the Association. Representatives were present from every municipality in the County and much interest was evinced in the proposed Convention, which will be held in Shelburne on Thursday, June 17th. Dr. J. J. Tilley, Inspector of Model Schools, Mr. A. H. U. Colquhom,Deputy Minister of Education, and Mr. J. H. Laughton, of Parkhill, one of the Trustees' representatives on the Advisory Board, have consented to attend and deliver addresses. Papers will also be read by Messrs. Robert Mann, of Orangeville, Oliver Sproul, of Mono, G. R. Rutherford, of Shelburne, and other members of Dufferin trustee boards. It is interesting to note that the Dufferin County Trustees Association is the only Trustee Association in the Province, in which the urban and rural trustee boards of the county are both represented. In many Counties there is an urban trustees association and also a rural trustees association with not infrequently considerable friction existing between the two bodies. The present tendency is happily in the direction of unity and it is expected that in the near future other Counties will follow the example of Dufferin in this matter.

The Gravel Road Sunday School was reopened on Sunday last after being closed all winter.

The farmers have commenced work on Mr. S. Sawden's new barn, which he is building on the site of the old Fenian Hotel north of the village.

Mr. Lawrence Waters has let his farm on shares to Samuel Bates for this season.

Several in this part have done some ploughing and Brian McManaman has eight acres sown.

ROSEMONT.

Owing to the backward weather seeding operations are at a standstill. Some of our farmers will not be able to commence this week.

Mr. G. P. McNabb has erected a new windmill to replace the one that was blown down during the recent windstorm.

Miss Aggie McDowell spent last week visiting friends at Lisle.

Mrs. Archy Moffitt has gone on a visit to her brother at Phelpston.

Mr. Ed. Kelson, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, took the service in St. Luke's Church on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Ed. Little and Mrs. Joseph Murphy are in Toronto this week as delegates to the W. A.

Mrs. (Dr.) Albert Murphy has returned to her home in Phelpston after visiting with friends in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Puterbaugh spent a few days last week in Toronto.

Mr. John Solomon has built a new Frost fence in front of the Noble farm. R. J. Peacock had the contract.

ALTON.

Our village is rather quiet at the present time. The backward, stormy weather seems to have had a depressing effect upon our villagers as well as the farming community. The tillers of the soil are anxiously awaiting an opportunity to commence seeding operations. The seeding is now bound to be late this year even under the most favorable conditions.

Mr. J. B. Smith, the genial but hustling proprietor of the Alton Creamery, has decided to adopt individual cream cans for the use of customers. Mr. Henry McClellan has been given the contract of making 500 of these cans and expects to have them ready for delivery to Mr. Smith before the Creamery opens for the season.

Mr. Wm. Algie, proprietor of the Beaver Woollen mills, which were destroyed by fire last autumn, is busily engaged preparing to rebuild. The material is nearly all on the ground and good headway is being made with the foundation work. The new mills will be larger than the old and better equipped in every respect.

Mr. Ross Mackenzie, one of our general merchants, has instituted a series of monthly sales which are proving extremely successful. During May Mr. Mackenzie is clearing out his entire clothing stock and is quoting some very attractive prices on Men's and Boys' Suits and Raincoats. The firm pays the highest prices for butter, eggs and other small farm produce. The people of Alton and neighborhood will find it to their interest to visit Mr. Mackenzie's store while the May sale is on.

CAMILLA.

We do not wish to boast. Boasting is an uncouth habit closely allied to fooldom. But when we say, basing our judgments principally from the expressions of many eminent men of sterling qualities and of unanimasathetical characters, and who have travelled extensively, that this is one of the best burgs, it is the best, (others might be jealous should we state it so bluntly plain) and the "loveliest village of the plain" that the heavens smile upon, we are in no wise jesting. We never do, oh, no!

Mr. John Turmer attended the funeral of his friend Mr. Galbraith in Milton last week.

Mr. William Lemon has the sympathy of the community in the loss he sustained through the death of his mother in Toronto last week. The funeral took place in Alton on Friday.

Mrs. James Kyles is spending a few weeks with Orangeville friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lundy and family who have resided at Primrose for the past year, have returned and taken up their residence on the Centre Road.

Mr. Alex. Scott, of Toronto, is home for a few weeks.

Weekly prayer meetings will commence this week and will be held each Wednesday evening during the summer. Owing to bad condition of roads and weather there was no Young People's meeting Sunday evening.

We are told never to criticise our wife's cooking until one is at least a block away. One of the "hubbies" that had been accustomed to doing this and having been reprimanded severely several times has solved the difficulty by testing all victuals with a broom straw himself before attempting to satisfy the cravings of the inner man. In advising others to avoid trouble from this source he says:

"With a broom straw pierce the cake
When you think 'tis done enough.
But if the straw gets sticky rough,
Hasten to the oven and longer bake.
If it comes out clean and neat
Then the cake is fit to eat."

Undoubtedly then he understands the straw test for both cake and pipe. GHow about getting some of the members of the Ladies' Institute to experiment on this and bring in a true bill.

We believe that after hours our village storekeeper will run a barber shop. He announces himself as a "tonsorial artist, physiognomical hair-dresser, facial operator, cranium manipulator, and capillary abridger." Hair cut and shave with ambidextrous facility. He surely deserves the patronage of the unshorn.

PRIMROSE.

The annual Easter Vestry meeting of St. James' Church was held in the church on Monday evening, April 26th. The rector, Rev. Mr. Adamson, occupied the chair. The financial statement showed all liabilities paid and a considerable balance on hand. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

Wardens, Messrs. W. J. Henry and Samuel Hicks; Sidesmen, Messrs. B. Summerfield, Gordon Lindsay, A. Little and H. Lindsay; Vestry Clerk, Wycliffe Brett; organist, Miss Emily Little; Sabbath School superintendent, Mr. George Little; organist for Sabbath School, Miss May J. Wilson; Teachers; Mrs. Armstrong, Miss Peck, Miss Wilson, Miss Little; Secretary-treasurer, Miss Dean.

CHARLESTON.

The building occupied by J. H. Matchett as a general store and post office was destroyed by fire on Monday morning. The fire, which originated in the centre of the building, was discovered about one o'clock and by strenuous exertions the citizens who had assembled at the alarm of fire, succeeded in keeping the fiery element confined to that part of the building for about an hour and a half. Eventually, however, the flames get beyond their control and the whole structure was burned to the ground. The building belonged to Mr. D. MacFarlane and was only partially insured. The stock was fully insured. The destroyed building was one of the old land-marks of the village. It was at one time owned by the late John Harris, formerly township treasurer, who kept a general store for a number of years and was followed in turn by W. J. Dodds, J. J. Dodds, W. J. Falconer and D. MacFarlane. Mr. McFarlane, during his occupancy of the store, built up a fine trade. He sold out to Mr. Matchett last winter. Mr. MacFarlane had enlarged the building and improved it to an important degree. While assisting to fight the fire, Rev. S. R. Robinson and Mr. D. MacFarlane were injured by falling bricks. The cause of the unfortunate conflagration is unknown as yet.

Mr. J. H. Matchett visited friends in the Muskoka district last week.

Owing to the fire on Monday the Caledon post office has been moved to Mr. J. F. Sweeney's store.

Mr. Jacob Ewald is ill with la grippe. We hope he may recover.

Miss Kate Smeaton, who has been teaching in the lower room in the Charleston school, has gone to Toronto to take a position in a private school. She has been succeeded by Mr. Foster of Cheltenham.

MONO MILLS.

Our local football team are in the field again this year for the championship honors in the Peel County district, and the following schedule of matches has been drawn up:—

May 15—Mono Mills-Caledon, at Caledon. Jack McGregor, referee.

May 15—Inglewood-Caledon East, at Caledon East. Rev. S. R. Robinson, referee.

June 5—Winner of sudden death game-Derry West, at Derry West. Rev. S. R. Robinson, referee.

Dery West games to be called at 2 p. m.; all other games at 5 p. m. Forfeiture of games when either team do not appear within 30 minutes after game is called. The majority of goals is to decide winners in every case. It will be noticed that our boys have only one home game and they have secured the use of "Idylwyld Park," Orangeville, so that they can accommodate their many friends and patrons who will no doubt encourage them by their presence.

Arrangements have been made for an exchange of service between our local Telephone Association and the Bolton Company. The connection is to be made at Caledon East. The benefit of this can readily be seen.

MANY INVENTIONS HELP THE HOUSEKEEPER.

"Spring" and "Housecleaning" mean much the same to the Housewife, and it is difficult for her to think of one without the other looming large. It is an annual or semi-annual visitation that involves inconvenience and discomforts that make it a period to be anticipated with fear and trembling by the male portion of the household at least, notwithstanding that but a small portion of the work actually falls to their share. Housecleaning time is also welcomed by the funny paper joke-makers who, through years and years of practice, have become adepts in dressing the two or three existing housecleaning jokes up in new raiment to make quite a presentable appearance.

These remarks are intended to bear directly—if briefly—on the changed and improved method of housekeeping in some directions in the average household of to-day. Housecleaning has changed in two ways since the time of our father's father; it has become easier to accomplish, and more productive of results. The house wife has many inventions and appliances that simplify the work which once was done by elbow grease and that alone. Progress and ingenuity have solved some disagreeable questions for her in the last decade or two. Unquestionably, the most distasteful part of housecleaning is the taking up of carpets with their multitudinous tacks, beating and relaying them. Nevertheless, sanitation requires that it be done. Nowadays, the tendency is for painted or varnished floors covered with rugs and mats and their use is continually growing. It is a simple matter to take up rugs from the floor and clean them. Not only are "finished" floors more sanitary but decidedly better-looking for even the most ordinary wood floor can be transformed at a small expense into one having the appearance of costly hardwood by the application of one or two coats of varnish stain which are now made in imitation Cherry, Oak, Mahogany, Walnut and so on, and are so durable that they will successfully withstand a great deal of wear and tear occasioned by the constant walking and the movement of furniture over them.

Wall papering is being largely supplanted by wall paints and finishes in beautiful colors and shades that will stand scrubbing with soap and water and come out of the operation bright and fresh as the day they were put on. This avoids "messy" papering operations. Woodwork such as wainscotting and cupboards, given one coat of paint, specially prepared for the surface, which will dry over night, enables the housewife to keep the kitchen and pantries fairly shining with cleanliness. "Last year's" fly screens after receiving a coat of enamel are as good as new again. Furniture, too, both in the kitchen and in the other rooms of the house need not remain shabby long! The process of cleaning it with polish, or refinishing it with paint or varnish is so simple, and the furniture so improved in appearance thereby, that most housewives include a course of refinishing furniture in their Spring housecleaning operations. This applies not only to drawing and dining rooms chairs, but to the rough kitchen and laundry chairs and to those wicker and cane ones that spend a good deal of their time on the verandah or lawn and not only to the tables, bookcases and lounges of more or less expensive woods, but to the home-made things of rough lumber, and so on throughout the entire house. Whereas painting about the house was once a considerable undertaking now it is a matter of very little expense and a small inconvenience. As one thrifty dame was heard to remark "The use of paints and varnishes at housekeeping time has become almost a mania with me; actually I look forward to housecleaning just because it gives me an excuse to fuss with paint."

These remarks, of course, do not begin to outline the improvements and changes that have come about in the housekeeping. They are simply intended as straws to show which way the wind is blowing. For instance, there is electric light and gas where there once were lamps to clean. There are the improvements in plumbing and heating arrangements, the telephone and the gas stove, and so on, until a book almost could be written on improvements along these lines.

She who has charge of the "home" has a high mission, and inventions that go to make her work less laborious and productive of greater results, are as momentous as discoveries in any other branch of modern life. It can no longer truthfully be said that invention in things that pertain to domestic life is lagging behind in the march of progress.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. J. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Class.

May 9th, 1909.

Paul's First Missionary Journey — Antioch in Pisidia. Acts xiii:16-52.

Golden Text—The word of the Lord was published throughout all the region. Acts xiii : 49.

Verse 13—At what points had Paul and Barnabas touched, according to the last lesson ?

What important events were narrated in the last lesson ?

Verse 14.—Should a Christian always attend church on Sunday, if he has the opportunity, whether at home or abroad ?

If a man does not act like a Christian when away from home, is he a real Christian when at home, no matter what his outward acts may be?

Verse 15.—Are not our present day churches too stiff and formal, compared with the services in this synagogue ?

Should not our services be sufficiently elastic to call upon others beside the pastor, to take part in them?

Verse 16—Were there many devout Jews and others, in those days, who who had not embraced Christianity?

Should preachers and teachers in addressing non-Christian audiences, assume that there may be some of the number who really "fear God," notwithstanding that they may never have heard of Jesus ?

Verses 17-37—In addressing a hostile audience it is well for a speaker to commence with things which they believe in common, making them lead up to the main question; what matters did Paul refer to, in carrying out this wise rule ?

What points in this address of Paul's would you say were the most striking ?

Verses 38-39—In what sense can God forgive sins through Jesus, that he could not through the law of Moses ?

Granted a future life of rewards and punishments, what question can compare in importance with the forgiveness of sins ?

Are men sane who neglect to have their sins forgiven, seeing they admit the grave dangers of delay ?

Verses 40-41—What do unconverted sinners need to "beware" of ?

Why do sinners not accept of the salvation offered to them by Jesus ?

Verses 42-43—What is it a sign of, when men want to hear the gospel preached ?

Is there always an affinity between spiritual people, notwithstanding differences of opinion ?

Does it do us al, good to be urged to be true to God ?

Verses 44, 45—Does the story of the cross still draw crowds as it did at Antioch ?

When one preacher is jealous at the good another preacher is doing, what is that a sign of ?

Verses 46-49—Is God more partial to one nationality than he is to another ?

Does God ordain all those to eternal life who will accept of Jesus ?

Are gladness and joy always in the hearts of those who love and serve God ?

Verses 50-52—When the bad persecute the good, which gets the real trouble ?

MADE THE BLOOD RICH AND RED.

Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Hanceville, B.C., writes: "My system was so completely run down that my friends as well as myself thought I could never get better. All medicines failed to help me. A trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food benefitted me and at the end of a month people scarcely knew me I had improved so much. The blood was enriched, color improved, new flesh was added and I got strong and well."

BEECHER AND THE WAITER

Henry Ward Beecher was told by several friends of a restaurant which had waiters who could not be beat in calling a customer's order back to the cooks in short, picturesque language.

Mr. Beecher determined to give the waiters a poser which they could not call back in a few words.

Going there with friends who were anxious to see the fun, Mr. Beecher called a waiter.

"Waiter," he said, "bring me two new-laid eggs, poached on two pieces of buttered rye bread, served with parsley."

The waiter turned away with a careless gesture, and without looking up roared out, "Adam and Eve on black ra,t, there; green grass!"

Beecher never tried to befuddle the waiters there again.

TALE OF A DOG.

Great Dane Had Many Masters.

Judge Morson Asked to Decide Between Claims of Rival Owners.

A big, blue-grey, Great Dane dog was led into Judge Morson's court this morning. Togo was the name ascribed to him by one alleged owner, and Don by another. The Great Dane did not seem to care what he was called, and made friends promiscuously with everyone in sight.

Mr. William Fountain, tailor, of Adelaide street west, entered action for replevin against Dr. Ogden Winter, a dentist at the corner of Portland and Queen streets.

Whoever he belongs to, the dog has passed through an unusually large number of hands since he left home.

Mr. Fountain was put in the box first. He stated that he had bought the dog on June 10th, 1908, from Mr. D. L. Scott, of Listowel, and that it had been taken out of his possession by Dr. Winter about three weeks ago.

J. Whitehead, an employe of Mr. Fountain, stated that as he was going along Queen street, near Spadina avenue, on the 4th of this month, he missed the dog, which he was taking for a stroll. Turning around he saw a man holding him. He went back and the man, who was Dr. Winter, refused to let the dog go, claiming that it was his property. Mr. Fountain bought him from D. L. Scott, of Listowel, Ontario.

Mr. H. E. Scott, a brother of Mr. D. L. Scott, stated the circumstances under which the dog had been sent to Listowel. His brother, D.L. Scott, had seen an advertisement in The Toronto Daily Star, of date April 1st, 1907, offering for sale a Great Dane, and asking applicants to communicate with Mrs. Russell, 110 Albany avenue, Toronto. The witness went to the address, looked at the dog, and commissioned Mr. A. Hayes to buy it for him. This was done, and the Great Dane was shipped to Listowel. The witness would not swear positively that the dog in court was the one he bought.

His Honor then wanted to know where Mrs. Russell got the big canine. Mr. C. J. Gibson, architect, of Toronto, sold it to Mr. Russell.

"Where did you get him," replied Mr. Gibson.

"From Mr. Street," replied Mr. Gibson.

"We'll soon get back to Adam," commented the judge, as Mr. Street took the box. "I hope we'll find his birthplace soon. Where did you get the dog?"

"From Mr. Taylor."

His Honor grew resigned.

Mr. Taylor said he was a manufacturing chemist, owning a factory in Weston and a dog farm near Hamilton.

"I think this dog is one of a litter of three pups born on my farm on August 15th, 1906," he said.

"Why?"

"He has four white feet and a white breast. These three pups were the only ones I ever had of blue-grey color, so I took special notice of them."

"How many have you sold in the last few years?" the lawyer asked.

"About twenty, perhaps."

"I thought you were a chemist. One would think you were a dog fancier."

"We all have our hobbies," replied Mr. Taylor.

"Has this dog in court all the markings you refer to?" asked the judge.

"Will you swear that he is the dog you had originally?"

"Not positively."

"Who got one of the others?"

"Mr. W. H. Chandler."

Mr. Chandler's dog was brought in. He was almost identical with the first, except for the markings. Also he rejoiced in the old Saxon name of Odin.

"Will you swear to this dog?"

"Not positively," replied Mr. Taylor, "but he is very similar to one of the other pups, which were brothers of the dog under dispute."

"Like the others, you swear to the best of your knowledge, of your recollections of the dog in question," said His Honor, "and taking into consideration how difficult it is to distinguish one Great Dane from another."

Dr. Culp, a veterinary surgeon, stated that he thought the dog was about 2 years and 9 months old.

"Do you know the difference between a Great Dane and a boarhound?" asked His Honor.

"No."

"That's what I wanted to know about your knowledge of dogs."

Dr. Winter's witnesses were called.

Miss Johnston, assistant to Dr. Winter, testified first. She said that she saw the dog first in the fall of 1904, and that he disappeared in September, 1905. In April she saw him in Dr. Winter's office, and immediately recognized him.

"Call him?" suggested the judge. "He was around the office all the time where you were working."

The young lady looked embarassed. "Call him," repeated the judge, "and don't look at him."

"Don! Come here, Don!" called Miss Johnson.

The impolite Great Dane paid no attention.

"Don. Come, Don," repeated the fair witness.

"Try him with Togo," advised the judge.

Togo resisted all blandishments, just as Don had done.

Dr. Winters swore positively to the dog, stating that he recognized him by the markings, and the fact that he had peculiar dark spots inside his mouth. Dr. Winters stated that he had been watching constantly for his lost pet, ever since his disappearance, and had examined about twenty Great Danes in the endeavor to locate him.

"Where did you get the dog?" asked His Honor, beginning again.

"From Miles Vokes."

Mr. Vokes went into the box and swore that he had received Don as a present from a traveller of the Dominion Brewing Company.

"Is that the same dog?" asked his Honor.

"I would not swear to him," replied Mr. Vokes.

Neither would Frank Vokes, his son, although, he thought that there was a strong resemblance.

A. Dean, a fireman, swore to a resemblance also.

Dr. Campbell, veterinary surgeon, stated that the dog was between three and five years of age.

Mr. Bird, "as a caterer and a dog fancier," was called to give expert evidence.

"I won't testify till I get my witness fees," he said.

"You have them," objected counsel.

"I only got 75 cents, I should have $1."

Thereupon Mr. A. F. Lobb produced a quarter, which Bird pocketed before committing himself.

At the end of it all the judge was mystified by the conflicting opinions of experts.

"I reserve judgment," he said.

—Daily Star, Friday, April 30th.

Judgment has since been given in favor of Mr. Fountain.

CROUP stopped in 20 minutes sure with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test will surely prove. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Druggists.

THE DR. COULDN'T FIND HER.

The Toronto Star's staff correspondent at Ottawa told this one the other day: "Politicians are just schoolboys grown up. The other evening a bunch of Conservatives made night hideous at their headquarters by what purported to be singing, and a staid Western member of years and discretion did the Mounted Police drill on the table. And now 'tis the Liberal members who have transgressed, and their victim was Dr. Barr, of Dufferin. Dr. Barr has been getting elected to Legislatures and things ever since 1875, during which period he has steadily acquired a gravity of demeanor and a disdain for all that is gay and flighty and kittenish. For all these years the dye of Toryism has been sinking into him deeper and deeper, until now he is tatooed right through with it. He always manages to get elected with a margin of something over a thousand votes, Dufferin being a riding of hopelessly Conservative principles, which the doctor has diligently fostered and fanned for over a quarter of a century. Some of the frivolous young Liberals from the West got tired of the budget debate; perhaps they were afraid that Dr. Barr would take part in it. So they wrote a lady's name on a card and sent it to Dufferin's representative by page. Time was when the Hon. Richard Harcourt bade defiance to Allan Studholme in the Ontario Legislature by having a huge unabridged dictionary laid on his desk during one of the Hamiltonian's impassioned addresses. The learned volume did not fizz on Allan, but the lady's card acted on Dr. Barr as magically as one of his own far famed prescriptions. Who so swift as he to the assistance of beauty in distress? Wherefore for the next quarter of an hour the M. P. from Dufferin was seen roaming the corridors in despair, sent from one doorkeeper to another in quest of the fair one he found not, and amazing his colleagues by asking if a lady had been looking for him."

Jerry Cousby, assistant United States District Attorney at Fairbanks, Alaska, died a few weeks ago. Mr. Cousby was born in Owen Sound in 1871 and was at one time one of the proprietors of the Owen Sound Sun.

Zam-Buk Saved His Hand!

WHEN TORN BY TROLLEY ROPE.

WORKING men and women throughout the Dominion find that Zam-Buk is the greatest boon they can have as a healer of accidental cuts, burns, and bruises, as well as skin diseases. Mr. H. G. Purchase, conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, tells how this great herbal balm benefited him when he met with his accident.

The trolley pole of his car slipped off the live wire, and the rope was caught in the standard. Purchase held on to the rope until his hand was pulled up to the top of the car. There it was held, and the rope, pulled through his fingers by the force of the moving car, tore and lacerated to a shocking extent three fingers, tearing several pieces of flesh completely away. Zam-Buk was applied, and eased the pain very quickly. Writing to this effect, Mr. Purchase says:—

"I had previously had experience of the healing power of Zam-Buk, and the way it soothes cuts and injuries. I, therefore, bound the fingers in Zam-Buk, and it was most gratifying the way in which this balm soothed the pain. Two days after the accident the wounds were closed, and new skin was beginning to form over the top. Each day I dressed the wounds with Zam-Buk, and I am now back again at work with the hand as sound as ever. To look at it you would never know it had been so terribly torn and lacerated.

"I do not think there is anything to equal Zam-Buk as a healer of skin injuries and diseases."

WHAT YOU SHOULD USE ZAM-BUK FOR.

Zam-Buk cures pimples, skin-eruptions, burns, cuts, piles, festering ulcers and sores, blood-poisoning, salt rheum, pruritic itch, ringworm, bad leg, diseased ankles, old wounds, eczema, and all skin-diseases. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

DANGERS OF NEGLECTING A SORE.

NEVER neglect a cut or sore, however trivial it may appear. Mrs. H. E. Bedwell, of 337, Provencher Avenue, St. Boniface, Winnipeg, had a small sore on the second finger of her left hand. She thought it would get right healed, but it didn't. Instead, blood poisoning set in. She says: "I tried poultices and all sorts of salves. These, however, did not produce the desired effect, and, as the pain began to fester, I had to call in a doctor, who lanced it. The doctor's treatment, however, it again festered, and the pain became intensive, and other preparations he ordered seemed absolutely unable to reach the root of the trouble. We were told of a case in which Zam-Buk had effected a cure when other had failed, and we, in desperation, tried Zam-Buk at once. It only took a few days to show the wisdom of this step, and inflammation were soon much less acute. In a few days, beginning with the healing, it healed again."

WOMEN WHO FUSS

Can there be anything more wearisome for a guest than to be entertained by a restless, fussy hostess, or for the latter to have to entertain the same sort of a guest. And yet how often has this to be done, for there are numbers of women who seem to have an idea that it is a sign of good manners to show friendliness and hospitality by continual bustle and movement. Sometimes this want of restfulness is caused by shyness and nervousness, occasionally from that ignorance of what to do and say in society that arises from inexperience. Sometimes, alas! it is the nature of the woman to fidget and fuss, to press all sorts of attentions upon her visitors, to beg them to do this thing or that, generally the very things that they would prefer not to do, and insist upon leaving undone those very things that they would like to do; and all this is done in what she imagines to be the true spirit of hospitality. They mean so well, these active, restless, kindly-intentioned women, but oh, how dreadfully fatiguing they are to live with, or to have much to do with. The worst of it is that it is their nature to fuss—they never realize what a trial they are to their friends and relatives, and, being quite satisfied with themselves, it is hopeless to expect them to alter their habits. When, however, the habit is the result of either shyness, nervousness, or inexperience, it can, and really ought to be fought against and overcome. A fussy woman can never really be called a well-mannered one; she has no repose, no dignity, none of that well-bred calmness which is so admirable in a woman, none of that gracious and friendly couttesy that so speedily and completely sets strangers at ease. Good-natured, and desirous to please and give pleasure, anxious to do her duty as a wife, mother and mistress, she is yet rarely successful, for a fussy woman is seldom an observant one, being always too busy to notice whether those around her are pleased or annoyed, until at last they speak out plainly.

MAKES ASTONISHING CURES.

Mi-o-na Tablets Cure Dyspepsia by Promptly Removing the Cause or Money Back.

There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and stomach disorders, trivial or serious and that is to tone up or put energy into the stomach walls so that they will be able to properly mix or churn the food.

Mi-o-na tablets quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction and in a short time it is able to do its work properly.

Harry Dodd, of Bridge Street, Hastings, Ont, says: "For seven years I had suffered and spent much money doctoring, but all to no avail. I could eat but very little, as the food would ferment and sour, making gas, which caused serious heart oppression. I was in constant misery, sour gas would belch from my stomach, I was languid and weak and had no ambition. I did not feel like going anywhere or seeing anyone. There was a constant dull pain in the pit of the stomach. I was unable to sleep, was nervous, restless and would awake more tired than on going to bed. I tried Mi-o-na and soon found relief, and in less than six weeks Mi-o-na had completely cured me.

T. Stevenson, the druggist, sells Mi-o-na tablets at 50 cents a large box, under a rigid guarantee to do all that is claimed for them or money back.

HARRY LAUDER'S FIRST GAME OF GOLF.

Murdoch and I had given a very successful concert in Montrose, and the next morning we discovered a couple of golf balls lying in a corner of our room.

"What dae ye say tae a game, Mac?" suggested I.

"Mac" replied that "he wasna' a very good player." I was more honest, and admitted that I could not play at all.

However, the landlady came in and, hearing of our project, she remarked: "Hoots, lads, a'body plays gowff nooadays. I'll gie ye some o' oor Jamie's clubs, an' ye can step doon tae the links in two-three meenits."

So off we set, each no doubt mentally wondering what sort of show the other would make. When we arrived at the links we strolled up to the first tee we saw and laid down our implements. Murdock wanted me to play the first shot, but I said "No, Mac; ye're a better player than me, an' you'll get the honor." Judging by the expression in my companion's face, I could see that he did not value the "honor" very highly. However, he agreed to begin.

"Now, Harry," says he, "watch where this ba' lichts. Stand back!"

I jumped aside lively, and it was well that I did so, for "Mac" forthwith began to swing his club in the most desperate fashion. He cleft the air with a vicious swipe, and I kept staring ahead to see in what direction the ball had flown.

"I never saw it, Mac!" I exclaimed, turning round in his direction.

"No," he replied, with a forced smile. "I—well, I sort o' missed ma swing that time. Here's the ball ower on my right."

And, sure enough, the puir wee ba' was lying half-a-dozen yards from the tee, with a big black gash in its bonny white side.

"That's a shot!" said I, promptly, as I noticed that "Mac" was about to lift the ball for another attack from the tee, and I carefully piled up three handfuls of sand for my own first attempt. It seemed to me that the more sand you used the better chance you had of hitting the ball! That attempt was far more disastrous than my opponent's, for I broke my club, filled "Mac's" eyes with sand, and moved the ball fully six inches.

"That's a shot, hang you!" yelled "Mac," with his knuckles in his eyes, and laughing in spite of the pain.

"Aye," said I, after finding that he was not maimed for life, and winkingly slyly at my opponent, "I—well, I sort o' missed ma swing that time!"

"You took jolly good care not to miss me, anyhow!" growled "Mac"; and then we proceeded with the game which was neither close nor exciting, but which would have afforded excruciating mirth to the most ignorant caddie in the world.

We took fully a hundred strokes each for the nine holes, but "duffers" as we were we could not help thinking that some of the holes were very close to each other. When we went home in the afternoon and told the landlady where we had started, she began to laugh. We had been playing on the ladies' course.—The Strand.

A NEW SANDWICH

Serve this sandwich at your card club luncheon. Take equal parts of beef tongue and boiled mushrooms chopped. Put together with French mustard and serve in buttered bread.

Among the many differences between the alligator and crocodile there is one. The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile often goes to sea, and in the West Indies has sometimes been found many miles from land, but heading directly for an island possibly out of sight. How the creature knows to steer his course is a mystery, but he evidently knows where he is going, and it is believed he always gets there.

The bluejay is the most persistent practical joker in the feathered kingdom. He will conceal himself in a clump of leaves near the spot where small birds are accustomed to gather, and when they are enjoying themselves in their own fashion will suddenly frighten them almost to death by screaming out like a hawk. Of course they scatter in every direction and when they do so the mischievous rascal gives vent to a cackle that sounds very much like a laugh.

For perhaps 100 years the sandy islands, rich in salt grass, skirting the Atlantic coast, have been used as breeding grounds for a hardy race of cattle. They are small creatures, but as it costs nothing to feed them, and they live without care from their owners, they are profitable. The islands that fringe the Maryland coast have long been used in this fashion and also for the raising of wild hogs, long-legged creatures of the razor-back variety, common among the pine forests of the eastern shore.

LOOK OUT FOR PNEUMONIA.

Your system is in a run down condition. You catch cold. You think it will soon pass off. It doesn't. You neglect taking any special care of yourself. Bronchitis developes and then comes pneumonia and a fight for life. A fight which is too often unsuccessful. Why not take every cold seriously and cure it promptly by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Mount Forest hospital has been formally opened. The institution, which will be known as Strathcona hospital has accommodation for 16 patients.

The popular fan of the moment is of empire style, with spangled top and gilded or carved sandalwood stick.

Shantung of a chiffon weight is here for the summer frocks; and so are novelty bengalines in self-colored stripes.

Bronze-green metal, set with jewels in deep topaz, is one example of arts and crafts work carried out in the belt buckle.

Lacings are to be seen on numbers of the new models. They are finished at the end with silk bows, tassels or drops.

Jet, as the modish touch, threatens to supersede in every kind of apparel the glint of gold that has had a full year's sway.

Cloth of gold rosettes and buckles, shading to almost any color, are among the new things shown for the hat trimmer.

Net girdles of wide, soft mesh are embroidered in ribbousine and fringed with it. They come in all the fashionable colors.

Buttons made of novelty wash braids, sewed round and round, are among the most stunning of the trimmings for summer dresses.

The very latest hatpin is of gold, and, like the seal of a masculine watch fob, engraved with the monogram or crest of the owner.

"Why I Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The Particulars of a Remarkable Cure Told by a Presbyterian Clergyman—The Sufferer Brought Back From Death's Door.

St. Andrew's Manse,
Cardigan, P.E.I., Jan. 1908

Though I have never been sick myself, and have not had occasion to use Dr. William's Pink Pills, I thought you ought to know of the remarkable cure they have wrought in Mr. Olding's case.

During a visit to my home in Merigomish, N.S., some years ago, I was grieved to find our next door neighbor and friend, Michael Olding, very low. "He is not expected to live," my mother informed me, "And you must go over and see him as he is liable to pass away at any moment.' "Not expected to live," that was the opinion not only of the doctor who attended him, but of his wife and family as well. Upon visiting him myself I found abundant evidence to confirm their opinion.

Mr. Olding had for years been afflicted with asthma and bronchitis, but now a complication of diseases was ravishing his system. He had been confined to his bed for months and was reduced to a skeleton. Though evidently glad to see me, he conversed with the greatest difficulty, and seemed to realize that it was the beginning of the end. He was daily growing weaker; his feet were swollen to twice their natural size, and the cold hand of death was upon his brow. "It's no use," he said feebly, "the doctors medicine is not helping me and I am going down rapidly." I prayed with him as for a man soon to pass into eternity, and when I took his hand in parting it was the last time I expected to see him in the flesh.

Three years later while on another visit to my mother's Michael Olding was seemingly in better health than I had ever seen him, for, as I said, he had always been ailing. In sheer desperation he had asked his wife to get him Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They soon began to help him. His appetite and strength began to improve, and to the astonishment of his family and friends he rapidly regained his health. Now, though the burden of well nigh four score years is upon him, he is able to do a fair day's work, and is in the enjoyment of good health, even the asthma has ceased to trouble him as in former years.

Mr. Olding himself, as well as his neighbors and the writer of this letter, confidently believe that his rescue from the very jaws of death—seemingly so miraculous—is due under the blessing of God to the timely and continuous use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

REV. EDWIN SMITH, B.A.

Mr. Olding himself writes:—"I am glad Rev. Mr. Smith has written you about my wonderful cure, for I confidently believe that if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would have been dead long ago. It would be impossible to exaggerate the desperate condition I was in when I began to use the Pills. No one thought I could get better. I scarcely dared hope myself that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills would bring me through, but they did and I have ever since enjoyed good health. Though I am seventy-nine years old people are always remarking on how young I look—and I feel young. I can do a fair day's work, and I am better in every way than I had been for years. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I take every opportunity I can to recommend them to friends who are ailing."

Quite a novel and decidedly attractive idea is to weigh the overdress with an irridescent bugle fringe, which imparts a wierd waterfall effect.

Many of the handsomest gowns are still high in the waist at the back, though the front has come down, in some cases, to its normal place.

Silk cashmere continues to be modish for the best afternoon gowns, and, like all other materials of the moment, it is elastic soft and supple.

Among the materials, one finds diagonal homespun back in its old place, but brought out in colors richer than this rough fabric ever appeared before.

Big, round Eton collars will probably hold their own all through the spring. They may be made of plain linen or decorated with squares of lace set in.

Various new garters for men are being shown which are intended to be attached to both sides of the sock, helping to do away with the wrinkles over the ankle.

Coarse Tosca net in all the new shades, as well as gold and silver with burnished lights, has an exquisite charm and forms an ideal background for delicate embroideries.

Gold, both in lace and cords, is much used as a trimming for new ruffs for spring. A narrow strip of gold is effective, used as a band on a white or black be-frilled ruff.

New gold nets come in great variety of weaves, from the gold gauze that is used for lining for white or colored lace to a mesh so large that it forms diamonds half an inch across.

YOU CAN CURE CATARRH.

J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond St., Toronto, Breathed Hyomei and Cured a Long Standing Case of Chronic Catarrh That Defied All Other Remedies, Also Toronto and New York Specialists.

Without taking a drop of medicine into the stomach, J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond Street, Toronto, tells how the distressing troubles of Catarrh were overcome by simply inhaling Hyomei air. It's the history of tens of thousands of similar cases on record, proving that Hyomei can be depended upon to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Croup. It has no equal for any distress of the breathing organs.

Mr. Taylor says: "Some years ago while on a hunting trip in Northern Canada, I contracted a severe cold that settled in my head and finally affected my throat. It rapidly developed into catarrh and caused a miserable throat weakness. My head would become clogged during the night and there was a catarrhal dropping from the nose into the throat. Many days I had been unable to breathe other than through my mouth and the constant hawking and spitting was almost unbearable. I had been treated by the best throat specialists here and in New York, but nothing benefitted my condition. I obtained Hyomei and soon found relief, the throat dropping ceased and my head began to clear. I continued with Hyomei for six weeks and after that time I was well in every detail. There has been no return of the trouble since, and I feel grateful in speaking well of Hyomei, as it cured me when all else failed." A complete Hyomei Outfit costs $1.00 and T. Stevenson will refund your money if it fails to cure."

Rev. F. W. Gilmour, Penetang, has declined the call extended to him by Beeton and Tottenham Presbyterian Churches.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

A GIRL HOUSEBREAKER

Nine-Year-Old Dolly Hardy Broke Into Thomas Flaxen's House Near St. Thomas and Did a Lot of Damage—Influence of Cheap Theatre

St. Thomas, April 30.—Dolly Hardy, a girl barely nine years old, residing in Yarmouth township, just outside the city limits, has been committed to Victoria Industrial School. She broke into and robbed the house of Thos. Flaxen, a neighbor, securing money and rings, in addition to breaking nearly all the dishes and furniture, and tearing the place up to such an extent that the damage will run over a hundred dollars. According to her brother, Dolly learned bad ideas from pictures in five-cent theatres, which she visited with money stolen from her mother.

THE ABSINTHE DANGER.

Dr. Barr Urges Effort to Prevent its Importation.

Ottawa, May 1st, 1909.—Dr. Barr, of Dufferin drew the attention of the Government to an important condition in connection with the extension of Franco-Canadian trade this week when the subsidizing of a line of steamers to Fance was being considered. Dr. Barr pointed out the grave hanger of the importation of absinthe as follows:

Dr Barr —"When the treaty was passed the Minister of Finance promised to make an effort to prevent the importation of absinthe. I would like to know if any progress has been made along that line or if there is any hope of the change being made. I noticed a short time ago that Germany had taken steps to prohibit the importation of absinthe. Also with regard to the importation of wines there is great danger that we may ruin our own wine business because we can raise all the grapes we require.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur promised to draw the attention of the Finance Minister to the matter. Dr. Barr went on to say, "I hope the minister will do so in very strong terms for I do think the danger from the importation of absinthe is greater than any advantage we receive from this bill."

WONDERFUL ADVANCES.

One of the most welcome among the many exchanges which come to our desk is THE NEWS, of Toronto. THE NEWS has recently made wonderful advances, so much so that old friends of the paper would hardly recognize in this great Canadian newspaper the old News of a few years ago. THE NEWS now contains from fourteen to twenty pages each day, with twenty-four to thirty-two on Saturday. A specialty is made of political and Parliamentary news and questions affecting the welfare of the public receive fair editorial treatment by clever writers. We are safe in saying that there is no paper more widely quoted in Canada and its cartoons are reproduced by many of the leading journals. Through an arrangement made with THE NEWS, we are able to offer THE BANNER and THE NEWS in a club for one year at the remarkably cheap price of $2.50.

PIETY AS A COMMERCIAL COMMODITY.

A recent issue of the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Star, contained the following advertisement:

PIOUS PARTY WANTS BOARD IN family where his good example will be considered a sufficient recompense. All communications confidential, conveniences. Methodist family preferred. Address J. B., care of Star office.

If J. B. gets his board in exchange for the irridescence of his godliness, the Star may advertise, with a better right and clearer conscience than many other papers, that its "want ads bring results." But what happened to J. B. in his last boarding place? Was the household reprobate, and was he shedding the light of his piety upon it in vain? Was his landlady beginning to find fault with the brand of holiness the "pious party" was dishing up in exchange for his grub, and had asked him to cough up some real money? Or had she found out that the reflected light of piety was not considered a medium of exchange by the butcher and baker and candlestick maker? Piety must be at a mighty premium in the Soo, when a man can use it as a commercial commodity. "Methodist family preferred"! But would it not be an awful confession for a Methodist family to make that it needed to trade good board with "conveniences" thrown in, in exchange for an example of piety? Such a family would deserve to be churched for not doing its own exemplifying.

But, after all, we are glad to know that

There is a young man in the Sault,
So holy and pious he grault,
That folks can afford
To give him free board
In exchange for the good he will dault.

Coming to think of it, probably the ad is a joke.—Hillsburg Beaver.

A. HAMILTON FOUND DEAD

He Went Out For a Walk on Wednesday Evening

Harriston, April 30.—Mr. A. Hamilton, a prominent lawyer, who at one time practised in Palmerston, and later held a Government position in the west, came home to Ontario for his health. While visiting in the township of Howick, some four miles out of Harriston, he left the house on Wednesday evening, presumably for a walk. He did not return, however, and a search was made for him, but of no avail. His body was found next day in the river about dinner time. The remains were interred in the Palmerston cemetery today. The unfortunate man was about forty years of age.

THE CRY OF THE DREAMER

I am tired of the planning and toiling
In the crowded hives of men:
Heart-weary of building and spoiling,
And spoiling and building again.
And I long for the dear old river
Where I dreamed my youth away—
For a dreamer lives forever
And a toiler dies in a day.

I am sick of the showy seeming
Of a life that is half a lie,
Of the faces lined with scheming
In the throng that hurries by.
No, no; from the streets' rude bustle,
From trophies from mart and stage,
I would fly to the woods' low rustle
And the meadows' kindly page.
Let us dream as of yore by the river,
And be loved for the dream alway—
For a dreamer lives forever
And a thinker dies in a day.

SCRAPING THE STOMACH

Dangerous and Painful Operation Avoided by Taking "Fruit-a-tives."

Guelph, Ont., Aug. 6, 1908.

I suffered for many months with dreadful Stomach Trouble, with vomiting and constant pain, and I could retain practically nothing.

My doctor stated that I must go to the hospital and undergo an operation of scraping the stomach and be fed by the bowels for weeks. All the medicine the doctor gave me I vomited at once. I was dreadfully alarmed, but I dreaded an operation and had refused.

I had heard of "Fruit-a-tives" and the great success they were having in all Stomach Troubles, and I decided to try them. To my surprise, the "Fruit-a-tives" not only remained on the stomach, but they also checked the vomiting. I immediately began to improve, and in three days the pain was easier and I was decidedly better. I continued to take "Fruit-a-tives" and they completely cured me.

Mrs. Austin Hainstock.

"Fruit-a-tives" are 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial box 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE SENSIBLE PLAN.

Grand Valley Local Optionists Will Secure a Hotel.

Temperance Workers Take Steps to Ensure Accommodation for Public.

For the past month representatives from the various churches in Grand Valley have held several meetings with the view of bringing on a vote on Local Option at the next municipal election. At the last meeting held on Thursday night it was decided to form a joint stock company to either buy one of the existing hotels or build a house, and thus be able to provide accommodation in the event of local option carrying, and those in the business refusing to do so. Nothing definite will be done until their charter is granted.

There can be honest difference in opinion about the adoption of Local Option, but if the temperance people subscribe the money, and either buy one of the existing houses or build one in keeping with the needs of the place, they will cut from the apponents of local option one of their chief arguments against its adoption—inadequate and unsatisfactory public accommodation. At a meeting of about fifteen of the temperance workers of the village, held in the Methodist church, on Thursday evening of last week, it was moved, seconded, and carried that a Joint Stock Company be formed to buy or build a hotel and run it as a temperance house. It was also decided that the shares should be $10.00 each and that Messrs. R. Dixon, D. F. MacDonald, M. G. Varcoe, H. Fennell, and T. C. Hamilton be provisional directors to secure the necessary charter from the government. It is expected about the month of June and the campaign will be launched with a mass meeting to be held some Sunday evening in June. —Star & Vidette.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR PERJURER

A youth named Reid, about seventeen years of age, was arrested last Thursday by Constable Harvey on a charge of perjury. Reid spent several hours in jail before he was bailed out. In the case in which Constable Harvey had a number of youths fined for loitering, he swore he timed the bunch with his watch while standing in the livery barn office looking at loiterers on the bridge through the office. In the office with the constable at the time was Reid with several others. In the magistrate's court Reid flatly contradicted the Constable as to his holding his watch in his hand. Reid was given every chance to withdraw his lie but he brazenly stuck to it. The constable immediately swore out a warrant for Reid's arrest. After his arrest the young perjurer weakened and peached on his pals naming three or four others as having put him up to the job. When Reid came before Judge McGibbon on Monday morning he pleaded guilty and was let go on suspended sentence. The judge commented severely on the conduct of those who had induced the young fool to perjure himself. In the magistrate's court the bunch who had been charged by the constable with conspiracy, were dismissed with a lecture. Constable Harvey says there has been perjury too frequently in the police court and intends to stop it. Between the citizens who clamor for the prosecution of loafers and the perjury of these fellows in behalf of each other, the constable has his troubles in more ways than one. This last instance of perjury was the most impudent and barefaced that has been attempted and the perpetrator if he imagined he could get away with it must be a "natural born fool."—Brampton Banner.

A SERVANT OF THE MASTER.

The Presbyterian Pays Tribute to the late Rev. J. W. Orr.

His many friends and admirers in this section will appreciate the following tribute by the Presbyterian to the worth and work of the late Rev. James W. Orr, who was for fifteen years an esteemed member of the Orangeville Presbytery:—

After a lingering illness of nearly four months, borne with quiet resignation, the Rev. James Orr, pastor of Dorchester and Crumlin, was last week called to his reward, and his remains were interred in the quiet and shady cemetery near by the town of Goderich. With a deep sense of the loss sustained, his congregations testify to his faithfulness and devotedness as a pastor during his brief ministry of two and one-half years amongst them.

After graduating from Knox College, he was called in 1887 to the pastorate of Mono Mills, in the Presbytery of Orangeville, where he labored successfully for some 15 years, when he responded to a call given him by the congregations of Alma and Cumnock, in the Presbytery of Guelph. His four years of service to the people of these congregations were highly appreciated and will be gratefully remembered.

His fellow-students, co-Presbyters and other brethren in the ministry who knew him always remember him as a sincere and conscientious servant of Jesus Christ.

Those who, in the providence of God, were permitted to be blessed by his ministry, and those who have enjoyed his fellowship as brother and friend, unite in extending sympathy to the widow, son and daughter, as well as to the aged parents, residing in Goderich. Though cut off in the years of active service, he leaves behind a record of work well done, and a final message in the words of the Apostle—"For me to live is Christ, to die is gain," which gives to us the secret of his life. Through this dispensation of God's providence, may we not hope that some one, who has profited by his ministrations, will hear the call to preach the everlasting Gospel of Jesus Christ.

HEAVY LOSS.

Nichol Farmer Loses Horses, Cattle and Stock by His Barn Being Struck by Lightning.

ELORA, April 30.—Lightning caused a destructive conflagration in Nichol township, about half a mile east of the village of Salem, in the early hours of this morning. About two o'clock, during one of the worst of the succession of thunder storms which passed over the district through the night, the large bank barn of Mr. John Barber was struck. There was a fierce gale raging and in a very short time the building was hopelessly enveloped. So quickly did the flames spread, that it was impossible to get out the stock, and 45 head of cattle, 7 horses and three or four sheep were cremated. There were several thoroughbreds and a number of fat animals among the cattle, making them particularly valuable. Most of the sheep were in another building. Practically all the implements were consumed.

The loss will probably reach $4,000. The property was partly insured in the Nichol Mutual.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Barber in his serious loss, and more especially as he has been ailing for some time and unable to get about.

THE SANGUINARY ISLANDS.

(By A Banker.)

The birthplace of the "Scourge of Europe," or the man responsible for a greater immolation of the human race, more widespread havoc and devastation, and more pitiable and appalling misery than perhaps almost any man who ever lived, Corsica, that lovely gem of the ocean, is indeed a nature-favoured spot upon which her bounty has been bestowed with lavish hand.

The drive for instance from Ajaccio along the shore road to the promontory opposite "The Sanguinary Islands"—presumably so named from the heavy death toll they exact from incautious or storm-driven mariners—is in parts lovely beyond description. Near the town, on each side palm-adorned gardens, perfumed with the scent—though 'tis winter — of roses and luxuriantly flowering mimosas and hibiscus or other flowering shrub, and ornamented with cycas, castor-oil, or other subtropical tree or plant; while the handsome villas, many wreathed and festooned with that luxuriantly flowering beauty of Nature, the Bougainvillia, a dense mass of deep purple-red, or light pink, or orange floriage, which in the bright rays of the sun are a sheen of vivid splendour. Farther out the road is bordered with cactus hedges, which later on must be a blaze of scarlet bloom; while the hillsides in many places are covered with a plant, apparently the conservatory "diplacus," which in summer would be a mass of bright orange bloom. Still higher, rows of larches uplift their lofty heads; while in the distance the pyramids and peaks of a range of snowcloud mountains are upreared against the azure of the sky.

Seawards innumerable picturesque creeks and inlets indent the shore; though on the coasts of this tideless, but beautiful sea, except perhaps for a narrow strip, the hard, sparkling sandy shore is never seen. And now the great promontory is reached; a jagged mass of granite jutting out into the great ocean, which for ages past has futilely vented its wrath against those craigs, and escarpments, and beetling cliffs, and now with the sound of thunder is impotent hurling itself in great volumes of foam and spume against the iron-bound rocks.

And beyond are the Sanguinary Islands. Aye, and well may they bear that terrible name. For from time to time many a storm-tossed gallant ship, helplessly driven on the rocks, has sunk down into the depths, transformed from the home of brave seamen into their mausoleum. And there will their whitened bones rest until the morn of the resurrection the sea shall give up her dead. Then shall the righteous, they who have lived a godly life, and whose transgressions are atoned for by the sacrifice of the Saviour of the world, who Himself bore the retribution due, then shall those happy ones be welcomed with glory. But, alas, not for all shall be this welcome!

SERVING THE PEOPLE.

The declaration of an ex-alderman the other day, that he would not for a thousand dollars serve the city again, is worthy of serious attention. It means, if it means anything, that however tired the people may get occasionally of their representatives, the latter in turn get tired of the people and their criticism.

Yet both have reason on their side. The electors have reason to be critical when they see their money being wasted by men whom it was believed would do something quite different in the people's interest. Yet you cannot expect a merchant who sells groceries, or boots and shoes, or who manufactures, to understand how a bridge should be built, a road made, or the engineering difficulties of laying down drains or sewers. We are in this respect expecting too much, and as a result we get disappointed.

On the other hand, how can a man be expected to give his time away for nothing, and at the same time receive abuse because something is not being done the way some peculiar individual expects it should be. And worse than all, there is too evident a spirit abroad that men who serve the city as aldermen are trying always to feather their own nests. It is mighty little feathering they get around here, that's plainly evident. But the inuendo is naturally displeasing to men who otherwise would be available.

It is one of the problems of municipal management, but it is a big one. We ought to be a little more appreciative of the self-sacrifice of our aldermen, and just a little less accusive. It is all right to criticise, but there is no need or carrying it to an extreme. Too often we even refuse to give a man the credit of doing what he considers best, even if he is mistaken, and that is one of the galling phases of life to a man who means well by the city he is trying to serve.

Lines in memory of the late Benjamin Bradley, who departed this life on April 21st, 1909:—

A loving friend from us is gone,
His voice will never more be heard;
A place is vacant in his home,
Which can never more be filled.

No more on earth we'll meet him,
Or hear his welcome voice;
But if we look to God for grace,
We may with him rejoice.

He suffered long and painfully,
All through those weary days;
He bore it all with patience,
Trusting his Saviour's grace.

Lonely grandma, trust for comfort,
To the Lord we all should love,
Hoping soon to meet dear grandpa,
In that bright world above.

While on earth he did remain,
He filled each heart with cheer;
And when our journey here is done,
His loving voice again we'll hear.

TOOK A FIT.

The Evening News, of Wednesday, April 28th, says :—

Hiram Baker, this morning in Judge Winchester's County Criminal Court, unintentionally provided the best expert evidence that he could wish. Baker is accused of obtaining $3 from James H. Harvey, and $1 from J. MacWood, by false pretences on the 16th of March.

The jail surgeon sent a letter stating that Baker was a chronic alcholic and epileptic. Baker stepped in the dock and elected to be tried by a jury, and as he stepped down he took a fit. He was carried into the adjoining room and Dr. Sheard was sent for. "He'd better be taken to the Hospital, and not allowed to touch liquor," said the Health Officer. "He may not come out for four or five hours."

The ambulance was called and Baker was taken back to jail. The case was remanded until June 9th.

BLACK SMOKE A WASTE.

Black smoke is a waste as well as a nuisance. In the new steel capital of Gary, where economy and prevention of waste is the first principle of success, the smoke from the furnace stacks furnishes sufficient gas to supply all needed power for the plant. The pillar of smoke is a sign of industrial waste, rather than of profit-making activity. There is value in its blackness if properly utilized. —Boston Herald.

WHERE ARE THE DOGS?

Orangeville's canine population seems to be decreasing very rapidly and if the present rate is maintained for a few years a dog will be as rare a sight on our streets as is a buffalo on the plains of the great West. Last year Assessor Bailey in the annual assessment return placed the number of dogs at 112. This year Assessor Foster could locate only 58 canines little more than half the number there were last year. The average citizen will likely maintain that dogs are just as plentiful as ever, but here are the assessor's figures, so what are you going to do about it.

BOB FOOLED THE COP.

Bob Hill, a diminutive jockey and horse trainer, who is comparatively well-known here, visited Caledon East a couple of weeks ago and took up his abode with Mr. Roddy Graham. He had not been there long, when Roddy charged him with the theft of $27 and had him arrested. He was brought before Mr. T. H. Hanna, an Albion justice of the peace, who committed him to stand his trial in Brampton Martin Stonehouse was sworn in as a special constable and to him the Court deputed the task of conveying the accused to the County Town. Hill, as we have already said, is not very formidable in appearance, being lightly built and not much over five feet tall. Stonehouse, on the other hand, is fashioned on a generous plan and is reputed to possess more than average physical strength. Confident of his ability to execute his commission and if need be to subdue his charge by sheer strength, the Constable laughed at the idea of putting handcuffs on Hill or shackling him in any way. Constable and prisoner took the train at Caledon East for Georgetown, where they were to change for Brampton. They reached Georgetown alright, but in making the transfer the little jockey managed to give the officer of the law the slip. He disappeared as suddenly and as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed him. The constable was completely non-plussed, but his man was gone, and after a fruitless search he was obliged to return home without completing his mission.

Scott, High Chief Ranger of the Central Ontario Court, will preside. Admission will be by invitation and there will be no charge.

CHANGES OF HALF A CENTURY

We are informed by one of our oldest residents, Mr. John Stephenson, of Bythia St., that of all the buildings on the south side of Broadway, when he arrived in Orangeville on May 3rd, 1859, fifty years ago last Monday, there are now standing only the Galbraith Block, the Commercial hotel (at that time a store and post office kept by the late T. R. Buckham) and the dwellings now occupied by Hugh. A. Duke, Alex. Hughson, T. G. Legate, Mrs. (Rev.) W. E. McKay and Frank Russell. On the north side of the street there are but two buildings left—the stone dwelling at the corner of Broadway and Third St., then known as "Jimmie" Grahame's tavern and Reeve & Hunter's store, now occupied by the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and Sam Merlina's fruit store. In the whole town there are not more than a score of these old buildings standing to-day. Of all the adult residents of the town at that date only some twelve or thirteen persons are still numbered among our citizens. Such are the changes of fifty years.

—It was only a few of the bravest who summoned up sufficient courage to go fishing on Saturday, the opening day of the trout season. They found the streams flooded and the lakes and ponds swollen and discolored. Most of them returned home without the satisfaction of even getting a "bite." Those who tried their luck Tuesday and yesterday did better and some fairly good catches are reported.

—Mrs. Wiggs will make you laugh at the Temple of Fame, May 11th and 12th.

An old Irishman who had recently recovered from a severe sickness climbed to meet the parish priest, who had been summoned during his illness to administer the rites of the church to the dying, as he was considered near death's door, and the following conversation took place:

"Ah, Pat, I see you are out again. We thought you were gone sure. You had a very serious time of it."

"Yes, yer reverence, indade I had."

"When you were so near death's door were you not afraid to meet your Maker?"

"No, indade, yer riverence," replied Pat, "it was the other gintleman I was afraid of."

WHAT MAC THE FARMER SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 26.—Time, it has been well said, is the stuff of which life is made, so that a waste of time is a form of partial suicide. That the House of Commons is guilty of this offense comes as a disappointing surprise to a new member who has sat here only a few months. What one is familiar with comes after a time to seem commonplace and normal, and no doubt that is the reason for all this waste of time being unheeded, and often assisted by members who have sat here through many sessions, and in some cases through many Parliaments.

Time is wasted here in a variety of ways, most of which could at least be checked if the House kept' before it more steadily the country's good and the importance of carrying out the legislative business of the Dominion at as little cost as possible. Many of the speeches that form a large part of these so-called debates consist for the most part of a recital of facts well known to every member and to every elector who keeps himself informed respecting public affairs. For instance, a member delivers a speech on the proposed loan to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company. The point at issue is the wisdom of the loan and the conditions upon which it is granted. But it is not to these that the member confines himself. He begins at the beginning and reviews the whole history of the project, assuming that not one of his hearers knows anything about it, whereas most of them know more about it than he does himself, for as a matter of fact much of his speech will be found to be made up of statements contained in speech es delivered several sessions ago, and which he has dug up out of Hansard.

This is only an illustration of the style of speech-making going on almost daily in the House, and by means of which hours and days of valuable or at least costly time, are consumed.

Besides this, much time is consumed in insinuations, veiled charges, pointless attacks, personal encounters and bitter wrangling. All this has practically no effect, except to stir up bad feeling and delay the business before the House. It does not tend to drive the Government from office; it does not tend to lessen the force of the serious attacks of the Opposition; but this it certainly tends to do—it tends to lower the prestige of Parliament, to lessen the respect for Parliament, and to a large extent to destroy its usefulness.

In earlier letters the new member endeavored to point out the three great functions Parliament performs that of sitting in judgment upon the administration of public affairs by the Ministers of the Crown; that of taxing the people and voting the money so raised to the Ministers to be used in carrying on the government of the country; and that of legislating, granting charters and enacting new laws or amending existing ones. But there is a fourth function Parliament should perform, and although it has no formal, legal existence it is real, and important. That fourth function consists in being the great national public platform from which the questions of national development, fiscal policy, defence and administration should be discussed by the broadest and best informed minds in the country. Parliament should be the great national university of public affairs, the creator and the leader of sound, well-informed public opinion, the body to which the people would look for information, for guidance and for those high ideals which tend so much to the upbuilding of a nation.

To what extent the House of Commons falls below this standard and fails to perform its function as a leader of national thought has been shown by the bickerings and personal encounters that have characterised its sittings of the past week or two. All this should be checked; the members should pause in their extreme partizan warfare and give heed to the position our form of popular government intends they should occupy, and failing to do so they and the body they compose must lose public respect and forfeit a great measure of their power for usefulness.

The vital importance of British connection to Canada, her duty and her interest in maintaining it, and the assistance she can render by providing in part at least for the defence of her own coast, have recently been brought to public attention by the debates on this question of naval defence, which happily resulted in pledging the country to immediate action. A brief answer given the other day by the Minister of Customs to a question asked by Mr. Foster, shows that our British connection is not based on sentiment alone, important and strong a factor as it is in directing human action. It is also based on the solid foundation of material interests. Great Britain is by far our best customer, buying from us more than do all the other nations combined. During the fiscal year that closed on March 31st last, our exports amounted in value to $263,368,952, of which Great Britain took our goods to the value of $134,477,124, whereas the United States bought from us only to the value of $111,477,124, whereas the United States market our export trade would be reduced by one-half. That bare statement of figures should make a Canadian realize how much his prosperity and the prosperity of his country depends upon the prosperity and security of the Motherland.

The budget speech delivered by the Minister of Finance was the feature of last week's proceedings in the House. It was Mr. Fielding's sixteenth budget and in many respects his least glowing and optimistic, for it announced a declining revenue and an increased public debt—two conditions as disquieting to the country as they are unpleasant to a Minister of Finance.

The budget is an ancient institution almost as old as Parliament itself, although it was not always presented in the form of a speech as is the practice to-day. It contains three leading features. In the first place, it reviews the income and expenditure of the Government during the past year; then it outlines what the expenditure will be for the current year and what income may be expected to meet it; and thirdly, it tells in what way such income is to be raised. As by far the greater part of our federal revenue is raised by means of customs and excise duties, proposed changes in the tariff or in the excise rates are always announced in the budget. None were announced, which means that the existing tariffs are to remain in force unchanged for another year at least.

The federal fiscal year closes on the last day of March and during the past year, according to Mr. Fielding's book-keeping, there was a surplus of current revenue over current expenditure of one and a half million dollars. However, Mr. Foster claimed that there is no real surplus, for if the bounties paid producers of iron and steel had been charged not to capital account, but to current expenditure, as he insists should be done, then there would have been no surplus but instead a deficit of three-quarters of a million dollars.

To capital account are charged expenditures for works of at least a supposed permanent character — railways, canals, and other similar public works. Most of the money so expended last year had to be borrowed. The three great charges in this account were:

Grand Trunk Pacific	$25,000,000
Quebec Bridge	6,424,000
Other expenditures	17,300,000
Total	$48,724,000

If from this amount be deducted the surplus of current revenue over current expenditure, as claimed by Mr. Fielding, and the sum added to the sinking fund, it will leave a balance of forty-six million dollars, which last year was added to our public debt.

The fiscal year upon which the country has entered promises a poor showing when it ends next March. The expenditure which Parliament has been authorizing will amount to $110,000,000, and if in these cautious times when people are spending no more than necessary, the revenue reaches $95,000,000, it will be doing very well. That will mean a deficit of $15,000,000. Among the capital charges will be $20,000,000 for the Transcontinental Railway, and besides that $10,000,000 will have to be found in order to make the loan authorized recently, to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company.

Mr. Fielding did not attempt increased taxation this year, but unless there is during the next twelve months a great revival of business with a consequent increase of revenue it is difficult to see how increase of taxation is to be avoided.—Family Herald & Weekly Star.

GRAND NEWS FOR OLD FOLKS.

What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did for Hiram Brown

Cured His Aches and Pains and Gave Him Restful Slumber—Known as the Old Folks' Friend.

East Mapleton, Cumberland Co., N.S., May 3. (Special).—Though well past the allotted span of life Mr. Hiram Brown of this place is still one of the grandest sights in life, a hale and hearty old gentleman. And like many another Canadian veteran he gives Dodd's Kidney Pills the credit for his abundant health.

"I am seventy-two years of age," Mr. Brown said in an interview, "and I want to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Gravel and Kidney Trouble. I was troubled with Backache, Headache and Dizziness, Cramps in the Muscles and Stiffness of the Joints. My sleep was broken and at times my limbs would swell.

"But since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, all these troubles have gone. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a wonderful medicine."

The aged man or woman who has healthy Kidneys can afford to laugh at the ills of life. For healthy Kidneys keep the blood pure and ensure good restful sleep. Dodd's Kidney Pills always make healthy Kidneys. That is why they are known as the Old Folks' Best Friend.

"CRIMINAL STATISTICS" AND A REFLECTION.

The Dominion Blue Book on Criminal Statistics has been recently published. It is compiled from statistics recorded by the Provincial authorities, and the one just covers the year 1907.

Figures are not always poetical, but they are sometimes interesting and often very instructive. There was a considerable increase, much greater than the increase in the national population would warrant, in the number of charges in the year 1907 over 1906, represented by 17.77 per cent., and an increase of 12.27 per cent. in the number of convictions The actual figures for 1907 were 12,041 charges and 9,110 convictions, as against 10,901 charges and 8,093 convictions in the preceding year. The Yukon Territory heads the list with 56 convictions per 1,000 inhabitants, and Prince Edward Island is at the other end with 1.38.

Of course, the difference in social conditions between Prince Edward Island and the Yukon is very great, but one cannot help asking what connection the liquor traffic has with these figures. In the Yukon, where there is undoubtedly an improvement in this respect, the evil of the liquor is still rampant, and the number of convictions proportionately to population is more than twice as great as in Manitoba, which is second in the list. In Prince Edward Island there is a provincial prohibitory law, which, by the way, is the famous Manitoba Liquor Act of 1902, and which is well enforced, and here the convictions are only 25 per cent. of what they are in New Brunswick, which is second from the tail of the list, and about 2 per cent. of what they are in the Yukon. Does provincial prohibition help to account for this? Convictions for drunkenness in Canada have risen, according to the ratio per 1,000 of population, from 2.17 in 1898 to 4.84 in 1907. The provinces all share in this increase with the exception of Prince Edward Island, which shows a decrease from 2.75 in 1898 to 1.43 in 1907. It is possible that there are provinces in Canada that are not ready for provincial prohibition. There can, however, be no difference of opinion about the connection between the liquor traffic and crime, and the more the source is curtailed and controlled, the less will be the volume of the evil stream that flows from it. The testimony of Prince Edward Island seems to us to point clearly to the fact that the more the liquor traffic is reduced, the less will be the volume of crime. Every barroom removed is a stage in the reduction of crime.—The Presbyterian.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Last Friday afternoon, Clara, the eight-year-old daughter of Walter Cutting, milkman, was run over by a farmer's waggon and sustained serious injuries. She was climbing into the waggon of Mr. Alex. McDonald, while he was driving up Main Street with a load of feed and several kegs of nails, when she slipped and fell, the rear wheel passing over her abdomen. She was very sick during the night and vomited blood, showing she had sustained internal injuries, but she escaped any fractures. The probabilities for her speedy recovery are very promising. How fatal injury was escaped is a marvel.—Acton Free Press.

Must Call a Halt To Pneumonia

Every cold must be taken seriously, and cured by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

While consumptives are being taken care of and tuberculosis is being conquered who is going to fight pneumonia, which seems each year to claim more and more victims.

While the doctors are experimenting with cures why not do all we can to prevent this dreadful ailment by taking every cold seriously and using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to allay the inflammation of the bronchial tubes, to aid expectoration and to keep the cough free and loose.

This great medicine has a thorough and far-reaching action, which is not obtained from ordinary cough medicines, and this is why three bottles of it are sold for one of any similar treatment.

Mrs. F. Dwyer, Chesterville, Ont., writes: "My little girl had bronchial pneumonia and we thought she was going to leave this world, as her case resisted the doctor's treatment. After the first two doses of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine the child began to get better and we are thankful to say is now well again after seven weeks' sickness." 25 cts. a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto

As a general rule, it is the man who earns the money and the woman who saves it.

A LARGE proportion of the Savings Bank accounts opened with THE BANK OF HAMILTON are opened and conducted by WOMEN. Out of the household income, the thrifty wife lays aside, in the safe custody of a chartered Bank, as much as can well be spared from the husband's income. When unforseen reverses come, or a home or other commendable thing is desired—quiet savings (hardly missed from the regular income) are available.

It is surprising how rapidly Systematic Savings grow. Many accounts, made up of small deposits, reach a total that is quite important, and which makes the family INDEPENDENT when extra money is needed.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON specially invites the Savings Accounts of a married woman, and has inaugurated a system of caring for such deposits, that is both SIMPLE and CONVENIENT.

Money may be deposited or withdrawn in any amount at any time; and, when starting a new account, a simple enquiry for the Manager will secure all desired information, and every attention to requirements

A PLUCKY YOUNG ENGINEER.

How Orillia Came to Employ John M. McRae on Her Dam.

Mr. John M. McRae, who has recently acted as one of the engineers of the big dam built for controlling the flow of the water to the various power users at Ottawa, won his spurs in connection with the third dam built by the town of Orillia at the Ragged Rapids on the Severn River. The Ragged Rapids have proved fatal to more than one reputation, but Mr. McRae has come through with flying colors.

The story of how Orillia came to employ Mr. McRae is rather interesting. The then mayor of the town, Mr. C. J. Miller, consulted an eminent engineer as to making an examination of the existing dam which would involve a descent in a diving suit in thirty feet of water. The man who had made his name was not willing to undertake the feat at his time of life. When asked if he could recommend some one who would be likely to do so, after a moment's thought, he said:

"Yes, I know a young fellow who is absolutely trustworthy, and who is afraid of nothing. I have no doubt he will undertake the job for you."

And he named John M. McRae, who hesitated scarcely a moment. When he reached the Ragged Rapids, it was found, to the disgust of the French-Canadian diver, that Mr. McRae's head was much too large to go into the helmet of the diving suit, and a wait had to be made till another could be secured. On the strength of Mr. McRae's report, the town decided to construct the dam which has just been completed after nearly three years' work, and Mr. McRae was engaged to draw the plans. It has since proved fortunate that the town acted on Mr. McRae's advice, as it was found that the previous dam was resting on very poor foundations. The present dam is one of the finest structures of its kind in the country.

Under local option the town of Owen Sound has increased in population over 1,200 during the last two years.

STOMACH INDIGESTION.

Peruna Strikes at the Root of the Trouble.

MR. S. J. MASSEY.

Mr. S. J. Massey, formerly a resident of Toronto, and a well-known business man, writes from 247 Guy street, Montreal, Quebec:

"I wish to testify to the good results I have derived from the use of Peruna.

"Having been troubled for several years with catarrh of the head, I decided to give Peruna a fair trial and I can truly say I have received great benefit from its use. It evidently strikes at the very root of the trouble and good results are soon noticeable.

"I have also found Peruna a very valuable remedy for stomach trouble and indigestion.

"I have no hesitancy whatever in recommending Peruna as a reliable catarrh remedy."

There are several kinds of indigestion. The trouble may be due to sluggishness of the liver, derangements of the bowels, enlargement of the pancreas, or it may be due to the stomach itself.

In nearly all cases of stomach indigestion catarrh of the stomach is the cause. The only permanent relief is to remove the catarrh.

Peruna has become well-known the world over as a remedy in such cases.

DESTINY AND DUTY.

The Boston Herald publishes the following original and unique dissertation from the pen of "Col. Yellowstone Yell."

From Greenlan's icy mountains an' Manilla's coral-strand, the pore benighted heathen call away to beat the band. They're achin' ter be civilized in every heathen land, an' we've got ter have an army fer the job. The heathen are a-callin' to our noble Christian race, America with all the rest has got to set a pace, and for our surplus produc's we must have a market place—and we've gotter have an army—fer the job. The heathen in the peaceful paths of freedom must be led. At present he's too volatyle and light as to his head. The only way to keep him down 's ter fill him up with lead—and we've got ter have an army fer the job. Then it's "rise up Willyum Riley now and come along with me." We're goin' to bring 'em blessin's and to set their pore souls free. They're only yeller niggers, an' they'll soon be up a tree—but we've gotter have an army fer the job!

The pore benighted heathen now no Christian peace enjoys. We'll edercate 'em like they do at Virden, Illinois, or down in Caroliny, where we hang 'em, men and boys, just ter elevate the standard of the race. The Malays of the Phillerpeens hain't got no sense at all. They wantter rule their place themselves—I shudder at their gall! We've gotter kill 'em off in droves, to make the rest sing small, and ter elevate the standard of the race. They're so besotted in their pride that if the truth were known, they'd likely ask our Government to leave 'em all alone. The heathen in their blindness now bow down to stock and stone; but we'll elevate the standard of their race. They've gotter learn their lessons in a mighty bitter school. They've gotter crawl an' grovel under white men's noble rule. We've gotter tread 'em in th' mud, ter keep our tempers cool and ter elevate the standard of the race.

The onward march of destiny no nigger crowd can stay. The Anglo Saxon race must git its three square meals a day. We'll take their lands and make 'em work and then we'll shout "Hooray," an' thus we'll spread th' gospel far and wide. We'll raise 100,000 men ter fight 'em in their swamps, to lie at nights in jungles with their fever ridden damps, an' tho' we'll lose 10,000 there from wounds or cholera cramps, we'll spread th' blessed gospel far an' wide. Altho' I haven't been to church fer nigh on 20 year, it makes me feel reel pious just to think of the idear (I saw one firm will send out there 10,000 quarts of beer) of how we'll spread the gospel far an' wide. I'd write you more, but I have got a little "date" at 3. We're goin' to hang a nigger politician to a tree.

So I will close this letter on the march of destiny and the way to spread the gospel far an' wide.

WRITS GALORE.

Editor of Banner Served Twice Within a Week.

The editor of this paper was served with a notice of action by Mr. T. S. Hewson on Wednesday evening, the 28th, ult., at the instance of Mr. J. B. Mckenzie, a Toronto lawyer, the spectacular and dramatic features of which were detailed at length in our last issue, in which we endeavored to convey the idea that the offending item relerred to by Mr. Mackenzie was printed as an item of news and without malice. Imagine then our surprise to be served on the 8th inst, with a copy of a writ which purported to be issued by Mr. Mackenzie, claiming unstated damages. The place, where the document was issued from, was not mentioned, as is, we are informed, the usual practice, but the sum of $25 costs was claimed by the plaintiff. The bearer of these ill-tidings was again our friend, Mr. T. S. Hewson, whom we last week referred to as an "amateur process server." This description seems to have been correct, for on Tuesday evening, while enjoying the fine performance of the Temple of Fame in the Town Hall, our Nemesis, to wit, the aforesaid Mr. Hewson, presented himself at the entrance to the hall and requested Chief Speers to inform us we were wanted at the door. We at once responded, again to be confronted by the imperturbable, implacable and unrelenting agent of Mr. McKenzie. Mr. Hewson had another writ and our spirits rapidly sank. Closer inspection, however, revealed the fact that it was only the ORIGINAL writ of summons in the cause celebre of Mackenzie vs. McKitrick, issued in Toronto on the 6th inst. The paper was adorned with a big red seal, had a dollar law stamp, the signature of the Clerk of Records and Writs, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and was evidently the real thing. It did not quite correspond to the copy served on us previously in several little details and we were pleased and relieved to observe no mention was made of the $25 for costs. We don't know if it is a new departure to serve the original writ on the defendant or not, but it is certainly calculated to impress the unlucky recipient with a deeper sense of his own insignificance.

A nomination for a vacant aldermanship was held in Guelph recently, but owing to a change made in the municipal election law at the last session of the Ontario Legislature, it was found that one of the candidates was debarred from running, and it was thought wise to hold another nomination. The amendment states that any ratepayer whose taxes are in arrears is disqualified from being a candidate. As taxes are due on the 15th day of December in most municipalities, it would be well to bear this point in mind.

The city of Guelph still stands as an illustration of the benefits of municipal ownership of public utilities. The tax rate for this year has just been struck at 14½ mills, which is half a mill higher than last year. The rate, we are told, might have been 11 mills had it not been that two or three years ago a shortage was discovered in the sinking fund, which the council has decided to make up this year and next. When this is done there would seem to be no reason why the rate should not go down to 10 or 11 mills permanently. The utilities, which the city owns and operates, are not only paying their way, but also making a handsome annual profit. The profits from the various civic plants for the year are estimated at: Guelph Junction Railway, $25,000; Waterworks, $16,000; street railway, $3,240; gas and electric light, $13,146.

• • •

The advent of the tungsten lamp, which is now on sale in Orangeville, and elsewhere throughout Canada, promises to usher in a new era in electric lighting. When the lamp was first introduced into this country it did not prove satisfactory, but it has since transpired that this was largely due to the fact that unscrupulous manufacturers were shipping the culls of their output into Canada. Fortunately this condition no longer prevails, and the best grades of tungsten lamps are now obtainable at fairly reasonable prices. From the standpoint of the electric companies, the chief advantage the new lamp offers is that it will place them in a vastly better position to compete successfully with the gas companies. Electric light users will welcome the new lamp because of its low cost in operation and greater length of life. The first cost is higher than the carbon lamp, but this is more than offset by the economy in the current used. The lamp gives a bright white light that does not seem to have any ill effect on the eyesight and is said to burn throughout its life time with a loss of candle power not exceeding from five to ten per cent.

CHRISTIAN CHARITY.

An Italian interpreter, who lay dying in a box car at the C. P. R. station here a few weeks ago, was taken in charge by some kindly disposed ladies who interested themselves in the case. The unfortunate man, who is without friends in this country, was stricken with pneumonia. He was transferred to a comfortable home and nursed back to convalescence. The ladies in question will not consent to their names being mentioned, but the incident does them infinite credit. "Alas for the rarity of christian charity."

Interesting and Entertaining Letter From Mr. W. H. Hunter.

The Banner has been given permission to publish a letter written from Glasgow, Scotland, by Mr. W. H. Hunter, to his family at The Maples. Mr. Hunter and his daughter, Miss Clara, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Hunter, this town, and a friend, Mr. Robert Smith, left here about six weeks ago on a pleasure trip across the Atlantic. Mr. Hunter's letter, which we hope will not be the only one that we will have the pleasure of giving to our readers, reads as follows:—

Glasgow, Scotland,
April 22nd, 1909

My Dear Boys,—As I promised I will now give you a short account of our trip.

We left Toronto on the morning of March 25th by C. P. R. train for Montreal, arriving at 8 p.m. An hour later we took the through train for St. John. During this part of our journey we passed through poor country and encountered deep snow. Arriving at St. John on the evening of the 26th, we found the Empress of Britain waiting.

We got away shortly. The first eighteen hours sail was not very smooth and some of us did not prove good sailors, breakfast being shared with the fish. We reached Halifax at noon remaining there until six p. m., when our vessel put out to sea.

The accommodation on the C.P.R. steamers is excellent. The rooms are good, the stewards attentive and the accommodation in every particular all that could be desired. For the first three days we got along fairly well, but after that some of us did not take much room at the table. Mr. Robert Smith and myself were among the absent ones, while Clara, Dr. Hunter and wife did not get sick.

Our last twenty-four hours along the Irish coast was pretty rough, but we all landed at Liverpool Saturday morning and immediately took train for London. We found the country looking well with the farmers all seeding and cattle and sheep on pasture with spring lambs half grown. The farm horses work singly, generally one ahead of the other. Sometimes there are three in a line in this way, with a driver to each horse. Reaching London after a run of 3¾ hours, we put up at the Ivanhoe hotel in Bloomsbury St. The following Monday we called on Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada, a most friendly gentleman in every respect. One feels at home meeting such a man. He is just about the same stamp of man as our Postmaster, John Park, of Orangeville.

On the following day, farmer like, I was anxious to see how seeding was progressing out at Windsor on the King's broad acres. I found his steward, a Mr. McWilliams, who very kindly provided us with conveyance from the Frogmore farm, which is mostly pasture land. We found the grain and stock farm about 1½ miles distant. Twelve horses were at work in the fields—four on a seed drill and the remainder cultivating and harrowing in oats. The live stock, consisting of Herefords, Shorthorns and Highland cattle, still in the stables, were apparently cared for in the usual way, with plain stabling. The stables were in charge of a Mr. McMillan. We saw quite a number of stacks of grain still unthreshed. A goodly portion of this part of the estate is covered with trees. The farm is said to contain about 700 acres.

Feeling satisfied that all the farm interests were being well looked after, we returned to London, a distance of twenty-one miles, and next day visited some fine farming country ten to twelve miles north of the city and adjoining Epping Forest. Planting and seeding operations were in progress on well-tilled farms that rent at from thirty shillings to ten pounds per acre.

Thanks to E. E. Wire, of Snarebrook, who married a Miss Hunter, a Garafraxa girl in Toronto some 35 years ago and afterwards went back to London resuming his trade as builder and now owning much property, we were dined and wined both at his home and at the "King's Head" Inn, a house opened some four hundred years ago and referred to in Charles Dickens' writings. A drive of twenty miles ended one of our pleasant outings with this hospitable family. I should say here that Mr. Wire has not tied himself up in London, as he has two sons in business in Winnipeg.

Our next trip was from London to Paris—a city that I want to try to describe, as most people have read of its beauty and grandeur. The French people have an earlier spring than in England and we found the crops much further advanced. A good deal of the hilly land has been planted to timber. The trees are about eight feet apart and in many instances are now pretty large. The growing crops are in narrow strips, two to four rods wide and twenty to forty rods long. There is but little fencing. The city and village people till these small pieces of land. A great deal of the country is worked in this manner. Live stock is not as good as in Great Britain. The noted gardens and historic sights are pointed out by English speaking guides. The guides, however, are not by any means numerous.

On our return to England we were fortunate in being able to attend the Cattle Show and Sale at Hereford, some 150 miles northwest of London. This is the home of the Hereford breed of cattle. After prizes had been awarded in the different classes, hundreds of animals were sold by auction. They were all pedigreed stock and sold quickly at high prices. I succeeded in securing two males, but find that there will be a great deal of delay and expense in getting them to Canada.

From Hereford we travelled north toward Scotland. Herefordshire is well farmed and well stocked with Hereford cattle and excellent sheep. Still further north the country becomes much higher and much more land is pastured. There are thousands of acres in sheep pasture. The country becomes still more hilly as we proceed northward, until within 40 or 50 miles of Edinburgh, where more cultivation is carried on. On the heights of land snow is still to be seen and the climate is much colder.

A better idea of Edinburgh castle and its surroundings can be obtained from reading than through any description I could give. From Edinburgh to Glasgow (a fine city with excellent accommodation), the country is dotted with coal mines and oil wells. There is not much farming until within a few miles of Glasgow. Within about two miles of the city a Mr. Spires conducts the best farm I have seen in this part of the country. Plants, flowers, vegetables, everything in fact that one would expect to find either in garden, hothouse or farm, are grown here in large fields. There is also kept over one hundred Ayrshire cows, yielding 150 to 180 gallons of milk a day, all sold to one dealer in Glasgow.

But you will be tired. It will be Ireland from this out:

Your Loving Father,

SEVEN YEARS AN INVALID

Then She Took "Fruit-a-tives" And is Now Well.

Arnprior, Ont., Nov. 27, 1908.

I was an invalid for seven years from fearful Womb Trouble. I had falling womb, with constant pain in the back and front of my body and all down my legs. There was a heavy discharge and this made me weak, sleepless, restless and miserable. Often I was obliged to be in bed for a month at a time. I was treated by several doctors, but their treatment did me no permanent good.

A few months ago, I was persuaded to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes, and from the outset of this treatment I was better, the Constipation was cured, and the discharge lessened. I took, for the paleness, several bottles of the Iron Mixture as recommended in the "Fruit-a-tives" book, but I feel that it was "Fruit-a-tives" alone that cured me.

(Mrs.) Eliza Levesque.

Take Mrs. Levesque's advice. Take "Fruit-a-tives" and cure yourself. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial box 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HILLSBURG'S OLDEST RESIDENT.

One by one the pioneers of this section are passing to their rest, and it will not be many years until their names are but memories, though their labors in the establishment of the community will endure. Mr. Edward How, who might be called one of the founders of this village, and its oldest resident, having been born here, on the farm on which he died, in 1832, passed away on Sunday evening. Deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. How, who were among the oldest settlers in Erin Township. The late Mr. Edward How was the oldest merchant in this part of Ontario, having been in business continuously, either in company with his father or by himself for over half a century. About thirty years ago the deceased was very severely injured by the accidental explosion of a keg of gunpowder, which almost wrecked his store, and his recovery, with no other permanent disability than loss of the sight of one eye, was due to his splendid physique and constitution.

The deceased was very highly esteemed and respected by every person in this community, and his loss is mourned by a wide circle of friends. He was a man of sterling honesty and uprightness of character, and no man in this section had a more generous or tender heart for those in need of assistance. He was a staunch Liberal of the old school, and though he had not taken an active part in politics for a number of years past, he was never afraid to let his light shine.

He is survived by his widow and a family of two sons and four daughters:—Wm., of Hillsburg; David H., of Toronto; Mrs. Thos. Blake, of St. Thomas, and Misses Fannie, Annie, and Margaret, at home. Two daughters predeceased him. Two brothers also survive: Messrs. Henry How, of Eugene, Ore., and George How, of Prince Albert, Sask. — The Beaver.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place to Huxley cemetery yesterday afternoon.

THE TEMPLE OF FAME

Large Audiences Enjoy a Delightful Performance.

Daughters of the Empire Score Another Success.

"The Temple of Fame," a spectacular performance of an elaborate character, was successfully presented before large and enthusiastic audiences in the Town Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week. The production was given under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire and in aid of the Orangeville Hospital Fund. The design of the "Temple of Fame" lends itself admirably to spectacular effect. The first character who appears on the stage is a Goddess, who announces, before ascending her throne that she will present the Crown of Fame to the person, who by her part on life's stage shall have proved herself most worthy of the honor. Many of the characters represent women renowned for the part they played in life's drama at some period in the world's history. These are announced by heralds and as they appear upon the stage make obeisance to the Goddess, after the manner suitable to their time and rank, and then prefer their claims to the Crown of Fame. Having done this they retire to their seats on the stage, where they remain until the entrance of the last characters, Queen Victoria and Columbia, when all rise and bring the programme to a close by singing the British National Anthem. The scene, when this stage of the performance was reached, was one of beauty and splendor and evoked the enthusiastic plaudits of the audience. It was a fitting climax to an excellent performance. The awarding of the Crown took place immediately before the entrance of Queen Victoria and Columbia. A responsive chord was touched in every heart, when passing over Queens, poetesses, artists and empresses, the Goddess awarded it to The Mother. The decision announced, a chorus of twelve little girls, dressed in white and carrying wreaths of flowers, make their appearance and sing and dance in honor of her, who has won the Crown.

When we state that there were over thirty characters, and also a chorus, maidens, pages, guards, attendants, heralds and children, all costumed in keeping with their parts, our readers will have some idea of the elaborate character of the "Temple of Fame" and the immense labor and attention to detail that the performance involved. They will understand too that any thing approaching an adequate description is impossible in the space at our disposal. It is highly creditable to those taking part that the entire programme passed off without any hitch or untoward mishap. Her splendid voice, queenly bearing and fine stage presence fitted Mrs. Geo. McIntyre admirably for the important and difficult role of Goddess. The part was taken in a manner that was beyond criticism and the concensus of opinion was that this gifted and versatile lady had fairly surpassed herself. Mrs. W. J. L. McKay as Queen Alexandra and Mrs. C. R. McKeown as a Daughter of the Empire in Canada looked and acted their parts in a manner that did them credit. Miss Harper as Queen Elizabeth, Mrs. L. H. Needham as Mary Queen of Scots, Miss Elliott as Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and Miss Florence Endacott as Queen Boadicea were all beautifully costumed and took their parts very successfully. The pages were Masters Terance McKeown and Grahame Kearns, who looked extremely cute and got through the difficult task of handling the trains of their royal mistresses without any untoward accident. Misses Denton, Marshall and Warne made pretty Japanese maidens and their catchy song made a hit with the audience. Miss Ethel Irvine, who took the part of Colleen Bawn, sang with her wonted sweetness and was rewarded with hearty applause. Miss Maude Jordan made one of the hits of the evening in the role of a Scottish fish girl. Her song "Caller Herrin," was sung with such sweetness and expression that her hearers insisted upon an encore. Another exceedingly popular number was the Highland Fling, skillfully danced by Miss Carrie Stubbs, as Scotch Lassie Jean. Miss A. Wylie made a winsome Grace Darling and with her sailor lads, Masters Douglas and Donald McPherson, was roundly encored. Miss Eva Hughson, who appeared as Albani, the great songstress, displayed a voice of great sweetness and unusual strength. Miss A. Morrison, who represented Margaret Anglin as "Nina" in "Rienzi," Miss Hutchinson as "Beatrice," Miss Tansley as Florence Nightingale, Miss Kathleen Stevenson as "Rainbow" the Indian Maiden, Miss Mann as Joan of Arc, Miss Lewis as a Summer Girl, Miss B. Lewis as Tetrazzini, Miss Cruikshank as Portia, Miss Ruth McConnell as Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch and Miss Bennett as a Daughter of the Regiment are all to be complimented on the skill with which they portrayed their parts. Mrs. T. H. Glaze looked the part of the beautiful Egyptian queen, Cleopatra and was attended by two charming maidens in the persons of Misses Savage and McKitrick. The part of Miriam and her maidens was exceedingly pretty. Miss Mona Ruddy represented Miriam and her maidens were Misses Kent, McKay, Golden, McKeown, Frank and Robertson. Miss Buschlen, of Toronto, appeared in the role of Marie Hall, the famous English violinist. Miss Buschlen possesses a fine technique and showed complete mastery of her art. She graciously responded to the enthusiastic demand for an encore. "We want Votes," was the burden of the plea of a band of three militant suffragettes. The ladies who were so insistent in asking for the right to the franchise were Misses McKay, Darraugh and Harshaw, Mrs. Lugsdin looked the matron in her part of The Mother and received the honors bestowed on her with becoming grace and modesty. She was accompanied by her two children, Master Harold and Miss Helen. The appearance of Mrs. Kent as Queen Victoria and Mrs. Tuck as Columbia was the signal for prolonged applause. Both ladies took their parts extremely well. Messrs. Aiken, Stevenson, H. Lewis, Preston, Holmes and Tuck, guards for Miss Bennett, a daughter of the Regiment, were clad in regulation khaki and carried rifles and bayonets. Their drill exhibition added much to the effectiveness of the number. The other guards were Messrs. Marsden, Bray, Endacott, Chalmers, Robertson and McPherson. Misses Green, Varcoe, Harmon and McGuire accompanied Mary Queen of Scots as her maidens. The young girls who accompanied the Goddess as flower girls and afterwards took part in the pretty song and dance that marked the closing of the Crowning Scene were Misses Fish, Hogg, Dodds, McIntyre, McKenney, Harkness, Ritchie and Coulter.

The arduous duties of accompanist were discharged by Miss C. C. Wright who acquitted herself in a manner that gave universal satisfaction. Mr. K. F. Dewar acted as Herald. The Daughters of the Empire deserve the nearty congratulations of our citizens on the success of their ambitious and difficult undertaking. It is gratifying also to be able to add that the hospital fund will be augmented by a neat sum as a result of the production. The audience both nights included many people from outside points, Alton, Erin, Grand Valley and other neighboring villages being well represented.

DEATH OF JAMES DOWLING.

The death of Mr. James Dowling, a well-known and universally esteemed resident of the community, occurred at his home at Streetsville on Thursday morning, April 29th. The deceased was born in Caledon 81 years ago and when a young man purchased the farm in East Garafraxa, now owned by Mr. Walton King, where he resided for twenty-nine years. Fifty-seven years ago he married Miss Elizabeth Pinkney, of Caledon, who survives with a family of two sons and two daughters. The latter are Messrs. W. A. Dowling, of Caledon; John Dowling, of Streetsville; Mrs. W. J. Robinson, of Toronto, and Mrs. Michael Robinson, of Orangeville. The late Mr. Dowling was a Liberal and a Methodist and had been one of the trustees of Streetsville Methodist Church for several years. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held to Streetsville cemetery on Saturday afternoon. The pallbearers were five grandsons, Messrs. George, Ernest, Frank, Bert and Wilfred Robinson, and Mr. Peter Pinkney. Mr. Dowling's demise will be greatly regretted by the many who were privileged to enjoy his acquaintance.

MRS. ROBERT WILSON.

The death of Mrs. Catharine Wilson, wife of the late Robert Wilson, better known as Squire Wilson, and for many years reeve of Mono and a prominent figure in township affairs, occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Colwell, lot 16, con. 8, Mono, last Thursday. Since the death of her husband, which took place at his home in Orangeville about fifteen years ago, Mrs. Wilson has spent much of her time with her niece, Mrs. Robert Murphy, of Rosemont, and with relatives in Collingwood. She came to Mrs. Colwell's on a visit about two weeks before her death and was taken ill quite unexpectedly. She was 74 years of age and leaves no family. Deceased was highly thought of by her friends and neighbors. In her younger days she was connected with the Primitive Methodist Church and later was an active worker in Ebenezer Methodist Church at Relessey. She was widely known for her kindness and open-handed hospitality. George and James Lindsay, of Toronto, are brothers. There was a very large attendance at the funeral, which was held to St. John's Church cemetery in Mono on Saturday afternoon. Rev. A. C. Collier, rector of Mono Mills parish, conducted the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. James and Percy Colwell, Robert Murphy, W. J. Holmes, Thos. Laverty and George Lindsay.

ALTON.

A case which aroused considerable local interest was tried here on Tuesday afternoon of last week by Justices of the Peace Wm. Hawkins and Samuel Stubbs. David Tudor lodged a complaint against J. Johnston, charging him with assaulting and doing bodily harm to the complainant. From the evidence it appeared that there had been a dispute between Tudor's brother-in-law, George Gibson, and Johnston over the measurement of a quantity of wood, which Gibson and the complainant had cut for the defendant. The difference led to angry words and finally Johnston ordered the complainant off the premises. Tudor refused to go and picked up a heavy stone, which he threatened to throw at Johnston. The defendant retaliated by knocking him over with a measuring stick that he was carrying. Then all three men joined in a free and easy fistic encounter, which terminated without serious damage to any of the contestants. County Crown Attorney McFadden, of Brampton, appeared for the plaintiff and Police Magistrate Pattullo, of Orangeville, was on hand to represent the defendant.

Our citizens are making preparations for the annual Victoria Day celebration on Monday, May 24th. There will be an imposing procession of school children at 1.30 o'clock and am attractive afternoon programme at the Park. The latter will include a baseball match between Alton and Grand Valley, five mile and one mile races, 50 and 100 yard dashes for boys and girls and a number of novelty races. A splendid day's sport is assured and with favorable weather the celebration ought to attract a large crowd.

DROWNED AT GALT

Goodfellow, Who Was Able to Swim, Made Heroic Attempt to Save Carl Stahlschmidt, but Was Compelled to Release His Hold

Galt, May 7.—The first drowning accident of the season in the Grand River occurred about 2 o'clock this afternoon. The victim was Carl Stahlschmidt, son of Mr. W. Stahlschmidt of Preston. Clarence Goodfellow, son of Mr. B. Goodfellow, Galt, had a narrow escape. Both of the boys are G. C. I. students, and after luncheon today they engaged a canoe, intending to paddle a short distance up the river before the afternoon classes began. All went well until just back of the collegiate, when the canoe capsized. Goodfellow was able to swim, but Stahlschmidt was not. The former made a heroic attempt to save his companion's life. He grasped him and held him above the water for some time. Finally Dtahlschmidt in his struggles carried Goodfellow down twice, and the latter was compelled to release his hold. He swam to the shore completely exhausted, and had to be assisted up the bank. Stahlschmidt sank immediately. The accident occurred within fifteen feet of the shore, and in about ten feet of water. The body was recovered at 6 o'clock.

a large crowd. Alton Citizens Band will furnish music.

CHARLESTON.

The Presbyterian Church was struck by lightning about six o'clock on Friday night. The bolt shattered nearly all the windows in the edifice and ripped off the lath and plaster for a distance of about fifteen feet. It also knocked down the chimney, besides doing considerable damage to the roof of the building. The edifice was insured for part of its value in the Canadian Insurance Company. We understand that the congregation has received $407 insurance.

Seeding has commenced around here.

The township council met on Tuesday, May 11th, and transacted the usual round of business.

We understand that the Arlington and Sutton Houses have both received their licenses for 1909.

It is our sad duty this week to report the death of Wilfrid Harold Faulkner, youngest son of Mrs. Allan Faulkner, lot 10, Centre Road. The little lad, who had never been strong, passed away on Thursday. He was 7 years and 10 months of age. The remains were laid at rest in Charleston cemetery at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The pallbearers were four cousins, Messrs. Thompson and Joseph Neshitt, Wm. Emack and Wm. Patterson, jr. The memorial service was conducted by Rev. S. R. Robinson on Sunday evening. "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not."

Mrs. D. Wanless, of Parry Sound, and Mr. and Miss Cruikshank, of Orangeville, were among the friends from outside who attended the funeral.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

A conference of this laymen's movement in the Church of England will be held in Orangeville on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, May 23, 24, 25 and already plans are being arranged, and a most interesting programme has been prepared. This Western Ontario Conference bids fair to be equally successful with the number of other similar conferences which have been held in different parts of the Dominion and already a number of the leading clergy and active laity have promised to take part in making the Conference a most helpful one to all who attend. Orangeville is well situated for such a purpose, the usual holiday rates of single fare will attract men and boys, members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew from all parts of Western Ontario, the cities of Hamilton and Toronto being looked to furnish good numbers. All who are interested in the further extension of Christ's Kingdom amongst men and boys should make a point of being present, and in that way learn of the steady advance of this movement, and of the good practical work that it is doing.

Paul's First Missionary Journey.—Iconium and Lystra. Acts xiv: 1-28.

Golden Text—All the gods of the nations are idols; but the Lord made the heavens. Psalm 96-5.

Can two missionaries working together do more good than they could working separately?

Has the story of Jesus lost or gained, in its charm upon the multitude, since that day?

Was the unbelief of these Jews a matter of the intellect, through lack of evidence, or was it a matter of the heart; that is, a result of their rebellion against God?

Verses 3-7—How do you account for the fact, that the same evidence, and spiritual demonstration, which made one part of the multitude turn to God with gladness of heart, made the other part angry in heart, and murderous in their actions?

Would you judge from this story, that all the good people were on the side of the apostles, and all the bad and dishonest people on the other side?

Will a wise and brave man, sometimes run away from such danger as threatened the apostles, or will he always stay and face it?

The apostles fled to Lystra and Derbe; where are these places situated?

Verse 8—Is there ever any blame to be attached to those who are born with either physical, or moral defects?

Are parents ever to be blamed for either physical or moral defects in their children?

Are pre-natal influences as powerful in shaping a child's destiny as post-natal?

In our present national condition, should the state provide for and maintain all those who are born in an impotent condition?

Verses 9.10—Is faith, like this man had, possible for all, or is it a gift of God, the same as the resultant grace and healing?

Was this a miracle,and whether or not, does God intend to run this world by law or by miracle?

Verses 11-13—What was the idea that these people had of the Deity?

How would it be likely that Barnabas resembled Jupiter, and Paul Mercury to these people?

Is it a trait in human nature to believe in some popular superstition, rather than the plain truth of God?

Verses 14-15—If a man of God is being regarded in some superstitious way, is it his duty to administer a rebuke?

Have the best of men got the same natural passions as the worst of men?

What comfort is there to us in the fact, that God made "the heavens and the earth"?

Verses 16-18—Does God pay the same attention to the crops of the sinner, as he does to the crops of a saint?

Verses 19-20—Was it the same people that stoned Paul,who before this wanted to do sacrifice to him?

Can there be any reliance placed upon the applause of the multitude?

Verses 21-28—What kind of a man is he who, laid out for death through stoning, starts on his way the next day preaching his story of mercy and love?

Lesson for Sunday, May 23rd, 1909 —The Council at Jerusalem. Acts xv: 1-35.

STRONG IN DEATH.

A farmer living a short distance from a city in a moment of weakness blew in twenty-five cents at a departmental store for a spring hat for his wife. On returning home he was so overcome with remorse that he went out to the barn and did the Haaman act from one of the cross-beams. The hired man happening along just before the curtain dropped on the scene promptly cut the old hayseed down. He revived and apparently repented his rashness. At the end of the month, however, while again expressing his appreciation of his employee's act, he qualified it by regretting the latter's extravagance in not untying the rope instead of cutting it, and docked him the price thereof. The hired man believes that he cheated hell out of the meanest man that ever lived outside its sulphurous depths.

Mrs. Richard Austin, an old resident of Albion, died at the home of her son-in-law. Mr. Robert Reeveley, the other day. She was in her 72nd year.

TOO MANY WOMEN SUFFER IN SILENCE

When the Blood is Weak or Out of Order Disease is Inevitable.

Many women go through life suffering in silence—weak, ailing and unhappy. The languor and bloodlessness of girls and young women, with headaches, dizziness and fainting spells; the nervous ailments, back pains and failure of strength of wives and mothers; the trials that come to all women at the turn of life, are caused usually by impoverished watery blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have helped more women to the joy of good health and robust strength than any other medicine in the world. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every part of the body, feeds the starved nerves, strengthens every organ, and makes weak girls and women bright and well. Mrs. A. Eagles, Dundas, Ont., says:—"I am writing this letter out of gratitude to let you know the great benefit Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been to me. From the time I was a girl I suffered from weakness and fainting spells—was always doctoring but it did not help me. As I grew older, I seemed to grow worse. My blood seemed literally turned to water. Sometimes I would faint as often as twice a day. I suffered from indigestion. I could not walk upstairs without stopping to rest on the way, and my heart would palpitate so violently as to produce a smothering sensation. I grew so weak that people thought I was in consumption. I was in this dreadful condition when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my attention and I began taking them. The first sign of benefit I noticed was an improvement in my appetite. Then I began to grow stronger; the color began to return to my face; the fainting spells disappeared and gradually I was brought to a condition of more perfect health than I had ever enjoyed before. This is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, and that they have been of lasting benefit is proved by the fact that it is several years since they restored my health, and I have remained strong and well ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a cure for all troubles due to impure or watery blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, headaches and backaches, indigestion, St. Vitus dance, paralysis, etc. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Blue Blood" is an expression of Spanish origin. It was used in speaking of those who had never intermarried with Moors.

The ruby is the most costly of precious stones. A four-carat ruby is worth £450, and a ruby of forty-seven carats fetched £20,000.

The first woollen cloth made in England was manufactured about 1330, though it was not dyed and dressed by Englishmen until 1667.

The wrestlers and athletes of India develop the greatest strength by subsisting chiefly on milk, with a little goat's flesh, and plenty of farinaceous food.

The shortest people are the Bushmen of Africa. The average stature of their men is but four feet four and three-quarter inches. The bodies of these dwarfs are almost covered with hair, and they are counted as the lowest order of man.

Prof. Boyd Dawkins, of Manchester University, speaking at Bury, said he was not one of those who regarded billiards as frivolous. The game was as necessary for the physical well-being of man as the school of art or science for his intellectual well-being.

The longest human life of modern times, 169 years, is believed to have been attained by Henry Jenkins, of Yorkshire, born in 1501 and dying in 1670. It was proved by court registers of the chancery that he had appeared in evidence 140 years before his death.

To "cut one's stick," meaning to run away, is an expression found not only in English, but also in French, German, Italian and Spanish. It is thought to refer to the practice among travelers of long ago of cutting a staff from a hedge or tree before starting out on a journey.

One of the oldest games in the world is hopscotch. The antiquity of the game is shown by the fact that it is today played everywhere from Britain to Hindustan, and diagrams of hopscotch have been found scratched by the boys of Ancient Rome on the pavement of the Forum. The four commonest forms of it are whirly hopscotch, London hopscotch, pudding and beef and old man's hopscotch.

A curious regulation has been enforced in Russio in the interests of hygiene. The minister of public instruction issued a decree prohibiting the wearing of the corset by young women attending high schools, universities, music and art schools. The decree is based upon the demands of public health. What the young women think of it history deponeth not.

The practice of clothing soldiers by regiments in one uniform dress was not introduced by Louis XIV. till 1665, and did not become general in the British Army for many yeaes afterwards.

THIS EDITOR WAS "FIRED."

The Chesley Enterprise, of which Mr. Wm. McDonald is proprietor and editor, publishes the following in its issue of Thursday, April 29 :—

"Toronto, April 23rd, 1909.

"Sir,—I have the honor to inform you that his Honor the Lieut.-Governor has been pleased to remove you from office as an issuer of marriage licenses.

"Any marriage forms which you may have on hand should be returned at once to the department, with a statement of account in duplicate, when a refund will be made to you of their value.

"I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

THOS. MULVEY,
"Assistant Provincial Secretary."

Dear reader, do you catch the full significance of the foregoing? It means that as an official under the Whitney Government with emoluments ranging from $3.60 to $5.40 per year we have been guillotined. In simpler Anglo-Saxon, our unworthy head has rolled into the basket, and it has been proclaimed throughout this province by means of the official Ontario Gazette that Wm. McDonald, of the town of Chesley, no longer holds a commission to take the first step in making lovers happy.

It was in 1904 that we were recommended by Dr. Stewart, who had the patronage of this riding, to succeed the late D. M. Halliday as an issuer of marriage licenses. Dr. Crow was also an official issuer. In 1905 the Ross Government was turned out of office and two other issuers of marriage licenses were appointed. Chesley has no more need for four issuers than a pig has for a hip pocket, and we expected every mail to bring our doom when the new Government began to use the axe with telling effect. However, it appears the death warrant was signed, but the execution was delayed for five years. Beside the block the sullen headsman stood to smite us where the domesticated fowl got the tomahawk.

And the man who takes the credit of decapitating us is none other than Lieut.-Col. Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieut Governor of the Province of Ontario. What a signal honor to have such a distinguished gentleman preside at the execution! He doesn't get extra pay either for being public executioner. Radcliffe gets $100 for every hanging job, and we have no doubt the work is distasteful enough to him, but Hon. J. M. Gibson professes to be "pleased" with his function. All we have to say is that it takes mighty little to keep him in good humor.

However, there is no accounting for what will tickle some people's fancy. It made us die easier to recollect that even Mary Queen of Scots, King Charles I of England, and that beautiful Queen Marie Antoinette, of France, as they bared their necks to receive the blow, could not boast of a Lieutenant-Governor wielding the broadaxe or tripping the guillotine, How splendid we are in our death!

There must have been a mistake in the order, because Hon. J. M. Gibson was a member of the Cabinet that appointed us, and without asking for an explanation he proceeds joyfully with the gruesome job. Oh! cruel Johnnie Gibson, how could you be "pleased" with such awful work! A brave soldier like you condemning an inoffensive civilian without even a drumhead trial is something unheard of in trials of political offenders. It is too late for you to express regret now. Our official light has gone out. We felt like the man who was to be hanged and was asked if he had anything to say and replied "Nothing, except that this will be an awful lesson to me."

Though Hon. J. M. Gibson assumes the position of chief executioner, of course Col. Clark, M. P. P., is the man who has meted out such a bloody doom to a brother editor. When Col. Clark leads the 32nd Battalion against our country's foes, should it ever be invaded, his experience in beheading Brother McDonald will have familiarized him with the sight of gore. Probably our twitting him in the Enterprise for his inconsistency in supporting the C.N.R. grant of two million acres may have hastened our official obsequies, but we couldn't let a five-dollars-a-year Government position stand in the way of our giving expression to our ideas on grants of public land to Mackenzie & Mann.

Our last license issued was to a Hollander, who is paying his bride's expenses from Holland to Canada, and, according to the Marriage Act, we charged him $2, on which there is a profit of $1.90 or 900 per cent. But no law can prevent us making a wedding present, so we gave the prospective bridegroom back one dollar.

Dear Col. Clark, the next time you are in Chesley please call at the Enterprise office to see us. It will not be the first man you have seen with his official head cut off,but it may be the first to take his decapitation as a huge joke, and who has only one fault to find with you, namely, that the painless operation was delayed so long.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. KEEP THE GIRLS AT HOME.

It is good to see that the powers that be are at last becoming seized of the situation with regard to girls walking the streets. These columns have dealt with the subject so often that it is high time somebody took notice. How parents are so blind as to make police supervision necessary one fails to understand,but there can be no question as to the necessity for such a course.

There is far too much familiarity between girls and boys, young men and women, on the streets, and one is tempted often to wonder what sort of homes they have that some of our young people seem to see so little of them. Noon, afternoon and night—but principally the latter—they are parading up and down, and it need scarcely be said that their boldness does not lessen as their promenades increase.

What sort of housekeepers these girls will make one shudders to even imagine. They certainly never can have time to be learning anything of that sort, and if the truth were told some mother is slaving away,content to do the work rather than take the daughter's impudence.

The worst feature of this street-walking and desertion of home is the effect it has upon both sexes of the young. Listen to the interchange of repartee as they meet, and you have no difficulty in arriving at a true conclusion of the cause of so many distressing cases, some of which reach the courts,but more often are quietly settled rather than incur the disgrace.

Besides, this street walking is leading to respectable girls being insulted. The one leads to the other. Encouragement too often leads to license, and then comes punishment. The fact of the matter is, parents must watch their children closer, especially the girls. They do not know their danger at first, and after a while they are too bold to realize it. Walking the streets at all hours is not right,and parents surely know it. If they do not, or will not, then let the authorities step in and emphasize the lesson, before it is too late.

MADE THE BLOOD RICH AND RED.

Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Hanesville, B.C., writes: "My system was so completely run down that my friends as well as myself thought I could never get better. All medicines failed to help me. A trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food benefitted me and at the end of a month people scarcely knew me I had improved so much. The blood was enriched, color improved, new flesh was added and I got strong and well."

More bread and Better bread

—And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purity Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties. In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Of course this special process is more expensive to operate but it means a lot to Purity flour users—that's why we use it.

It means that Purity Flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

Purity may cost a little more than some flours, but results prove it the cheapest and most economical after all.

BAD LEGS FOR 60 YEARS

ZAM-BUK WORKS A COMPLETE CURE.

Mrs. J. Minett, of 192 Thurbers Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island, has been cured by Zam-Buk of a bad leg, which had defied all remedies for sixty long years. She says:—"When a child of eight, I was bitten on the leg by a dog. A doctor cauterised the place, but it never healed up soundly, and I have suffered with an ulcerated leg for over sixty years. This occurred in England, and many English doctors tried in vain to heal the sore. At one time I was an in-patient at the East Suffolk Hospital for a long period, and for three years I was in and out of hospitals. I was continually in pain, and the sore would not heal, but continued to discharge. Twelve months ago I came out here to my daughter, and during the voyage I had to keep my bed. The ship's doctor examined my leg, and gave me a plaster, which I had to take off again, as it made the pain so intense. When I reached my daughter's house, she sent for a medical man, who said nothing could ever do it any good, and although I tried other American doctors, they did me no good. They said my leg would never be well.

"One day my youngest daughter brought home a box of Zam-Buk, and induced me to try it. With the first application I seemed to find ease, and further treatment with Zam-Buk did me so much good that I sent for a proper supply. I kept on with the Zam-Buk treatment, and soon saw that the wound was getting better. The discharge was reduced, and the pain was eased. I persevered with the Zam-Buk, and, to cut a long story short, it effected a cure. It is marvellous to think that, after suffering for sixty years, Zam-Buk has been able to make my leg perfectly sound."

Zam-Buk is a combination of power and purity. Purely herbal, it is superior to all known remedies for chronic sores and wounds, eczema, salt-rheum, ringworm, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, skin diseases. It also cures piles. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Three boxes for $1.25.

WANT OF DECISION

"There is a tide in the affairs of men
Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."

The most dangerous habit for a young person to acquire is to indulge the inclination to reconsider, balance and weigh a matter after a decision has already been reached. This has a tendency to confuse the brain and make it impossible to get a clear conception. It weakens the power of decision, destroys self-confidence, and is fatal to all achievement. Such a nab it is one of the greatest dissipators of mental power, and the man who indulges this habit is foredoomed to failure. A prompt and positive decision when occasion calls for a decision, means success. The wabbler never succeeds. No one can trust him—he cannot be depended upon. He never becomes a leader. The very essence of leadership is confidence in one's own judgment and ability to impose it on others with promptness and vigor.

Indecision deteriorates character in many ways. It not only destroys confidence and ruins the judgment, but it actually paralyzes the executive faculties. The man who is not enthusiastically sure of the wisdom of his own decision can never execute with vigor.

It is best to decide promptly, even though there may be danger of making a mistake. Better a thousand times suffer the consequences of a mistake now and then than to be forever digging up matters for reconsideration only to weaken your power of decision. The added strength of mind you will acquire by trusting your own judgment and going ahead and doing things will more than compensate for any mistake you may make.

If you go here and there seeking advice in a certain matter, you are lost, for everywhere you ask you will be introduced to a different phase of the case and a different advice, until at last you will not know which way to turn, and likely in the end, you will not do anything at all, for you will be unable to decide. The best way to do is to make up your mind and go ahead, indifferent as to what others may think.

There is no one quality that adds more to life's achievements than the power of prompt, vigorous decision, and this not so much because you are wont never to make a mistake, but because it gives you self-confidence, courage and the quality of leadership, for the great majority of people in the world are like stray, wandering sheep, looking around for a bell-wether, and willing to follow in the wake of those who will take the lead.

The man or woman who decides quickly and firmly has an infinitely better chance of success than the one who is always hovering on the brink of hesitation and uncertainty. A decided man with an air of conscious reserve power carries a positive atmosphere. He impresses you with his force and power to do things. His very presence carries confidence and conviction. All great men have had this manner, and especially great leaders and doers.

The best way to overcome the undesirable habit of indecision is to learn to depend upon yourself. When a question arises for decision, make up your mind to throw all the light possible on the subject, think over it, weigh and consider it yourself, and then decide finally, once for all. According as your intellect is weak and untrained, you may make some mistakes in the beginning, but you will find that such positive action of your own judgment will cultivate your intellectual faculties and you will gain also in force of character, courage and self-confidence.

Cultivate the power of quick decision and your weakness will become strength, your reasoning capacity will increase enormously, and your life will simply be made successful beyond your expectations.

Prompt decision and sublime audacity have carried many a great man over crises where deliberations and indecision Rould have proved fatal. Accustom your mind to make quick, positive, independent decisions. It is the best thing that you can do.

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER.

Thank God, some of us have, and others have had, an old-fashioned mother. Not a woman of the period, enameled and painted, with her great chignon, her curls and bustle; whose white jewelled hands never have felt the clasp of her baby's fingers; but a dear old-fashioned, sweet-voiced mother, with eyes in which the love-light shone and brown hair threaded with silver, lying smooth upon her faded cheek. Those dear hands worn with toil, gently guided our tottering steps to childhood and smoothed our pillow in sickness; even reaching out to us in yearning tenderness, when her sweet spirit was baptized in the pearly spray of the river. Blessed is the memory of an old fashioned mother. It floats to us now, like a beautiful perfume of some woodland blossoms. The music of other voices may be lost but the entrancing memory of her's will echo to our soul, forever. Other places will fade away and be forgotten, but her's will shine on until the light from heaven's portals shall glorify our own.

When in the fitful pauses of busy life our feet wander back to the old homestead, and crossing the well-worn threshold, standing once more in the low, quaint room, as hallowed by her presence, how the feeling of childish innocence and dependance comes over us, and we kneel down in the molten sunshine streaming through the western window—just where, long years ago, we knelt by our mother's knee, lisping "Our Father." How many times when tempter lured us on has the memory of those sacred hours, that mother's words, her faith and prayers, saved us from sin. Years have filled great drifts over between her and us, but they have not hidden from our sight the glory of her unselfish love.

"Some women are always on the go" is the extravagant remark one often hears and it is not always the expression of envy. Strange to say, these are those who think women do too much traveling. Bless our souls, they don't do half enough. The woman whose world is in the four corners of her house, even though she be intellectually above the average and surrounded by evidences of wealth and fine taste, is necessarily more narrow minded and bigoted than her sister, whose mental vision has expanded under the influence of new scenes and balmier skies free from mental perplexities or drudgeries. She who has been "on the go" occasionally is the better mother, the more intelligent helpmeet and the sweetest companion.

A WORD IN TIME

(Alice D. O. Greenwood)

"This is a funny world." You're just right it's a funny world; chuck-full of the jolliest kind of fun; brim-full of mirth, running over with laughter; then what in the name of common sense are you doing with a face as long as a telephone pole? Why don't you smile?

• • •

Pessimism is but a high sounding name for "liver complaint." An optimist is one whose internal mechanism is in good running order, well lubricated with the oil of cheerfulness, and governed by common sense.

• • •

I don't pretend to say that trouble is a myth, but for heaven's sake don't insist upon looking at it through a high power telescope, and running on ahead to meet it, embracing and gloating over it as though you were "twin sisters' children." Possibly by a little side-stepping you may be able to avoid it; if not, grapple with it bravely, always with the determination to slay, and having done so, dig a grave, toss in the remains, jump on them with both feet, tramp them down well, strew poppy petals above them a foot deep, turn your back upon them, whistle a merry tune, go your way and "fergit it."

• • •

The worst never happens. Did you ever think of it in that way? There is no misfortune so great but it might have been greater. You don't agree with me? then let me ask you to recall a single instance in your life, or the life of any of your acquaintances, wherein sorrow, grief or disaster had reached its "ne plus ultra,"—where nothing worse was conceivable. If you have, and have survived it, you at least have that to be thankful for, and can hope for something brighter in the future. No hope, you say? Pardon me, but you mistake—"Hope springs eternal in the human breast." Even the individual who takes his own life is actuated by no other motive than that of hope; hope of escaping conditions in this life he is too cowardly to face.

LOOK OUT FOR PNEUMONIA.

Your system is in a run down condition. You catch cold. You think it will soon pass off. It doesn't. You neglect taking any special care of yourself. Bronchitis develops and then comes pneumonia and a fight for life. A fight which is too often unsuccessful. Why not take every cold seriously and cure it promptly by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

INDEED THEY ARE WONDERFUL.

What Thos. McDonald says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Had Lame Back, Kidney Disease and Heart Flutterings and One Box Cured Him.

Shubenacadie, Hants Co., N. S., May 10. (Special).—"I suffered from Lame Back, Kidney Disease and Heart Flutterings, caused by cold and a strain for three years. I was looking over some papers and saw Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised and I bought one box which completely cured me. Dodd's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

That is the simple, straightforward statement of Mr. Thomas McDonald, a well-known resident of this place. It shows how quickly Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Disease when taken in its earliest stages. Lame Back is one of the first symptoms of sick Kidneys. Heart Fluttering is another symptom. It is caused by blood, from which the sick Kidneys have failed to strain the impurities, increasing the work of the heart. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the sick Kidneys well, the lame back disappears, the blood is purified, the heart is relieved and the flutterings stop.

If the case is of long standing, it may take longer to cure it, but Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to do it.

THE SELAMLYK.

(By A Banker.)

Once a week, on Friday, the Mohammedan Sabbath, the Commander of the Faithful, as he is pleased to call himself, proceeds in state to his mosque. For an hour or two before the hour of prayer the roads leading to this fine oriental fane are practically closed, except to those having permission to occupy an enclosure opposite the mosque gates. And now regiment after regiment marches in, each preceded by its band and followed by its water bearers—men carrying sheepskins—they appear more like pigskins, but as that animal is anathema to the Moslem probably the former supposition is correct — distended with water which is poured out through the animal's nose into a cup and handed round when the regiments halts.

And still they march in, thousands upon thousands of them, lining the entire road, six deep, from the palace to the mosque; the bands playing weird oriental music or western marches, some with almost the precision of an English regimental band. In front is a great assemblage of colonels and generals; mostly covered with orders and medals, and decorated with heavy bullion epaulettes; while on the further side a long line of water bearers is stationed. A few carriages, the coachmen, footmen and runners all in gorgeous livery, now drive in, conveying Turkish ladies to the garden of the mosque, some in ordinary oriental garb, but several dressed in the height or Parisian fashion, though covered with an extremely diaphanous veil which entirely failed to conceal their good looks.

And now from the minaret of the mosque an official, in stentorian tones utters the muezzin, or call to prayer, a bugle sounds, the line of troops present arms, and the aged Sultan slowly drives down in an open victoria smiling and bowing, passing into the mosque midst the loud huzzas of the soldiery. After about half-an-hour—and during the time of waiting the Sultan is good enough to send refreshments to the visitors — the astute old monarch emerges from the mosque and drives back to his palace.

Aye, those Moslems, however lax their morality, and however cruel their methods, cannot have it laid to their charge that they are ashamed of their religion. When they hear the muezzin work ceases and instantly they bow down in prayer. But, alas, how many Christians must plead guilty to such a charge and would be ashamed to be seen on their knees. And yet the religion of the Christian—the belief that the Son of God visited the earth in human form, and after suffering scorn, and contumely, and reproach, died in agony upon the Cross, His sufferings being the punishment for our sins borne by Him in our stead—is a far more comforting creed than cold Mohammedanism. And even the Koran admits that "Christ is the Word of God, proceeding from Himself." (Koran, chap. III)

FEATS OF INDIAN FAKIRS.

Wonderfully Surprising Phenomena are Produced By These Persons—How Accounted For.

By C. Edwin Goodell, M.D., M.E., Ph.D., Newark, New Jersey

There are undiscovered potentialities in every human mind which only await the magic word of a positive command to be awakened from a state of lethargy to the realization of supremacy and power. I may say, furthermore, that there is nothing within the range of possibility which cannot be accomplished by the one who recognizes the unlimited power of the mind and directs it with irresistible energy toward the thing desired.

Many of us encounter, and others read of instances of wonderful psychic abilities, but even so, do not imagine that it made its debut without considerable effort. This may be more fully realized when we take into consideration the extended time required for the development of the eastern adepts, of which I will speak later. One of the most wonderful exhibitions of psychical skill that I have had the pleasure of witnessing away from my native soil was while touring India, some twenty years ago, in company with a well-known American magician, who was in search of mystic material to add to his already extensive repertoire. Not being engrossed in the subject of psychology at that time, but familiar with American magic, I was considerably astonished and, I may say, amazed, at the sight we beheld at an open-air seance given by one of those Oriental wonders, the yogi, or Indian fakir.

The occasion, if I remember rightly, was the Viceroy's natal day, a day of general festivities. Upon approaching the vast audience assembled our attention was particularly attracted to one of these fakirs, a wiry little fellow, who, upon giving a shrill whistle, threw what we supposed to be a rope, in the air, which straightened itself out in its upward flight, instead of falling to the ground, as one would naturally suppose, and was left dangling as is from the sky. Presently the fakir clapped his hands, gave another whistle, and out jumped a small boy from somewhere, no one being within ten or fifteen feet of the fakir, and he being clothed in nothing but a small breech clout. The boy, being in full view of the audience, was picked up from the ground by the fakir and tossed into the air towards the hanging rope. Catching hold of the rope the boy began to climb, monkey-fashion, until he was lost to view in the clear sky. After a few moments up went the fakir until he, too, was lost to view. All eyes at this time were riveted in space, watching for their return; when lo, down came sections of the boy, head, arms, legs and trunk, which fell with a dull thud upon the ground, and again upon looking toward the rope we saw the fakir descending, at first looking like a mere speck in the heavens, but gradually becoming larger as he neared the ground. Upon his reaching the ground the dismembered portions of the boy gathered themselves together, ran towards the fakir and instantly disappeared, leaving the whole assembly in wonderment.

The next phenomenon brought to our view was the mysterious basket trick, a modified form of which may be seen upon the stage at the present time. The fakir produces a small, fragile bamboo basket, which may be examined by the spectators. After thoroughly inspecting same, the wizard places it upon the ground in full view of the audience, closes the lid, opens it again, still showing it to be perfectly empty. The lid is again closed, but in a moment begins to rise and a young girl appears inside the basket. The fakir immediately approaches the basket, forces the girl down with the lid, and upon drawing a long sharp-pointed sword pierces the basket on all sides, thus causing the girl to scream. Each time the sword is withdrawn we could see the blood streaming from its blade. The groans of the child and the sight of the blood were sickening in the extreme. As the last dying gasp of the child was heard, the fakir opened the basket, showing it perfectly empty, the child having disappeared. Upon examing the basket once more we found no evidence of blood anywhere in the basket or upon the ground.

We looked at one another in amazement. My companion said to me, "Are we awake, or are we all asleep?" I could say nothing; candidly speaking, I was dumfounded.

The seance ended there, and I have never witnessed anything like it since.

Other instances of these wonderful exhibitions of skill have since been reported by various travelers. The report of officers of an English warship, in company with several English civil officials is full and complete regarding these wonderful psychological manifestations. One officer says: "The first time I saw one of these brown fellows doing his tricks I'll tell you it opened my eyes as wide as saucers. We were lying in an East Indian port, several miles out, when he came swimming through the surf and scrambled up the anchor's cabin as nimble as a monkey. He wore no clothing except a narrow cloth around his loins, and had nothing else upon him but a red cloth about a yard square. The first thing he did was to pick up from the deck a ball of twine which some sailors were using, and as he unwound the string from the ball it went straight up in the air, instead of falling to the deck, in accordance with the law of gravitation. He next took from the hand of an officer a half cocoanut, and holding this aloft, caused twelve buckets of water to flow from it. Mind you, this fellow came over the rail of the ship. He could not have had a confederate or any means of assistance on board, because we had just come to anchor after a voyage of several thousand miles. Everything he used in his tricks belonged to the officers and other men on board. An audience crowded close around him, and there was no possible chance for deception. The fakir then took a large earthen dish, poured into it a gallon of water, and held it in his left hand, the other being lifted to his forehead. The vessel began to diminish in size and shrank until it entirely disappeared. Suddenly we saw a brown object, no larger than a grain of sand, which grew larger and larger until the dish regained its original dimensions, filled with water, which he spilled upon the deck. His last performance left us so amazed that I, for one, went into a splitting headache from thinking about it. He held up for inspection the red cloth which he brought with him. In order to keep it from getting wet as he swam out, he had it tied to the back of his neck in a tight little bundle. He passed it along and every one examined it closely. There was evidently nothing unusual about it. It was a plain piece of goods of coarse texture. After spreading it out flat upon the deck he walked around it several times, muttering to himself and turning his eyes upwards. Something began to move beneath the cloth. It grew in size as we looked, and out hopped a monkey, chattering and grinning like a little savage. In another minute an ugly cobra poked its venomous head from under the edge of the cloth and wriggled out in plain view. A much larger object began to stir beneath the mysterious red cloth and a girl about twelve or fourteen years old arose to her feet and stood smiling there among us.

The looks of amazement on the faces of the men in that group is something I shall never forget. Before any one could stir, the fakir clapped his hands, then his creatures vanished into air. Quickly folding up his little cloth he leaped into the sea and swam away with the graceful, easy strokes of a strong swimmer.

In order to judge concerning the performances of the yolis, Indian fakir, etc., it is needful to bear in mind that these people possess the power of producing hallucinations in the minds, which they mentally impress upon the minds of the spectators, not upon one, only, but upon hundreds and thousands at once, making what is known as a collective hallucination. The basis upon which all exhibitions of this magical power rests is a knowledge of the relations that exist between objective and subjective states of existence. If we conceive in our mind of a picture of a thing we have seen before, an objective form of that thing comes into existence within our own mind, and is composed of the substance of our mind. If, by continual practice, we gain sufficient power to hold on to that image and prevent it from being driven away and dispersed by other thoughts, it will become comparatively dense, and be projected upon the mental sphere of others, so that the latter may actually believe to see objectively that which exists merely as an image within our own mind; but if we cannot hold on to that one thought—a mental picture—and control it at will, we cannot produce its reflection upon the minds of others, and therefore such psychological experiments as the moving of ponderable abjects, levitation, rope and basket mysteries, spirit materialization, etc., etc., often fail, not on account of the weakness of those who desire to experiment, but have not the power to concentrate and control their own thoughts and render them sufficiently solid for transmission. A novel way of demonstration is to hypnotize a person and silently formulate in our mind a fictitious scene representing a burning building and a mother with her child in her arms appearing at an upper window; or, we may mentally picture the murder of the subject's wife, mother or child. The subject, standing several feet away, with his face to the wall, perceives the scene with vividness which we have formulated and projected mentally, with all the emotion that such scenes would naturally excite.

Here we witness a psychical manifestation, a phenomenon, a transference of ideas from operator to subject, thus producing what may be termed a telepathic hallucination.

There can be no doubt of these yogi performances being illusions, because an attempt to photograph any of them reveals nothing but an empty plate. You are simply made to see things which do not really exist.

Never mind what hypothesis you accept as to the origin of these phenomena; the important thing is that the phenomena are produced, and that the fakir and medium get them and produce them because they followed the necessary rules for producing them.

In conclusion, I would say that these observations have a direct bearing upon telepathy. They show that the observer must forget self and concentrate his mind upon the operator or the process in hand; he would, in this case, naturally be expectant. The operator, in turn, has his whole mind concentrated upon the scene to be enacted.

By carefully observing the incidents of this kind and keeping a careful record of them, I have gathered considerable evidence of the influence of one mind over another.

These phenomena, therefore, may be accounted for upon the theory of telepathic suggestion. There are, permit me to add, many occurrences which seem to support the hypothesis that the exercise of the will-power of an individual being for the control of his own functions, induces a like impulse in the brain or nerve centers of an other, the more powerful the concentration of the will-power of the one and the less the effort of the other to resist its effects, the greater the induced impression will be. The physical and psychical phenomena of Hindooism and Spiritualism, therefore, may be explained by telepathy, magic, or muscular automatism and illusion, or unconscious misrepresentation telepathically projected. The Hindoos, owing to that intent love for solitary meditation, which has been one of their most pronounced characteristics as far back as 580 B. C., have developed the subjective mental faculties to such an extent that Western civilization look on in wonderment. Hypnotism (suggestion) is, therefore, the key that unlocks the secret cabinets of this science, and robs it of its further mysteries. A man who can hypnotize any part of his own anatomy, cause his heart to stop visible pulsation, his external surface to grow cold, his eye to become fixed and his breath to depart, has, indeed, a wonderful power, and is endowed with a full complement of concentrative ability.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

The Best of All Breakfast Foods

There's a reason behind all fads and fancies. We required light breakfast foods and the market was flooded with health foods (so-called.)

But—the best breakfast food in the world is "Zephyr Cream" Soda Biscuits crushed in cream or fresh, sweet milk.

Christie's "Zephyr Cream" Sodas

have more original goodness than all other sodas manufactured on this continent. More than that, the original goodness of Christie's Biscuits is lasting. The flavor does not vary.

All big biscuit makers buy a good brand of flour. We buy all good brands. Then we blend the best brands, sift and test the blend until we find a dough that will sustain the Christie reputation.

Expensive! Yes—but we know no other way of starting to make biscuits up to our own high standards.

Every ingredient entering into our "bakes" is the purest and best we can buy.

Our "Zephyr Cream" Sodas crushed in cream, or fresh milk, certainly do make an excellent light breakfast. You test them.

OPPOSITION PROTESTS

Mr. Borden's Followers Object to Passing of Conmee Bill.

Ottawa, May 18th, 1909.—Among the strong protests registered by Opposition members against the passing of the Conmee bill to incorporate the Ontario and Michigan Power Company, none was stronger than that recorded by the member for Dufferin. The question of jurisdiction involved in the bill was the one upon which the House divided, the Government taking the position that the provincial sphere was in no degree invaded. Dr. Barr held a contrary view. He spoke as follows:

At this late stage of the session, when we are anxious to bring our work to a close, it is very unfortunate that this Bill should be brought up again. When the right hon. gentleman turned it down the other day, we thought we had heard the last of it for this session at least, but we have it popping up again like an irrepressible jack-in-the-box. The legal aspect of the question has been fully discussed, and I do not think it can be seriously pretended that this government has exclusive jurisdiction. Even if the British North America Act be strained to give it some jurisdiction, at least the Ontario government have rights in these water-powers within their own province, and ought to be left free to deal with them. We are told that the Bill passed the committee, but we must remember that it passed at a rather stormy meeting and contrary to the vote of the Ontario members, both Liberal and Conservative. It only passed by virtue of the vote of members from the other provinces who are not directly interested and who were drummed up for that purpose. I know that Ontario members on the Liberal side remained away and refused to vote for the Bill but did not like to appear and vote against it out of regard for my hon. friendthe promoter of the Bill (Mr. Conmee). I hope that no one imagines that we on this side oppose the measure because my hon. friend is the promoter. We would oppose it just as strongly if it were put forward by an hon. member on this side. We are opposing it on principle because we believe it is of vital importance to the province of Ontario that that province should have control in this matter, and if necessary we are prepared to oppose it from day to day and thus prolong this session which we all desire to see brought to an end. I think the right hon. the Prime Minister has been ill advised in giving his consent to have this Bill brought up again. We must remember that the company in question is largely controlled by American citizens, who will no doubt, in the working out of the measure place the interest of their own country first. Let me remind the House that when the Niagara Power Company Bill was brought in a year ago, we took the precaution to provide that only the surplus power should be sold on the other side of the line, but no such precaution is taken in this measure, and the company may sell the greater part of its power in the United States. Under the circumstances, the Bill is a most dangerous one. The Ontario government have appointed an electric commission which has done good work in the province of Ontario, and that policy has been endorsed by an overwhelming majority of the free and independent electors of that province. If there is one Act more than another of the Ontario government which the people appreciate it is their reserving of these powers for the province. Under the circumstances, it would be a blunder and a crime against the province of Ontario if we should pass this Bill. This House ought not to put itself in a hostile attitude to any province. We ought to remember that our water-powers are the greatest assets which our provinces possess. They are the white coal of the country, to which we look to take the place of the ordinary coal when that is exhausted. Under the circumstances we ought to be very careful not to give a perpetual franchise which will take this power out of the province altogether. This is one of the greatest water-powers we have in that part of the country. Without going into the legal question, it seems to me that the province is better fitted to deal with this asset than is the Dominion parliament. Charters of this kind are usually given by the Ontario government; and if this session be delayed on account of this Bill, the responsibility must rest on this government.

I submit that this is one of the most important measures that have been brought before the House this session, and I venture to say that the end is not for the general advantage of Canada that as soon as the iniquity was pointed out, the government consented to remedy it. We pointed out that this work was not for the general advantage of Canada from the fact that it was only a water-power on one part of the river. The Minister of Justice declared that it might be for the general advantage of Canada, and it might not. The result was that that part was taken out —because this side of the House fought it not only in committee but in the House. It was found to be a very glaring objection and the result was that the promoter of the Bill was willing to cut it out. The hon. member for Rainy River is satisfied to cut it down in any direction. All he wants is to get the Bill through and then he imagines that he can come forward next year and get just what he requires. If he can only get in the thin edge of the wedge and succeed in dividing the jurisdiction between this House and the province he will have accomplished his object. I am somewhat surprised to find the Prime Minister claiming that he has always been the champion of provincial rights. When I was in the provincial House and when we were fighting the question of provincial rights we always stood shoulder to shoulder with the government.

There was never a time when the Mowat government were in the right that we were at variance with them. On every occasion we gave them all the assistance we could and we said to them: We want you to fight the question out in the highest tribunal not only in the Dominion but in the empire. If the First Minister was then zealous of provincial rights he has certainly fallen from grace. Now, a fair offer has been made by my hon. friend from Peel (Mr. Blain). He asks that this Bill go back to the committee in order that the government of Ontario may have the right to present their case. They have no right to be heard upon this Bill at the present time, and it is not one iota less objectionable than the old Bill which was rejected after a hard fight by hon. gentlemen on this side of the House. By this new Bill we are usurping a power which we have no right to usurp. We are endeavouring to pass one of the most important Bills that has ever been before this House without placing it before a committee in order that all parties outside of the House interested in it may have an opportunity of expressing their views, and, if necessary of opposing the Bill. Outside of the members of the House no person has any right to be heard on this question. It is a principle of our British institutions that all Bills before the House should be sent to a committee so that those whose rights are affected shall have an opportunity of going before that committee and of stating their objections. This right has been denied in this case. The proposition has been made but hon. gentlemen opposite say that they cannot accede to it. Why? Are they afraid of the people? Are they afraid of the Ontario government? Why should we depart from the usual custom? What is the urgency in connection with this Bill? If this Bill is allowed to pass, and if we accept the statement of the Prime Minister, any Bill affecting the water-powers or assets of the province of Ontario can be passed by the Dominion parliament so long as the incorporators join with some other company in the United States or other foreign land. If that is the case every water-power in Ontario can be taken over by the Dominion. We are anxious to preserve these water-powers. The Ontario government have accomplished more in the last two years in connection with the preservation of water-powers, by forming a commission for the purpose of developing these powers than any government has done since the days of confederation. If any person can bring in a Bill of this kind affecting any water-power in the province of Ontario the result will be that the hands of the Ontario government will be tied. The work of the last few years will be set aside and this House will be usurping a power which was never intended to be exercised by it. Under these circumstances we are quite justified in exerting our strength and power in the effort to enforce our rights. The promoter of this Bill tells us that there are no rights affected, that the government have exhausted their one fifth in connection with the road because they have made two roads, one going north and the other south. But, has he given us the evidence that they have exhausted their one-fifth? Have we not reason to believe that the government have yet in reserve much of that one fifth? Have the government even put a road along the water's edge or any part of it? The result of the passage of this Bill will be an immediate conflict between the province and the Dominion. We do not know who is the owner of this property that we are handing over by this Bill.

Well, we come next to clause 2. What do we find? There is only one of the incorporators who resides in Ontario. All the rest of them, or at least three of them are from the United States and one from Manitoba. I submit that we would proceed much faster if the government would act in the way they do in connection with many other Bills. I submit that we would make much better progress if this Bill were to go back in accordance with the suggestion of my hon. friend from Peel so that we could discuss it in committee.

An Hon. Member. 'Carried."

Mr. Barr. Calling out 'carried' will not put this Bill through the House. There are two or three hon. gentlemen on the other side of the House who seem to think that the object their constituents had in sending them here was to call out 'carried.' If we were to inquire what they had accomplished in this House we would find that they had not done much more than call out 'carried.' This Bill is too important to be rushed through the house as hon. gentlemen are endeavoring to do. We have settled the question that the provincial government have all the power that is required to enable this company to unite with interests in the United States to operate a power plant. It is the provincial government which knows best whether or not it is in the interest of the country that such a Bill as this should pass. I appeal to hon. gentlemen from the other provinces to hesitate before supporting this Bill. The time may come when the rights of other provinces will be infringed upon and then they will require the assistance of the Ontario members who have always shown themselves ready to stand up for provincial rights. It must not be forgotten that Ontario is the banner province of this Dominion, that it is growing faster than any other province, and that it will demand its rights. When the Liberals were in power in the province of Ontario their boast was that they stood up for provincial rights and demanded justice for their province but their friends in this House seem to have gone back on these principles.

WILL NOT GO TO NIAGARA.

Following the announcement made by Sir Frederick Borden in presenting the militia estimates that in order to economize some of the rural corps should receive their annual training at local headquarters, the following corps in the Western Ontario command are now under orders to so train:—Military district No. 1 —24th Grey's Horse, 1st Brigade Field Artillery, 30th and 32nd Regiments of Infantry. Military district No. 2—Governor-General's Body Guard, "C" Squadron 2nd Dragoons, 23rd, 31st, 35th and 97th Regiments of Infantry.

Arrangements have not yet been completed for the exact time, and place of the training of each of the above corps. The Body Guards will train somewhere in the vicinity of Toronto at a date not yet fixed upon The 2nd Dragoons will train at Burford, date not yet decided; the 23rd at Parry Sound, probably September 7 to 18; 31st at Owen Sound, and 35th at Collingwood, June 28 to July 10.

The other corps in western Ontario will train as usual in camp at London and Niagara, these camps being held simultaneously from June 15 to 26. A large amount of money will be saved by this plan in transportation alone, particularly in regard to corps at a considerable distance from the central camps.

The 30th Peel Regiment will, it is likely, go to camp at Niagara as usual.

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

Functions such that each suffers when the other is deranged.

When the liver becomes sluggish and torpid in action, or is given too much work by over-eating, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all this work to do.

The beginning is biliousness, indigestion and constipation and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements and finally kidney disease.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the rational cure for kidney disease, just as they are the most successful, because they get at the cause of trouble and exert a combined and direct influence on liver, kidneys and bowels.

They promptly and thoroughly cleanse the bowels or intestines and by awakening the action of the liver take the burden off the kidneys. Then by their direct action on the kidneys bring about the natural and healthful working of these organs.

THE MICHIGAN PROHIBITION VOTE.

Upwards of six hundred saloons and ten breweries will be forced out of business in the 10 counties of the State of Michigan, which voted "dry" at the election held on April 5th. In the eight counties which the liquor interests carried there are about 300 saloons.

On April 1 last year there was but a solitary county in Michigan which did not have saloons. Eleven counties since then abolished open saloons and in 19 of the other counties the issue was voted upon at the spring elections just held. During the last year 305 saloons and 2 breweries have been forced to go out of business in Michigan.

While the temperance sentiment is thus strengthening itself in various parts of this state and prohibition areas are being enlarged it is to be noted with regret that in Washtenaw, a county with the University of Michigan, within its borders, prohibition failed to carry by 800 votes. A very important sphere for temperance reform activities is in colleges themselves, where, in too many cases, loose and harmful drinking customs prevail according to a notable utterance of Dean Victor C. Vaughn, who in recently addressing a large number of students on "College Life," said: "At least ten per cent. of University of Michigan students ought never to have entered here. The greatest curse to University students here is alcohol. Nearly every case of going wrong can be traced to drinking. The American saloon is the greatest curse on God's earth, and Ann Arbor gives a good example of it. The amount of drinking among Michigan University students is deplorable, and it is while under the influence of liquor that many do acts which bring discredit on themselves and the institution they attend." Dean Vaughn thinks that some of the college fraternities are to blame for this state of things, and that many faculties make the work of the students too easy.

The marriage will take place early in June.

—The Old Southland Sextette will furnish a musical treat that no person should miss.

RENOVATING THE QUEEN'S.

Mr. T. H. Glaze, the new landlord of the Queen's hotel, is renovating and refurnishing this popular hostelry in thoroughly modern manner. The interior has been repapered and fresh painted throughout and the carpets are being replaced with handsome and expensive rugs. The Queen's has always enjoyed a large share of the commercial trade and in fitting up the house Mr. Glaze is giving special attention to the comfort and convenience of the travellers. His efforts will no doubt be greatly appreciated by the many commercial men who have occasion to visit Orangeville.

DEFENDANTS RESPONSIBLE.

Mr. Justice McMahon gave judgment last week in an interesting and rather unusual case. An Esquesing farmer named McGibbon sued the J. P. Laurason Co., an incorporated company, carrying on the business of druggists in Milton, for damages for the death of a horse, which the plaintiff alleged was killed by the wrongful administration of croton oil. The defendants maintained that they had followed directions for mixing the medicine and were not responsible. The medicine was compounded by an assistant named McKenney, who had been in a drug store and had passed his primary examination, but was not a licensed chemist and druggist. The judge held that the defendants were liable for having, through an assistant, compounded croton oil, one of the poisons named in schedule A of the Act and assessed the amount of the damages at $215, allowing $200 for the value of the horse and $15, that McGibbon paid for the services of a veterinary. The judgment carries superior court costs.

PRESENTED THIRTEEN YEARS AGO.

It is interesting to recall that the present is not the first occasion on which "The Temple of Fame" has been presented in Orangeville. The performance was given in the Town Hall on May 12th and 13th, 1896, thirteen years ago, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. The production, as in the present instance attracted large audiences and was a splendid success. Mrs. McIntyre took a leading part in the former performance and appeared in the role of Goddess. Many of the other parts were the same as in the present production, but were taken by persons who have since then left Orangeville, Canada was personified by Miss Netta Marshall, now Mrs. J. A. M. Alley, of Toronto, Queen Isabella of Spain by Mrs. Semple, Queen Elizabeth by Miss Jessie McCormack, Sappho by Mrs. Wm. Wallace, and The Mother by Mrs. Wm. Fleming, all of whom are now residing in Toronto. Miss Nellie McLean, now Mrs. W. T. Aitken, of Alliston, represented Cleopatra; Miss Bertha Kelly, now Mrs. Thompson of New York, Patti; Miss Maggie Marshall, who is now living in California, Portia; Miss Maggie Turnbull, now of Ottawa, Flora McDonald and Miss Young, now Mrs. J. J. Still, of Toronto, Maggie Mucklebackit, the Scotch fish girl. Others, whose names and parts will be remembered by those who witnessed the former performance, were Miss Bull, Miss Evans, of the High School staff, Miss Amy McLean, (now the wife of Professor Hogg of McMaster University) Miss Jennie Clark (Mrs. (Rev.) D. H. Hamilton) Miss Augusta Cooper, Miss Nellie Williamson, Miss Nellie Cruikshank, Miss Jennie Crozier (Mrs. (Rev.) W. J. Knox) Miss Mabel Campbell (Mrs. Poapst, of Ottawa) Miss Eva Jull, Miss Van Dusen and Miss Mina Emslie (now in Calgary). Miss Florence Wishart represented Miriam and her maidens were Misses McFaul, Irvine, Monkman, McArthur and Maud and Rena Clark. Miss Irvine and Miss Rena Clark still reside here. The flower girls were Misses Myers, Campbell, McDonald, Murray, Kearns, Stevenson, Johnston, Chapman, Fraser, Robinson, McMillan and Thompson.

OLD LADY KILLED.

About noon last Thursday Mrs. George Elliott, an aged widow lady residing near Belwood, was run down by the C. P. R. westbound passenger train, and instantly killed. Mrs. Elliott, who was 75 years of age, lived all alone about a mile from Belwood, into which she was walking along the track when she met her death. Apparently she saw the train coming and realized her danger, for she got clear of the track, according to the engineer, and then in bewilderment, caused doubtless by the fright, jumped back on to the track again just as the engine reached her. She was thrown quite a distance and instantly killed.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING.

A meeting of all temperance workers and those in sympathy with the local option movement will be held in the Public Library Auditorium on Tuesday evening, May 18th, at 8 o'clock. All interested are requested to kindly attend.

LOCAL OPTION IN CALEDON.

A meeting of Caledon township temperance workers was held in the Methodist Church in Charleston, on Thursday, May 6th, at which it was unanimously decided to inaugurate a local option campaign for the municipality. A central executive committee was elected and meetings for organization will be held in each of the polling sub-divisions about the middle of June.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW

The Western Ontario Conference of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will be held in Orangeville on Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, May 22 to 25. There will be a preparatory devotional service on Saturday by Rev. Canon Hague, of London. The Lord Bishop of Niagara will celebrate the Holy Communion on Sunday morning. A mass meeting for men will be held in the Town Hall on Sunday at 4 p.m. A public meeting will be held in the Town Hall on Monday night, at which Mr. N. F. Davidson, K.C., of Toronto, will preside.

OLD SOUTHLAND SEXTETTE.

The Old Southland Sextette, said to be America's premier, Colored Jubilee Concert Company, will give one of their inimitable programmes in the Town Hall on Friday evening, May 21st. The Sextette comes to Orangeville under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church. The organization has given concerts in many Ontario towns and cities and has won the highest praise from press and ministers. Their visit will give opportunity for an evening of mirth and melody, of which citizens of all denominations should take advantage. Admission, popular prices, 25c. and 35c. Reserved seat plan at T. Stevenson's drug store.

FACTORY FOR SALE.

An elderly tramp, who was journeying north along the railway track one evening recently, settled down for the night a short distance above Caledon East. Feeling cold he gathered together a quantity of sticks and wood, and make himself a roaring fire to warm his benumbed body. Laying himself down it was not long until the fire began to make him feel sleepy and his trampship soon fell soundly off into the arms of Morpheus. During his slumbers he rolled over, turning his back to the fire, and getting too close to the blazing fuel for safety. Slowly the flames crept toward him and the fire being no respecter of persons seized hold of the posterior portion of his trousers and before the sleeper awoke had burned an orifice about six inches square. Next morning the tramp retraced his steps down the track south, and there was flying behind him the sign, "factory for sale."

REDUCTION OF INSURANCE RATES.

We have been informed by D. B. Brown & Son, General Insurance Agents of this town that they have received official notice from The Canadian Fire Underwriters of a substantial reduction of insurance on mercantile risks in this town. The reduction took effect on the 4th. inst. and averages 15 cents per hundred dollars. This change we understand has been largely brought about by recommendations of Tariff Agents who have been anxious to serve the insuring public in protecting them from weaker Companies.

MASTER OF MASONIC LODGE.

Mr. W. M. Noble, of E. C. Clark & Co's. staff, is receiving the hearty congratulations of his friends on his election to the high office of Worshipful Master of True Blue Lodge, No. 98, A. F. & A. M. Bolton. The election was held on Friday night and W. Bro. Noble and his assistant officers will be regularly installed at the next meeting. Mr. Noble is well skilled in the secret work of the craft and will fill the responsible office of Master worthily and with honor to himself and the Lodge.

IDYLWYLD TENNIS CLUB.

Orangeville will have a lawn tennis club this season. At a meeting at Miss Ingraham's on Monday night the Idylwyld Lawn Tennis Club was organized with the following officers: Hon.-President, Mr. W. G. Hyland; President, Dr. W. H. Bowles; Vice-President, Mr. Geo. Robb; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Stanley R. Frost; Grounds Committee, Messrs. Thos. J. Brown, J. M. Marsden and H. B. Barnes.

Lawn Tennis was very popular in Orangeville some years ago, but has been played very little for the best two or three years. There are however quite a number of players in town and there should be little difficulty in securing a large and enthusiastic membership. The Club will lay out courts on Idylwyld Park.

HORSE AND RIG DISAPPEARED.

Ex-Reeve Richard Allen, of Mono, drove into town Wednesday afternoon of last week, and tied his horse and buggy in the Dufferin House sheds. Less than an hour afterwards, when he went to the shed to get his outfit preparatory to starting for home, he found both horse and buggy had disappeared. A fresh track could be discerned leading out through the back entrance to the yard, and it is thought that the person who took the outfit drove off in this direction. Mr. Allen lost no time placing the matter in the hands of the local authorities. Word was sent to the police in neighboring towns and villages, but up to the present time Mr. Allen has been unable to get any trace of his missing property.

WANTED IN HAILEYBURY.

Chief Speers Makes an Important Arrest.

Chief Speers received the following letter a few days ago:—

Haileybury, Ont., April 30, 1909

To Chief Police, Orangeville.

Dear Sir,—I hold warrant for the arrest of James Leavoy on charge of fraud. Height about 5 ft. 9 or 10 inches, weight about 175 lbs., dark complexion; heavy drinker; left here about 4 weeks ago; clean shaven when he left here. If arrested wire me at my expense.

JOHN MILLER,
Chief Constable, Haileybury.

About 5.30 p.m. yesterday Chief Speers saw a man in the sheds of a local hotel, whom he at once identified as Leavoy, who has been frequently here and is well known to the police as an undesirable citizen. The man put up quite a resistance, but the Chief commandeered the assistance of Robt. McBride and there was not much use in objecting after that. Chief Speers, who deserves credit for the plucky capture, wired the Haileybury authorities who will come to take back the prisoner, who is now confined in the lock-up. His clothes were badly used up in the mix up.

A Guarantee of Safety.

Most of the "soothing" syrups and powders advertised to cure the ills of babies and young children contain poisonous opiates, and an overdose may kill the child. Baby's Own Tablets are sold under the guarantee of a government analyst that they contain no opiate or harmful drug. They can be given with absolute safety to a new born child. They cure all those minor ailments originating in disordered stomach or bowels. Mrs. F. Young, River Hebert, N.S., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and stomach trouble and when my baby was teething, and have found them the best medicine I know of for these troubles." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RED ROSE THEATRE.

Little Prince, the wonderful English juggler, is the star attraction at the Red Rose Theatre this week and is drawing large houses nightly. Some of his feats are little short of marvellous. For next week the management has secured the Loraine sisters, singers and dancers, who come highly recommended and are said to do some exceedingly clever and entertaining vaudeville work.

These women are only a few of thousands of living witnesses of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in this advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable and honest medicine, and that the statements made in our advertisements regarding its merit are the truth and nothing but the truth.

WHAT MAC, THE FARMER, SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 30.—The Parliament of Canada, as all Canadians must know, consists of three branches defined as follows by the British North America Act—the Imperial statute of 1867, which is our written constitution: "There shall be one Parliament for Canada consisting of the Queen, an Upper House styled the Senate, and the House of Commons." That declaration stands to-day with of course the word Queen being replaced by King. Our Parliament, therefore, in two of its essential elements corresponds exactly to the Imperial Parliament. The Sovereign is the head of both and the great law-making body of each consists of a House of Commons whose members are elected by the people. Each has an Upper House but in their composition there is a wide and radical difference. In the Imperial Parliament that Upper House is composed of the peers of the realm. In Canada there are no hereditary legislators and our Upper House, the Senate, is composed of men appointed to their posts by the Governor-in-Council, which means the Cabinet of the day. Of course the Sovereign is never present at our Parliament but is represented by His Excellency the Governor-General, to whom is delegated vice-regal power.

The other day when the proceedings in the House of Commons were dull the new member strolled over to the eastern half of the House of Parliament to have a look at the Senate and see for himself how the Upper Chamber transacts its business. As soon as one enters that half of the building one is aware that he has entered upon the jurisdiction of another body. Even the carpets and the decorations of the wall tell him that. In the Chamber of the Commons, in the lobby and the corridor the prevailing color is green, just as it is in the British House of Commons. In the Senate Chamber, in the broad corridor that runs around it and in the wide vestibule in front everything that admits of color is red, after the fashion of the British House of Lords. Carpets, and curtains, desktops and lounges are not only brighter than they are in the House but they are less worn and more luxuriant. Of course there are fewer members to wear them and the hours of use are shorter.

The Chamber of the Senate is of the same size and shape as that of the Commons, but the interior arrangements of the two are entirely different. In the Commons the members' seats ranged in rows run across the chamber; in the Senate the rows run lengthwise but they do not reach down to the lower end of the room, but only to the heavy brass railing known as the bar. Below the bar is a vacant space containing a few desks for the newspaper representatives, for there is no press gallery in the Senate as there is in the House. It is in this vacant space below the bar that the members of the Commons stand when the ceremony of opening and closing the session takes place and when His Excellency reads his speeches from the throne. The throne stands at the upper end of the chamber, consisting of a massive and beautifully carved chair standing on a dais and surmounted by a canopy of plush bearing on its top the arms of Great Britain. Immediately below the throne is the Speaker's chair, but when the throne is occupied this chair is pushed to one side. Running down from the throne and the Speaker's chair is a broad passage or "gang way," extending down the entire length of the chamber to the bar, and in this space is a long massive table used by the Clerk of the Senate and his assistant; and further down are the little tables of the shorthand writers who make the official reports of the debates. With its marble walls, its glittering brass fixtures, its red furnishings and its artistic stained-glass windows the Senate Chamber is certainly a handsome and very imposing place.

Coming over from the House with its two hundred and twenty-one members, its bustle and its stormy debates, the new member is at once struck by the quiet and decorum of the Upper House. There is an air of repose about the place wanting in the other chamber, and perhaps too an air suggesting, that to-morrow will do just as well as to-day for the business on hand. No Senator need complain of overwork, and perhaps that is well, for the majority of the Senators are well on the journey of life and at that age when men prefer to do things with deliberation and leisure.

The Senate consists of eighty-seven members, appointed, as has been stated by the Government, so that the political complexion of the Senate depends largely upon the length of time a party is in power. When the Liberals came into office thirteen years ago the Conservatives were in a majority and that majority, it will be remembered threw out the Government's Yukon Railway bill. Whenever a Conservative Senator died a Liberal was appointed to the vacancy; and this process together with the new seats given to the West because of increase of population, has given the Liberals a majority. Even if the Conservatives went into office to-morrow it would be a long time before there would be a sufficient number of changes in the Senate to give them a majority there.

The appointments are for life, the indemnity is the same as that of a member of the House, $2,500 a session, there are no elections to fight, the hours of the sittings are short, the work is light and agreeable, so that "taking one consideration with another" the Senator's lot is by no means an unhappy ane.

In its organization and procedure as well as in its powers the Senate differs widely in several important respects from the House of Commons. In the House the members elect the Speaker, in the Senate the Speaker is appointed by the Government, just as the Lord Chancellor who presides over the House of Lords is appointed. In the House a member rising to address the House always first addresses the Speaker. In the Senate a member rising to speak addresses himself to the Senators—"honorable gentlemen." In the House the members of the two parties are grouped—Ministerialists to the right, Opposition to the left of the Speaker:: in the Senate this is not the case and each side of the Chamber contains members of both pollitical parties.

In the House the Speaker cannot take part in the debates; in the Senate, by calling upon a fellow-member to temporarily take the chair, he can step down to the floor and deliver a speech upon the matter in hand. The Speaker of the House can vote only in case of a tie when he has the casting vote: the Speaker of the Senate can vote on every question and in case of a tie the Senate is held to have decided in the negative. There is no casting vote.

Perhaps the two most important differences in the powers of the two Houses are these: The Senate cannot compel a government to resign. It may reject government measures, it may pass motions censuring and condemning the government, but there its power ends, for so long as the government has behind it a majority of the members of the House of Commons, the elective body specially representing the people, it is held to possess the confidence of the people, and, therefore, the right to advise His Excellency and administer the country's affairs. And the second difference of legislative power is that with respect to money bills — bills having to do with revenue and taxation and the granting of supplies to the government. Such bills cannot be initiated or amended in the Senate, although the Senate may reject them. For instance, a bill increasing the customs duties or one proposing to grant a subsidy to a railway company could not first be introduced in the Senate. Such bills must first be introduced in the House by the government, and after being passed there they go up to the Senate. The Senate cannot amend them, but it can throw them out altogether, When the supply bill voting the money for carrying on the public administration goes up to the Senate not one item can be changed, but the Senate can refuse to pass the bill and so stop the supplies. It has that power, but it is safe to say that it would not dare to exercise it, except under most extraordinary circumstances. Almost three hundred years ago, the English House of Commons secured control of the national purse and the power of taxation, and upon that power was built up much of the civil liberty British people the world over enjoy today.

That the present position of the Senate is unsatisfactory, especially the manner in which its members are appointed, has long been admitted by many public men. In fact, the platform adopted by the Liberal convention of 1894 contained the plank of Senate Reform. When reminded of it, now that the party is in power, some of the leaders shrug their shoulders and give the jocular answer that they have reformed the Senate by appointing good Liberals to it. From the partizan standpoint that may be quite satisfactory but it will not always satisfy the country. The time will come when it will be demanded that the Senate be so composed as to represent some one besides the Ministers who appoint its members, and that it be made responsible, to the people who pay the Senators' salaries.

As for the usefulness of the Upper Chamber it rests principally on one consideration, and that is power to check hasty legislation from the Commons. That is the breastwork behind which defenders of the Senate always take refuge. No doubt as a steadier and corrector of the House the Senate is capable of good service, but at the same time, secure as it is in its position with no chance of the electors turning it out of office, it should take heed to its ways and never become the bulwark of corporation interests and a check, not only upon hasty legislation, but also a check upon legislation in the interests of and demanded by the plain people of this country.—Family Herald & Weekly Star.

When the Nerves get out of Tune

You can remember the case described here and revitalize the wasted nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When the nerves become exhausted and you are threatened with nervous prostration, get in the sunshine, breathe the fresh air, rest and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you will get well. But you must be patient and persistent.

Mr. Wm. Graham, Atwood, Ont., writes:—"My wife had been ill for some time with nervous prostration and two of the best doctors we could get failed to help her. She gradually became worse and worse, could not sleep and lost energy and interest in life. She was giving up in despair when a friend advised a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"From the first box of this preparation my wife used we noticed improvement and now she is completely cured and as well as she ever was, eats well, sleep well and feels fully restored. I am satisfied that my wife owes her life to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

It's a serious mistake to neglect backache. Backache is the first symptom of kidney ills. Fatal complications may follow. Booth's Kidney Pills act quickly to overcome kidney ill. Do not delay until too late, it may mean Diabetes, Brights Disease. Read what an Orangeville resident says.

Mrs. Edmond French, of Broadway, Orangeville, Ont., says: "A heavy, grinding pain had settled in Mr. French's back and sides and at times he would be scarcely able to stoop or straighten himself up. The kidney secretions were disordered and so frequent during the night that he would have to leave his bed several times and often awake more tired than on going to bed. The urine had plainly told the disordered state of the kidneys for over two years as it was highly colored and contained a quantity of sediment. He procured Booth's Kidney Pills at Mr. Stevenson's Pharmacy and in less than a month's time had found a complete and lasting cure of each and every symptom of the long standing kidney trouble. I feel grateful in recommending Booth's Kidney Pills and believe them the only reliable remedy on the market."

Mennonite Church Received No Benefit, Declared Divisional Court, So That Undue influence was Not Used.

"I am sorry for all I have done; if you see Samuel Wideman, tell him to come over in two weeks, and I will confess to the church that I have done wrong, if the Lord lets me live. I have been mislead by others."

These words expressed the sorrow of Ben Lehman, a cripple, 62 years of age, for having transgressed the rules of the Mennonite Church by suing Orval Kester, a farmer living near Stouffville.

For twenty-six years Lehman had been a member of that church. One of the tenets of the church is that the members must not go to law. It is said that going to law will, according to the creed of this body imperil the soul of the man so offending.

The plaintiff brought an action for damages for the seduction of his daughter against the defendant, Orval Kester, who is not a Mennonite. Bishop Wideman of that church tried to persuade Lehman not to go on with the action, but he did, and at the trial recovered $1,200 damages.

The defendant thereupon served notice of appeal. The Bishop again saw Lehman, and with another Mennonite Isaiah Hoover, succeeded in persuading Lehman to apologize to Kester for having sued him and a settlement was effected whereby the appeal was discontinued.

Later, Lehman repented of the settlement and desired to realize on the judgment in his favor. The defendant then objected that the matter had been settled, and the question was referred to Mr. Justice MacMahon to decide whether the settlement was valid. He decided that it was not; that it had been obtained by undue influence, and the appeal of the defendant from the judgment against him for $1,200 proceeded.

As to the settlement, Mr. Justice Riddell says: "No influence was exercised over the plaintiff other than that necessarily following from the fear of losing his church connection, and the eternal consequences of his sin; and no benefit was obtained, desired or expected for the bishop or Hoover, or the church, or any one connected with it."

Mr. Justice Britton agrees with this and says: "There is here just a statement by a person or persons in authority in the church, to a member of the same communion, that he must choose between the inside and the outside. If as in this case, the choice involves a contract with an outside individual, as the defendant is, he having been guilty of no fraud, but contracting in good faith, the contract, in my opinion, should stand.":

The Divisional Court affirmed the settlement whereby Orval Kster was released from the judgment against him, and directed that each party shall pay their own costs.

The plaintiff will carry the decision to the Court of Appeal.

EFFECT OF RAIN ON ANIMALS.

"Lions, tigers and all the cat tribe dread rain," said a zoo-keeper. "On a rainy day they tear up and down their cages, growling and we usually put them to sleep with an extra ration of hot milk.

"Wolves love a grey day of rain. Treacherous as the wolf is, no keeper need fear him on a rainy day. He is too happy to harm a fly.

"Snakes, too, like rain. They perk up wonderfully as the damp makes it self felt in their warm cases of glass.

"Rain makes monkeys glum. They are apt, from instinct, when they see it through the window, to clasp their hands above their heads, and sit so for hours. That attitude, you know, makes a kind of shelter. It is the primitive umbrella."

Head Office, Hamilton.

As a general rule, it is the man who earns the money and the woman who saves it.

A LARGE proportion of the Savings Bank accounts opened with THE BANK OF HAMILTON are opened and conducted by WOMEN. Out of the household income, the thrifty wife lays aside, in the safe custody of a chartered Bank, as much as can well be spared from the husband's income. When unforseen reverses come, or a home—or other commendable thing is desired—quiet savings (hardly missed from the regular income) are available.

It is surprising how rapidly Systematic Savings grow. Many accounts, made up of small deposits, reach a total that is quite important, and which makes the family INDEPENDENT when extra money is needed.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON specially invites the Savings Accounts of a married woman, and has inaugurated a system of caring for such deposits, that is both SIMPLE and CONVENIENT.

Money may be deposited or withdrawn in any amount at any time; and, when starting a new account, a simple enquiry for the Manager will secure all desired information, and every attention to requirements,

ANY remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.

The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anæmic, and indigestion is the result.

In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant street, Watsonville, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors.

"They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again.

"I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured.

"I have gained in strength and feel like a different person. I believe Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Nervines, such as coal tar preparations, are doing a great deal of harm. Sleep medicines and headache powders are all alike,—heart depressants, and should not be used. The nerves would be all right, if the digestion were good. Peruna corrects the digestion.

After dinner, however, he decided to invest some of his surplus wealth in candy, and securing a blank cheque he proceeded to fill it out with strange hieroglyphics as he had seen his father do and attached a remarkable signature in the proper corner. Marching into Manager Turnbull's private office he presented the cheque and demanded three cents. It is needless to say he got the money and a bonus of two cents on his account. Doc. THE RIDDELL PROTEST.

The proceedings to set aside the election of Mr. W. H. Riddell, who was last January elected Reeve of Orangeville by a majority of two, have been successful. Mr. Riddell's opponents have had the satisfaction of ousting him from his seat. The municipality will be put to the expense of holding another election. The work of the Council has been hindered all year by the uncertainty as to the result of the protest. Should the election result in the return of a new reeve there will be further disorganization, which is bound to affect the labors of the Council and hamper its usefulness until the new man gets his bearings. None of these things are in the interests of the town. Mr. Riddell has proved an active and capable representative and it would be unfortunate should the town and the present Council be deprived of his services at this time of the year when he is most needed. He has been unseated, but through no fault or improper act on his part. He has lost his seat because of irregularities for which the officials appointed by the town to hold the election are solely responsible. The evidence—and there was a great deal of it—failed to connect Reeve Riddell with these irregularities, or to show that he in any way benefitted by them. No one will deny seriously that the election was loosely conducted, particularly in the West Ward. While this is admitted, there was not one tittle of evidence to show that it was not an honest election. Mr. Daniels, the deputy returning officer, is one of our oldest citizens and has always borne the reputation of being an honorable, straightforward man. His manner of conducting the poll was not what the law requires, but there are many municipal elections where there are some irregularities, some failure to comply with the exact requirements of the law, and yet no person doubts that they were honestly held.

AN UNPLEASANT MONTH.

May has been anything but a merry or a pleasant month for the last three or four years. Three years ago the month was very cold, stormy and disagreeable and there was scarcely any growth until after June 1st. The 24th was a bright and fairly warm day and people began to congratulate themselves that warm, seasonable weather had set in. Next day, however, brought dull cold weather again. The climax came on May 28th, the day on which the funeral of the late Dr. Lewis was held, in a violent storm accompanied by a heavy snowfall. Last May the weather was warmer, but the abnormal rainfall retarded seeding operations very seriously especially on low-lying lands. Farmers on the low lands in Amaranth and East Luther did very little sowing until the latter part of the month and even then much of the seed was put in while the land was in anything but a fit condition. This spring we are having a repetition of the conditions that prevailed a year ago. Farmers on light, high land have been able to get their sowing done in fairly good time and as there has been considerable warm, growing weather the seed will get a pretty fair start. On the other hand it has been next to an impossibility to do any seeding on low lands and consequently the majority of farmers in the country west of Orangeville are sadly behind with their seeding. The continued wet weather and the lateness of the season are disheartening and are having a noticeably depressing effect on the spirits of towns people as well as farmers. However, there is still plenty of time for good crops and an abundant harvest. A few weeks of warm, growing weather would make a wonderful difference on the country and would speedily dissipate the gloom and depression now existing. There is a great deal of truth in the following extract from an article in a recent issue of one of our exchanges: "It is natural for us to grow weary towards the end of our late spring, and to rail at the invariable bleakness of early May. When the real warm weather comes we forget that the first part of the month exhibited its customary unseasonableness, and are much surprised to find the first of May next year abnormally cold and raw. It generally happens and it is always regarded as extraordinary."

The recent resignation of Mr. Carnegie, member of the Ontario Legislature for East Victoria in order to accept an office under the Government of which he was a supporter, has given rise to considerable discussion and not a little criticism. It is pointed out that in all cases of this class there is an interference with the independence of the individual member of Parliament. The member who has the expectation or promise of an office from the Government of the day cannot be expected to discharge his duty to his constituents with any degree of independence. In fact he is not in a position to take independent action, because the gift of the office that he hopes some day to fill depends entirely on the favor of the Government. The country has seen a great many of these appointments made at Ottawa. It is to be hoped that Mr. Carnegie's will be the last at Toronto.

ANOTHER ELECTION

Reeve Riddell Has Been Unseated.

Master in Chancery Sets Aside Election Because of Irregularities.

Master in Chambers J. S. Cartwright gave his decision on Friday in the long drawn-out protest case of Hewson vs. Riddell. The judgment unseats Mr. Riddell on account of irregularities on the part of officials who conducted the election. In pronouncing his judgment the Master laid particular stress on the irregularities in the West Ward and particularly the error deputy returning officer Daniels made in taking the ballot box home after the close of the poll and keeping it there until the following morning. On this point the Master states that the statute provides that no deputy-returning officer in a city or town shall, under any circumstances, take the ballot box or packages, or allow the same to be taken to his house, or to any other place other than the office of the Clerk of the municipality. The Clerk is expressly directed to wait at his office until all the returns have been made to him and to declare the result by noon of the next day. Mr. Daniels, it will be remembered, was in poor health the day of the election and in the evening was taken quite ill. Instead of taking the ballot box to the Clerk's office he carried it to his own home, where he became so ill that he was unable to make the proper return to the Town Clerk until the next morning. The Master also instances other irregularities, among them the signing of the official statement by the agents prior to the closing of the poll at 5 o'clock. The judgment carries costs.

An election will be held forthwith for the purpose of filling the vacancy. The Town Council will probably hold a meeting to-night for the purpose of passing a by-law appointing deputy-returning officers and poll clerks. This done it will be the duty of the Mayor to issue forthwith a warrant requiring the returning officer and deputies to hold the election. This done the election must be held within fifteen days. The procedure to be followed in the present instance is set forth in sections 212, and 214, of the Consolidated Municipal Act which read as follows:—

212. In case no return is made for one or more wards or polling subdivisions, in consequence of non-election owing to interruption by riot or other cause, or in case a person elected to a Council neglects or refuses to accept office, or to make the necessary declarations of office within the time required, or in case a vacancy occurs in the Council caused by resignation, death, judicial decision or otherwise, the head of the Council for the time being, or in case of his absence, or of his office being vacant, the Clerk, or in case of the like absence or vacancy in the office of the Clerk, one of the members of the Council, shall forthwith, by warrant, under the signature of such head, clerk or member, require the returning officers and deputy returning officers appointed to hold the last election for the municipality, ward or polling sub-division respectively, or such other persons as may be duly appointed to those offices, to hold a new election in the wards, or polling sub-divisions for which no return has been made, or to fill the place of the person neglecting or refusing as aforesaid, or to fill the vacancy aforesaid.

214. The returning officers and deputy-returning officers shall hold the new election at furthest within fifteen days after receiving the warrant, and the Clerk shall appoint a day and place for the nomination of candidates, and the election shall, in respect to notices and other matters, be conducted in the same manner as the annual elections.

The nomination meeting will probably be held on Friday, May 28th, and the election, should an election be necessary, on Friday, June 4th. If the Mayor issues his warrant on Friday immediately following the special meeting of Council on Thursday night, the election must be held not later than June 4th, in order to come inside the fifteen day limit. It cannot very well be held any earlier, for the reason that there must be a week between the nomination and election and the returning officer must give at least six days notice of the nomination meeting.

We understand that Mr. Riddell will run again. If he has opposition it will likely come from Mr. Hewson, his former opponent.

The Weekly Sun holds that the returns from the average farm in the average farming district in Ontario are not what they might be. The remedy suggested to overcome the difficulty is "specialization." To illustrate a comparison is made between the value of farms in Simcoe County, where general farming is the prevailing method of agriculture, and in Oxford County, where dairying is the chief reliance of the agricultural class. In Simcoe County $50 an acre is about the average price for good land. In Oxford, on the other hand, farms command $70 or $75 an acre, or from $2000 to $2500 more for a hundred acre property than similar farms will bring in counties where dairying is not practiced so extensively. The question is one that presents many difficulties and calls for careful consideration. There is no doubt, however, that the farmer who makes a careful study of local conditions and devotes the greater part of his farm to the kind of farming for which it is naturally adapted, can do a great deal to increase the annual return from his lands. Under the conditions that exist in Ontario today he who would farm successfully must first farm intelligently.

THE STERLING BANK.

An Exceptionally Favorable Statement—A Twenty-eight Per Cent Increase in Profits.

The Sterling Bank is able to present a remarkably favorable statement for the year ending April 30th, 1909. It had the good fortune to have successfully established itself before the depression, and was able to take advantage of the high money rates, while during the past year it has been able to keep all its funds fully employed at profitable rates. The result is that the profits are $64,146, compared with $50,091 last year, a gain of 28 per cent, which makes, of course, a record for the current year in bank gains. After paying a dividend of five per cent., $23,622 is carried to the reserve fund, which stands now at $207,372, compared with a paid-up capital of $829,489. It is interesting to note that while the Sterling's deposits have increased, the current loans have also gained, and the additional deposits are accounted for under the increases in both call loans and commercial loans and in the increase in specie. The balance sheet is as follows:

A SHORT MEETING.

Town Council Held an Unimportant Session on Monday Night.

The town council held a short and uneventful session on Monday night. The Council Chamber was occupied by the ladies taking part in the Temple of Fame. The Council therefore held its meeting in the old Council Room downstairs. Reeve Riddell was not present at the meeting.

Payment of the following accounts was authorized:—

H. A. King, 25c.; T. Campbell, $6; George King, $4.50; John Gough, $5.25; J. Cornelius, $3.45; J. H. Huston, $7.57; Jos. Ogston, $24.50; James Funsten, 35c.; Thos. Campbell, 60c.; London Concrete Machinery Co., $66.60.

Two accounts from Jos. R. Lathwell for $15.20 and $17.80 were referred to the Finance Committee with instructions to pay if found correct.

The Mayor read the order made by Mr. J. S. Cartwright, Master in Chambers, unseating Reeve Riddell. Council did not take any action. A special meeting will, however, probably be held this week for the purpose of appointing deputy returning officers and fixing the date of the election to fill the vacancy.

A by-law was passed authorizing the corporation to execute the usual contract and agreement with the Gutta Percha Rubber Company for the purchase of 100 ft. of Red Cross hose. The price is 85c. a foot, the same as in former years.

A by-law was also passed empowering the Mayor and Clerk to execute an agreement with the Superior Portland Cement Company for the purpose of supplying water for drinking and fire protection. The agreement was prepared last year and approved of by the Council of 1908, but the Company declined to sign at that time. However, the President and Secretary have attached their signatures to the agreement, which gives the town engineer authority to visit the cement works at any time and satisfy himself by a personal inspection that water is not used for any purposes except those stipulated.

NOTICE OF APPEAL.

Plaintiff Not Likely to Accept Verdict in Gray vs. Morrison.

Mrs. W. C. Gray, who sued J. E. Morrison, landlord of the Dufferin House, for damages for the death of her husband, is appealing to the Divisional Court against the verdict given in favor of the defendant. Among the grounds set out in the notice of motion are that the plaintiff has since discovered new evidence, that one of her witnesses, Tom McClellan, was intoxicated while in the witness box and that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence. The plaintiff also wishes the case tried at Brampton if a new trial is directed.

RIDING ON SIDEWALKS.

There has been considerably bicycle riding on the sidewalks about town this spring. Chief Speers is on the lookout for offenders and intends making an example of a few of them. A stiff fine or two would probably be the means of stopping the practice.

TAKEN TO HAILEYBURY.

James Leavoy, who was arrested last Wednesday evening by Chief Speers, with the assistance of citizen Robert McBride, at the request of the Haileybury authorities on a charge of fraud, enjoyed the frugal hospitality of police station No. 1, sometimes referred to as the "Lock Up," for two days and nights. Leavoy who has the reputation of being somewhat of a pugilist, and who strenuously resisted arrest, was kept in close confinement while in custody, his meals being passed through the bars of the cell. The arrival of Constable Collins on Friday morning created a stir, and as the Haileybury officer and our own Sam did Broadway, they made a brave front, and local malefactors must have "shivered in their boots." Leavoy is said to have expressed the pious wish that a man from the north might not be sent for him, observing that the "cops" were pretty husky up in that country. Leavoy seems to have been accurately informed for Policeman Collins looks the part. No chances were taken with the prisoner on the return trip, his wrists being manacled behind the back. The officer and his man left on Friday evening for Toronto, and were due to arrive at their destination on Saturday at 11 a.m.

WINNIPEG.

The first really spring like weather came to-day and the grass was transformed in a day from brown to green in about 12 hours.

The principal topic of interest in Winnipeg at present is the World's Fair to be held here in 1912. During the past two weeks about 60 of the leading business men of the city have been touring the west and east and everywhere have been received with unbounded enthusiasm, so that the Selkirk Centennial now seems to be an assured fact.

The Normal School students to the number of 90 took up their residence at the Agricultural College this week, and will remain for one month. Miss Hackett, of Hockley, is among the number, while on the Agricultural College staff are the following ex-Dufferinites W. J. Black, Principal; G. A. Sproule, Professor of English and Chas. Lee, Professor of Botany and Bacteriology.

One of the pioneer residents of Dufferin County died here last week in the person of John Fines. Mr. Fines lived near Stonewall for several years, but has many relatives in Dufferin County.

E. J. Newton has sold out his jewellry business in Calgary and returned to Winnipeg, where he underwent another operation on his ankle. It is now progressing very avorably.

———Bailey, formerly of Rosemont, is at present in the Drinkwater Hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

The prospects for building here this year are particularly bright at present. Between seven and eight million dollars worth is in sight. Wages are :—carpenters—35c.; masons and bricklayers—65c.

Hospital Robbed of its Victim

Doctors said a surgical operation was necessary but the woman escaped.

Many a time the hospitals have been cheated of their victims by the timely use of some medicine of merit.

In this case the trouble was with the liver and kidneys and the doctors could see no hope except by a surgical operation. Cure was brought about, however, by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Read the lady's letter:

Mrs. F. O. Bacon, Baldwin's Mills, Que., writes: "I was very sick last spring. The doctors said I must go to the hospital for an operation because my liver and kidneys would not act. I did not want to go, so I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ever since and nothing else. I am feeling well now and doing my own work for a family of seven. I believe there is no equal for stomach trouble. I had acute indigestion and these pills and nothing else made me well."

This is the kind of cures that has made Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the standby in thousands of homes for complicated troubles of the digestive system. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

LAUREL.

The continued wet, backward weather is trying the patience and good nature of our farmers. Many of them have done very little seeding, and are not likely to do much until there is a changer to dryer, warmer weather.

The death of Mrs. R. J. Walker, which took place at her home on the 4th line early on Monday morning, has cast a gloom over the community. The deceased lady was a true wife and mother and a splendid christian woman. She enjoyed the respect and esteem of the whole neighborhood and her sudden and entirely unexpected taking off has caused general sorrow. There is profound sympathy for the bereaved husband and two motherless little ones. Mrs. Walker was a member and regular worshipper in the Methodist church here. The funeral will be held to Greenwood cemetery, Orangeville, on Wednesday afternoon.

Services in the interest of the Laymen's Missionary Movement were held in the Presbyterian churches here and at Black's Corners on Sunday. At the service here in the afternoon, Reeve Hosick, Mr. Robert Curry and Mr. John S. Wallace, commissioners from the Laurel congregation to the National Missionary Congress held in Massey Hall, Toronto, about April 1st, gave interesting reports of the proceedings of the Congress. Mayor McKitrick, of Orangeville, one of the commissioners from St. Andrew's Church in that town, spoke here and also at Black's Corners.

CAMILLA.

Rev. C. A. Sparling, of Grand Valley, spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. John Manley last week.

Mrs. S. Jackson, of Grand Valley, has been spending a week with her mother, Mrs. Manley.

(Intended for last week.)

Rev. Mr. Nicholson, of Montreal visited friends here last week.

Miss Lizzie Besley, of Shelburne, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Buchanan.

Miss Wilson, of Brampton, was the guest of Miss Helen Bremner, over Sunday.

Mr. Dave Scott has arrived home from the West. Many friends are glad to know that he has almost completely recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever, which he contracted while at work in McLeod.

Rev. J. R. Bell, of Laurel, preached in St. Andrew's Church, Sunday afternoon taking as his subject "tithing." Mr. Bell has always been warmly welcomed at Camilla and Sunday proved no exception to the rule, when all listened with pleasure and profit to a brilliant sermon. Mr. Bell's noble enthusiasm kindles a responsive glow in the hearts of his hearers. His devotion to his work and his tact and skill in dealing with every variety of character renders his personal influence as powerful as his public teaching.

Soon the base-ball season will be on us again. In other parts it generally opens with the penumonia germs sitting on the fence. However this is not the case with Camilla. Already the talk has begun of re-organizing for the future in the distance—the coming summer. The grand stand plays of last year are strongly brought forward by those who made them (occasionally) partly in hope that they may be retained by the manager of the club but for the most part because as members of the team they find a good excuse for getting away evenings from home and allow their mothers and sisters the sweet privilege of milking all the "kickie" cows alone. Point the finger of scorn at the man or woman who would keep his baseball hopeful away from practise even one night in the week especially when he belongs to the team. Is this then not the real reason for many wanting to join? Of course there are many local aspirants for the team who claim that they can play baseball with anyone, but alas! how many there will be broken-hearted when the select nine are carefully made known, but we hope that none will have to be removed to the nervous prostration sanitarium or any other eleemosynary institution. Though not in the game no one is prohibited from "rooting" and hooting and tooting and thus by their convincing eloquence help the players to win the day. Who wouldn't sooner sit up and listen to some (of Laurel's) English emigrants cheer themselves hoarse and sing songs in chorus of the renown of their ambitious, baseball-bughouse man on the diamond, and to see them use every known and unknown device to rattle the mug-wump candy arm, than to watch some excellent plays, which one can get far truer account of in the Daily Gossip Monger, and have the whole game gone over with lightning like rapidity by one who probably knows nothing about baseball at all. Have not the rooters as much to do with the winning of the game as the nervous, excited bungling players have? Who would not rather be a rooter and root or a hooter and hoot than a player to be both rooted and hooted. Success boys both to you at the end of the bat and to you on the perch and don't in eather case have the pitcher fail to hoist 'em in.

FELL OFF A TRAIN

Ernest Hartwick Drops Fifty Feet at St. Thomas and is Badly Stunned

St. Thomas, May 15.—Ernest Hartwick, car checker on the Pere Marquette, son of N. Hartwick, the agent here, was found in a badly stunned condition in the ravine below the railroad bridge over Mill Creek, about 1 o'clock this morning by a yardman, who missed him and made a search. He had been riding on the train which was being switched, and either jumped or fell off as it stood on the bridge. He dropped fifty feet, and rolled twenty more down an embankment, at the bottom of which he lay three hours. He is dazed and unable to tell how the accident happened, but outside of a sprained wrist and a bruise on the head is unhurt.

CHARLESTON.

The Open Meeting held in the Town Hall here on Tuesday night under the auspices of Court Charleston, No. 4917, Independent Order of Foresters, attracted an audience that filled the hall to the very doors. The meeting was eminently successful and should do a great deal to popularize Independent Forestry amongst the people of this community. Mr. John T. Scott, of Caledon East, High Chief Ranger of Central Ontario, made an admirable chairman. His manner of introducing the different speakers and artists was both apt and eloquent and his geniality and happy faculty of saying the right thing at the right time contributed much to the success of the program. An excellent musical program was furnished by Miss Frances White, contralto, Miss Maude Bigwood, soprano, and Mr. Will J. White, comic singer. These three artists make an exceedingly strong combination and the programme they gave on Tuesday night was the equal of anything ever heard in Charleston. Addresses on Forestry and its work were delivered by Rev. Alex. McGillivray, of Toronto, Supreme Orator of the Order; Mr. G. A. Mitchell, Superintendent of Field Work; Mr. A. A. Hughson, town solicitor of Orangeville, and Mr. Johns, who was the means of organizing Charleston Court about a year ago. Mr. McGillivray, who was the chief speaker, gave, in the course of his brilliant address, an instructive survey of the great work Forestry is doing. In the last 30 years the Order has distributed $27,000,000 in benefits. During the month of March the sum of $275,000 was paid out in benefits. In that one month 204 members of the Order answered the last call and their widows and families received $212,000 in death benefits. 31 members became totally disabled and in every case were paid half the amount of their policies. 94 members received their old age pensions, and $25,000 was distributed among 1200 members in sick benefits. The Order is paying out $1200 an hour in benefits to its sick, disabled and aged members, and to the widows and families of those who have been called away. Mr. Mitchell made the statement that there were 1000 Foresters in the County of Peel, carrying in round figures $12,000,000 insurance. The Order, he contended, was entitled to the sympathy and support of the people of Caledon and he expressed the conviction that as a result of the campaign now inaugurated Court Charleston would have at least one hundred members before the close of the present year. Mr. A. A. Hughson, who spoke briefly but with his wonted eloquence, expressed absolute confidence in the stability of the Order and its ability to carry out all contracts with its members. This confidence, he said, he based on three great essentials, which Forestry possessed, and which he considered necessary to the permanent well-being of any Order. These were adequate rates, a strict medical examinations and the possession of a large and growing surplus. He had know medical examiners for the Independent Order of Foresters to reject applicants as physically unfit, yet afterwards these same applicants had been accepted by stock companies. It was about midnight when the meeting was brought to a close. This was only one of a series of open meetings that are being held at various points in the county as part of the programme in a grand County campaign. The campaign will close with a High Court meeting and class initiation in Brampton on Wednesday, August 25th.

One of the opening games in the Peel County Football League was played here on Saturday between Charleston and Mono Mills teams. Considering the earliness of the season and the scant opportunity there has been for practice, both elevens put up a surprisingly good article of football. The game was fast, clean and evenly contested, so much so that neither team succeeded in scoring. Dan Hanton, of Caledon East, gave general satisfaction as referee. The locals were represented by the following players :—Goal, W. McCort; backs, Geo. Hillock; Maitland, White; half backs, E. Faulkner, W. Glassford, L. White; forwards, S. Kerns, R. Stubbs, L. Killeen, R. Scott, D. Campbell.

Caledon East defeated Inglewood by 1 to 0 in a League game on the former's grounds on Saturday.

The Township Council met in the Town Hall here on Tuesday and transacted considerable business, chiefly of a routine character. A by-law was passed whereby the municipality will compensate the owners for sheep killed by unknown dogs. The compensation allowed will equal half the value of the destroyed animals.

MRS. ROBERT J. WALKER.

The death of Mrs. Robert J. Walker occurred at her home, lot 12, 4th line, Amaranth, early on Monday morning after a brief illness. The deceased lady was in her usual good health until last Thursday, when she was taken suddenly ill with what it was at first thought was appendicitis. Her malady speedily developed into acute peritonitis. Mrs. Walker, who was one of the most estimable women in her neighborhood, was a daughter of the late Thomas Black, of East Garafraxa. She was a devoted wife and mother and her death means an irreparable loss to a hitherto happy home. Profound sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband who is heart broken by the awful calamity that has visited his household. A family of two children are left behind—a boy, George, and a girl, Louie. Mrs. Walker was a sister of Mrs. W. H. White and Mrs. K. Pattullo, Orangeville, and Mrs. Manasseh Ferns, East Garafraxa, Thos. F. Black, Toronto, John, James, and Nelson Black, East Garafraxa, are brothers. The funeral was held from her late home to Greenwood cemetery yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and neighbors.

DEATH OF DAVID S. RITCHIE.

David S. Ritchie, popularly known in nearly every town and village in Western Ontario as "Professor" Ritchie died at his home in Elora a week ago Saturday. The deceased was a professional bill poster and once seen in his official costume, consisting of broad red and white striped trousers and blue striped jacket, he made a figure that was seldom forgotten. During the last thiety years he had done bill posting for agricultural shows, circuses, patent medicine shows and companies, railway companies and hundreds of private business enterprises. He was strictly honest and could always be relied on to carry out any contract, with which he was entrusted. He was a member of the Bill-Posters and Distributors Union and prided himself on being the first Uniformed Bill-Poster in America. Deceased was a native of Cornhill. Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1846. He learned the trade of shoemaker and also worked at railroading. On May 12th, 1872, he received the appointment of official Bill-Poster and Town-Crier for Elora. Since 1882 he has held the position of caretaker of Armory Hall. Years ago when Elora's rocks and fine natural scenery attracted excursions and picnics from surrounding places, Mr. Ritchie had a large flat-bottomed boat constructed, in which the pleasure-seekers might enjoy short trips on the waters of the Grand. A little more than a year ago he lost his only son, Harry, a young man of 26 years. The loss weighed heavily on the father's mind and he declined rapidly until the end came.

ALTON.

The Presbyterians will hold what promises to be an excellent concert in their Church on Monday evening, May 24th. The programme will be provided by the Old Southland Sextette. This Company has won golden opinions from the Press everywhere it has appeared. Its visit to Alton will give our citizens an opportunity to enjoy a pleasant musical treat.

PRIMROSE.

Rev. T. W. Cornett preached an excellent sermon in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. In spite of the unfavorable weather a large number of people were present.

The two Sunday Schools have been organized once more for the summer.

Mr. Harold Lindsay was the guest of Miss Eva Dean on Sunday. Owing to the backward weather some of our local farmers have not been able to start seeding yet.

STORIES TOLD OF HON. F. OLIVER.

A Native of Peel Who Has Risen High in Councils of the Nation.

The Toronto Evening Star has a correspondent at Ottawa whose specialty is good stories of people worth while. That famous native of Peel, Hon. Frank Oliver, the printer, editor of Edmonton, Alta., who was born in Chinguacousy, is a prolific source of good stories for the Star narrator. Following are some of them :

Frank Oliver, who is not a finnicky man about his full Ministerial title, built a house out at Edmonton, and the man who owned the two lots adjacent thought they would look well as "grounds" for the Oliver mansion. Mr. Oliver did not see it in that way; at any rate, not at $500 per lot. So the owner felt it his duty to do something to spur the prospective purchaser on. So he hired a Chinaman to go to work on the lots in question, and hammered two English words into his head for use to all comers.

"What are you doing there?" queried Mr. Oliver, as he approached his fine home and saw the Chinaman chopping away at some lumber.

"Build laundly," was the brief answer.

"Build what?" shrieked the Minister.

"Build laundry."

"Who said you could do that?"

"Build laundly."

That was all that could be got out of him, and Mr. Oliver at once hunted up the owner and said he had just about decided to buy those lots after all.

"But I have sold to a Chinaman," said this gentleman, with an inward smile. "He's going to build a laundry next to you."

"Well, was the response, "I must have those lots, so just go and buy them back."

"They'll cost you more, of course."

"Buy them anyway."

And they do say that Mr. Oliver gave his check for $1,600.

The Oliver Apple.

Stories about the Hon. Frank Oliver seem to be in order at the Parliament Buildings. One of them is the tale of the Oliver apple, which, in the Eden of Alberta, caused, as aforetime, a fall.

Mr. Oliver, it seems, had watched with pride a little apple tree which was growing in a corner of his garden. Nobody, so far as folks knew, had grown any apples in Alberta. This was the pioneer tree; he awaited anxiously its first fruits.

In due course, blossoms came; a number of them. Mr. Oliver paid more attention to that tree than if it had been a Grit constituent. It rewarded his efforts by producing a number of little apples, and the Oliver orchard was as proud a spot as Holland.

But, alas, the apples sickened and dropped off—all but one which plumped out and colored up and grew in magnificence. Ewe lambs were common in the West, but apples——.

The Mayor of Edmonton was told about the apple. There was to be a celebration, with speeches. With characteristic enterprise, the West was going to advertise itself as a fruit center. The one apple was to be picked with form and ceremony.

The night before it all happened (which it didn't), a little boy climbed up to the tempting fruit, strong young fingers plucked it from the stem and young teeth bit into it with joy.

The Dissappointed Half-Breed.

The Hon. Frank Oliver is no stickler for titles, and hates dress suits. As one of the old-timers of the West, he learned the life without frill which went with days and nights on the open prairie in earlier years of the West's development. Today he is happier in his unpretentious grey suit than in the garb of ceremonies and occasions. He is absolutely "square" and even the Conservatives who wanted an investigation of his department had no reflections to cast upon its head.

Mr. Oliver devotes spare moments to his newspaper in Edmonton. He has all sorts of friends with all sorts of reminiscences, and it was one of these, a big half-breed, who dropped in at the Bulletin office one day to see the proprietor.

"Frank in!" queried the visitor easily.

"Not here," answered the man behind the counter; "gone to Ottawa."

"Ottawa?"

"Of course. Don't you know he's a member of Parliament?"

"He's got elected to Parliament?"

"Yes."

"Frank has?"

"Yes, yes."

"Well," muttered the half-breed, disappointedly, "and I knew Frank Oliver when he used to lie on his back on the prairie and cuss the stars."

'PHONES IN STATIONS.

Independent Companies Secure Important Concession.

On the application of the Caledon Telephone Company and the People's Telephone Company an order has been given by the Railway Commission of Canada providing for an agreement under which independent telephone companies shall have the right to install their telephones in railway stations. Heretofore that right has been denied. The Railway Companies were naturally in sympathy with the Bell Company. Before a telephone is installed, however, an agreement must be entered into between the local company and the railroad corporation. The Telephone Company must pay to the railway $1.00 on the first day of January in each year. "The telephone instrument shall be placed and maintained at the station without damage to the railway company's property and entirely at the risk and expense of the telephone company, free from any rental or other charge to the railway company and the telephone company will not seek to hold the railway company responsible for any damage to said instrument, no matter how much damage should occur." The telephone company shall also have the right to erect poles, etc., across the lands of the railway company. The telephone instrument must be of the most modern and efficient type and the railway company its officials, agents and employees shall have the use of the line without change. The decision of the railway commission is a decided gain to the local telephone companies. The proposal was onjected to for some years but the action of the commission is final. This will give the Caledon Company the right to instal instruments at Inglewood, Credit Forks, Cataract, Alton, Melville, Charleston and Caledon East stations.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines in loving memory of Alexander Speers, who died April 21st, 1909 :—

Oh, Father! thy gentle voice is hushed
Thy warm, true heart is still;
And on thy pale and peaceful face
Is resting death's cold chill.

Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast:
We have kissed thy lifeless brow,
And in our aching hearts we know
We have no father now.

A father kind and true to us,
While here on earth he stayed;
A place is vacant in our hearts,
Which never can be filled.

But still we miss our father dear,
We see his empty chair,
We miss him in our homes,
We miss him everywhere.

We know when to the home you go
This welcome smile you'll miss;
And a clasp of a father's warm hand,
That was nearing such Heavenly bliss.

True, we could not keep the tears back,
When we looked on his sweet face;
But remember, God has promised—
Up in Heaven He has a place.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word,
We must forever part.

Dearest father, we must lay thee
In thy peaceful grave so low;
But thy memory we will cherish,
Till we meet on Heaven's shore.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev Dr. Lincott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

May 23rd, 1909.

Golden Text.—We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they. Acts xv: 11.

Verses 1-5—Are good men liable to hold wrong opinions?

When good men differ in opinion what is the better way in order to reach an understanding?

When a professed Christian gets angry with another Christian, on a mere matter of opinion, has he or not backslidden from the love of God, and what spirit does it show?

Circumcision no doubt originated from supposed purposes of health, and physical cleanliness, and afterwards became a national institution of the Jews. State when God first made circumcision the sign, or token of the covenant between him and Abraham and his seed, and to whom the rite of circumcision and God's covenant extended. (See Gen. xvii).

Is circumcision now essential to salvation?

Is the belief of any doctrine essential to salvation?

Verses 6-11.—Is experience of God and his dealings with us, conclusive proof of the will of God in the matters which the experience covers)

Is thorough discussion in church courts, a perfectly right way to arrive at the will of God on any matter?

Were those who taught that circumcision was essential to salvation, as well as being narrow, necessarily untrue men?

What is the difference between the "yoke" of the law and the "yoke" of Jesus? (v. 10.)

Verse 12. Recall some of the wonders done through Paul and Barnabas, among the Gentiles, and say what bearing they had upon the dispute concerning circumcision?

Verses 13-21—Who was James, who next addressed the council?

James, the brother of Jesus, was the president of this council; it is probable that his address was of the nature of the judgment of the council on this question?

Verses 22-29—There seems to have been no formal motion passed by the council, but they appear to have reached an unanimous decision as outlined in the address of the president; say whether we are bound to take this decision as the voice of God?

Were each of the commandments given in verse 29 intended to be of lasting obligation, or were some of them only temporary?

Verses 30-35—There never will be a time when disputes may not occur, in the church and between individuals. How should they always be settled?

Did this trouble in the church help it or hurt it, and does God always over-rule trouble, whoever may be the cause of it, for the good of his children?

Lesson for Sunday, May 30th, 1909 Believing and Doing. James ii:14-26.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. KING MUST WORK LESS OR DAYS ARE NUMBERED

Physicians Said to Have so Informed His Majesty—Prince of Wales Assuming State Duties

London, May 2.—Although the word that comes from King Edward, who is now on a yachting trip for his health, is favorable in tone, it was learned today that his physicians have told him plainly that on his resumption of official duties he must cut down his engagements by at least half.

Unless he does so, his physicians say, the King's days are numbered.

The rejuvenation of the Prince of Wales has an interesting history. Not very long ago the Prince showed matked symptoms of that depression which had oppressed his two elder sisters so grievously. King Edward saw that he needed rousing and consulted Sir James Reid as to the means.

Sir James, who has often tried to persuade the King to shift some of the burdens of his position on to his son's shoulders, saw an opportunity of hitting two marks with one bullet.

"To be Europe's international minister is a sufficient task for any man drawing near seventy," were his exact words, and the King began to see the wisdom of them.

The King sent for the Princess of Wales, in whose judgment and common sense he has the greatest confidence, and after a consultation with her, told the Prince that he must henceforth be more in the public eye.

"I, myself," he said to the heir apparent, "had to fulfill so much public duty during the latter years of Queen Victoria's reign that I was obliged to hold aloof from political and diplomatic influence. It was not until within very recent years that I have been enabled to show myself to my empire in my true light. I do not want this atmosphere of misunderstanding to envelop you."

The success of the King's plan has been justified by the marvelous advance the Prince has made in the public estimation. An interesting fact, which accentuates the growing interest of the Prince in the affairs of state, is that he receives a daily precis from one of the King's secretaries of all the private information connected with foreign affairs that reach his father.

The Prince is an exceptionally able man of business, he is a practical expert on aerial matters, and he has a profound knowledge of naval affairs. He is now taking great care of his health, and studying his diet with much attention. He has cut down his allowance of cigars, once somewhat excessive, and drinks nothing with his meals, and only one whiskey after them.

LAY FOR WEEKS AT DEATH'S DOOR

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs Thompson's Dropsy.

It started with Backache and grew worse till the doctor said she must die.

Holt, Ont., May 17 (Special).—All the countryside here is ringing with the wonderful cure of Mrs. Samuel Thompson, who lay at the point of death for weeks, swollen with Dropsy so that the doctor five different times decided to tap her but desisted because, as her husband said, "I might be better to let her die in peace." After the doctor had given her up Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

Mrs. Thompson's terrible trouble started with pain in the back. She grew worse and the doctor treated her for jaundice for eight weeks. Then her feet and legs began to swell and it was realized that Dropsy was the trouble. For seven months she suffered. The doctor said there was no more hope; she must die.

As a last resort Dodd's Kidney Pills were tried. The improvement was slow, but gradually her strength came back. To-day Mrs. Thompson is a well woman. She says, and the countryside knows, she owes her life to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ontario has 817 municipalities, 332 of these have abolished the bar. We are learning to substract speedily but the problem of the remaining 485 cannot be solved any too quickly.

Rev. E. L. Skey, of St. Ann's Church, Toronto, has inaugurated an anti-treating league. The members are not asked to abstain from drinking spirituous liquors, but merely to refuse to be treated or to treat.

The Ottawa City Council has displayed a touch of the chivalrous. It recently inscribed a motion that separate polls should be provided for the women at the subsequent municipal elections. There may also be appointed a lady returning officer, poll clerk and scrutineer.

At Brampton the other day a young man was convicted on a charge of forgery, and sent to prison. "It's a case of being hard-up," pleaded his lawyer. "It's more a case of liquor, I think," answered Mr. Justice Clute. The two often, if not generally go together.

A bill has passed the Prince Edward Legislature prohibiting all soliciting or canvassing for liquor orders in the Island. The offender in this matter will pay a penalty of $500. The Legislature was unanimous in this vote. The bill will come into effect when the present licenses have expired.

J. A. Robb, Dominion member of Parliament, during the recent debate in the House on military affairs, protested against an increase of military expenditure and advocated the abolition of liquor from the canteen. He said the former tended to create a "military aristocracy" and of the latter: "No mother would care to see her son go to the military camp if all he could learn was to drink and to smoke cigarettes."

The Kent District Council of the Royal Templars of Temperance have inaugurated a systematic campaign of pledge signing. Every Sunday School in the county will be asked to open its doors to this form of the temperance crusade. It is charged that the pledging of the young people to total abstinence from intoxicating liquors has been largely neglected in the modern programme of temperance reform. It is to be sincerely hoped that this effort will spread from sea to sea in our Dominion.

CROUP QUICKLY CURED.

Don't Let the Child Choke to Death While Waiting for the Doctor.

Hyomei, the miraculous, antiseptic dry air treatment, will cure croup in either the first or second stages. Easily inhaled, even when the breathing is irregular, it reaches more promptly than any other remedy the terribly inflamed membrane of the windpipe. Its soothing balsams act immediately, the inflammation is allayed and the swelling reduced.

George H. King, of 22 Wellington Street, South Woodstock, says: "We would not think of keeping house without Hyomei. It has warded off colds, croup, coughs and sore throats for all of our three children many and many a time. When a child breathes badly and through the mouth and the glands around the eyes and nose commence to swell, then is the time that we find the Hyomei quickly relieves the trouble and gets the bronchial tubes, lungs and throat cleared up."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by T. Stevenson to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and croup, or money back. A complete outfit, including a neat hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00 An extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cents.

FOR "INSURABLY DEAD."

New Bill Provides for Payment of Whole Amount of Policy.

Ottawa, May 13.—The Banking and Commerce Committee yesterday reported the new Insurance Bill with a few amendments.

One change adopted by the committee was the permitting of the payment of the whole amount of a policy to certain "insurably dead." For instance, it would be possible for a paralytic to receive the full amount of his insurance when alive.

The clause forbidding discrimination in the amount of premiums charged between the insured of the same class and expectancy of life was amended by the addition of the words, "and holding policies of the same year of issue."

An amendment was inserted to the effect that the conditions imposed on the placing of fire insurance with foreign companies should not inteferer between licensed insurers and unlicensed foreign insurers. That is, it will not be necessary for Canadian companies to notify the Minister and pay 15 per cent. of the amount paid in premiums when reinsuring risks with unlicensed foreign companies.

CARE OF THE FEET.

People who suffer from tired feet may note that a good deal of their discomfort is caused by the fact that they wear stockings that do not fit. Indeed, the fit of stockings is almost as important as that os shoes, and in order that they may fit, it is necessary that they shall have a right and left to the pair. They should have as few seams as possible, as these cause corns. The feet should be bathed at night, and this treatment is an excellent sleeu producer. The water should be salted. The feet should be scrubbed all over with a nail brush which will often prevent the formation of corns; whilst hard spots on the soles may be reduced with a piece of fine emery paper or fine file before the feet are placed in water.

MECHANICAL FINGERS.

Barton S. Molyneux Invents a Machine Which Has Nearly Human Fingers.

Much space has been given of recent date in the American Pres to inventions, the larger portion of which have been improvements along given lines. It has often been said that the time was not far off when men would invent machines to practically bring back life. An article was written recently on an invention of which an inventor claimed that for a cost of $10,000,000, a series of reflectors could be so set as to make night into day. We could go on telling of many wonderful things that are being created daily by the hands of men, but we will not do so, as the intention of this article is to convey to the reader that everylastingly sticking to a project will assure its success.

Some seven years ago Mr. Barton S. Molyneux, of Buffalo, N.Y., was possessed of the idea that the greatest need in this country today commercially was a machine for proper handling of mail. He went to work on the subject and within the month a private exhibition of what he has accomplished was shown in his Laboratory at Buffalo.

He has created a machine known as the Molyneux Automatic Envelope Enclosing Machine. This machine is arranged to pick up circulars, fold them, address them, stamp them, seal them, and count them. One cannot but be impressed when looking at the machine in operation as to how many hours of worry and study were required to accomplish this most wonderful feat. The machine resembles a large steel table on one end of which are arranged six compartments, which are for six piles of different circular matter. Six hands working mechanically pick up a circular from each and lay them in six piles on the movable table just back of the main table. When the six hands pick another set of six different circulars, the side section of the table moves over one, the six hands come back and lay down on top of the previous six piles an additional circular, making six piles, and so on until the first pile nearest the machine proper contains six different circulars, and each of the other piles contain five, four, three, two and one circular. In this automatic way the six sets of circulars are assorted out by the so-called fingers and are placed on the movable table in proper form and position to be put in an envelope. Another so-called hand takes the first pile on the end of the machine and lifts it up ready to insert into the envelope. The next move is an envelope opener which lifts up and opens the flap and separates the envelope which naturally lays very flat; then the hand that picked up the pile of six circulars moves along one; The next move is the insertion of the circulars into the envelope; the next move that the machine makes is the conveying of the envelope around the side of a cylinder, where two separate attachments are connected, one for inserting the flap, and the other a sealing device. If it is required that the flap be inserted for one cent postage, another hand protrudes and pushes down the flap inside of the envelope; if it is desired to seal the envelope, this attachment is removed from the machine before it is started and the second device is brought into action, which includes a movable sponge for the first move, which rubs along the paste on the flap, and the next move is a double move; First a hand bended over the flap of the envelope closes some, and the second, a compressor to push the stamp tight. Right here it is well to remember that by the use of this machine envelopes are properly sealed, which is much more than can be said of those that we seal by hand. After the above operation the envelope is conveyed around further along the cylinder and a compartment containing the desired addresses over-head drops an address into place, and the type is properly rubbed by a little inker, and on the final move it is compressed against the envelope, addressing the same, the type being conveyed in a carrier automatically back into the pile of used addresses. The next operation that the envelope goes through is to be "licked" on the corner by an automatic sponge preparatory for putting on the stamp, and at this point it might be well to state that Uncle Sam has consented to give the Molyneux System strip stamps in large quantities. These stamps come down through a compartment and with each move of the machine one stamp is set in place and a small air compressor closes up against it and pushes it against the portion of the envelope that has been previously "licked." The stamp is them properly placed on the envelope. The next move the envelope makes around the cylinder is to come to an opening where it passes against a little catch and is counted and slips either into an open compartment or into a United States mailing pouch for which an attachment is provided, thereby taking the envelope and the circulars from their crude state and delivering them to Uncle Sam without the touch of a human finger. If one could only stand and look at these so-called fingers work, the title of this article would be better appreciated, as they all seem to have absolute feeling, they are so accurate in performing the duty required of them, and one cannot help but be impressed with the fact that he is proud that he is a man, because it was a man Barton S. Molyneux who created this wonderful machine. The entire machine is run by electricity.

This machine will handle 4,000 envelopes an hour, or in other words will handle the work of 100 girls. Can anybody question its commercial value, when we take as a basis of figuring a statement from Van Norden's Magazine in August last year, which states that $100,000,000 a year is spent in advertising, which is approximately 7 per cent. of the business done in this country last year, or rather it costs 7 per cent. for advertising to sell our products. By the use of this machine and kindred machines along the same line which Mr. Molyneux is now completing, this cost of advertising will be greatly reduced, and therefore the cost of the product to the consumer will be reduced, which makes Mr. Molyneux's invention a god-send to the public.

Mr. Molyneux is a small nervous quick-eyed man of Hugenot descent, inheriting inventive talent from a long line of creative Normans, one of whom devised the compensating balance in watches. The usual discouragements and setbacks which attend the creation of things new have been with him, but today his name is blessed by many, and fortune smiles upon him. Curiously enough his invention was first called to the test of some automatic mailing machine on account of the great number of postage stamps received in payment for merchandise, which accumulated in the treasury of the large mail order houses and which the latter were forced to sell at a discount. A Congress Committee was at the time investigating the question in order to find some suitable mail order currency, and Molyneux who was then perfecting a mail sorting machine, began to design what is today known as the Molyneux automatic envelope enclosing machine. In the near future when this machine is offered to the public, in whatever form it may be offered, great results are looked for, not only from the big manufacturer, but its use reduces the cost to such an extent that the small dealer will be able to place in the consumers hands news pertaining to his products, which he has not been able to afford to do in the past.

The American people most assuredly do owe this wonderful man a great debt, and no doubt will look upon his future experiments along similar lines with great interest.

AFTER DOCTOR'S FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles."—Mrs. J. M. TWEEDALE, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. GETTING RID OF TROUBLE.

There is a bit of a poem that we learned many years ago. The author of it we do not know, but that matters not. This little verse has been called to mind many times since we learned it, not for any beauty of rhythm or for any romantic sentiment, but on account of its simple, plain, common-sense philosophy. The stanza reads:—

"For every evil under the sun,
There is a remedy or there is none.
If there be one seek it and find it.
If there be none then never mind it."

Pagan philosophy, we have heard it called. But be it pagan philosophy or otherwise, it is common sense at least. For every evil, sickness, trouble, sorrow, or whatever it may be, there is a remedy for it or there isn't. Look the trouble straight in the face, look at it from all sides, and discover if there is a remedy. If there is a remedy, then do not stop to talk or complain or worry or grieve, but go after that remedy and secure it. Then if the remedy is found the trouble is vanquished, and you haven't added to it long days and nights of useless worrying.

If looked at from every possible standpoint, you can see no remedy that is by any possible means available,—then never mind the trouble. Turn away from it, ignore it, forget it. It will only make matters worse to keep thinking about it, worrying over or talking about it.

Take this bit of philosophy and apply it to every difficulty, every perplexity, every worry, every trouble. Face your problem, whatever it is, dissect it, look it over from every viewpoint, give it a thorough diagnosis, and if there is no remedy, or none that is within your reach, then drop the whole matter. Don't spend another moment thinking about it. It will only waste your vitality and make you miserable.

But if, on the other hand, after a careful diagnosis, you find that there is a remedy, that by a certain course of action or by special effort on your part you can secure the remedy, then leave no stone unturned to bring that remedy to bear on the trouble. Undaunted and determined go after the remedy. Don't talk and scold and nag or whine, but with cheerful mein and fixed resolve, secure the remedy that will cure the trouble.

What's the use anyhow of worrying about anything? Worrying never made anything better. It always makes it worse because it is harmful to the body and mind. Worry weakens you and unfits you to cope with the trouble. It uses up the energy that should be spent in making things better. Foreboding and fear won't prevent any disaster. Oftentimes we bring upon us the very things we fear.

Never climb a hill until you get to it. We remember, as a child, in riding through the country we had a dread of high hills. How often we saw far ahead of us, on the road, a formidable looking hill. How high and rough and steep it looked, and how we feared it. How hard it would be for the horse to carry us up such a hill. We were sure he would slip and fall and maybe upset the carriage, and so, with the greatest apprehension, we would approach the dreaded hill. But how surprised we were as we came nearer to find the hill receding, growing flatter, and really no hill at all when we reached the point that seemed so high and craggy and dangerous.

So it is with many of life's perplexities. How darkly they loom up before us, what a black pall they spread around us. But when we get close up to them they have vanished entirely. We spoil so much of life in fear and foreboding. We let slip the beautiful moments that are ours and spoil them by dreading the moments of the future with which we have nothing to do. We ride over the nice, level country, forgetting its beauty, unmindful of its delight, dreading the hill that never comes.

Foolish, very foolish, wasting our mental and physical vitality. Making ourselves wretched and everybody about us miserable because of our fear habit and worry habit.

For all these troubling apply this bit of philosophy—"if there be a remedy seek it and find it; if there be none then never mind it." Look straight at the thing that is bothering you, causing you to lie awake at nights. Take it apart bit by bit, analyze it, look it all over. Perhaps by that time it will disappear of its own accord. But look for the remedy and waste no time in applying it. If there is no remedy, then bring your common sense and will power to bear. Turn away from the troubling thing and busy yourself with other thoughts, make new plans and go straight on with confidence that everything will come right anyhow, and that it is only foolish to worry about anything whatsoever.

COMMITTED PERJURY.

Hugh Whitty Makes an Incriminating Confession.

Hugh Whitty, the eccentric Irish student who lived at Jim Farrell's place at Meadowvale is in jail a self-confessed perjurer. Jim Farrell is out on bail on a charge of perjury said to have been committed by him in the police court here last Saturday. On that occasion Whitty should have been on hand to press the charges of perjury he had laid against Inspector Orr but he failed to appear. Whitty, who is generally credited with having "bats in his belfry" turned up at P. M. Shaver's at Cooksville one night this week and confessed that he had never been down stairs at all while Inspector Orr and Constable Harvey searched Jim Farrell's tavern for booze. On Saturday Jim showed by an elaborate plan of the bar just where Whitty stood while the officers made the search. Whitty is a remittance man who came to Canada several years ago from Ireland. Two or three years ago he attended Brampton High School and they say he has been going to school at Streetsville. He is between thirty and forty years of age and is said to have the ambition to become an Anglican clergyman. Just now he is reported to be awaiting a remittance. Whitty is said to be in a bad way and conscience stricken at what he has done. —Brampton Banner.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerves, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

This is what Farquhar Baxter, of Caledon had to say when looking at the above which is a facsimile of the cheque received by him for the destruction of his new barn on April 7th., 1909. Mr. Baxter was no doubt one of the many victims of the recent storm, but when he considers that he had only given his application for insurance on the 22nd day of March, 1909, and up to the date of his loss his application had not reached the Head Office. This is only one instance of the way in which the above Company treats its customers. Mr. Baxter's loss was over $1800, but was insured for only $1000. His advice to all brother farmers is to not put off till tomorrow what you can do to-day, as the result may prove financially disastrous. Take out a policy with the above Company and be safe. That's what they all say.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

An interesting experiment has been tried in Cleveland during the past year by the Chief of Police in the matter of arrests, and it is probable that the plan, because of its simplicity and undoubted good results, will be copied extensively before long in many leading cities. Patrolmen have been encouraged to act as mediators in adjusting disputes, street fights, drunks, disorderlies, etc., and they have been given recognition, not for the number of poor wretches they gather into the stations, but for the success that has attended their efforts to settle disputes and bring about good conduct in those who render themselves liable to punishment. In a period of eight months the number of arrests in Cleveland has been reduced from 20,592 to 7,381, and Chief Kohler, in commenting on this, said to his men:

"The members of this department have accomplished results even beyond my expectations in this commonsense policy, which must be gratifying to you as well as myself, and I am sure it is to the general community. With your long and varied experience in police matters, I know that you are competent to judge. The last six months have shown that your judgment is good, and you have accomplished the results expected by me in our first instructions."

It is necessary for the protection of society that evil-doers be meted out adequate punishment for their crimes. The State, however, should not lose sight of the possibility of restoring the wrong-doer to respectability and inducing him to employ his time and energies in some honorable and useful pursuit. One of the gravest menaces to society in this and other countries is the existence of a class of professional criminals. These persons have no thought of anything except crime and while imprisonment relieves society for a time from the danger of their ill-deeds, about the only effect it has on the prisoners themselves is to embitter them, and make them more reckless and more daring in their crimes. On the other hand there are undoubtedly many persons who have made a false step and are sincerely desirous of reforming their lives and becoming useful and law-abiding citizens. It would seem the duty of the State to give offenders of this class whatever assistance it can in their effort to regain their lost standing in society.

A five-year-old son of Joseph Chapman, who resides near Keenansville, met death under very sad circumstances a few evenings ago. A gang of telephone men had been erecting poles in the neighborhood and on Saturday night the unfortunate little fellow was playing near a hole that had been dug for a pole and which had partly filled with water, when he fell in head foremost. He was unable to extricate himself and was drowned.

THE SALVATION OF "TAFT."

A year ago the "toughest place in the world" was said to be Taft, Mont. It had one store, twenty-six saloons, and an undertaking establishment. Two years ago it did not even exist; but the construction of a great tunnel on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad called it into existence with a population of a thousand men. "With the men came all those vicious institutions which prey upon them—houses of ill-fame, and gambling-dens." The story of its redemption, which is said to read "like a passage from the Gospels," is given in The Home Herald (Chicago), and runs in this wise:

"The Y. M. C. A. has attacked similar problems in other places with success, but even those who knew its work discouraged any attempt at Taft. The town, they said, was too tough. In the face of this well-meant advice Mr. Morrison, a secretary of the association, went on to the ground, and with the help of the company established a pleasant and attractive Y. M. C. A. room. Up to this time the men had been cashing their pay-checks in saloons, there being no other place to cash them. Mr. Morrison arranged with a banker in a near-by town to undertake this business. On the next day, the money was shipped into Taft, and Mr. Morrison, armed with a revolver, rode with it from the train to the camp. There he cashed the checks, encouraging the men to leave over all surplus funds with him for deposit in the bank. The result was that over $2,000 was left with him, all of which, in the regular course of events, would have gone over the bars. Opposition grew hot against him, of course, and on two occasions the saloonkeepers caused his arrest on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. At other times they threatened his life, and a threat is no idle thing in Taft, where the melting of the snow each spring discloses the skeletons of men killed during the winter. None of these things deterred him, however; he continued to fight the liquor element and urge the strict enforcement of the laws. With the aid of the sheriff, who stood at his side with drawn revolver, he gathered a company and held meetings before the most notorious resort. In spite of the piano inside and the jeering crowds in the windows, the Gospel finally conquered; men and women were drawn out of the houses to gather about the cart which served as a pulpit, and more than one found eternal life.

"The great test came on Christmas of last year, when the camp was given its first birthday. So certain was the foreman that the majority of his workmen would be incapacitated for labor through drink, that he took the precaution of ordering 200 extra men to start work on the twenty-sixth. Gamblers, prostitutes, and boot-leggers flocked into town in anticipation of the day. But Mr. Morrison was ready for them. On the night before Christmas he held a meeting in the camp, and talked the matter over with the boys. There, after prayer and a brief speech, they pledged themselves to fool the whole crowd of devils by boycotting the town on Christmas. A tree was arranged in the camp, a phonograph played during the day, and Mr. Morrison showed pictures in the afternoon and evening. The result—wonderful to every one from the superintendent down—was that only two men out of the whole number were unable to report for work next day, and the gamblers in disgust declared that 'there was not enough money spent in Taft to pay for calling a quorum.' . . . .

"Those who approved the experiment said, 'Don't preach religion; just make yourselves useful to the men.' But it was preaching which the men wanted. They said to Mr. Morrison time and again, 'Don't close your meeting, partner, until you pray for us.' It was the distinctly religious element in the work which made its success possible. Taft has proved again what needed no proof, that there is 'no other name under heaven by which men can be saved.'"

The success of the work in Taft and in other construction camps has encouraged the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. to extend this work to all the camps in the country, and contractors and railroads are said to be contributing generously to this end, "recognizing that no sum is too large to pay in return for sobriety and steadiness in the men."

DROWNED IN POST-HOLE.

A very sad accident occurred on the townline of Adjala and Tecumseth on Saturday night, when Tommy, the five-year-old son of Mr. Joseph Chapman, who lives on the corner of Mr. Joseph Wright's farm, fell in a post-hole which was recently dug for the telephone poles for Mr. W. J. Anderson's new telephone line, and was drowned in about two feet of water. The boy was a bright little fellow and was with the men who were erecting the poles most of the day. Mr. Chapman had the contract to dig the holes by the piece and went to work after supper a few rods from his home and the little fellow went with him. His father sent him home and on the way he in some way fell in a hole on his head and was not discovered for fifteen or twenty minutes, when life was extinct. The funeral took place on Monday morning to St. James' cemetery, Colgan. Much sympathy is extended to his parents.—Beeton World.

A HUMAN LOG

Strange Case of Henry Beauchamp of Port Hope

Port Hope, May 14.—Henry Beauchamp, a well-known character, 32 years ago was a victim of a paralytic stroke, which besides partially crippling his legs and arms, rendered him almost dumb. This morning he was again a victim, and now lies dumb, sightless, deaf, and a total cripple. The medical fraternity are investigating the case, which is almost unique in medical annals.

A Question of Health.

Without Rich, Red Blood You Cannot be Healthy—How to Obtain This Blessing.

If every woman and young girl would realize the danger of allowing blood to become thin and poor, would understand that the majority of common diseases are caused by an anaemic (or bloodless) condition, that persistent pallor means that the blood is not furnishing the organs with the required amount of nourishment, there would be awakened interest in the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Thin blood means starved nerves, weakened digestion, functional disorders, headaches and even partial paralysis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills wbuild up the blood repair waste and prevent and check disease. They fill the system with rich, red blood which means good health and life.

Miss Marie Dionne, St. Angele, Que., says:—"I am deeply grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. My blood was almost turned to water. I was pale, had no appetite, suffered from pains in the back and side, and had a feeling of constant depression. The smallest exertion would leave me breathless, and I was reduced in flesh until I weighed only 98 pounds. I got nothing to help me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They began helping me after the first couple of weeks, and in a few weeks more I was again perfectly well. The color returned to my cheeks, the pains left me, and I gained in weight until now I weigh 130 pounds. I feel so happy for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me that I hope some other ailing, miserable girl will profit by my experience and obtain new health.

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EARTHQUAKE IN WEST.

Felt From New Ontario as far West as Swift Current.

Consternation was spread throughout western Canada and the adjoining States of the Union Saturday night when the whole of the vast area of country between New Ontario on the east and Swift Current on the west, Prince Albert on the north and St. Paul on the south, was shaken by an earthquake. It occurred at 10.20 o'clock, and the disturbance lasted from thirty seconds to a minute, according to the locality. No damage to property has qeen reported, although many people in places where the shake was more severe were greatly alarmed. In Winnipeg the tremor seemed to be most pronounced in the vicinity of the Assiniboine River valley, but it was noted throughout the city. In many houses furniture was shaken.

Recollections of the horrors of the San Francisco catastrophe were recalled, and until it was finally learned that life and property throughout the country were safe, there was great alarm. The C. P. R. telegraph operators, who were in communication with the western towns when the convulsion occurred, were notified that the quake there was simultaneous with that at Winnipeg. Despatches were flashed everywhere, inquiring as to the results of the upheaval, and there was a feeling of intense relief when assurances came in that there had been neither loss of life nor property. Western towns and villages which had been shaken feared for Winnipeg's safety.

At Indian Head goods were shaken from the shelves in stores, furniture and lamps, and dishes in houses were moved, and the citizens rushed to the open, fearful of a terrible catastrophe. At Moose Jaw there was also a general exodus of citizens from their homes, and buildings were rocked quite perceptibly.

For two days prior to this Winnipeg had been almost isolated from the outside world, so far as telegraphic communication is concerned, through an interruption of the wire service. Terrific electrical storms also raged in several localities, but whether these outbursts had any connection with the great convulsion of nature which shook the prairies cannot be known. Scientists, however, who have been consulted in the matter, declare their belief that the real force of the earthquake was not felt in this country, but rather this was but a tremor from some mighty convulsion of the earth in another section of the globe, and they expect to learn of further details of a destructive visitation.

There is said to have been a similar disturbance is Western Canada many years ago, although there is no authentic record of it excepting the memory of pioneers, but the prairies have always been regarded as peculiarly immune from earthquakes, owing to their distance from the centres of volcanic action, mountains or seashore, and also from the fact that the earth's crust here is of solid formation. Actual earthquakes are regarded as almost impossible, and it is therefore, argued by authorities that Saturday night's disturbance was but a faint echo of something terrible.

A Listowel young man was fined $5.00 and costs for using obscene language on the street one night in January. On being given a few days to pay he promptly decamped. Not being satisfied with remaining in retirement he wrote a letter to Listowel committing the chief of police who had laid the complaint, to Hades. As the chief is a good Presbyterian he objected to having it rubbed in, and as he held a warrant of committal to Stratford goal of the person in question, he promptly wired the chief in Ayton, who arrested him, and the young man, rather than take 20 days in jail, settled his fine and a neat bill of costs.

TIPS ON LATEST MODES.

The flower rosette is very popular.

Lace heads the list for the mantelet.

Jet and amber are increasing in favor.

The long drop is the favorite type of earring.

Gowns are elaborate, but never for a moment fussy.

Frequently panels are finished with knotted fringe.

Broche fabrics will be much worn in the near future.

This season brings a large and fascinating variety of Japanese silks.

Very many gowns have touches of hand embroidery on them this season.

The tunic is becoming an all-important part of the dress of the present season.

The jacket is one of the revivals seen in some of the very handsome imported costumes.

Cabochons of straw, with jewel centres, will be seen on some of the smart hats.

Skirtings are nearly all striped, which adds to the long-lined effect of the season.

Shirring over cords and in tiny puffs will be seen more and more as the season advances.

Except for an occasional scant flounce, all trimming is put on in lengthwise form.

Figured as well as striped henriettas are seen in the shops in all the newest colorings.

For morning wear the chamois and castor gloves are the rage here as well as in Paris.

Cretonne belts with figures stamped in blue are to be had, and are quite charming.

Black hats of Neapolitan straw are exceedingly pretty. They will be much seen this summer.

Bracelets are not so popular as they have been, although they are not to be abandoned altogether.

The counters of the best shops are literally overflowing with new cottons, linens, silks and woollens.

There are a number of checked riding suits to be had. With them a black derby is invariably worn.

The bottoms of sleeves are very much trimmed, while the upper parts are absolutely plain.

"Shevelure" is the name given to a shade of brown, which being interpreted, means hair brown.

The newest colors for gloves are champagne and the lightest shades of brown, even to a bright yellow.

Pear-shaped pearls or jewels, or strands of platinum threaded with diamonds and pearls, are fashionable.

The main feature of the new straw hat is the crown. Some of the modes have apparently nothing but crown.

Pearl buttons, triangular, oblong and irregular in shape will be worn as trimmings on many wash dresses.

One of the novelties of the minute is a sleeveless coat, which is being made for afternoon toilettes.

Irish crochet motives, made of metallic cord instead of the usual thread, are among the new trimmings.

All the newest gloves have the stitchings of the self-same color. They fasten with three pearl buttons.

Colored net or tulle sleeves have a lining of gold net. This gives just a charming shimmer through the outer mesh.

Spanish lace scarfs, scarcely seen since the days of their popularity twenty years ago, have again made an appearance.

With the advance of spring designs in dark colors grow apace. They may be had jewelled as well as in the plain metals.

A great many odd shoulder bands and straps are being introduced, particularly as a finish for jumper gowns worn over guimpes.

Suede or glace leather is used for trimming smart travelling coats. Up-to-date tailors call these garments voyaging wraps.

Belts of plain white linen may be made very fetchy by adding the blue Dutch landscapes of embroidery in the coarse darning stitch.

Among the new brooches are tiny straw hats of finely woven gold, with wreathes of enamel daisies or sprays of seed-pearl flowers.

Very dainty are the linen card cases, rich in drawn work and other dainty needlework. They are mounted over white or a color.

Capes are coming in once more. Some hang perfectly straight from the shoulders, with openings at the sides to put the arms through.

The new mantelet reaches usually to the hips, and, even if they are longer, they are mere trifles, light as air, but smart and charming.

The mercerized soutache in colors will be used a great deal for outlining on the Dutch collars, as well as for trimming wash dresses.

Silk cashmere continues to be modish for best afternoon gowns and like all other materials of the moment it is elastic, soft and most supple.

Many of the new guimpes are made without collars, only a narrow ruche of lace finishing the place where the collar is naturally looked for.

Lace fichus are being worn for trimming frocks of chiffon and silk, and these fichus are shaped over the shoulders with tabs to cross the bust.

Marcassite, steel and silver bags, woven like cloth and embroidered or dotted with small pearl and steel beads, have supplanted the gold ones. Summer evening costumes are modifications of the winter styles, much like them, except that skirts are less scanty and waist lines are more nearly normal.

Fifty thousand free packages of flower seeds are being sent out by the Canadian Pacific Railway as part of the scheme for making the stations the links in the flower chain across the continent. The seeds are sent to agents, section men and employes, and the result is that wherever there is a C.P.R. station, section house or office building, there will be found flowers. Later on, thousands of plants and shrubs will be sent out. Last year $200,000 tulips, hyacinths, lilies, crocuses and iris bulbs were distributed.

There is a new sleeve, fitting the arm from the shoulder to an inch or so above the elbow, and then puffed to the wrist. It is becoming to the girl with thin arms.

ROLLED HIM IN DOUGH

New York, May 14.—Reduced to its last analysis, the bakers recently went out on strike. Max Alheim, who did not close his bakery when able, was dragged from his bed today by a mob and thrown into a vat of dough in the basement of his establishment. He was so badly beaten that his removal to an hospital was necessary. Women meanwhile attacked Mrs. Alheim and threw pailsful of dough upon her. The police dispersed the raiders and arrested two of them.

Two or three small boys of Drayton found a number of loaded cartridges last week which had been thrown into a back-yard by the owners while fitting. Boy-like they thought they would have some fun with them. They first took out the shot, then divided the powder, putting it into two cans and set it off, with the result that Alfred Smith, eldest son of Mr. Walter Smith, got his face so badly burnt that at one time it was feared he would lose his sight. The swelling is now going down and he is beginning to see a little. He had anarrow escape and all the boys had a bad scare.

McDONALD TAKEN HOME.

George McDonald, the Mono farmer who had his leg broken and was otherwise used up in Orangeville on a Saturday night a few weeks ago, was removed from the Hotel Alexandra, where he has been lying ever since his mishap, to his home near Mono Centre on Sunday. McDonald is doing well and his broken limb is setting as quickly as could be expected. Wm. McNamara, who is charged by McDonald with having caused his injuries, is out on bail until June 1st, when the case will likely be further adjourned as the complainant will not be able to appear.

AUSTRALIAN JOURNALISTS.

Delegates to Imperial Conference Passed Through Orangeville on Sunday.

A dozen or more Australian journalists and their wives passed through Orangeville on Sunday on their way across Canada. The newspaper men of the party are delegates to the Imperial Press Conference in England next month. The members of the party were:—Mr. and Mrs. R. Kiffin Thomas, Adelaide, Australia; Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Cunningham, Melbourne, Australia; Hon. C. E. and Mrs. Davies, Hobart, Tasmania; Hon. J. W. Kirwin, Kalgoorlie, Western Australia; Mr. Norman Clark, Ballarat, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Berkeley, Newcastle, New South Wales; Mr. Thomas Temperley, Richmond River, Ballina, New South Wales; Mr. and Mrs. H. Brett, Auckland, New Zealand; Mr. and Mrs Geo. Fenwick, New Zealand; Mr. Gresley Lukin, Wellington, New Zealand; Mr. Mark Cohen, Dunedin, New Zealand; Mrs. K. K. Thomas, Mr. Rev. K. Thomas, Adelaide, Australia.

The travellers were in charge of Mr. George Ham, publicity agent of the C.P.R., who met them on their arrival at Victoria on May 4th., on the C.P.R. liner, Marama. The party spent two days on the Pacific Coast and a couple of days sightseeing in the Rockies. They visited Calgary, Winnipeg and other Western centres and at Fort William embarked on the Keewatin for Owen Sound. They reached Owen Sound at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, were met at the wharf by the Mayor and members of the Town Council and driven through the town. At 9.45 they left on the parlor car Severn on a special train for Toronto. Monday was spent in the city, Tuesday the party went to Niagara Falls, yesterday to Ottawa, to-day they are in Montreal and Friday will be spent in Quebec. On Friday afternoon the party will embark for Europe.

The special carrying the visitors reached Orangeville about 11.40 a. m. The stop here was very short, not more than two or three minutes. Mr. J. W. Aiken, who visited Australia two or three years ago, and Mr. B. McGuire, of The Banner, were at the depot to greet the journalists, and furnish them with mementoes of the town in the form of souvenir post cards and copies of the local newspapers.

DOMINION DAY.

A meeting of citizens will be held in the Council Chamber next Tuesday evening to consider the advisability of holding a Dominion Day celebration here this year. All citizens are urged to attend. Meeting at 8 o'clock.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING.

About thirty temperance workers attended the general meeting held in the Carnegie Library on Tuesday night to consider plans for a local option campaign. The business of the meeting consisted largely in appointing committees for different purposes. We understand that arrangements are in progress for a series of weekly meetings, at which the following and possibly other topics will be discussed by local speakers:—"The Liquor License Act and the Local Option By-Law," "The Difference between Local Option and the Scott Act," "Success of the Law in other Places," and "Organization and Methods of Campaign." These meetings will likely be held every Tuesday night.

SCHMIDT—PATTERSON.

The marriage of Mr. Karl Frederick Schmidt to Miss Margaret Bertha Patterson, both of Toronto, was solemnized at the manse in Richmond Hill by Rev. E. C. Currie, on Tuesday, May 11th. The bride, who is a popular and skilful trained nurse, who has followed her profession in Toronto since graduating from the Hamilton General Hospital three years ago, was attired in a becoming travelling costume of light grey cloth. Mr. Schmidt is widely known as a Canadian writer and illustrator and is a regular contributor to Toronto newspapers and magazines. After a tour of some of the American cities the young couple will make their home in Toronto.

THRALL—PARK.

The marriage of Mr. Z. Frank Thrall, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Marie Ethel Park, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Park, was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Zina St., at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The ceremony, which was witnessed by the immediate relatives only, was performed by Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church. The happy couple left on the evening train for a trip to New York and Atlantic City. The bride was becomingly attired in a neat travelling suit of pongee with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Thrall will reside at 251 Auburn Ave., Buffalo, where they will be at home to their friends after July 1st.

BROKE HIS NECK.

James Fawcett Killed in a Runaway Accident.

A fatal accident took place on East Broadway between 8 and 9 o'clock on Friday night, resulting in the instant death of James Fawcett. The deceased, who was a laboring man about sixty years of age, was driving home with James Ellis, a Mono farmer, with whom he had just engaged for the fifth summer. Ellis had driven in to the station to meet Fawcett and take him out to his home. He had only the bottom boards on his wagon. While they were driving down the East Broadway hill a short distance below the Market Square, the boards began to shift forward and some of them struck the horses, frightening them, and causing them to run away. The two men were seated on Fawcett's trunk, Ellis driving. Fawcett grasped the lines to assist his companion to control the thoroughly frightened team. Their combined efforts were unavailing and as the team plunged madly forward Fawcett was jerked from his seat and thrown head foremost to the ground in front of the wagon. His neck was broken by the force of the fall and it was afterwards found that several of his ribs were crushed, presumably by one of the wheels passing over him. Seeing that it was useless to attempt to stop the team Ellis dropped the lines, crawled to the back of the wagon and dropped to the ground, escaping unhurt.

Some citizens who had witnessed the distressing affair helped Ellis to carry Fawcett's body to the Town Hall, where it was viewed by Coroner James Henry. After learning the facts the Coroner decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Meantime some of the officers of Harris Masonic Lodge, in which the deceased was a member, arrived and under their instructions the remains were conveyed to Mr. J. H. Hulse's undertaking rooms. Word was sent to Mr. John R. Cook, Centre Road, Caledon, a cousin of the dead man, who drove in as soon as he was apprised of the sad fatality and took charge of the funeral arrangements.

Fawcett farmed for a number of years in the neighborhood of Alton, but owing to the ill-health of his wife sold his place about six years ago. He was a quiet, industrious man and had the reputation of being an excellent worker. Mr. Ellis, thought a great deal of him and is very much distressed over the sad fatality. He leaves a widow, who has been in the Mimico Asylum for the last few years. A brother and sister are also living in Ireland.

There was a very large attendance at the funeral, which was held from Mr. Cook's home to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, conducted the services at the house and grave. The members of Harris Masonic Lodge attended the funeral in a body and Mr. C. R. McKeown, a Past Master of the Lodge, read the beautiful burial service of the Order over the open grave. The pallbearers, all members of the fraternity, were Messrs. R. Irvine, E. J. Ellis, Jas. B. Alex. Dick, J. M. Dods and Geo. McIntyre.

WHAT MAC, THE FARMER, SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, May 7.—A few years ago when on one of the many occasions on which the House has to some extent seriously considered the cost of the official report of its debates, commonly known as "Hansard," Sir Richard Cartwright—for it was before his translation to the Upper Chamber—directed one of his shafts of sarcasm against Mr. Foster, endeavoring to kmake a point against the latter on the ground of the number and length of his speeches. "We are told," said Sir Richard, "that in the world beyond an account must be rendered of every idle word uttered here. If that be true, as we all believe it is, what an awful fate awaits the honorable gentleman opposite."

Whatever may be the responsibility of Mr. Foster in this regard, and it certainly is no greater tnan that of many another member of the House, certainly is no greater than that of Sir Richard himself, the fact remains that every word uttered in debate in the House of Commons, whether it be idle or whether it be useful, is accurately reported and faithfully reproduced in the official reports, known everywhere as "Hansard." That word like many other things connected with our Parliament, we have borrowed from the British House of Commons. Many years ago, before the writing of shorthand had attained the perfection it has reached in our own time, two London brothers engaged in the publishing business, entered into a contract to reproduce for the British House a full and accurate report of its proceedings and debates. The name of these men was Hansard and so it became the name of the official reports of the debates and it continued to be the name long after the contract had expired and the debates were reported and published by officials of the House. There were never any Hansards in Canada, but for many years there has been an official, verbatim report of the debates in Parliament and Hansard it is called to this day.

Almost anybody can learn to write shorthand with a certain degree of rapidity, but it is only a few who can acquire that wonderful rapidity and accuracy which enables the winged-pencils of the reporters to keep pace with the spoken words of the most rapid speaker. It is only men of a certain temperament who can develope those really remarkable qualities, and that is done only after years of practice. The Hansard reporters are the pick of the craft.

On the floor of the House just below the Clerk's long table stand two small tables and it is there that the Hansard reporters take their notes. They work in relays, a reporter writing for ten minutes when he is relieved by a fellow-reporter. The relieving man enters the House and takes his place at the vacant table a minute before the other man's time is up, and so takes up the speech at the very point where the latter leaves off. The reporter who has been relieved at once retires to the reporters' office—a fine large room just across the corridor from the entrance to the chamber. There each reporter has his own typewriter and typist, and sitting down the reporter dictates his notes and they are promptly written out. Before it is his turn to again enter the chamber his notes are all written out so that the report of the debate is put into manuscript almost as soon as the speeches are delivered. And the manuscript is put into type almost as rapidly. From the typewriter the manuscript or "copy" as the printers call it, goes to the staff of editors who carefully read it, supervise the punctuation, etc., and then it is sent to the Government Printing Bureau, which stands across the Rideau canal on Nepean Point. Messengers carrying the copy are coming and going between the House and the Bureau as long as the House is sitting, which is usually far into the night. As fast as the reports are received they are put into type, and early the next forenoon the printed reports of the debate of the preceding night are distributed to the members and posted to the newspapers throughout the country. This is the unrevised edition, and the revised sheets are not printed until a day or two later. Each speaker has the privilege, and in fact is expected to revise his speech, and for this purpose he is supplied with printed proofs. Of course he can correct grammatical errors and other slips of the tongue or re-arrange a sentence in order to make his meaning clearer, but he cannot change the meaning of his spoken words or write into the report what in substance he did not say on the floor of the House.

At the end of the session the reports are substantially bound and it usually requires four large volumes to contain all that the members have said. Three-fourths of it is probably never read after it is printed and bound, but it is there to read if required, and so a member is never able to repudiate what he said in the House on any of the questions that came before it.

In our Federal Parliament the two languages, English and French, stand on an equal footing and each is official. English is more commonly used and probably four-fifths, if not more, of all the speeches are delivered in that tongue.

Quite frequently, however, the members from the Province of Quebec, all of whom can speak English very well, address the House in French. On the Hansard staff are two French reporters, through this part of the reporting. Besides these reporters there is a large staff of translators who have to turn into French all the English speeches for there has to be a French edition of Hansard, just as there are French editions of all the departmental reports and French versions of all official documents. The debates of the Senate are reported in practically the same manner as are those of the House, the principal difference being that the staff of reporters is smaller.

It is not from Hansard that the public receive their information respecting the proceedings of Parliament. The work of supplying that information is performed by the thirty-odd newspaper men who occupy the perch-like gallery which juts out from the wall above and to each side of the speaker's chair. The membership of the Parliamentary Press Gallery is composed of the representatives of all the leading newspapers of the country. From the time the House opens until it adjourns, no matter how late at night or how early in the morning, these men may be found at their posts, attentively listening to the debates and faithfully reporting them for their respective newspapers. As a rule the reporting of Parliament is to-day done better than ever before. Perhaps the reports are more condensed than was once the case, but they are certainly made more readable and unquestionably they are fairer and more reasonable. As a rule party papers no longer infuse a party spirit into their reports.

The session is now so far advanced that the Government have appropriated for their own business the greater part of each sitting and private members' business has, therefore, little chance of receiving consideration. However, late as it is, Mr. J. A. Currie, of North Simcoe, has introduced a bill which, owing to its pressing importance, and the magnitude of the interests concerned, may even at this late date force itself upon the attention of the House. The bill proposes to amend the Manitoba Grain Act so that grain forwarded east by vessel shall be officially weighed both in and out at the terminal elevators. The shipping companies complain that each season they sustain serious loss because of short weight at transfer points, especially on the Great Lakes and at Montreal, the loss last season amounting to $50,000. Under its bill of lading a vessel is charged with having received a certain quantity of grain, but when the cargo comes to be discharged, the weight does not hold out and the vessel owners are the losers. The Government inspectors' certificates guarantee the quality or grade of the grain until it reaches the export ocean port, and Mr. Currie proposes that not only the quality, but the quantity also be so guaranteed. The bill is so important that it will have to be considered, although it is introduced by a member of the Opposition.

As an outcome of the attendance of the Hon. S. A. Fisher and the Hon. Clifford Sifton at the Conservation of Resources Congress held in Washington, shortly before the close of the Roosevelt administration, Mr. Fisher has brought in a Government bill to provide for the establishment of "a commission for the conservation of the natural resources" of the Dominion.

As defined by the bill it shall be the duty of the commission to study the best means of conserving and utilizing the natural resources of this country; to collect information bearing upon the subject, and to frame recommendations. The commission is to consist of 24 members appointed by the Government, one from each province wherever possible being a member of the faculty of a university. In addition to these the ex-officio commissioners are to be the Ministers of Agriculture, of Mines, and of the Interior, and representatives of the provincial Governments. The commissioners are to receive no salaries, but are to be paid actual disbursements made in connection with the work. This commission ought to accomplish something really useful, even if no more is done than to direct public attention to the extent and value of the country's resources, and the wisdom of using them in a wise, economic manner.

On Wednesday, the House again returned to the report of the commission appointed by the Government of New Brunswick to enquire into the financing of the Central Railway of that province, with which Mr. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, was connected before he entered the Federal Cabinet. The Opposition some time ago, demanded an investigation, but failing to secure it, they are now trying to censure Mr. Pugsley. The fight is a bitter, personal one, but the Opposition's motion will not be adopted, for the Government and its supporters have decided to stand by Mr. Pugsley and see him through this unpleasant affair.—The Family Herald & Weekly Star.

How is a Cold to be Cured

When it has reached the chest, is developing into bronchitis and threatens to become pneumonia.

So gradually and stealthily does a cold pass from its simpler form of a cold in the head into inflammation of the bronchial tubes and then on to the lungs that many do not realize their condition until pneumonia is upon them.

Why should not every cold be taken seriously and Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine used before a severe illness is upon you.

There are many reasons why you should use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is more thorough and far-reaching in its effects on the system than any mere cough medicine can possibly be. It keeps the cough loose and open, it aids expectoration and allays the inflammation.

Mrs. Geo. Good, Tichborne, Addington Co., Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure that I certify to the wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for colds. It is the best and surest treatment for coughs and colds that we have ever been able to find." 25 cts. a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CANADA'S NEW POPULATION

Authentic figures compiled for the Montreal Star show that 16,500 immigrants, exclusive of children under age, have passed through the Canadian Pacific Windsor Street station at Montreal in one month. The flood tide of immigration began about the middle of March, and the figures compiled over one month from March 15 to April 15. Of this number, 12,045 or 73 per cent. of the whole, went directly to Winnipeg, and from there scattered themselves over the far West; 2,955 used Toronto as the distributing centre, most of these going to various parts of New Ontario; and 1,500 scattered themselves along the line from Montreal to Sault Ste. Marie.

The total number of immigrants to Canada for the year ended March 31, was 146,908, compared with 262,467 in the previous year, says the Ottawa correspondent of the Times. British immigrants numbered 52,901, being a decrease of 68,000; Continental immigrants numbered 34,175 a decrease of 49,800, and immigrants from the United States numbered 59,832, a slight increase.

DECLINE IN DRINK HABIT.

British revenue returns show that the decline in consumption of intoxicating liquors continues. From 1899 onwards there has been a steady decline in the use of beer. In 1899 the consumption amounted to 32.29 gallons per head; in 1908 it was down to 26.47. It is satisfactory that the decrease in spirits has been almost as consistent. In 1899 the consumption was 1.16 gallons per head; in 1908 this was lowered to .87. During 1908 the number of licenses in England and Wales was also considerably reduced; on-licenses by over 2,000, off-license by 200. This reduction, with the dull trade, helped doubtless to lower the number of convictions for drunkenness during the year. In 1908 the number convicted was 187,803 in England and Wales. This is a reduction of over 9,000 from the figures of 1907. The reduction was general throughout the country. Registered clubs have increased by 200 during 1908, but if the Chancellor of the Exchequer in his new budget brings the tax to bear, the ratio of increase will doubtless be somewhat checked.

CHANGES IN THE 36TH.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. W. Wallace does not get an extension of a year as commanding officer of the 36th (Peel) Regiment after all, and the command of the Regiment will pass to the senior major, R.C. Windemeyer. This will mean the promotion of Major Graham, of Alliston, from junior to senior major, and the promotion of Capt. Hamilton, the adjutant to junior major. It is also understood to mean the promotion of Capt. Geo. F. Gabriel, of Shelburne, to the important position of adjutant Lieut.-Col. Wallace was an efficient commanding officer and has a large number of well-wishers among those who have been connected with the Regiment.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia. If any of the readers of The Banner are suffering from stomach trouble of any kind, T. Stevenson will sell you a box of Mi-o-na for 50 cents with an absolute guarantee of relief or money back.

Neil Murray of Huron Road, Goderich, Ont., says: "I suffered with indigestion for over four years and had been given over as incurable by many doctors. I had become a nervous wreck through loss of sleep, and whatever I did eat did not remain on my stomach for over two hours. I would suffer with vomiting spells that would almost kill me, perspiration as large as beads would break out all over my body and leave me in so weakened a condition that I would be unable to stand. Not a night's rest in over six months and was so weakened and run down that my family thought I would die. My heart was greatly weakened and would flutter and a sharp pain would come through me and cut off my breath. I was reduced in weight from 150 to less than 110 pounds. Doctors would give different causes for my trouble, yet none of them gave me the slightest relief. I commenced treatment with Mi-o-na and when one-half of the first box was used I would eat my meals without suffering the dreadful vomiting spells. I used about ten boxes in all, and I am entirely cured. My stomach is as strong as ever and there is not the slightest trouble with digestion. I have gained about 40 pounds in weight, am strong and healthy and like a new man. I will always speak highly of Mi-o-na, as it cured and I believe kept me from sure death when all else had failed."

Brighten Up

Not only does it take longer to put poor paint on your building than good paint, but you have to do it oftener. Divide the cost of painting your building into three parts and two of them go to the painter. The third part pays for the paint. If you get paint that will last 6 years you can afford to pay more for it than for paint that lasts but 2.

He was a fine type of the old Southern colonel, the fiery scion of a race of cavliers. Also, he was exceedingly wrathy. He had just received a letter from a man, "a low soht of pushon, suh, I assuah you," which displeased him immensely and he was debating inwardly how just to convey to his vulgar correspondent an adequate expression of his (the colonel's) opinion of him. But his stenographer was a lady. The colonel snorted, made two or three false starts, and finally dictated:

"Sir—My stenographer, being a lady, can not transcribe what I think of you, I being a gentleman, can not think it. But you, being neither, will readily understand what I mean."

Robt. Phoenix, of Mulmur met with a heavy loss on Thursday last by having his residence destroyed by fire. The fire started in the back kitchen about two o'clock in the morning and the cause is quite a mystery. There had been no fire there since last fall and it looks very much like a case of incendiarism. Mr. Phoenix and family luckily escaped but had very little time to save much of the furniture. The fire places Mr. Phoenix in a very awkward position, as he can get no house near to move into. He purchased another farm last fall near the homestead but the house will not be vacant until sometime in June. The premises were insured in The Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.—Free Press.

CHOKED TO DEATH

Stewart M. Douglas, a traveller for the Scarborough Publishing Co., of Hamilton, was found dead last Wednesday in his room at the St. Albans Hotel Wiarton. He had been around Owen Sound for five or six weeks, traveling through rural districts. On the Monday preceding his death he went to Wiarton and put up at the St. Albans. He appeared to have been drinking heavily. Wednesday morning he was out for a short time, but came in about ten a.m. and went to his room. About two o'clock Mr. Gladstone, passing the room, glanced in at the open door and saw the man lying on the bed. From appearances he suspected all was not well; and on examination found that Douglas was dead. Coroner Fisher was at once called in, and decided that the unfortunate man had choked to death while asleep, as his head was dropped forward, and the high collar he wore pressed hard against his throat. An inquest was unnecessary. Efforts were made to locate the dead man's relatives, and late that night it was found that he had a brother in Hamilton. This brother reached Wiarton Friday, and the deceased was buried Saturday in Bayview cemetery.—Owen Sound Sun.

J. Walter Curry, K.C., has a bill against A. F. MacLaren and E. R. Clarkson in connection with the floating of the Peterson Lake Silver Cobalt Mining Co., for a balance of $22,400. The original bill was for something in the neighborhood of $30,600.

One public function of a chartered bank is to furnish a safe and convenient place of deposit for the surplus cash of the people.

THE establishment of branches of a bank in each small centre of population, is to meet the convenience of the local citizens, and afford them, both a "clearing house" for business transactions and a satisfactory custodian of savings.

Every local branch of a Chartered Bank has the full financial strenght of the Head Office.

The Capital and Reserve of THE BANK OF HAMILTON amount to to Five Million Dollars; Total Assets are over Thirty Million Dollars. All this stands as security for every dollar deposited for safekeeping in the local branch of the Bank.

The point is, that the Chartered Bank is the natural place to keep your money, and "safe, sure and convenient."

THE BANK OF HAMILTON specially invites the Savings Accounts of both men and women, and has thoroughly simplified the routine of depositing and withdrawing either large or small sums, whenever desired.

MATRICULATION STANDARD RAISED.

The threatened stiffening of the University matriculation examination is a reality. The Senate of Toronto University at a late hour last evening passed several new regulations. Commencing in 1911, an average of 50 per cent. of the total number of marks must be secured by each student, and the following year and thereafter, 60 per cent., will be required. The average required for 1910 will be only 40 per cent. In the past there has been no average percentage required. Instead of the elementary science, "middle school" science will be prescribed, making two or three years course instead of one at present. The Senate also decided to ask the Education Department to conduct for the Universities of Ontario the supplementary examination now held in the fall by each University separately. It is understood that all the other Universities of Ontario will establish the same standard.—Toronto News.

THE CANADIAN NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY FOR 1909.

We have just received from the publishers, A. McKim, Limited, of Montreal and Toronto, a copy of the 1909 Edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory.

This is the Sixth Edition of this valuable work, which fills a very real need in Canada, and deserves a place on the desk of every business man, whether he is an advertiser or not.

The Canadian Newspaper Directory lists and describes 1426 periodicals in Canada and Newfoundland. Of these 135 are daily, 1015 weekly or semi-weekly, 262 monthly or semi-monthly, and 14 are published less frequently. This is a considerable increase over the last edition.

In addition to this, the Directory supplies a comprehensive Gazetteer giving the population, the chief industries, the railway, telegraph and banking facilities and other interesting features of every newspaper city, town and village in Canada.

This work cantains over 430 pages. It is splendidly bound and is certainly a credit alike to the publishers and to Canadian newspapers generally.

A. McKim, Limited, are particularly well qualified to edit and publish this, the standard book of reference on Canadian publications. They are the pioneers in the Advertising Agency field in the Dominion, the McKim Agency having been founded in Montreal in January, 1889, twenty years ago, by Mr. Anson McKim, who is still at the head of the business.

During all this time they have been the acknowledged leaders in this line in Canada, and the Agency business has been developed from a very small beginning—then performing only the functions of the middle-man— to a very large producing enterprise which runs into the millions.

It goes without saying then that the McKim Agency is in closer touch with the publishers of the Dominion than any other firm, and are therefore able to get the most reliable information.

W. C. Clarke, of Shelburne came up town the other morning and a few minutes later found that he had lost $25.00 out of his pocket. He was made happy at noon by having it returned to him by George Wattam who had found it in the ditch by the side of the road. Mr. Clarke spent a rather uneasy forenoon.

MADE THE BLOOD RICH AND RED.

Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Haneeville, B.C., writes: "My system was so completely run down that my friends as well as myself thought I could never get better. All medicines failed to help me. A trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food benefitted me and at the end of a month people scarcely knew me I had improved so much. The blood was enriched, color improved, new flesh was added and I got strong and well."

STRUCK ON HEAD BY STONE.

Young Man Charged With Committing the Deed is Arrested.

Mr. James Barbour, a merchant at Forks-of-the-Credit, was waylaid while on his way home from his store one night last week. Mr. Barbour is a lame man and uses crutches. While passing a bunch of cedars on the bank of the Credit river he was struck in the back of the head by a large stone thrown by some person behind him. The blow partially stunned him and made two nasty wounds. He was then thrown over the bank where he was rescued shortly after by two men who were passing and heard his cries for help. The noise made by the approach of the two men evidently frightened the miscreant who committed the murderous deed and prevented him from carrying out his purpose, which was robbery.

High Constable Broody, of Brampton, made a thorough investigation and as a result arrested a young man named Herbert Hepton on Saturday and took him to Brampton jail.

Mr. Barbour's chances of recovery are good. Hepton is 23 years of age and hitherto has borne a good reputation.—Advocate.

THE ORANGEVILLE REEVESHIP

If Dr. Riddell had done anything that was either irregular or illegal in connection with his election to the reeveship of Orangeville last January the electors would have good grounds for considering very seriously whether he should be reelected or not. He was not responsible in any way for the irregularities that led to his unseating. Not only this, but he is in the unfortunate position of being obliged to pay, and pay heavily, for the mistakes of officials, who were appointed by the town to run the election and to see that it was run properly. Why should he not be reelected? He has given two full terms and part of a third to the service of the town. Like every other member of the Orangeville Council he does not receive a cent for his time and services. He has had opposition at every election since he entered municipal life. It would be nothing short of shabbiness to defeat him at the present time and under existing circumstances. If he is to be treated thus, what inducement is there in his experience to lead other citizens, who have the ability, and perhaps the inclination, to serve the ratepayers to advantage, to offer themselves for municipal honors? Under existing circumstances the fair and reasonable course would be to allow Dr. Riddell to be elected by acclamation. It is unlikely, however, that the men who are opposing him and who seem determined to continue their opposition to the bitter end will allow his election to go unopposed. If opposition is given—and there is every reason to believe it will be—it is to be hoped that the electors of Orangeville will show by electing Dr. Riddell by a substantial majority that they are heartily tired of unnecessary litigation and needless election expenses.

A LARGE MAJORITY.

Dr. R. M. Mason, of Fenelon Falls, Conservative candidate, was elected to the Legislature by a large majority at the bye-election held in East Victoria on Tuesday. Dr. Mason was opposed by Mr. W. Lockhart Gordon, of Toronto, who ran as an independent Conservative. The successful candidate is a native of Albion township and a brother of Mr. Stuart Mason, of Mono Mills. He is a nephew of Mr. T. L. Mercer and a cousin of Mrs. T. J. Robinson, of this town.

CHANGES IN 36TH.

The following changes have been made in the 36th Peel Regiment:—To be brevet major, Captain F. J. Hamilton. Capt. W. A. Smith is transferred to the reserve of officers. To be captain: Lieut. W. J. Kempthorne, vice F. J. Hamilton, appointed adjutant. Lieut. W. H. Hedges is permitted to resign his commission. To be quartermaster with honorary rank of captain: William Henry Hedges, Esquire, vice Honorary Major O. Heron, who vacates the appointment. To be paymaster, Honorary Major O. Heron, from quartermaster, vice Honorary Captain F. L. Thompson, who is permitted to resign his commission.

DOMINION DAY.

About a dozen people attended the citizens' meeting held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday night to consider the advisability of holding a Dominion Day Celebration in Orangeville this year. While the majority of those present seemed to be of the opinion that there should be a celebration of some kind, it was felt that there ought to be a radical change in the attractions offered. Eventually a Committee, consisting of Messrs. A. A. Hughson, Jas. A. Patterson, Jos. J. Kelly, James Armstrong and E. H. Sproul, was appointed to consider the matter and report at an adjourned meeting on Friday night. We understand that if the citizens decide to drop the Celebration the Dufferin Lacrosse Club, which has a championship game with Guelph here on the 1st, is willing to take hold and put on a programme of attractions in addition to the lacrosse game.

CHARGE OF FALSE PRETENCES.

On July 13th, 1908, Frank Merkeley, of Shelburne, laid an information against Arthur Cockerill, Elba, charging him with obtaining money and a cow under false pretences. The information was the result of a business transaction between the two men, Merkeley giving Cockerill a cow and $15 cash in exchange for a horse, which the latter represented as belonging to him, but which was subsequently claimed and taken out of his possession by one Gallaugher, under a lien note made by Cockerill to Gallaugher. Constable Hughes was unable to locate the defendant until last week, when he was arrested and brought before Wm. J. McKelvey, one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, and bound over to appear for trial before Police Magistrate Pattullo on Tuesday. At the hearing on Tuesday it was proven that the lien note held by Gallaugher had not been filed with the clerk of the County Court as required by statute. This being the case the complainant received a good title, as between himself and Gallaugher, and the latter's action in seizing the horse was entirely illegal. The information was therefore dismissed. W. J. L. McKay acted for the Crown and Mr. A. A. Hughson appeared for Cockerill. The probability is that Merkeley will now take legal steps to recover the horse from Gallaugher.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

Two Hundred Delegates Attend Western Ontario Conference in Orangeville.

Impressive Sermons by Bishop DuMoulin of Niagara.

Report of Proceedings at Various Sessions of Conference.

The Conference of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew for Western Ontario, which opened here on Saturday evening and continued the three succeeding days, was a notable one. Over two hundred delegates were in attendance. His Lordship, Bishop Dumoulin, of the Diocese of Niagara, was present on Sunday, and at the morning service, the rector, Rev. G. A. Rix, presented fifty-three candidates, who received the impressive rite of confirmation. On Saturday evening over one hundred delegates arrived, and an equal number on Monday. They were met at the station by the local members of the Brotherhood, and informed who would be their hosts during the Conference, as, owing to the large attendance, it was necessary to billet the visitors.

On Sunday there was an early corporate communion at eight o'clock, which was very largely attended, the rector being the celebrant. At the regular eleven o'clock service the church was crowded, and, although chairs were placed in the aisles and every effort made to seat those who sought admittance, many were unable to witness the impressive ceremony or hear the eloquent sermon delivered by His Lordship. The young women of the class, neatly attired in white, with the young men, occupied the front pews of the church which had been reserved for them, while the choir rendered special music, Miss Hewat presiding at the organ.

In opening his sermon the Bishop expressed his great pleasure and gratification at the splendid class to which he had just administered the solemn rite of confirmation, and paid a glowing tribute to the rector, who had so splendidly prepared them for the solemn obligations which they had then assumed. His Lordship spoke of the spiritual dominating the physical side of human life. The fact of Christ's life, death, and glorious resurrection and triumph over the grave was told. Jesus was not held by the material restrictions to which ordinary mortals are subject. For example He would suddenly appear among a company of His apostles, who were meeting behind closed doors, and lastly He led the disciples, and about five hundred brethren out to the Mount of Olives, and in their presence rose from their midst not being held by the laws of gravity or other natural law. The spiritual had conquered the material. His Lordship went on to show it was the duty of every earnest man to allow the spiritual life to get the greatest possible influence over the physical. He should keep in subjection the body, with its various passions, letting the spiritual dominate the physical and even the mental parts of his nature. This was the proper mode of development leading towards that time when we, like Christ, shall be absolutely independent of all our present restraining natural hindrances.

His Lordship's description of the crucifixion and resurrection of the Saviour was a magnificent word picture, and his closing peroration deeply moved the great congregation. All those who had been confirmed then received their first communion, and many others remained also to partake of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, His Lordship being the celebrant. The rector presented each member of the class with a handsome certificate of confirmation.

On Sunday afternoon Bishop Dumoulin was driven to Reading by Mr. T. J. Robinson, where a large number in that parish were confirmed. At four o'clock a mass meeting for men only was held in the Town Hall, which was largely attended.

It had been announced that the chairman would be Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., of Cannington, and the speaker Rev. Canon Hague, M.A., of London. Neither of these gentlemen was able to be present, the latter, unfortunately, owing to illness. Major Preston took the chair.

The speakers were the Rev. G. A. Rix, followed by Mr. F. W. Thomas, General Secretary of the Brotherhood in Canada. Mr. Rix was particularly happy in his remarks and many present thought they had seldom listened to a more eloquent address. In opening the rector of St. Mark's told a good story with a moral. A number of sailors were out in a boat, and, owing to the storm, expected to go to the bottom. In their distress one of them was asked to pray, but was unable to do so. "Let us sing a hymn then" was suggested, but there was no person who was able to sing. Finally it was proposed that in order to give the situation a religious aspect they take up a collection. The speaker announced that the practice would be followed on the present occasion. The audience saw the point and responded liberally when the plates were passed. Mr. Rix told the story of the conversion of St. Andrew and of his desire to go and tell Peter. The example was one that should be emulated by every Christian. The aim of the Brotherhood was personal work for Jesus Christ. Mr. Thomas, who has travelled from the Atlantic to the Pacific in his capacity as General Secretary, told of his work and the dangers arising from the indifference of professing Christians, and otherwise exemplary men.

At the request of the Chairman, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church.

On Sunday evening St. Mark's was again crowded, as it had been announced at the morning service that, notwithstanding his twenty mile drive, the Bishop had kindly consented to preach. His Lordship took, as his text, Romans, 8:31. "What shall we say then to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?" The twentieth century was the greatest of all the centuries, said the speaker. Never in the history of the world had such wonderful progress been made in invention and in science. Man had indeed asserted his dominion over the sea, the earth and even the air. Forty-seven years ago the speaker had left his home in Ireland for Quebec, and, although he sailed in one of the best ships then available, the voyage took some sixteen days. Last year he had crossed the broad and trackless Atlantic in a little over four days and, after he retired to his stateroom a marconigram was handed to him from a friend on a ship hundreds of miles away, going in the opposite direction. Railway trains now rush across the continent at the rate of a mile a minute. Great air ships had been invented, which it was feared by some would some day be able to destroy our great cities by dropping explosives from a high altitude. There had also been a supreme spiritual development in the church, and already in the first years of the new century the advance in religion had been quite as marked as along any other lines. The story of the Pan Anglican Conference in London, England, last year which had taken four years to prepare for was graphically told. The attendance was daily eight thousand, assembled in the largest hall in the city of London, and when the throng sang it was like "the roar of mighty Niagara." The Lambeth Conference, also held last year and attended by bishops of the Anglican Church throughout the world, was described. For a month, the heads of the Church carefully discussed the whole range of the religious and philanthrophic world, and resolutions were formulated, which had been sent broadcast over the Anglican dioceses of the earth and have already been prolific of the greatest results. The great advance in the religious work by women was noticed. Last year four hundred of the Women's Auxiliary in the See City of Hamilton had collected over five thousand dollars, and twelve hundred of the same society in the city of Toronto had raised a proportionately larger amount. The Laymen's Missionary Movement and St. Andrew's Brotherhood were wonderful forces for the development of religious enthusiasm. The Bishop was glad the men were now taking their share of the work for the advancement of the world, and looked to the time when Christ would reign in the hearts of men from the rivers to the end of the earth.

During the service Miss Ethel Irvine sang a solo very sweetly.

The formal opening of the Conference took place on Monday at 10.30 a.m. in St. Mark's Church, with Mr. A. G. Alexander, of Hamilton, President of the Dominion Brotherhood in the chair. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Major Preston and Rev. G. A. Rix. Subsequently J. A. Catto, of Toronto, gave a splendid address on Prayer. F. W. Thomas, General Secretary, took as his subject—"Service"—In the afternoon, there was a large attendance, the delegates having been greatly augmented on the arrival of the morning trains.

Rev. C. H. Buckland, rector of St. James Church, Guelph, who was advertised to be Chairman, was unable to be present through illness. Addresses were delivered on the work and aims of the junior chapter of the Brotherhood by T. E. Robinson, of Wingham, George Wibby, of Toronto; and Rev. F. E. Howitt, rector of St. George's Church, Hamilton.

The public meeting in the Town Hall in the evening attracted a large attendance. N. F. Davidson, K. C., of Toronto, who was to have acted as Chairman, was unable to be present, and President A. G. Alexander took his place. Canon Spencer, Mount Forest, presided at the piano. Samuel Charters, M.L.A., of Brampton, took the place of his fellow legislator, W. H. Hoyle, M.L.A., of Cannington, who was unavoidably absent. Mr. Charters made a very felicitous speech, and greatly increased his reputation here. Men, said Mr. Charters, need not so much to be informed as to be reminded. Our National Anthem was a tribute to God. The Bible Society was doing a great work. The Word of God had been printed in 436 different languages and could be had for six pence. Canada must face the problem of immigration, and endeavor to see that those coming to her shores had the gospel preached to them. Canada's two great evils were drink and divorce. Last Parliament the Senate had granted sixteen divorces, forgetting that "Whom God has joined together let not man put asunder." The speaker was glad we had no idle class in Canada. Rich and poor work. Small thefts were sometimes overlooked and big ones condoned. Canada would yet establish a record for Christian citizenship.

Kirwin Martin, M.A., of Hamilton, Chancellor of the Diocese of Niagara, followed with an address on "The Church's call to her Laymen." The great difficulty in christianising the world was the difference existing amongst Christians themselves. Their chances and influence were minimised by not presenting a solid front to the heathen.

Dr. N. W. Hoyles, M.A., K.C., D.C.L., Principal of the Law School, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, was the third and last speaker. He took for his topic "The Call to Christian Service." The speaker was pleased to address such a large audience on Victoria Day, despite so many other attractions. Dr. Hoyles, who was witty and eloquent, told of the emancipation of the women of Turkey by the light of the gospel. The spirit of God was moving the world. Our national life was made up of individuals, and all should work. Christ had assigned a duty to each. The duty of the men of St. Andrew's Brotherhood was to bring some one to Jesus. That was the obligation of the Society. The boys of St. Andrew's had given up the pleasures and frivolities of the holiday, and had devoted themselves to the serious business of the Conference. At the conclusion of the addresses, Rev. E. J. Etherington, B.A., rector of St. Thomas' Church, Hamilton, seconded by Major Preston, moved a vote of thanks to the speakers, which was passed with enthusiasm.

On Tuesday morning Rev. G. F. Davidson, M. A., rector of St. George's Church, Guelph, and rural dean of Wellington, was Chairman. Excellent addresses were given by Messrs. Beverley Bamford, of Listowel, D. H. Church, of Orillia, and Edward Hawes, of Toronto. Two minute addresses followed. At the afternoon session R. H. Coleman, Toronto, Chairman of the Dominion Executive, was in the chair, when addresses were delivered by A. G. Alexander, of Hamilton, and F. W. Thomas, of Toronto. The former is organist of the Church of the Ascension in his native city. A quiet half hour was conducted by Rev. F. E. Howitt, of Hamilton. Rev. Mr. Rix then assumed the chair, and brilliant addresses were given by Rev. Canon Cody M.A., D.D., of St. Paul's Church, Toronto, taking as his subject "Christ Needs the Man," followed by Rev. E. J. Etherington, B.A., rector of St. Thomas Church, Hamilton, on "The Man Needs Christ." The Conference concluded shortly after five o'clock with a ten minute address by Rev. Rural Dean Davidson, followed by four two minute speeches by as many delegates, thus bringing to a close in an appropriate manner a remarkable and successful gathering.

MELVILLE FISHING CLUB.

The members of the Melville Pond Fishing Club, with their families and a number of friends, had a splendid day's sport on the holiday. The fish were in biting humor and as a result some of the anglers made excellent catches. Mr. J. C. Darraugh, one of our confectioners, gave an additional stimulus to the sport by generously donating a handsome fruit cake, iced and neatly decorated with a pair of union jacks, to the fisherman making the largest catch. Mr. J. Haslem carried off the trophy, he having a catch of about 25 fine trout, the largest being 15 inches in length and weighing a pound. The cake was cut and distributed among the members and their guests at the afternoon tea at the club house. As usual every person present had a delightful time. We are informed that had Mr. Darraugh's prize been offered for the largest sucker the result would have been quite different. In fact it would have been rather difficult to decide on the winner because of the number of competitors and the many fine specimens captured in this class.

JUVENILE LACROSSE CLUB.

A meeting of the Board of Managers and Committee of the Juvenile Lacrosse Club was held in the Bank of Commerce on Wednesday evening, May 19th, for the purpose of devising ways and means of financing and of further organizing the Club. It was decided to divide the town into four districts, Broadway, Prince of Wales St. and Mill St. to form the dividing lines, and to organize a team of ten players in each district. The four districts will form a town league. A schedule of matches is being arranged. From this series of tryouts the management will select players to represent the League in the C. L. A. Juvenile series. Committees were chosen to canvas the different districts for players and support and are now at work and will report on Friday evening at a meeting in the Library Auditorium at 8 o'clock. It is the purpose of the management to institute a plan of organization, by which the spirit of true sportsmanship may be fostered, so that the old time feeling of tolerance and good fellowship may once more prevail. That the moral as well as the physical side of the boys training is not to be neglected is shown by the following rules drafted by the Board, adopted by the Juvenile Committee and to be signed by all members of the Juvenile Club:—

1. To avoid profanity or the use of any foul language in practice or on the field.

2. To abstain from the use of tobacco or intoxicants at all times and particularly not to frequent barrooms when away from home.

3. To conduct ourselves in an orderly and gentlemanly manner and especially when away from home, to subject ourselves to the will and wisdom of the Manager in control.

4. Any member breaking any of the above rules shall be subject to the ruling of the Committee of Management and liable to suspension or dismissal from the Club.

The following compose the Board of Management:—Messrs. J. H. Aiken, S. H. Bray, Thos. Wright and H. F. Tuck. The boys are already working hard to get into condition and no effort will be spared on the part of the management to make this the winning team of the district.

THE BREATH OF THE WILD WOODS.

In passing through the woods of Ontario at the present time one is struck with the absence of wild animals. Not a long time ago (some of the present generation can even remember and the younger ones hear their grand-fathers tell about when they were boys) when a person would enter a wood he would hear a whirr, and a ruffled grouse would break away almost at his feet or a fox or some other wily member of the wild kindred would watch with furtive glances from some fallen log or thick under brush. Over head he would hear the honk! honk! of wild geese as they sailed majestically onward through the aerial ocean to unexplored wildernesses. Sometimes a startled deer would bound crashing through the brush wood and lure the interested spectator out of his path, while the saucy red-squirrel awakened the echoes of the woods by his merry chatter.

On almost any bright day now, you may hear the squirrels, you may even catch a glimpse of a fleeing fox, and sometimes you may hear a flock of wild geese, but all these are rapidly disappearing. Gone are the wild deer, except in Muskoka and some parks, where they eke out a hunted existence, gone are the ruffled grouse, which enlivened the woodlands of yesterday, with most of the wild kindred. Gone, gone from Ontario woods, never to return.

And why is this? Is man such a cruel tyrant that he must kill every creature in his path?

Many say, "We must have food to live." Do these same men think that the thousands of animals which are yearly slaughtered to serve as dainty morsels, are needed for the sustentation of life? Do they not know that vegetables and fruits are really a better diet than fish, fowl and meat? Let them ask the physicians.

Apart from Ontario, in the West, the countless herds of bison, which wandered on the plains, have nearly all disappeared. And other animals are destroyed for mere sport. If the men who love chasing a rabbit or a fox would put themselves in the position of the animal which they hunt, they would think, if they had any generosity in their nature, to have some mercy on defenceless creatures.

HILLSBURG HAPPENINGS.

(From The Beaver.)

The annual convention of the Township of Erin Sunday School Association will be held in Erin Village on Thursday, June 24. Mr. Brown, of the Teacher Training Institute, will be the principal speaker.

The establishment of a park in Hillsburg is to be an actuality, unless something very unforeseen occurs. The gentlemen who are at the head of the company that is being formed have already invested in five acres of land. The land purchased forms the north-western portion of the old-race-course, and was part of the farm of Mr. Chas. Baldwin. It is conveniently situated, is almost a dead level, and when fixed up a little, seeded down and some trees planted, will make quite a convenient and attractive place.

Victoria Day passed very quietly in Hillsburg. Some of the citizens went to Fergus, some to Georgetown, some a-fishing, but by far the larger number stayed at home.

Last Tuesday evening Mr. Arthur Duncan, teller in the local branch of the Union Bank, met with a somewhat severe accident while playing "catch" on Main street. He was walking backwards to get into position for a ball that had been thrown somewhat high, when his heels caught on a ridge in the grass and he fell, the ball landing fairly on his unprotected face, breaking the bone of his nose.

Mr. Chas. Gamble and Miss Margaret Semple, teachers of the Hillsburg public school, attended the Teachers' Association meeting in Guelph last Thursday and Friday.

Rev. Mr. Ketterson will be pastor of Erin Hillsburg, and Reading Episcopal churches. The rev. gentleman is an Irishman, and has been a resident of this country only about two years.

Rev. M. E. Siple, pastor of Hillsburg Baptist church, has been granted two months' leave of absence by his congregation, and will take a much needed holiday and rest. Rev. Mr. Siple is suffering from a severe attack of muscular rheumatism, which especially affects one of his arms.

Wednesday morning the 4-year-old son of Mr. James Murnahan, 5th line Erin, had the upper part of his right thumb nearly taken off by getting it caught in the catch of a cultivator. The child was playing around where his father was working the machine, and poked his fingers into the bearings when the teeth were being raised. Dr. Gibson dressed the wounded hand. There will be no permanent injury.

BLACK'S CORNERS.

Wet weather is still the order of day and most of the farmers here have been unable to complete their seeding, but fine weather is hoped for.

A large number attended the services held in the Presbyterian Church here last Sunday morning, and our pastor, Rev. J. R. Bell, gave a most interesting and beneficial sermon.

The contractors are once more in our midst, having commenced the stone work of Mr. Samuel Ritchie's new house, which, when completed will be the finest residence in the neighborhood.

Things were rather quiet around the corner on Monday, owing to the school being closed for the holiday.

Miss Edith Pushon, of Buffalo, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Wallace, of this place.

Mr. Murray Bremner, our school teacher, spent the twenty-fourth at his home near Camilla.

A number of our young girls took in the sights of Shelburne on Saturday and all report having spent a very pleasant afternoon.

Owing to the wet weather last Sunday quite a number of the fair sex were unable to wear their new spring bonnets. Ella Smith says, I would rather have the merry window.

Maggie Ann Ritchie says Brown for me this summer.

I think I'll have my next suit made at Falconer's tailor shop—Elmer Budd.

Margaret Hammond says a good crop of fruit is expected at Dixie this season.

Tena Crombie is earnestly thinking of taking a trip out west.

Ernie Smith says he wishes the road work was done as it is awful hard to climb that fourth line hill.

FRENCHY.

Children's Colds Must be Cured

There will then be less weak lungs and consumption in later life.

Did you ever think of it in this way? It is the neglected cough and cold that leads to the dreadful lung diseases sooner or later. From repeated attacks the lungs are weakened and there comes pneumonia or consumption with their dreadfully fatal results.

Because it is prepared from linseed, turpentine and other simple but wonderfully effective ingredients, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is particularly suitable as a treatment for children's coughs and colds.

Croup, bronchitis and even whooping cough yields to the influence of this great medicine.

Mrs. John Chesney, Innerkip, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured my little girl of whooping cough when the doctor had given her up and since then we always keep it in the house as a treatment for coughs and colds. It is the best medicine we ever used."

There is no getting round statements such as this. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed & Turpentine, 25 cts. a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MARSVILLE.

It is our pleasant duty this week to report the marriage of Mr. Norman D., youngest son of Mr. Joseph Thompson of the 13th con and Miss Jennie Gordon. The happy event took place last Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Duncan, of Fergus, formerly of the 10th line. The ceremony was performed at 2.30 o'clock by the Rev. R. S. Scott, of Hillsburg, in the presence of only a few of the immediate relatives. The happy couple left that evening for their home and will reside on lot 2, con. 13. Their many friends extend best wishes and congratulations.

At the last Quarterly Meeting held in the Grove Church, the Rev. J. F. Kaye was extended an invitation to remain the 4th year on the circuit. The invitation was accepted subject to the approval of the Stationing Committee.

Mr. Lorenzo Warden, of Grand Valley and formerly of Orton, has commenced blacksmithing in the village.

The Rev. Mr. Mason, of Belwood, occupied the pulpit in the Grove Church on Sunday morning.

Among the holiday visitors who renewed acquaintances here, were:—Mr. and Mrs. C. Weaver, of Welland; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Price, of Brampton; Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Price, of Wingham; Mr. and Mrs. Ramesbottom, of Toronto.

Mrs. D. Donaghy, of Vancouver, is on an extended visit to Mr. and Mrs. James Donaghy.

CHARLESTON.

Mrs. D. MacFarlane visited her son, D. P. MacFarlane, of Claremont, last week.

A large crowd from this place took in the sports at Alton on Monday.

Duncan McArthur is wearing the smile that won't come off. If you want the reason its the arrival of a baby girl.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Thos. Smith, of this place, was held to Alton Cemetery on Monday afternoon, May 24th. The memorial service was conducted by Rev. S. R. Robinson, assisted by Rev. G. W. Rose, of Alton. The funeral, which was a very large one, was attended by a great number of friends and relatives from outside points. The pallbearers were Messrs. Dan McArthur, George Hillyard, John Rayburn, John Stubbs, John Nesbitt and Hugh Henderson, all members of the Chosen Friends society, to which the deceased belonged.

BORN.

ARMSTRONG—In Ottawa, on Saturday, May 8th, to Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Armstrong, a daughter.

SNOWDEN—In Orangeville, on May 13th, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snowden, a daughter.

MASON—In Alton, on Tuesday, May 18th, to Mr. and Mrs. Amos Mason a son.

MONO CENTRE.

A large crowd attended the picnic held in McCarston's grove on Victoria Day. The event was under the management of the congregation of Burns' Presbyterian Church. Notwithstanding a few disappointments, the Committee provided an interesting programme of games, foot races and other amusements. The lacrosse match between Orangeville and Shelburne juniors, which was to have been one of the chief attractions, did not take place. The Orangeville juniors were on hand prepared to play, but the Shelburne team failed to put in an appearance. Camilla and Mono Centre baseball teams gave the pitchers of the rival nines a bad afternoon of it. Both teams had a veritable batting feast and the score makes us think of cricket rather than baseball. However it was a good game from the spectator's standpoint and was thoroughly enjoyed by the hundreds who lined the diamond. The score was 32 to 16 in favor of Mono Centre. The races were keenly contested and were enjoyed by everybody. The gate receipts were about $115. Another $70 was taken in at the refreshment stand, making the total receipts about $190. Altogether it was a splendid celebration, well worthy of the Day the holiday makers had gathered to honor.

Mrs. Alexander Turnbull, one of our oldest residents, passed away at her home a short distance north of the village on Friday. She had been in ill-health for the past eighteen months or longer and her death had been expected for some time. She was over 80 years of age and, with her husband, was one of the earliest settlers in this neighborhood. She is survived by her husband and the following sons and daughters:—Wm. J. Turnbull, in Dakota; A. M. Turnbull, on the homestead; Alex. Turnbull and Mrs. John Crozier in the Yukon, and Mrs. Wm. Fleming, Toronto. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held to Mono Centre burying ground on Tuesday afternoon. The late Mrs. Turnbull was held in high esteem by the community and her demise has caused much sorrow and general sympathy for the bereaved family and particularly the aged husband, who feels his loss very keenly.

Some of our citizens are discussing the advisability of the construction of a Dreadnought. While all the residents here are authoritatively posted on political affairs the world over, yet why such a responsibility as the building of a death dealing warship should be left to us and us alone, as it seems is the case, judging from local socratical speechifiers, we do not quite understand. Nevertheless it is a fact. Apparently some patriotically inclined fossils in unilluminated burgs will undoubtedly contumeliously consider that we are unduly extending our receptive powers of imagination and autocratic authority over an immense magnitude, when such an unmagniloquent statement is made, that of directing (?) the euphonious Parliamentarians in the Legislative Halls along this line. But if there are any skeptical, who feel that we are trying to obfuscate them in any way, and feel that we should be patibulated, let them come and with the air of an adept controversialist in solemn assectation in official capacity, beningantly decorate our village resting benches for a few days, and maintaining silence, with ears assiduously alert, they will soon be aware of a hyperaesthetic sensibility that we are not inventing any quodlibetical fabulosity. Later:—It has been unanimously agreed upon, founded on the basic principles of utilitarianism doctrine, after much discussion and convincing argument, without even a dissenting vote or any incongruous mixture of opinion, that one be constructed at once and sent to greet, no not the Kaiser, but the first automobile that attempts passage on the King's Highway—namely the Prince of Wales Road. Drastic measures are likely to follow this step in the Legislative Halls to provide for the safety and protection of the terrifying automobile which down there they evidently do not wish to restrict to any common respect for man or beast any or every day.

SHIRTS OF PINE NEEDLES.

Odd Vegetable Products Made Into Garments.

Here you are! Shirts made of pine needles, gowns made of nettles and booths made of cactus leather. Pine needles from the yellow pine of Oregon, turned into thread, are woven into a coarse fabric to be made into underwear.

The ramie of China, grown in this country as well as in Germany, affords a strong washable fabric of a silken lustre, and in France is made into ramie paper and used for bank notes, says the Hartford Times. And ramie is a sort of nettle. Then, to beat the nettle and the pine needles, comes the cactus, once despised, but now utilized as a fruit and foliage plant, and persuaded to yield, in addition, rope and leather, a leather strong as that derived from the horse hide or cow skin. Do not say that all this is marvellous, but throw the credit where it belongs, and it belongs, to James Wilson. "Derived industries," he calls them, but the secretary of agriculture quietly encourages them and when you come to think of it you will not wonder that the president kept him in the cabinet. The old Scotchman may yet encourage some other "derived industries" quite as odd.

Believing and Doing—James ii :14-26.

Verse 14—What does James mean here by "faith"?

Can a man have true faith, if he is not filled with love for his fellows and doing all he can to help them?

If a man "say he hath faith," what is the test of whether he is telling the truth?

Are there those to-day, who say, and probably think, they have faith, but lacking loving hearts, and the fruits of love, are deceiving themselves?

What is a Christian's proof to himself, that he is not a deceived man in claiming to be in the favor of God?

Verses 15, 16—How do you class those who see people in need of food, and clothing, and do not do all they can to supply the need?

Which person more nearly resembles Jesus, the one who talks very piously, and prays with the needy, but giving them no help, or the one who generously supplies the need without any religious pretensions?

If a man helps the needy to supply their own needs, is that as well or better, than supplying the needs direct?

Is it possible for a church to be doing full Christian service which is not helping the needy, either in its own or some other community?

Verses 17, 18—Is it possible to show faith without works?

Have all those who, with loving hearts, are engaged in good works, also got saving faith, whether they profess to have it or not, and whether they are members of the church or not, and whether or not they are even orthodox in their views?

Have any, who attend church regularly and profess to be religious, but are harsh with the poor, give nothing to charity, and care nothing for the needy, got saving faith?

Have these got saving faith who pray for the poor and needy, and for the sick and suffering, and yet do nothing to feed the poor or comfort the sick?

Verses 19, 20—Is there any moral merit in mere orthodoxy, or is there any essential moral blame in mere heterodoxy?

Granted a man with the spirit of Jesus, engaged in good works, what does he lose by being heterodox, and what does he gain by being orthodox?

Verses 21-26—When God told Abraham to leave his own country and to start for another that God would show him, was there any other way that he could have faith in God, but by actually starting on the journey?

What is the meaning of, "and Abraham believed God and it was imputed unto him for righteousness"?

Love is an essential part of faith, and love implies action, or good works, hence is it at all possible for a person to have faith who is not engaged in good works?

GOT TO THE ROOT OF HIS TROUBLE

And Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured W. Wright's Backache.

He Had Suffered for Several Years But the Old Reliable Kidney Remedy gave Him Quick Relief.

Kelvington, Sask., May 24. (Special.)—"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Backache, and I have recommended them to others who have also been cured." These are the words of William Wright, a farmer well known here. "I believe I inherited my trouble." Mr. Wright continues. "At times for several years it was very severe. I also suffered from Lumbago, and in the morning I had a bitter taste in my mouth and was troubled with dizziness and my skin was dry and harsh and there was a sediment in my urine.

"No treatment I could find gave me any permanent relief till finally believing that my kidneys were the root of my trouble, I determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Four boxes cured me."

Mr. Wright went at his trouble sensibly. He examined his symptoms, and they showed him that Kidney Disease was his trouble. Do as much for yourself and if your symptoms point to disordered or diseased kidneys the cure is easy. Dodd's Kidney Pills will do it. They never fail.

ANECDOTAL.

Julia Marlowe once yielded to the insistent demands of an ambitious girl admirer who had deluged the actress with sweet notes begging an interview, and told her to call at the hotel on a certain afternoon, when she would be glad to see her.

"I saw you in 'Romeo and Juliet' last Monday night," said the young woman, "and have just been insanely curious to ask you a question."

"Well, what is the question?" said Miss Marlowe.

"In the potion scene I want to know what you are thinking about when you lie there supposed to be in the deep sleep from the effects of the drug you took."

"I'm not thinking," said the actress; "I'm hoping."

"Hoping?"

"Yes, hoping that I won't sneeze."

ZAM-BUK CURED A FACE SORE WHICH DEFIED ALL OTHER REMEDIES FOR TWO YEARS.

Rev. Charles E. Stafford, of Bracebury, Ont., says :—

"I had been much troubled for over two years with a sore on my left cheek. I tried all kinds of salves and lotions, but nothing I procured seemed to have the least bit of effect towards healing the sore. Hearing of Zam-Buk, I decided to give it a trial, and see if it would bring about a cure, as so many other things had failed. I purchased a supply, and commenced with the treatment. After several applications, to my great joy, Zam-Buk has effected what for two years I tried in vain to bring about—a complete cure."

Case after case could be quoted in which, as in the above instance, Zam-Buk has worked cures when everything else tried had failed. There is a reason for this. Zam-Buk is the ideal remedy because of its unique ingredients for all skin injuries and diseases.

Away back in the days of the Roman gladiators, secret balms were used for the healing of cuts and injuries sustained in the arena and in battle. Then came a period during which external balms were neglected, followed by a period in which all the salves and embrocations had as their base animal fats and oils. Zam-Buk marks a new epoch. It is absolutely devoid of all animal fats, all mineral colouring matters, and is composed entirely of rich medicinal herbal extracts. Zam-Buk is a combination of Nature's rich healing herbal juices by the most modern scientific methods, and the result is a balm which cures when others fail.

Skin diseases, such as eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, and prairie itch, are speedily overcome by it. For piles it is fine!—easing the pain and inflammation, and hastening a cure. It also cures burns, scalds, cuts, ulcers, children's sores and eruptions, blood-poisoning, scratches, old wounds, varicose ulcers, &c. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse harmful and cheap imitations, sometimes represented as "Just as good."

GYPSY SMITH IS FACETIOUS.

Gypsy Smith may not be a higher critic. He may not think any more of higher criticism than either Hon. S. H. Blake or Dr. Elmore Harris, but if the good old Bible is good enough for the evangelist, he doesn't exactly adopt the old method of imparting its teachings. An incident at one of his Toronto meetings indicated the soul-saver's attitude toward the sterotyped and dignified method of piloting the wanderer to the penitent bench.

It was at the close of one meeting, which was to be followed by an after meeting. The sedate gentleman acting as chairman had just requested the ushers to see that the women departed by way of certain doors.

"Don't let a single woman out by that door," he admonished the assistants down below. Then Gypsy Smith rose to his feet, with this correction or addition: "And don't let a married woman out that way either."

"You will break up the meeting," the chairman said, in mild rebuke; but the evangelist would not stay rebuked.

"It will break up the stiffness, you mean," was the way he came back at the dignified chairman, who, however, eventually recovered from the shock.

LOOK OUT FOR PNEUMONIA.

Your system is in a run down condition. You catch cold. You think it will soon pass off. It doesn't. You neglect taking any special care of yourself. Bronchitis developes and then comes pneumonia and a fight for life. A fight which is too often unsuccessful. Why not take every cold seriously and cure it promptly by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Brampton's assessment this year is $1,283,949 as against $1,272,115 last year. The increase in population is 45, the figures being for 1909, 3,260 and for 1908, 3,215. There were during the past year 66 births, and 27 deaths. The assessor discovered 116 dogs in the municipality.

MAKE A CHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One. How it is Done in Orangeville.

The back aches at times with a dull feeling making you worry and restless, sharp pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, it is agony to bend, stoop or lift. The rubbing of liniments or application of plasters does no good in these cases. They do not reach the cause. To get rid of these symptoms and exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one follow the example of this Orangeville citizen.

Mrs. J. Sweeney, of John St., Orangeville, Ont., says :—"My back was weakened and tender, a severe grinding pain settled in the small of it and extended into my shoulders. I would suffer with a constant miserable headache in the back and top part of my head and would very often be unable to walk across the floor for dizziness and faintness. Each little cold I would take would settle across my kidneys, and cause the urine to become highly colored and the kidney secretions frequent. I read of Booth's Kidney Pills and procured some at Mr. Stevenson's Pharmacy. They quickly cured me. I am better and stronger than in over two years and there is not a remaining sign of kidney trouble and I can thank only Booth's Kidney Pills for my present health."

WEATHER FOR JUNE

A Reactionary Storm Period is central on the 3rd, 4th and 5th. The Moon is full at a total eclipse node, on the 3rd, and at greatest declination south on the 5th. High temperature, low barometer and thunder storms will be the order at this time. Storm conditions will develop and move in regular order from west to east, but local thunder showers in June are more sporadic, being liable to break out simultaneously in widely scattered localities. Beginning at this period, we enter a marked seismic cycle that will last up to the 20th of June. The full moon on the 3rd, being at an eclipse node, and causing an eclipse of the Moon, will not depart from that node until after the 17th, being at New Moon and causing an eclipse of the Sun on that date. Under these conditions, as scientific leaders should long ago have seen and confessed, there is a prolonged strain from one eclipse to the other, exciting a maximum tendency to earthquake and volcanic perturbations. From June 1st to 6th, central on the 3rd, will be the first decided seismic period, the probable effects being heaviest south of the equator.

A Regular Storm Period is central on the 10th, lasting from the 8th to the 13th. We enter the June solstice period at this time. Magnetic and electrical manifestations, out of the ordinary, will be noted in most parts of the Earth within three days of the 11th. From Thursday the 10th, to Sunday the 13th, many vicious thunder storms will be noted in most parts of the Earth within three days of the 11th. From Thursday the 10th, to Sunday the 13th, many vicious thunder storms will be natural. These dates also constitute another possible seismic period, the effects falling most forcibly on and near the equator. Earth currents and volcanic unrest will be noted at this time, none of which must necessarily be dangerous or fatal. Higher barometer and fair, cooler weather will follow for several days after the storms of this period.

A Reactionary Storm Period has its center on the 16th, 17th and 18th, with new moon and sun's eclipse on the 17th. But for the June solstice and new moon at solar eclipse node, storm-producing causes are at a minimum at this period. But many scattering, highly electrical thunder storms will visit most parts of the earth about the 17th. The culmination of a prolonged seismic strain will come within three days of noon on the 17th. During this seismic strain the moon works from full moon at extreme declination south, over the celestial equator and up to new moon at extreme declination north. As estimated above, these seismic perturbations, we predict, will be heaviest first in the southern hemisphere. Next, along the equatorial belt, and lastly in volcanic and earthquake regions lying in the northern hemisphere. Let us see if seismic and volcanic reports do not come in from extremes of the earth.

A Regular Storm Period is central on the 21st, covering the 19th to the 23rd. The culmination of the June solstice falls precisely in this period. In all probability the preceding period will be prolonged into this period, by daily thunder storms each afternoon and evening. Great fluctuations of the barometer, with high temperature, great humidity, and startling electrical displays are to be expected at this prolonged period—especially from about Sunday the 20th, to Thursday the 24th. High winds with possible tornadoes will probably attend some of these storms. Overflowing streams and rivers will be most natural as a consequence of the June solstice storms. High waters will reach the central rivers before the end of June, but we do not believe that the most destructive or maximum floods need be feared at this time, or even during this year.

A Reactionary Storm Period is central on the 26th, 27th and 28th. Look for low barometer promptly on the 26th, attended by sudden and severe thunder gusts. These storms will pass eastwardly over the country during the 26th, 27th and 28th, being characterized by the peculiar local phenomena common to June solstice storms. All of the storms in June, especially from the middle to the close of the month, will bring many local surprises by sudden turns in their directions, often whirling sidewise or backward in their courses and deluging picnickers from unlooked for directions. There is cause for this in earth's solstice, or turning point in its orbit. We do not think this June will bring the average of general rainfall. June is the month of maximum rains, as is well known to most people; but it does not always come up to the highest standard, although it may have more rains than other months in the year. The outlook to our mind is that the present summer will not be up to the average of general rainfall. We will not omit our usual warning of danger from taking shelter under green trees during June thunder storms. Such risks should never be taken. Much June lightning is startling, but harmless, the dangerous and the harmless being clearly defined. The difference—thunderbolts and sheet-lightning.

What the woman who has visited the Christie Factory says to her friends—

"I NEVER realized all that the 'Christie' brand on biscuits meant until I went through the big factory in Toronto.

"The cleanliness of the whole place amazed me. I don't mean that it is clean as judged by factory standards, but clean according to any standard.

"We women control the purse-strings when it comes to buying biscuits, and it's no wonder Christie, Brown & Co. are glad to have us inspect their factory. To my mind it is the strongest advertisement they could have.

"You'd be surprised to see the staff that is kept busy, day in and day out all the year round—cleaning, cleaning, cleaning.

"The windows, floors, walls, ceilings, machinery, etc.—all speak volumes for the sanitary conditions under which Christie's Biscuits are made.

"It's a picture to see the 'Christie Girls'—over three hundred of them—in spotless white. Each girl is supplied with two complete uniforms a week from the firm's private laundry.

"It was explained to me how every ounce of raw material is tested, and how, at each step throughout the process of mixing, baking and packing, the Christie quality is jealously guarded.

"I am convinced that if every woman in Canada could visit the Christie factory as I did, they would not think of using any but Christie's Biscuits in future."

The best Grocers everywhere in Canada have Christie's Biscuits. Sold in bulk, by the pound, or in moisture and dust-proof packages.

A MOTHER'S RESPONSIBILITY

During the first six months of gestation the mother may impart to her child the mental and the spiritual; during the last three months she may impress upon him what she desires him to be physically.

The mother must recognize not the personal, but the universal law of love, truth wisdom and power, and these qualities will be shown in the child. She must rid herself of the desire for either one sex or the other, for should she hold to that desire she will impress upon her child the nature of her preference, too often resulting in the masculine girl or the effeminate boy.

The Greeks for a long period were physically the most nearly perfect race in the world, and simply because they paid special attention to the development of the physical. It was the mother's uppermost desire to bring forth fine physical forms, and she had them constantly before her as models. The houses of the Greeks were filled with the most glorious marble statues that gifted sculptors could create; thus these people became a race of godlike appearance.

To impart physical beauty the mother should hold in thought an ideal form and face, or she should dwell upon a beautiful picture or work of art.

As a lady entered the dining-room of a friend whom she was visiting, her eyes fell upon a beautiful golden-haired child whom she had never seen, and she remarked: "This is your little daughter? What a perfect likeness of her that is in the room where I slept last night!"

The mother replied: "It is not a portrait of the child, but it would be strange if she did not resemble it. I occupied that room before my child was born, and that picture was before my eyes constantly. I loved it and I wished that my child might look like it."

If mothers but knew the divine law there would be only beautiful children, which is both laudable and right. There is nothing so gratifying to oneself and to others as physical attractiveness united with a lofty personality, for although "handsome is that handsome does," the balance of power is always on the side of beauty and grace.

To endow the child with superior mental power, or with a talent for music, art, poetry, mathematics or oratory, the mother should concentrate her thoughts on those subjects. If she wishes to increase any faculty in her child, she has the power to do so by dwelling on those things which she wishes to be manifested in him and by seeking the companionship of people who possess those desired qualities.

An Italian woman, who had been a mother for many years, greatly admired the young son of a woman friend. This boy, when a mere child, had been forced to assume the support of his widowed mother, and his devotion to her amounted to adoration. The Italian woman had sons of her own, but she never had seen such devotion as this young boy bestowed upon his mother.

At an early age he was sent on a long cruise on the Mediterranean, leaving his mother with her trusted friend. Upon his return, after two years, he found an addition to his friend's family—a baby boy only a few months old. As this boy grew there was a striking resemblance to the young officer. At eight years of age the likeness was so strong that every one supposed the two were brothers. Even the mannerisms of the boy were like those of the officer. The truth was, the mother's admiration for the young man had been so intense that she unconsciously impressed it upon her child, whose devotion to her excelled that of her other children.

A girl of humble parentage, but possessed of a desire for wealth and position, married a rich young man who was a habitual drunkard. When a baby boy was born to this ill-mated pair, they at once recognized in their child the condition which the father had previously manifested. As the child grew older, the intensity of this condition increased. Today, though only fifteen years of age, this boy has the appearance of a man in a state of beastly intoxication. A babbling idiot, he never has been able to walk straight or to hold up his head.

Think of the years of suffering which this poor mother has been forced to endure, although unconsciously guilty of imparting such a condition to her child; for who can doubt that the impressions made upon her by her husband were transmitted to her unborn babe?

Thus we see that the natural law acts when put into operation, whether the seed be sown consciously or unconsciously, and that it brings forth its harvest after its kind. If women would but understand the responsibility of motherhood and that they must account in a great measure for the evils of intemperance and the physical passions that are being perpetuated in the world today, they surely would endeavor to eradicate these conditions instead of perpetuating them, as in their ignorance they are doing.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

"WHITED SEPULCHRES."

The great city to which the eyes of the civilised world are at the present time so anxiously directed, Constaninople, is—from a distance—perhaps the most beautiful city to be found anywhere upon the face of the earth. Approached from the sea, especially at sunset, it is indeed a fascinating and attractive spectacle. The slender, tapering minaretes and rounded domes of innumerable mosques — there are several hundred of them —towering upward to the sky, are lighted up with a roseate glow, some of the latter apparently covered with burnished brass, which glitters strangely in the horizontal rays of the setting sun; while the windows of the extensive mansions and lofty buildings on each side of the roadstead glister and sparkle with a vivid fiery glow; the fine hospital above the graveyard of Scutari, where lie the remains of so many brave British soldiers who died of wounds and disease in the Crimean war, appearing as if a crimson fire were raging within its walls. In the Golden Horn and in the Bosphorus — that lovely channel bordered on each side by gardens and forests, and ornate villas with grounds sloping down to the water—fleets of feluccas and other craft lie at anchor, adding to the interest of the scene.

But upon landing, what a transformation! Instead of beauty and grace, squalor, mire and garbage. The narrow streets reeking in malodours; some nearly ankle-deep in fetid mud; unclean mongrel dogs—the scavengers of the city—trooping about in droves and raking out and devouring the putrid offal; dilapidated, mud-bespattered houses with broken windows and decaying woodwork—though it is fair to admit that a few of the streets in the better portion of the city are kept in somewhat better order—while crowds of human beings, nearly all men, slouch along, some of them clothed—if such a term can be used—in patchwork and rags. Even in the squares facing some of the mosques—and some of these are certainly most ornate and handsome erections, the internal decorations of the mosque of St. Sophia especially being magnificent—pools of stagnant water are allowed to fester in the sun and to provide a congenial breeding ground for mosquitoes; while roadmaking is apparently scorned with disdain.

And over there have been of ourselves those who are "like whited sepulchres, beautiful outwardly, but full of all uncleanness." But there is a fountain opened for sin and for uncleanness, even the blood shed upon the cross by the Saviour of the world, and, in the words of the hymn, and, in the words of the flood, lose all their guilty stains." For by that Atonement all who will but accept the benefits offered are "justified from all things."

THE STORY OF "GINGER."

Winnifred Ballard Blake

Aunt Priscilla came tripping over to our house one morning, and as she came in she called out:

"Have you seen Ginger?"

Mother and I answered both together in a breath, "No. Why?"

"Because he's been out all night knows more than some people; he'd never done such a thing before since he was born. And I don't know where he can be."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry," said mother. "He'll come back all right before long. Ginger has found something very exciting to detain him, you may be sure—squirrels or mice or birds or something. But Ginger knows more than some people; he's find his way home from—anywhere!"

"Well, I shall advertise, and send some one out to hunt for him," said aunty.

"Ginger" was a splendid, big black cat, not a white hair on him — all black from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail.

The next day, when aunty came in, she had a newspaper in her hand, which was shaking with excitement.

"Gladys?" she called. "Gladys, dear, I know where Ginger is! P. T. Barnum has him, and he's going round the country in a circus show!"

We looked at aunty as if we thought she had lost her wits. "Look at that," she said, and thrust the paper into mother's hand. "I was looking over some old papers before throwing them away," she went on, "when I happened to see it."

Mother looked at the spot aunty pointed out, and saw in big letters:

"Wanted. For Barnum's Circus. A big black cat without a white hair on him. Will pay a good price."

"That's where he is!" wailed aunty, the tears running down her dear cheeks. "Some one stole him to sell to the circus, and I don't know where the circus is. It left here some time ago, and, oh, what will they do with poor Ginger, all shut up with lions and tigers and yaks and gnus and things! He'll be killed and eaten alive!"

Poor mother did not know what to say.

"Well, aunty," I said, "he'll be taken good care of so as to look well in the show—you can take some comfort in that."

But she only shuddered, and replied "They'll make him jump through a paper hoop; they'll whip him till he does; they'll put him with the tigers; they'll be brutal to him and destroy his mind and his manners. That's what they'll do."

The days went on, and Ginger did not come back. Poor aunty was quite changed.

One evening we had been invited over to her house to dine, and there was no place I liked to go better, because the more you see of Aunt Priscilla, the more you love her. She always had the most wonderful thin old china and silver on the table, and gave me the loveliest things to eat, different from anybody else's, and always something new to look at or to play with. Well, we were sitting in the drawing-room, waiting for dinner to be served, when the paper boy came along and threw the paper on the steps. I heard him, and ran out to bring it in. There on the front page, in great black letters, the first thing I saw was:

"Great Fire in Bridgton. Barnum's big building where his animals are housed for the winter, burned to the ground."

I don't know how I ever dared give the paper to Aunt Priscilla, I was so frightened. But I had to do it, and then we listened while aunty read the account in a trembling voice.

"Ginger's dead!" she declared, when she had finished reading. He's come to a horrible end!" And that night she laid awake all night.

She came over the next morning to say that she was going to take the next train for Bridgton and find out. She could not stand the suspense another minute, and she would rather know the worst at once.

"Why, my dear, he may never have been with the circus at all," protested mother. "It's eighteen miles to Bridgton, and I don't believe I'd go on such a chase."

"I shall leave on the noon train," said Aunt Priscilla in a set voice, and when she spoke like that, we knew it was no use to say more. So she went over to pack her bag to take the noon train for Bridgton, and I went over with her, and as we went into the sitting-room on the left of the front hall—what do you suppose we saw! Ginger, sitting up in the sunshine in his favorite old spot on the window-sill, calmly washing his face, and looking out at the landscape!

We could not believe our eyes, and aunty screamed right out. "Ginger," she gasped, "you darling, you wonderful! Where did you come from?" and she stared and stared, and no wonder. Then we rushed up to the window-sill. Round Ginger's neck was a big collar with the name, "P. T. Barnum," set in on a silver plate, and holes had been bored in his ears and great perky crimson bows tied into each one.

"I can't believe it," said aunty. And I'd like to know who could? But Ginger just must have walked home that eighteen miles all alone, at night, over a strange road. She began pulling the bows out of his ears, but I cried, "O aunty, wait a minute!" and I ran out of the room. I went and took the biggest race-hoop, and I got a piece of tissue-paper and passed it over the hoop. Then I came in and held it up before Ginger, and I said, "Jump, Ginger!"

He looked at me and at the hoop a minute, then he gathered himself for a spring, and went head first through that hoop as prettily as you please! He laid down and rolled over, and then sat up on his hind legs, and put his paws over his nose, and made a little bow with his head!

"You certainly named him right, Prissie," laughed mother, for I had scampered over as fast as I could to go bring her. "He's got more ginger than any cat I ever heard of!"

"Ginger," sighed aunty, all in a daze of delight, "O Ginger!"

And this is how Aunt Priscilla came to have a trick cat.—Youth's Companion.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. WANDERED ALL NIGHT IN SWAMP

Two Kinloss Youngsters Kept Big Search Party Busy

Kinloss, May 17.—On Friday morning the two youngest sons of J. H. Armstrong, Kinloss, aged 5 and 7, wandered from home, looking for flowers. They were seen entering Greenock Swamp.

About forty men soon gathered and spent Friday afternoon and night looking for the children, and on Saturday the searchers numbered about one hundred. The search was kept up till about 4.30 Saturday when the children walked out on Lee's farm, not far from Riversdale, after spending thirty-three hours in the swamp. It is about four miles from where they started to where they came out. They are not much the worse for their adventure.

The tender leaves of a harmless lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its marvellous curative qualities. Tight tickling or distressing coughs, quickly yield to the healing, soothing action of this splendid prescription — Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is so safe and good for children, as well. Containing no opium, chloroform, or other harmful drugs, mothers should in safety always demand Dr. Shoop's. If other remedies are offered, tell them No! Be your own judge! Sold by T. Stevenson.

LOOKIN' BLUE

'Tain't no use o' lookin' blue,
Other folks have trouble too.
Tho' you haven't got a cent,
Lookin' blue won't pay the rent.
Lookin' blue is mighty mean,
Tho' somebody's got a lien
On the house you're livin' in,
Lookin' blue's an awful sin.

Lookin' blue won't pay the debt,
Shake yourself, git up and get!
Tain't no use o' lookin' blue,
Other folks worse off than you,
Keep your trouble out o' sight.
Other folks hain't got no right
To be afflicted with your groan,—
They have troubles of their own.

Lookin' blue keeps sunshine out,
Dwarfs your life from inside out,
Never helped mankind a bit,
Don't you think you'd better quit?
Give your better self a place,
Show the world a smilin' face;
Then you soon will feel it too,
That the world has smiles for you.

Lookin' blue won't help you higher,
Lookin' blue will bot inspire,
Lookin' blue shuts up the scroll,
Hides the music in your soul,
Let the sunshine break the ties,
Then the music will arise;
Then the world will catch the strain,
Echo back to you again.

LLOYD-GEORGE'S REMARKABLE CAREER.

There are few careers in the political history of England more remarkable or more picturesque than that of the man whose name will be on the lips of every one in England for the next few weeks or even months, writes Mr. T. P. O'Connor in M.A.P. of Mr. Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exequer. Not much more than twenty years ago Lloyd George was a solicitor without money, and with but a tiny practice in a Welsh town—it might even be said a Welsh village; and to-day, still a young man, still under fifty years of age, he is the second figure in the greatest Empire in the world. Even that humble position of provincial solicitor marked a big advance on a still more modest childhood and youth.

He is the son of a man whose career is, in many respects, a strange contrast to his own. For Lloyd George's father was one of those men, half scholar, half peasant, who have too much of the spiritual to be successful as farmer, and too much of the farmer to attain quite to the highest position in the world of religion or thought. A Unitarian, a Welshman, a sanguine and gentle dreamer, Lloyd George's father led a somewhat wandering life; now in Liverpool, now in Manchester; a schoolmaster here, a Unitarian preacher there; and finally ending his days at an early age, when settled down once more near his native place in Wales, as farmer on his native soil; and ending in poverty, perchance in broken hopes, and with affrighting and heart-breaking apprehensions as to the future of the wife and two children, little more than babes, whom he left to the cold and cruel mercy of the world.

CATARRH

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physician test of any article of real, genuine merit. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

NEW TEN COMMANDMENTS.

1. Thou shalt not go away from home to do thy trading, nor thy son nor thy daughter.
2. Thou shalt patronize the home merchant, doth not thy home printer spread over the good tidings of thy goodness and greatness and they shall patronize thee.
3. Thou shalt employ thine own mechanics that they may not be driven from their homes to find bread for their little ones. Thou shalt also consider him as thy neighbor, above all them that dwell in a strange town.
4. Thou shalt not ask for credit as the goods cost much money, and the merchant's brain is burdened with bills. His children clamor daily for bread and his wife abideth at home for the lack of such raiment as adorneth her sister. Blessed, yea, thrice blessed is the man who pays cash.
5. Thou shalt not ask for reduced prices for thine influence, for behold guile is in thine heart, and the merchant readeth it like an open book. He laugheth thee to scorn and shouteth to his clerk, "Ha ha."
6. Thou shalt do whatever lieth in thy power to encourage and promote the welfare of thine own town and thine own people.
7. Thou shalt not suffer the voice of pride to overcome thee and if other towns entice thee, consent thou not, for thou mayest be deceived.
8. Thou shalt spend thy earnings at home that they may return whence they came and give nourishment to such as may come after thee.
9. Thou shalt not bear false witness against the town wherein thou dwelleth, but speak well of it to all men.
10. Thou shalt keep these commandments and teach them to thy children unto the third and fourth generations that they may be made to flourish and grow in plenty, when thou art laid to rest with thy fathers.

FOUR CHILDREN WERE BURNED

Lamp Exploded and Set Fire to House—A Sad Scene.

THE DEAD

CHARLES, aged seven years.
ALBERT, aged five years.
WILLIAM, aged three years.
EDWARD, aged one year.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Oldfield of Wychwood Park.

Four little children of Ernest Oldfield, a harnessmaker, of Wychwood Park, Toronto, were burned to death Thursday night in the bed in which they had been tucked away by their loving mother but a few minutes before. Mrs. Oldfield herself had a narrow escape, as did also her eldest boy, Ernest, and it was only by a miracle that the whole family was not wiped out. Mrs. Oldfield managed to save Ernest from death in the flames by throwing him from the upstairs window, and leaping after him to the ground, about ten feet below.

MOTHER TRIED TO SAVE THEM

The frantic woman tried in vain to save her four younger children, who were huddled together in their bed in the room from which any chance of escape was cut off by the flames which were fast devouring the house. Many times she was driven back by the fierce heat, and as she felt herself being ovescome by the smoke and heat she thought of the chance of saving at least one of her family. Seizing Ernest, who was by her side when she discovered the house on fire, she dropped him out of the window, and quickly followed, just in time to save herself from a terrible death in the flames. All that remains of the four children are their little bodies burned to a crisp and totally unrecognizable, it being impossible last night for friends of the family to tell one from the other.

HAD TO BE HELD BACK

It was about 9.30 o'clock that Fred Lucas, a neighbor, passing along the Vaughan road, heard cries for help coming from the Oldfield home. As he rushed over he saw that the rear of the house was in flames. He tried to force the door, and just as he had succeeded Ernest Oldfield dropped from an upstairs window, closely followed by his mother, who cried piteously for someone to save her children. Had she not been restrained Mrs. Oldfield would have returned to the burning house through the door which Lucas had just a minute before forced in. She could not be persuaded to leave, but finally she was overcome and fell in a faint in thearms of Mr. Lucas, who made several heroic attempts to save the little ones, who met a terrible death in their bed in the upstairs room.

A PITIFUL SCENE

Friends carried her to the home of Mrs. Hudson, a neighbor, who lives close at hand. Her boy Ernest was also taken there, and Dr. Corrigan, who was called, dressed their hands and faces, which were painfully burned. Mrs. Oldfield was grief-stricken and would not be comforted. Frequently she made pitiful appeals to the physician to tell if her four little ones were really dead or if they had escaped to the arms of those who had rushed to the scene. Meanwhile word had been sent to the premises of Samuel Trees & Company in the city, where Mr. Oldfield is employed. He was told over the 'phone that one of his children had been taken ill and he was asked to come at once. As he approached the house and saw it was in ruins and firemen prosecuting diligent search in the debris he feared the worst, but could not believe, even when told by his grief-stricken wife, that their little family had all been wiped out and their home destroyed by fire.

SHOULD MOVE MORE QUICKLY.

One of the most promising enterprises ever undertaken by the Ontario Department of Agriculture has for its object the reforestation of lands, in older Ontario, which are wholly unfit for ordinary agricultural purposes, but are admirably adapted to the growth of timber. Few people even yet realize how large the area of lands of this class really is. In Norfolk there are, in two contiguous blocks, 10,000 acres of soil which is practically useless for the growing of field crops, but which can be turned to profitable account, merely by keeping out fire, in the production of timber; in the united counties of Durham and Northumberland there are 14,000 acres more, and in parts of three townships in Simcoe 50,000.

In 1908 $5,000 was voted by the Legislature for the purpose of making a beginning in reforesting these waste places, and this year $10,000 more was appropriated. These are considerable sums but they will go a very short way in a work of such magnitude as that before the Province. This fact is coming to be understood and in one section at least organized action is being taken with a view of urging the Government to proceed a little more quickly in the matter. At a meeting held in Cobourg last week arrangements were made for a convention in the same place on June 9th, to urge that the sandhills of Durham and Northumberland be speedily clothed with timber.

The Sun most heartily wishes all possible success to this movement. We would like to see similar movements organized elsewhere. Speedy and effective work in forestry means preventing the extension of sand wastes, beneficially affecting climatic conditions and conservation of water supply; and, aside from all these benefits, a profit can be made from the enterprise by the production of timber alone.—The Weekly Sun.

When you reach the half-century mark you should not think of old age or retirement; you should then proceed to undertake the greatest achievments of your life; and by staying young you may see your purpose through.

FORTIFIED AT FIFTY

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Bring Health and Strength to Women at a Critical Time.

Few women reach the age of fifty without enduring much suffering and anxiety. Bewteen the years of forty-five and fifty health becomes fickle, and acute weaknesses arise with rheumatic attacks, pains in the back and sides, frequent headaches, nervous ailments and depression of spirits.

The secret of good health between forty-five and fifty depends upon the blood supply. If it is kept rich, red and pure, good health will be the result, and women will pass this critical stage in safety. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help women of mature years as no other medicine can, for they make the rich, red blood that means good health, and brings relief from suffering. Mrs. C. Donavon, Newcastle, N.B., says: "About two years ago I was greatly run down and very miserable. I did not know what was wrong with me. I was hardly able to drag myself about, had severe headaches and no appetite. I felt so wretched that I hardly cared whether I lived or not. I had often read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for others and I desided to try them, and I can now truthfully say I found them all they are recommended to be. Under their use my health gradually came back; I could eat better, sleep better and felt stronger in every way, and before long I was enjoying as good health as ever I had done."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the trouble in the blood. They actually make new blood. That is why they cure such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, kidney troubles, headaches, sideaches and backaches, and the ailments of growing girls and women of mature years. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SHE FOUND A PLACE

An old Atchison colored woman who has a great many children, takes in washing and works like a slave, was called upon by a health officer last winter during the small pox excitement, and told that she must be vaccinated. The colored woman was good and mad. She said she had no time to be sick with vaccination, and besides, could not spare one of her arms; that the children would starve and freeze if she could not do her laundry work. Then the doctor said: "Well, auntie, I will vaccinate you on one of your lower limbs." "No siree," said the colored auntie, "I could not spare one of my legs either." Then the doctor said, kindly: "Well, what spot could you spare, because you will have to be vaccinated." The old colored woman thought and thought, and finally said, slowly: "Well, Lord knows I don't never get no chance to sit down."

LIVE IN THE PRESENT.

The only safe way is to live in the present tense. Yesterday we cannot reach except that we may repent of its sins and be forgiven, and that the future has not yet come, and will be sufficient unto itself on its arrival. To-day is our own. The duty of life with us is "now." To live humbly toward God, to live courageously and generously, reaching out our hands in a brotherly way and doing what good we can to-day is our privilege. Every day lived right will make it better for us to-morrow, whatever that may be. To live each day as though we only had the one day on earth—the one day in which to be good, the one day in which to praise God, the one day in which to be loyal to Christ, the one day in which to make the world happy—that is the way to live in order to bring something of heaven into the present. And surely that is the way we ought to live; we who are only travellers passing through this world to our home beyond.—Selected.

FACE LIFE AS IT IS.

If we want to make the best of life, we must face life as it is, and not as it might be; we want to make some great thoughts of our own, or want new and brave resolves and have a high determination.

Fretful, peevish and childish thoughts if indulged in day after day will form disagreeable habits; we must make an effort to throw off mental rubbish and make room for pleasant thoughts and hope.

Fretfulness is a kind of rust. Cultivate it and it will eat away happiness and usefulness. We may have made mistakes yesterday, but they must not cast a shadow over tomorrow. "The past teaches us a lesson, the present teaches us our duty and the future a hope."

Many of our people are always looking forward to the future with dread and apprehension. A little girl complained that her finger hurt her when she squeezed it. "Then don't squeeze it," said the mother.

"But if I don't," answered the child, "How shall I know whether it hurts or not?"

Many of us are doing the same thing, fretting about many things to see whether they hurt or not.

"What would become of us if our house burned?" asked a woman with real terror in her heart. She was merely squeezing her finger to see how much she can make it hurt.

Sorrow and trouble must come to us all, but we cannot make it easier by brooding over it beforehand. Some people are always in trouble. They rise to the point of tragedy because the milk soured or the baby broke a dish. As soon as one worry is over another takes its place.

It is not the real trouble that must come to us all that so much breaks into the serenity of our homes as it is the little trifles that we fret over.

VICTORIA DAY IN ALTON!

Large Crowd and a Splendid Program of Sports.

Alton and Belwood Base ball Teams Play an Eleven Innings Tie Game.

Other Interesting Happenings in Busy Southern Burg.

Alton celebrated Victoria Day in loyal fashion. The weather was all that could be desired, the crowd large and a splendid programme of sports was presented.

The morning trains, bringing the visiting ball team and their supporters, were met by a calithumpian procession which afforded considerable amusement. These trains landed a baseball team composed of old stalwarts from both Belwood and Grand Valley, so that things looked anything but rosy for the Alton Aetnas. At 1.30 a procession of school children, marshalled by Mr. William Algie, formed behind Alton Citizens' Band and marched to the Park. Every child in the procession was presented with a flag and an orange, and the programme of sports consisted largely of school children's events, the purpose being to make the children of this vicinity look forward to the 24th of May as their day and to foster a sensible, healthy patriotism as well as sensible, healthful sport.

The event of the afternoon was the baseball match. The visitors lined up as follows:—Dr. Campbell, 1b.; D. Sargeant, p.; Frank Sargeant, c. f.; W. Brawley, s.s.; J. Black, l. f.; G. Small, 3b.; A. Black, 2b.; W. Hamilton, r.f.; R. Brawley, c.

The Aetnas played as follows:—S. Baughman, c.; O. Barber, l.f.; James Algie, s.s.; D. Campbell, 3b.; A. Crawford, 1b.; R. Mackenzie, 2b.; T. Houston, c.f.; L. Widdis, p.; Robert Algie, r.f.

The game was a battle royal. At the end of the 9th innings the score stood a tie, each team having 5 runs to its credit. The same score resulted at the end of the tenth innings, and at the end of the 11th the score was still 5 to 5, when the game had to be called in order that the other events might be proceeded with. Mr. Everton Barber performed the duties of umpire in a very satisfactory manner.

There were four entries for the 5 mile race:—Geo. Hall, Thos. Houston, R. Hill and Andrew Dods. All four put up a strong fight for the medal, but Houston and Hall distanced the other competitors. On the last lap Houston stumbled and fell, which made it considerably easier for Hall to win than it otherwise would have been.

A medal was also given for a one mile race for boys under 14. This was captured by A. Duffie, of Grand Valley with Charlie Martin second.

Winners of other events were as follows:—

100 yd. Dash for Boys under 16—1st, M. Glover; 2nd, A. Duffie; 3rd, N. McDougal.

100 yd. Dash for Boys under 12—1st, R. Overland; 2nd, H. Meek; 3rd, Jas. Peacock.

In the Presbyterian Church a concert was held on the evening of Victoria Day. The programme was supplied by the Southland Sextette. The church was filled to overflowing and the congregation netted a neat little sum as a result of its enterprise.

Empire Day was celebrated by the schools here on Friday. A very pleasing School Concert in aid of the School Library was given in the evening in Science Hall. The programme consisted of dialogues, drills, solos, quartettes and choruses and proved very entertaining. Each performer deserves credit for the clever manner in which he performed his part. It is seldom that an Alton audience is so thoroughly amused as was that which patronized the youngsters on Friday night.

It is our sad duty to record the death of Miss Ethel Davis, only daughter of Mrs. John Davis, postmistress here. For several months she has been a patient sufferer from an incurable disease, and passed away shortly before noon on May 24th. Mrs. Davis and family have the sympathy af the entire community in this the second sad bereavement in a very brief space of time. The funeral took place on Wednesday to Alton Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith, wife of Mr. Thos. Smith, of Caledon, was buried here on Monday afternoon. For a long time Mrs. Smith has suffered from cancer. She was operated on almost a year ago but the operation proved of no avail. The afflicted family have the sympathy of all who know them.

Visitors to Alton over the holiday were numerous. Among others we noticed, were:—Dr. Meek, of Port Rowan, who visited his brother, Mr. J. L. Meek; Misses Maggie and Vera McDougal, of Toronto, who visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McDougal; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Clarke, of Toronto; Mr. Fred Hill, of Hamilton and Miss Minnie Hill, of Toronto, who visited their father, Mr. Fred Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dods and Mr. and Mrs. McGee, of Toronto, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. M. Dods.

Miss Babe and Miss Stewart, of Toronto, visited the former's sister, Mrs. J. B. Smith.

Miss May Algie and Miss Nettie Culligan visited their parental home.

The stork also visited in our midst lately and among others, our general merchant, Mr. Mason, is looking very pleased. The patriarchial Wm. Algie, who was considering the advisability of letting his whiskers grow again, has concluded that whiskers would likely get him into trouble with some of his numerous grandsons.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Chas. Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

SOME FAMOUS BULLS.

The British House of Commons, as might have been expected, has contributed a fair share to a very amusing collection of "bulls" (says The Windsor Magazine). It was in one of the debates of that body that the late. Col. Saunderson described Eastern Rumelia as "man enough to take her stand" in defence of a certain threatened right.

An Irish M.P. once declared that of the outrages reported from Ireland three-quarters were exaggerated and half had no foundation in fact—a statistical computation that reminds one of another Irish M.P. who declared excitedly to a group of fellow members: "I want to convince you that there isn't any truth in half the lies they are telling about Ireland."

The biography of Dean Hook recalls a certain minor canon who used to preach at the Cathedral when Hook was a boy at Winchester School. In one of his sermons there occurred the striking reflection that "what is impossible can never be, and very seldom comes to pass."

Another discourse was long remembered for its pathetic lamentation on the degneracy of the age: "O tempora! O mores! What times we live in! Little boys and girls run about the streets cursing and swearing before they can either walk or talk!" But the Church of England has no monopoly of these violent contrasts, for it was at a City Temple meeting not many years ago that a speaker exclaimed: "I find my time is already gone. Therefore I will keep within it."

LOCAL OPTION MEETING.

Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, and Mr. W. T. Bailey delivered addresses on Local Option and its relation to the License Law at the weekly meeting of local option workers in the Public Library Auditorium on Tuesday night. Mr. D. H. Church, of Orillia, who was in town attending the Brotherhood of St. Andrew Conference, spoke of Orillia's experience with local option. Mr. Church, who was a member of the Citizens' Committee during the campaign in Orillia, held strongly that local option had benefitted the town morally and had not injured business in any way.

DISTRICT MEETING.

Methodists Review Work of the Past Year.

The annual meeting of the Orangeville District of the Methodist Church was held in Shelburne on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The following charges make up the District:—Orangeville, Alton, Mono Mills, Palgrave, Laurel, Shelburne, Primrose and Mount Zion, Rosemont, Horning's Mills, Honeywood, Mono Road and Caledon East. Ministers and representative laymen were present from each of these places. The ministerial session opened at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, with Rev. H. Harper, M.A., of Orangeville, the Chairman of the District, presiding. Rev. H. L. Partridge, B. A., of Rosemont, was elected Secretary. Rev. George Waugh, of Horning's Mills, discharged the duties of Financial Secretary and Rev. Thos R. White, of Laurel, filled the position of Secretary of Sunday Schools. The greater part of the afternoon was spent in the examination of ministerial character and all the men of the district were found blameless in life and doctrinal views. Revs. John Goodman and Geo. W. Hewitt, B.A., were recommended to Conference to be continued as superannuated ministers and Rev. Charles C. Fry, on account of failing health, was recommended to be superannuated. Rev. Geo. W. Hewitt was appointed to write an obituary of the late Rev. R. Hassard, of Orangeville, who died some few months ago, and to read the same at the meeting of the Toronto Conference in June. The young men on the District, T. W. Cornett and J. W. Arnott, passed a creditable oral examination in theology and were recommended to Conference to be continued on probation.

The general meeting opened at 10 o'clock on Thursday forenoon, when the work of the entire District for the year was reviewed. It was found that there had been an increase in the membership and a very general effort to maintain and increase the contributions to ministerial support, although there are still a few charges that have not reached the minimum of $850 a year fixed by Conference. The various Connexional Funds have been loyally supported and all the claims on the Superannuation Fund for ministers fully paid up. The contributions to missions were not quite equal to the previous year, the reason generally assigned being the pressure of hard times. Rev. H. Harper, Chairman of the District, and Rev. F. A. Nurse, of Alton, will represent the District on the Conference Stationing Committee. R. G. Halbert and T. W. Cornett were recommended to be sent to College. The following well-known laymen were selected to represent the District at the Toronto Conference:—D. A. McBride, Orangeville; Geo. Chapman, Mono Mills; John Waller, Rosemont; Thos. Sparrow, Mono Road; Wm. Stubbs, Alton; J. Vance, Bolton; N. Henderson, Palgrave; Geo. Ireland, Shelburne, and E. Richardson, Laurel.

Rector of St. George's Church, Guelph, and J. A. Catto, of Toronto, were amongst the delegates to the Brotherhood of St. Andrew Conference, who registered at the Queen's.

Mr. John Graham, of Alliston, was in town Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Graham drove over on Monday to meet his brother, George, of Toronto, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Miller, of Detroit, who had sent him word they were coming to Orangeville, but would not have time to go to Alliston. Afterwards they changed their minds and left here to drive to Alliston about twenty minutes before Mr. Graham arrived on Monday. They went by the Hockley Road and Mr. Graham came by Mono Mills so that they had the misfortune to miss each other. However, Mr. Graham remained here until Tuesday evening, his brother and sister returning to Orangeville in the meantime.

A LIFELONG RESIDENT.

Mr. Thos. Rawn, of Albion, Called Away Last Week.

Mr. Thomas Rawn, a lifelong resident of Albion township, passed away rather unexpectedly at his home, lot 36, 1st line, in that township, early last Friday morning. Deceased had only been ill a week or so prior to his death and was able to visit Orangeville not more than three or four weeks ago. The late Mr. Rawn was 72 years of age and was born and spent his lifetime on the farm where his death occurred. Physically he was a strong, vigorous man well able to stand the toil and privations which were the common lot of the early settlers. He was an excellent neighbor and enjoyed the respect and good will of the community in which he spent his life. He was a widower, his wife (Elizabeth Duke, a sister of the late William Duke, of Mono) having passed away about six years ago. The following sons and daughters survive:—John Rawn, Chinguacousy; Wilson Rawn, Adjala; Mrs. Geo. Atkinson, Albion; William T. Rawn, Caledon; Mrs. Albert Bible, Albion; James S. Rawn, Mono; George M. and Miss Rebecca, on the homestead. John Rawn, Elba and Frederick Rawn, Sheldon, are brothers. There are also two sisters living, namely, Mrs. Thos. Penelton, Relessey, and Mrs. Margaret Mason, Ballyeroy. The late Mr. Rawn was a Methodist, a staunch Conservative and an enthusiastic Orangeman. He enjoyed the distinction of being the oldest member of L.O.L. 192, Mono Mills, and was also a charter member of Mono Mills Preceptory of the Black Knights of Ireland. The funeral, which was held on Sunday afternoon to Snell's Church Cemetery, was one of the largest witnessed in the neighborhood for years. There were over 125 vehicles in the long procession that followed the remains to their final resting place. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Geo. Burry, pastor of Mono Mills Methodist Church. Members of the Orange Order and of Mono Mills, Palgrave and Orangeville Black Preceptories were present in large numbers and the impressive burial rituals of the two Societies were read over the open grave. The Orange service was conducted by W. Bro. James McCutcheon and Bro. (Rev.) Geo. Burry, W. M. and Chaplain respectively of Mono Mills Lodge. The service in the Black was read by Sir Knight Thos. McCandless, W. Preceptor, and Sir Knight Alex. McElwain, of Caledon East Chaplain. The pallbearers, all of whom were members of one or other of the two societies, were Messrs. Robt. McCutcheon, Alex. McElwain, S. L. Island, Geo. Holmes, Sam Cobean and David Totten.

DEATH OF MRS. CAVANAGH.

Mrs. Frances Cavanagh, widow of the late Charles Cavanagh, who will be remembered very well by many of our older residents, passed away at her home, 144 John St., on Thursday after a severe illness. Mrs. Cavanagh, who was well advanced in years, was born in Longford County, Ireland. She came to Canada when about 18 years of age and had lived in or near Orangeville for the last forty years. She was the mother of a family of eleven of whom seven daughters and a son survive to mourn her loss. The daughters are: Mrs. T. Buchanan, Leamington, Ont; Mrs. Robert Walker, Gravenhurst; Miss Minnie Cavanagh, Orangeville; Mrs. D. R. Galbraith, Hockley; Mrs. Clarence Leonard, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. A. D. Gallaugher, Moose Jaw, Sask., and Mrs. N. P. Fraser, Carsonville, Mich. The son, Mr. W. C. Cavanagh, has a restaurant on College St., Toronto. Although several of them live a great distance from Orangeville the members of the family were all present at the funeral and all, excepting two of the daughters, reached home in time to see their mother alive. The funeral which was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Monday forenoon, was attended by many friends of the family. Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's Church, conducted the funeral service. Among the floral tributes was a beautiful "Gates Ajar" design from the family, a large sheaf of roses and lillies from the employees of Mr. W. C. Cavanagh and also several much appreciated offerings from Orangeville friends. The pallbearers were Messrs. H. Endacott, D. Mc. Naughton, John Davis, T. S. Hewson, Chas. King and Thos. Dawson.

MR. LEWIS PHILLIPS.

The death of Mr. Lewis Phillips, of Normanton, Sask., occurred at the home of his brother, Mr. Wm. Phillips, lot 14, con. 2, Amaranth, on Sunday, May 16th. Deceased passed away on the farm where he was born 53 years ago. When a young man he moved to Normanton, Sask., where he was very successful as a farmer. His wife died some years ago. He leaves four sons and two daughters, all well-known residents of Normanton, Sask. William and Nelson Phillips, of Whittington, are brothers.

MISS ETHEL DAVIS.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. John Davis and family, of Alton, in their bereavement through the death of her daughter. Miss Ethel, a girl of 20 years. The sad event took place on Saturday after a lingering illness. The funeral was held to Alton Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Mr. John Davis, of the Traders Bank staff in Drayton, and Mr. S. G. WHAT MAC, THE FARMER, SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, May 19.—The Government was undoubtedly disappointed and annoyed because of the comparatively small majority it was able to rally against the motion proposing to censure Mr. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, for his connection with the muddled finances of the New Brunswick Railway and Coal Company. The Government's normal majority is about forty; Mr. Pugsley was saved by a majority of only twenty-seven — a reduction of thirty per cent. This was due, not to the refusal of any Government supporters to follow their leader and see Mr. Pugsley through his difficulty, but to the fact that a large number of Liberal members were absent when the division took place, and, therefore, their votes were not recorded. But the fact that they were absent without adequate cause seems to suggest that if not displeased with Mr. Pugsley's record, they were at least lukewarm as to the result of the attack made upon him, for otherwise they would have followed the debate closely and been on hand when their services were required.

On the day following the vote the Government had a caucus of their supporters, and the rumor leaked out that the Prime Minister gave the absentees from the division a severe scolding for their negligence or indifference, whichever it may have been. All of which goes to show how subservient are the members of a party to its leaders, although it is upon these men that the leaders depend for their positions, for without their votes the Government could not hold office for a day. Such is the tyranny of extreme partizanship.

For the motion proposing to censure Mr. Pugsley 63 votes were cast—all Conservatives. Against the motion were 90 votes, and every one a Liberal. There were 23 pairs, representing 46 members, one half Conservatives and one half Liberals, who had mutually agreed not to vote. Not counting the Speaker, who votes in case of a tie, there were out of the total membership of 221 no less than 21 absentees, nearly all of whom were Liberals and who had they been present and voted with their party, would have given Mr. Pugsley a majority of about 40.

This pairing is one of those practices, which, for their own convenience, members have invented, and for which they have obtained the sanction of years of use. The practice has no legal sanction, but it has what is almost equally strong, the sanction of practically immemorial custom.

During the course of a long session, it must happen that many membgrs for a time wish to absent themselves from the sittings of the House. Illness, business and a score of other things may call them home or to some place distant from Ottawa. Still during their absence, important divisions may take place and their parties do not wish to be deprived of their votes. This is arranged by pairing which, although it does not enable the absentees to vote, subtracts an equal number of votes from the other side, and this leaves the relative strength of the two parties unchanged. A Liberal member wishing to absent himself for a few days, finds a Conservative anxious to do the same, and so they mutually agree not to vote during the time decided upon. They are said to be paired. As has been explained, they are sometimes paired on all questions for a certain time, or they may be paired with respect to one question only.

As soon as a division has been held members paired who happen to be in the House rise one after another, state with whom they are paired, usually adding as a sort of gratuitous challenge to the other side, that had they not been so paired they would have voted so and so—always of course, with their respective parties. The whips supply the Hansard reporters with a list of the pairs and in the official report it is subjoined to the division list.

The champion in the House of the eight hour working day is Mr Verville, the Labor member from Maisonneuve, a constituency adjoining Montreal, whose population is largely composed of working people. The first step to bring about his desired reform is to secure from the Government an eight-hour day on public works. At several sessions Mr. Verville has introduced a bill to provide for such a working day, but the bill never made much progress. He brought it in again this session, but finding that it would have the same stormy road to travel, with the consent of the House he withdrew it, reserving the privilege of making the plea for shorter working hours when the House should be moved into Committee of Supply. The other day the opportunity came, and Mr. Vervile made his speech, presenting some good arguments, especially in favor of shorter hours for women and children obliged to go out into the industrial world and earn their living.

With the spirit of the proposition, Mr. Lemieux, who is still Minister of Labor, as well as Postmaster-General, said he agreed, but there were serious difficulties in the way of its adoption. The short of it is that there will be no eight-hour day this year on public works. Next session Mr. Verville will bring in his bill again when possibly something may be done with it.

A matter of great importance to the farmers of Ontario and the ranchers of the West, came up incidentally in committee of supply the other day, when the votes for the Department of Agriculture were under consideration. Mr. Lake, of Qu'Appelle, asked Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, if the Government had given consideration to the project mooted in the West for shipping to the Old Country chilled meat instead of live stock, as is the practice now. Mr. Fisher replied that he had the proposition under consideration, and he hoped that before Parliament met next autumn he would be able to devise some plan by means of which shipments of chilled meat could be economically made. The establishment of a dead meat trade, said Mr. Fisher, would be of great value to Canadian stock raisers.

Mr. Lake held that continuous effort should be made to have the British embargo on Canadian cattle removed, and at the same time an alternative plan should be worked out, such as the shipping of dead meat, so that Canadian stock raisers would receive something nearer the value of their cattle than they are now getting.

Mr. Elson, of East Middlesex, pointed out that according to the returns of the Department of Trade and Commerce there had recently been a heavy falling off in our export cattle trade. "We see," said Mr. Elson, "that the export of live cattle in the year 1906 was about $2,000,000 greater than in the year 1908, showing that we are falling back to a very great extent in the development of our cattle industry. While the number of cattle exported was 25,000 less, the number of horses was several hundred less and the value very much reduced. The export of sheep was just about the same. In the products of the hog—ham and bacon—we have fallen back about a million dollars."

Mr. Fisher was asked what is being done to assist the growing of tobacco in Canada, and he replied that during the coming season three experimental curing stations will be established — one in Essex county, Ontario; the most southern county in the Dominion, and one in Montcalm county, and one in Rouville county, both in the Province of Quebec. Experiments would also be made with some new varieties of tobacco and improved methods of curing.

This led Mr. Blain, of Peel, to ask in jocular vein: "How does the Minister make his statement correspond with the statement in opposition to the manufacture af cigarettes in this country?"

To which Mr. Fisher replied: "If they would use no tobacco in Canada but export it all, I should be glad, I do not use it myself, and should like to see others follow my example. But if they are going to use tobacco, I would like to see them use good tobacco."

The Government wants more money for the expenses of the current year over and above the gigantic sum provided for in the main estimates brought down early in the session. Mr. Fielding the other night brought down supplementary estimates for $1,061,687 which, added to the main estimates, brings the expenditure for the current year up to the grand total of $111,506,462. These supplementary estimates are to provide for a number of miscellaneous expenditures, the greater part of which are for public works in the Maritime Provinces and in Quebec, and Ontario. Among them is a vote of $1,000 to Dr. W. T. Grenfell, the heroic missionary to the deep sea fishermen, to enable him to continue his experiments with reindeer in Labrador. The sum of $50,000 is required to meet expenses connected with arbitration before The Hague tribunal.

The Government bill amending and consolidating the law respecting immigration is now being pushed through the House and it will likely become law this session. When it goes into operation it will be more difficult for undesirables, such as criminals, and those incapable of self-support by reason of physical or mental defects, to come into this country. The Opposition are treating the bill in a fair and patriotic spirit. Although it is a Government measure they are not dealing with it from the standpoint of partizan politics. The unanimous feeling of the House is in favor of an effective and really stringent law regulating immigration.

Good progress is being made with the outstanding business before Parliament, but it is doubtful if the session can be brought to a close much before the last week of May.—The Family Herald & Weekly Star.

For Women Who are Discouraged

Because of lingering weakness and nervous derangements there is new hope and cure.

If your system is weak and run down, your blood thin and watery and your nervous system exhausted choose a treatment such as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which has never been equaled as a means of building up health, strength and vigor.

That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is particularly successful in the cure of ailments and derangements from which women suffer most is attested by such letters as this from Mrs. D. D. Burger, Heather Brae, Alta., who writes:

"Mrs. Armstrong, my niece, had great weakness, heart trouble and indigestion. In fact she was run down in every way and had lost all hope of ever getting well again She had been in poor health for over four years after the birth of her first child. The persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven of marvellous benefit to her. She feels real well now, is looking fine and flesh-ing up so that one would hardly believe her the same person" 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Toronto.

AN APPRECIATION.

By Laurence Noat.

Few places quite like Hillsburg; in general configuration, in history, in individuality quite by itself. It seems like a link between the past and present. Settled at first by a few stalwart North of Ireland people, and Highland Scotch, principally from Argyllshire, the Scotch largely predominated, and the Presbyterian Church therefore was strong. What a congregation it was! A bit of Scotland planted down in the northern part of the township of Erin, but all belonging to the Presbyterian Church in Hillsburg. To hear that congregation sing in Gaelic was something. And what men! Men who could pray, and work and fight and worship; men who could stand for things—and did. They are all passing away. Hillsburg is changing. We laid away one of the last of them a few days ago. One of the last and one of the best—Donald McMurchy. He had spent possibly seventy years of his life in Hillsburg, and all that time his name stood for all that was best among men. "His farm was just north of the village. It was reached by a heart-breaking hill, and the farm itself seemed to be impossible hills, and unreachable valleys. He got the farm long ago because it was cheap, and like a giant he went at it, until the wilderness was changed into a garden that bloomed and blossomed like the rose.

His manhood was splendid. It is worth much to have come into close contact with him—even to have seen him come in from the fields after a long, hot day in harvest, and before joining his men at supper, to take the heavy pump handle, and with mighty strokes cause the water to gush out, until the long trough was running over. No one else could do it. The writer often tried. It was something to have seen him walk up and down those hills, with great strides, and his back as straight as a reed. He never lagged, he never stooped, even when he was eighty years.

Donald McMurchy was a good man—good in the best sense. He was a Highlander, with no doubt his share of Highland traditions. He was brought up in a school that some to-day might think was narrow. He belonged to a class of people any one of whom would have cheerfully gone to the stake for the Mosaic authorship of the Pentateuch—if they believed it. But they were good men, and their lives stood for something. They left a splendid heritage, and now as they are just passing out of our sight we are realizing what they were.

Donald McMurchy was not an educated man, judging him from the point of view of the school-man. But it was always an inspiration to converse with him. He was widely read, his mind was always alert and open, and no man enjoyed good things better than he. His life was as transparent as glass, and he had a heart like the heart of a little child.

On a bright sunny day in April we laid him away. His own boys, who had been his best companions, reverently carried the body of their father, and round about were the men and women he knew and loved — a splendid body of people, whose friendship anyone might seek. On his neighbor's farm we laid him, side by side with Huxley, and Robt. Nodwell, and Ben Byrne, and John McLachlan, and the McFees, and McDougalls, and McAllisters, and a host of others, with whom he had labored and worshipped, first in the old Union Church on the brow of the hill, and then in the substantial stone St. Andrew's, and now in the city that has no temple therein; for the Lord God the Almighty and the Lamb are the temple thereof. Let the children and the children's children remember that the McMurchy name stands in Erin for what is best and noblest among men,—"that the children may rise up in the gates to bless them."—The Presbyterian.

It is the old Anglo-Saxon name for Dandruff and it's a good one. If you have dandruff you have itch dirt and the little microbes that are part and parcel of dandruff are working persistently night and day and sooner or later will reach the very life of your hair and destroy its vitality.

Then you'll be bald—Bald to stay—for not even the wonderful rejuvenating properties in Parisian Sage can grow hair after the hair bulb or root is dead. Parisian Sage cures Dandruff. T. Stevenson, the druggist, sells it—recommends it and guarantees it; only 50 cents a large bottle and your money back if it fails to cure Dandruff, Falling Hair and Itching of the Scalp.

A CHIEFTAIN'S HOME.

(By A Banker).

On the shores of the lovely Sea of Galilee, at the point where formerly stood the thriving town of Magdala, now entirely obliterated and effaced, a tribe of those wandering sons of Ishmael, the Bedouin, have settled down. The position of this malodorous collection of mud huts is beautiful and picturesque in the extreme. Surrounding the encampment on three sides in a wide strip of rocky wold, a very garden of brilliant wild flowers of all manner of varied hues, from the scarlet anemone to the hand some cream white asphodel. In the background are the rolling undulations of the Galilean hills, with snow-capped Hermon in the distance, while in front is the sparkling lake, glittering like diamonds, now with but a ripple on its surface, but in an incredibly short space of time perhaps a raging blast may sweep down those mountan gullies and transform those placid waters into a wild sea of foaming billows. Opposite is the country of the Gergesines, and in the far off distance at the further end of the lake may be discerned the white buildings which now occupy the pillarstrewn site of Capernaum. Truly a prospect surpassingly lovely and harmonious.

But the Arab village! Ah! what a contrast. The huts, made of mud, mingled with more repellent compounds, are reeking with filth; the lanes between them are a fetid quagmire of garbage and miry sludge; while the human beings, although the lake is within a stone's throw, appear as if never once in their lives had they considered it needful to indulge in such a fatuous eccentricity as a bath.

But one house, stated to be the residence of the chief of the tribe, was more substantial than the others for the principal chamber, an apartment of fair size, was hewn out of rock. Upon entering, however, a rapid glance around was amply sufficient. For, apart from the fact that a number of fowls, and also other live stock shared the hospitality of the chieftain, with the result that the aroma and fragrance of the perfume which pervaded the atmosphere could scarcely be described as exquisite, in addition a fire, upon which apparently some offal or other repellent garbage was being cooked by a repulsive-looking old woman, in the absence of any chimney filled the cavern with acrid and pungent smoke.

But speeding away from this noisome encampment, and wandering along the lovely shell-strewn shore, what a rush of memories of a holy, far off time courses through the mind. For on this very shore the loving Saviour of the world had oftimes walked and taught. And hither, too, after on the glad resurrection morn He had burst the bonds of death, suffered voluntarily for us and for our salvation, He had repaired in His resurrection body, to meet His friends and disciples. And now, in virtue of the all-prevailing merits of that vicarious expiation, all who come to Him for eternal life are welcomed and made partakers of His glorious Kingdom.

Of propositions in which to invest money, there are many. Weigh them up against "this one." - - -

INSTEAD of taking more or less risk of loss of your money in some other investment that may be pressed upon you, why not place your money right on deposit in a chartered Savings Bank and "leave it there."

It is the safest form of investment in the world; and there is the indescribable feeling of satisfaction that your money is right there when you need it—and that it is earning "sure" dividends in interest every day in the year.

Can this be said of other investments offered you? Namely:

That you get your money back at a moment's notice.

That your Dividend is absolutely certain, sure and regular.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON especially invites the Savings Accounts of those conservative men and women to whom this form of investment appeals.

CANADA CONDENSED.

A Fitting Title for the Prize List of the Canadian National Exhibition.

The prize list of the Canadian National Exhibition is now being distributed, and, as usual, it contains handsome premiums for everything Canadians make, or grow, or mine. The Exhibition this year, which begins August 28th and closes September 13th, thus giving two full weeks open to the public, promises to be on a more magnificent scale than ever before, and the prize list is ample evidence that the President and Directors of Canada's Great Fair are determined to keep it in the van of Canadian progress.

To mention even the features of the different sections in limited space would be an impossibility. Suffice it to say that to the grand total of $50,000 in premiums, specials are added in every department, and that no effort or expense has been spared to secure special attractions in keeping with the greatest exhibition on the continent. To hit the million mark in the matter of attendance is the avowed intention of the management this year.

BABY FELL FIVE STORIES.

Plunged Into Woman's Skirt Hanging on Clothes Line and Inflated by Wind—Scarcely Injured.

New York, May 27.—Patrick Searson, aged four, is the luckiest little Irishman in New York, in spite of the fact that he is the youngest of thirteen children. He fell five stories yesterday, and escaped with a slight gash in the head. He was playing on the fire escape of his mother's flat, five flights up, at No. 1,995 Second avenue, when he fell off. He hit the railing of the fire escape two stories down and bounced from there to a clothes line, a story lower still. His next stop was another floor below, where he tumbled into a woman's skirt hung out on the line and inflated by the wind. The skirt was too big for Patsy, and he slipped through, but his fall was broken and no ill results followed.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1909

Had Mr. Hewson been elected in January would he have declined to take his seat because there were irregularities in the West Ward?

• • • •

The electors will have an opportunity on Monday to say what they think of Mr. Island's threat that if Dr. Riddell is re-elected "he may be called on to again face the music of the law courts."

• • • •

Mr. Hewson professes to believe that the election last January was not run honestly. Why then did Mr. Hewson claim the seat? If the election was dishonest, why should he sit in the Council any more than Dr. Riddell?

• • • •

If Mr. Hewson and his friends really believe that the election was "crooked" and "dishonest" why did they not move to unseat the whole Council? The deputy-reeve and the six councillors were elected in precisely the same manner as Dr. Riddell.

• • • •

Mr. Island told the electors on Tuesday night that he was supporting Mr. Hewson because the latter did not get a "fair deal" last January. Does Mr. Island think he was giving Dr. Riddell a "fair deal" when he helped make up and attempted to saddle him with a bill of $650 costs? Our readers will be interested to learn that when this bill was taxed in Toronto, the taxing officer disallowed no less than $372. Mr. Island and Mr. Hewson, however, were prepared to give Dr. Riddell a "fair deal" by putting him in for $372, with which he was not properly chargeable.

• • • •

One of the features of the nomination oratory on Tuesday night was the sweeping character of some of the assertions made by the Hewson speakers. Mr. Hewson, himself, declared that dishonest election methods had prevailed for years, and Mr. Island made a statement similar in effect. The Banner submits that men who make assertions of this character should be in a position to furnish some evidence substantiating their charges. The citizens want proofs and not vague generalities, and if the proof is forthcoming the people of Orangeville will see to it that there is a general cleaning up, and that the persons responsible for the dishonesty receive their desserts. Our citizens are honest and law-abiding, and the great majority would not for one moment tolerate anything savoring of electoral corruption. If Mr. Hewson and others, who talk in a vague and insinuating manner of rottenness and wrong-doing, are really in earnest and believe what they state, why do they not lay their evidence before the people? The fact of the matter is, there is no evidence that will warrant these assertions. Elections in Orangeville have been conducted every whit as fairly and as honestly as in the average municipality.

The report of the Grand Secretary of the Grand Orange Lodge of Canada, which held its annual session in Peterboro last week contained the following interesting statistics:—

Members initiated numbered 6414; joined by certificate, 2188; reinstated, 1253; withdrawn by certificate, 2364; suspended, 5254; expelled, 100; died, 712. The value of real property was $701,672; other lodge property, $299,296; insurance carried, $434,596. New lodges were reported: Newfoundland, 3; Nova Scotia, 4; New Brunswick, 5; Ontario East, 7; Ontario West, 20; Manitoba, 5; Saskatchewan, 11; Alberta 4; British Columbia, 6. The Grand Treasurer reported a surplus of $4244.24. The Orange Mutual Benefit Insurance Fund closed its last year with a surplus of $28,655.38. Over five million dollars of insurance is carried.

MR. HEWSON'S SPEECH.

There was nothing very remarkable about Candidate Hewson's speech on Tuesday night, except his statement that if Mr. Wm. Daniels, the deputy-returning officer in the West Ward, were a young man he would be in prison. It is only charitable to assume that Mr. Hewson was laboring under unusual mental excitement when he made this extraordinary declaration. Mr. Daniels is one of our oldest citizens and a man whose honesty has never been called seriously into question and we mistake greatly if the people of Orangeville do not strongly resent such ill-judged and unnecessary remarks from Mr. Hewson. Mr. Daniels did not comply fully with the statutory provisions in his method of conducting the election, but there is not a tittle of evidence to show that he acted dishonestly, or that the irregularities that occurred deprived Mr. Hewson of a single vote. In his written judgment unseating Reeve Riddell, the Master himself is careful to say that he does not countenance the suggestion that there was any tampering with or substitution of ballots. In any event it is not for Mr. Hewson to determine whether Mr. Daniels, or any other citizen, should be in jail or not.

CARETAKER FOR 30 YEARS.

On June 1st, thirty years ago, Mr. Thos. Temple entered on his duties as caretaker of St. Andrew's Church. Mr. Temple, who will be 90 years of age in August, has held the position continuously since his appointment and notwithstanding his great age it is very seldom that he is absent from his accustomed place at any of the Sunday services.

A blue lodge of Masons will be located in London, England, exclusively for Americans.

VERACIOUS MARTIN.

William Martin, ex-Waterworks Engineer, spoke in his usual reckless fashion at the public meeting in the Town Hall on Tuesday night. Martin's speech was largely a rehash of his address at the nomination meeting last January and as his misstatements were fully exposed at that time it is unnecessary to again deal with them in detail. One instance will show how unreliable are Mr. Martin's statements. He told the ratepayers on Tuesday night that the town council of 1908 had awarded S. A. McCartney the contract for waterworks supplies for $59.70, passing over a tender from Gillespie Bros. for $50. As a matter of fact Gillespie Bros. tender was not for $50, but slightly over $60. Mr. McCartney's tender was therefore the lowest received and the Council could not very well do otherwise than accept it. Mr. Martin's statement that last year's Council spent "hundreds and hundreds of dollars for which the town has never received the value of a postage stamp," carries its own condemnation. Sensible electors will not be deceived by empty claptrap of this kind. If money was being wasted in this reckless manner, there are plenty of men besides Mr. Martin who would have found it out long before this. Besides was not Mr. Martin's friend, Mr. Hewson, the man whom the ex-engineer is anxious to have elected to assist him get back his corporation job, a member of last year's Council? It is not on record that Mr. Hewson protested against the awful waste and corruption of which Mr. Martin talks. Would Mr. Martin have the people of Orangeville believe that Mr. Hewson was a party to this waste and participated in the "rake-offs" of which he talks with such glibness? Or could it be that all this alleged waste and corruption went on right under Mr. Hewson's eyes and yet he saw not and knew nothing of it? If Mr. Martin's statement is accepted what estimate are the citizens to form of Mr. Hewson's qualifications for the reeveship?

THE CEMENT WORKS AGREEMENT.

Dr. Riddell and other members of last year's council are censured by Mr. Hewson and Mr. Martin for their failure to put a meter on the water service laid from the corporation main on the 1st line to the cement works. The main was put down in the first place for the purpose of giving the cement plant the fire protection, to which it is clearly entitled. Some citizens are under the impression that in addition to fire protection the Company is allowed free use of the town water for drinking purposes, and there also seems to be an impression in certain quarters that the cement people were granted the right to use the water for manufacturing purposes. The terms on which the Company was allowed to put in the service are set out in a type written agreement, signed in behalf of the corporation and the Company. This agreement expressly states that the Company shall use the water only for fire protection and drinking purposes. For the latter privilege the Company has bound itself to pay between $43 and $44 a year and to be governed by the provisions of the waterworks by-law so far as they are applicable. The agreement gives the town engineer authority to visit and inspect the cement works as often as he desires and if he finds that the Company is using the water for any purpose other than that specified he has the right to close off the service forthwith. If the agreement proves unsatisfactory for any reason the corporation may terminate the arrangement at any time by giving 30 days notice in writing, or at the end of any half year.

It will be seen from the above that the Cement Company is on exactly the same footing as any private citizen or business firm. It gets free fire protection, pays for the water used for drinking purposes and has no right to use the water in its boilers or for manufacturing.

WHAT THE MASTER SAID.

Since there has been so much discussion regarding Dr. Riddell's qualifications, it may not be amiss to quote what The Master said on this subject. In his judgment Mr. Cartwright says:—

"The qualifications of the respondent (Riddell) were also attacked, on the ground that he did not come under the provisions of section 76 (1), and the proviso at the end. I have not thought it necessary to deal with this point, as the election must in my opinion be set aside. But if the respondent is again a candidate it will be in his interest to consider if there is any force in the objections taken by the counsel for the relator. Whether in case of a qualification on an encumbered property a sole occupancy is necessary, and whether the amount of the encumbrance is to be ascertained at the date of the assessment or at that of the election are both points which so far as I am aware have never received judicial interpretation. They are both very material in the present case if the qualification of the respondent had to be determined."

Our readers will note:—(1) That the Master did not decide at all on the qualifications of Dr. Riddell, and (2) that some of the points to be considered have not been determined by the Courts. Why should Mr. Riddell's opponents persist in attacking his qualifications when they do not even know that there is any legal force in their objections? Mr. McKeown, Riddell's solicitor, who has looked closely into the matter states positively that his client's qualifications are unassailable. This statement is surely of more importance than the unsupported objections of the Dr's. opponents.

Senator Bailey of Texas, and a representative of the New York Times, came to blows in the U.S. Senate House.

MUNICIPAL ORATORY

Nominees for Orangeville Reeveship Held Forth on Tuesday Night.

Candidate Hewson Says He Was Elected Last January.

The meeting of the ratepayers in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening to hear the addresses of the candidates nominated for the reeveship was largely attended. The speaking was characterized by considerable bitter invective, regrettable recrimination and unnecessary abuse and will go down in local municipal history, not as an example to emulate, but rather as a warning to deter. What is particularly deplorable is that it will probably cause the best of our citizens to hesitate long before deciding to immolate themselves on the altar of public service.

Dr. Jas. Henry was asked to take the chair and accustomed as he has been, in his long and honorable municipal experience, to hearing vicious diatribes, it is seldom, we believe, that he has been called upon to listen to such unbridled license of speech. Messrs. J. L. Island, T. J. Henderson and Ex-Waterworks Engineer William Martin, who were Candidate Hewson's platform supporters, were the chief offenders. Mr. Hewson himself told the audience that if Mr. Daniels, the West Ward deputy, were a younger man he would be sent to prison. Mr. Henderson and Mr. Island harped on the familiar theme of crookedness and wrongdoing and Mr. Martin, with a fine assumption of righteous indignation, told the meeting that local conditions were a disgrace to the town of Orangeville. Outside of the candidate's reference to Mr. Daniels, the Hewson speakers contented themselves with vague generalties and insinuations that were time and again hotly resented by fully two-thirds of the audience. They asserted that there was crookedness and wrongdoing, but failed to make anything but the weakest attempts to substantiate their sweeping statements.

The first speaker was Thos. J. Henderson. He rehashed his speech of January last, thought the crookedness so rampant in town was a disgrace to civilization, took a crack at the furniture factory, and complained of the way in which the water rates due by that concern had been levied and collected. Mr. Henderson also gave his views on the temperance question and horse racing. The streets, he complained, had been handed over to electric light companies. He than harked back to his own defeat by ex-reeve Green, which he attributed to fraud and claimed the town had been extravagant in the purchase of its supplies. 500 feet of water pipe had been put in the estimates at seven cents a foot, while the retail price was but five. These charges were refuted by subsequent speakers, and the water pipe was shewn to have been purchased by the Corporation for 4¼ cents a foot.

C. R. McKeown, K. C., followed and was in excellent form. He gave the inside history of the recount and the subsequent protest, which has stuck the heavily burdened taxpayers with the costs of a new election, engendered much bitterness amongst our citizens, and stopped the wheels of progress. There would have been no costs payable by Mr. Hewson had he accepted the recount. Costs had been awarded against Dr. Riddell and a colossal bill of some $650 had been presented by Mr. J. B. McKenzie, a Toronto lawyer, who had been called in to assist the local talent. This had been reduced by taxation to $279.26, which Dr. Riddell had promptly paid. In the formidable list of thirteen paragraphs, setting forth the grounds for protesting the election, there was no suggestion of wrongdoing on the part of Dr. Riddell. His property qualifications, as his ability to serve the town and county, were also undoubted. His assessment was $2000. His brother never had a dollar's interest in the Dr's. Mill Street property, but to make assurance doubly sure and satisfy the captious criticism of a factious and bitter opposition, a quit claim deed had been secured and registered. While irregularities had occurred during the recent election it was not seriously suggested or proven that the unseated reeve, or his friends or agents, had been parties thereto. The evidence demonstrated Dr. Riddell was in no way to blame for the unfortunate situation. After notice of motion had been served by Mr. Hewson to unseat his client he (Mr. McKeown) had advised him that in all probability the election would be upset on a technicality, and he could disclaim the seat and face a new election. The Dr. after consultation with his friends, having regard to the fact that there was nothing on the face of the irregularities to shew that any ballots had been tampered with and believing he was morally entitled to the seat, felt that a disclaimer, after notice of motion, without further enquiry or trial, would leave him open to a charge of cowardice. Having a personal knowledge that there had been no fraud either by himself or his agents he preferred to be penalized in heavy costs, and clear his good name, rather than be even suspected at conniving or condoning improper methods. The result had justified his position. Dr. Riddell had been singled out as the target for the attacks of the enemies, that a man who tries to do his duty as he sees it sometimes makes. Mr. McKeown closed a clever and effective address amid hearty applause.

Dr. Riddell, on arising to deliver his address, was accorded a splendid reception. He regretted the events which made a new election necessary. If there had been any irregularities, and he bowed to the decision of the Court, it was through no fault of his. Why he had been singled out for special attention, he could not understand. It was of course impossible to please everyone. He had conducted the civic business above board. He had large interests at stake in the town and was a heavy taxpayer. He had served the town and county to the best of his ability, and had not spared his time or energy in promoting the best interests of the ratepayers. Dr. Riddell made a capital address, free from personalities although frequently on the aggressive.

T. S. Hewson followed. He claimed he had been rightfully elected reeve last January. Referring to Mr. William Daniels, returning officer in the West Ward, the speaker dramatically declared "If Daniels were a young man he would be in jail, and perhaps some of you will be there yet," he continued in a threatening manner. This ill-natured remark was greeted with jeers and hisses, and almost created an uproar. Seeing his blunder, Mr. Hewson hastened to say that the "farmers were the backbone of the country." He was the farmer's friend, and a friend of Caledon and the Caledon Telephone Company. The speaker was an honest man, but not in accord with the Council. He had no connection with race tracks. He had not canvassed any hotel-keeper. The aspirant for municipal honors waved a copy of the Master's judgment, of some twenty two hundred words, and the following extract gave him pleasure:

"The mischief sought to be guarded against in this way was forcibly expressed by the American humorist, who blamed Mr. Kruger for having unnecessarily caused the war which resulted in the loss of the independence of his country. "What matter he asked did it make if Mr. Kruger gave the Outlanders votes so long as he did the counting himself."

The force of the joke is entirely lost, when it is remembered that in Mr. William Daniels, deputy returning officer, Mr. Hewson had a friend and probable supporter, while Mr. Robert Pattullo, the poll clerk, who did the counting in the West Ward voted for Hewson, and swore to the fact in the proceedings to set aside the election. So it surely did not make so much difference if the "Outlanders"—Dr. Riddell's supporters—were given votes, as long as Daniels and Pattullo counted them.

J. R. Gillespie, being called on, gave a capital address, and made an excellent impression. He spoke as a business man. It was hard to satisfy Mr. Hewson. It was not likely that Mr. Robert Pattullo, poll clerk in the West Ward, one of his sworn supporters, would permit any tampering with the ballot box. It was an unworthy suspicion but "all looks yellow to the jaundiced eye." The speaker deplored petty bickerings and lawsuits to satisfy the whims of a few cranks. He was sorry for Mr. Hewson who had been made a catspaw in the game. The best thing the citizens could do next Monday was to turn out and return Dr. Riddell by a large majority. Mr. Gillespie closed with a strong appeal for more civic patriotism and a united effort to promote the town's interests.

J. L. Island had also provided himself with a copy of the Master's judgment. He sapiently pointed out that the receiver of benefits accruing from wrongdoing was as guilty as the parties doing the wrong, omitting however to tell his hearers that there were six councillors, and a deputy reeve sitting in the Council occupying the very same position as to their election as Dr. Riddell, yet no proceedings had been taken to unseat them. Neither did Mr. Island tell the audience that in the proceedings to void the election his client, Mr. Hewson, claimed the seat, not objecting to wrongdoing if he benefitted thereby

Coming to Dr. Riddell's property qualifications, Mr. Island stated that in the event of his election next Monday, it might be that proceedings would be again taken to unseat him for lack of qualification, as there was, averred the solicitor, a fine point of law involved which had never yet been decided in the Courts of the Province, and it might be necessary to settle the question. At this juncture, the audience were visibly moved at the mere thought of this corporation being called upon to settle the great constitutional moot point vaguely hinted at. Mr. Island resumed his chair amid intense silence. This round was decidedly in Dr. Riddell's favor.

William Martin, Riddell's implacable foe, was the next speaker. Judging from his address he had been more assiduous, and paid more attention to the town business, and especially the Waterworks department, since he was discharged as Engineer, than he did during his occupancy of that important position. His remarks throughout were characterised by that extravagance of statement and want of fairness, which is the usual outcome of spite, and the brooding over fancied wrongs. Mr. Martin received a chilling reception, over half of the audience rising and leaving the hall when he ascended the platform.

W. T. Bailey, ex-Mayor, and well qualified to speak on municipal matters owing to his extensive experience, was the last speaker. Referring to the proceedings to unseat Dr. Riddell he stated that the main facts having been brought out on the recount, and it having been established that there had been no actual wrongdoing, Mr. Hewson was not justified in pushing proceedings further to the irritation of the town and to the injury of its reputation, for which he was apparently not greatly concerned. The business of the town was none too good and instead of fighting each other the citizens were advised to sink petty differences and get together. Referring to Mr. Island's threat, that in the event of Dr. Riddell's re-election, proceedings might be taken to unseat the choice of the people on a point of law which had never yet been determined by any Court in the land, the speaker thought things had come to a pretty pass when such talk would be seriously considered. Was it fair, or in the public interests, that such quibbles should be even mentioned? In the opinion of the former Mayor and recent auditor and assessor, Dr. Riddell's qualifications were alright in the last election, and he was quite sure they were more than sufficient for this. He expressed the hope that the electors of the town would intelligently and with some degree of seriousness, record their votes, and if they did so Dr. Riddell's election was assured.

The two candidates, Dr. Riddell and Mr. Hewson, were each allowed five minutes to reply before the meeting was brought to a close.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

Mono Mills and Inglewood football teams treated a couple of hundred spectators to a capital exhibition of the "soccer" game on Idylwyld Park on Saturday evening. The teams are entered in the Peel County district of the Western Football Association and Saturday's game was one of the District semi-finals. The teams were very evenly matched. Inglewood, or more correctly the I. C. C. team—a combination of Inglewood, Claude and Cheltenham players—had the advantage in weight and were also in better condition. The latter factor stood them in good stead toward the close of the game, when some of the Mono Mills players began to tire badly. Inglewood won by 3 to 2 in extra time, but it was the opinion of many spectators that Mono Mills deserved to win on the play. They certainly had more than their share of hard luck and an unfortunate decision by the referee deprived them temporarily of a goal, which if it had been allowed them at the time might easily have changed the result of the game. Inglewood won the choice and elected to kick south. This gave them the advantage of both wind and sun in the first half. Play was largely in the Mono Mills end of the field, but the easterners' defence men were playing stellar football and though they tried hard the I. C. C. forwards did not manage to score until shortly before half time, when a high shot that almost grazed the lower side of the bar beat Scott. Mono Mills had all the better of the play in the first part of the second half. Shortly after the face-off "Hazel" Farrar evened the score by a pretty shot from the side. A few minutes later Stork sent in one that looked sure, but the ball struck the top bar and rebounded into the field. Mono Mills still pressed, and another swift rush culminated in a lightning shot that Smith stopped, but failed to clear. Goalkeeper and ball were both knocked through the goal and Mono Mills supporters, who were present in strong force, cheered their team to the echo. Their joy was short lived as referee Robinson decided it was an offside and refused to allow the goal. Mono Mills seemed to be lagging and for the rest of the match Inglewood was on the aggressive. A clever rush up the field netted them a goal, making the score appear 2 to 1 in their favor. Toward the close the referee discovered that he had misinterpreted the rule applicable to the case, and he accordingly allowed Mono Mills the second goal they scored, making the score 2 to 2. At the close the teams were ordered to play ten minutes extra time, five minutes each way. Near the end of the first period Inglewood scored what proved to be the winning goal. Barring the error already referred to, Rev. S. R. Robinson gave excellent satisfaction as referee. He was entirely impartial, followed the play closely and his decisions were apparently entirely acceptable to both teams.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Inglewood — goal, Hugh Smith; backs, Elmer Campbell, Thos. Foster; half backs, Harry Wilson, A. Robinson, R. Fraser; forwards, H. Lancaster, D. Foster, W. Foster, N. McDevitt, D. Norwood.

Mono Mills—Goal, Harry Scott; backs, Wilbert Donaldson, C. McKenna; half-backs, W. A. Donaldson, J. Bergin, Jas. McCutcheon, forwards, H. L. Footner, Jack McCutcheon, Geo. Stork, Ed. Durkin, H. Fagan.

Robinson, and their appreciation of his work in the pulpit and among his people by presenting him with a purse of $100 in recognition of his services. The presentation was made by representatives of the congregation at the Manse a week ago Friday. Mr. Robinson, who was taken quite by surprise, made a fitting acknowledgment, expressing at the same time his gratification at this proof of the good-will and affection of his congregation.

LAUREL.

A couple of weeks ago the Camilla correspondent to the Banner grew very facetious on the subject of Laurel's baseball players and enthusiasts. If his remarks correctly indicate the opinion of Camilla's baseball team and fans, is it not strange that Camilla should have thought it necessary to avail themselves of the services of a couple of our players for their game with Shelburne at Sproule's garden party on Tuesday night? Perhaps we Laurelites know something about the game after all. There is some satisfaction too in knowing that Camilla knows that we know.

The contractors have about completed the brickwork of Mr. John Johnston's new house. The walls of Mr. Hamilton's fine dwelling are partly up and with fine weather will be finished in a few days. These fine houses will add greatly to the appearance of our village.

Farmers have finished their seeding and the grain is coming along nicely. The seed was put in under more favorable conditions than a year ago and present indications are all in favor of an excellent crop.

Rev. T. R. White was in Peterboro last week attending the annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge.

A "no tobacco" resolution was passed at a session of the Presbyterian General Assembly at Denver, Col.

A flow of 100,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas every twenty-four hours started at a well in East Calgary, Alta.

HOCKLEY.

We regret to learn of the death of Mrs. J. G. Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hackett of this place. Mrs. Walker passed away at her home in Winnipeg on Friday last after about three weeks' illness. She is survived by her husband and one son, a boy of probably nine years. Mrs. Hackett left for Winnipeg last Tuesday.

Mr. Herbert Waller, lot 20, 4th line, Mono, met with an unfortunate loss one day recently. The bush on Mr. Waller's farm has been used by Relessey Methodist Church for several years for picnic grounds. Last year the chains used for the swings were not taken down. In some strange manner a colt of Mr. Waller's, while running in the bush, got entangled in one of the chains and in its struggles to free itself was choked to death. Mr. Waller feels his loss keenly.

MONO MILLS.

Rev. F. Davey goes as a commissioner to the General Assembly this week.

Mrs. (Rev.) Geo. Burry visited friends in Toronto last week.

Dr. R. M. Mason, V. S., Fenelon Falls, was elected to the local house in East Victoria as a successor to Mr. Carnegie in the by-election held recently.

Mr. Norman Jackson left on Wednesday last for Moosejaw, Sask., where he will spend the summer.

Mr. James Henry has received notice that his tender for the mail service to Caledon East has been accepted, his duties to commence June 1st. Stork Bros., who have had the contract for the last three years, have been noted for the good service they have rendered and for their genial and obliging accommodation, but gave up the business because the remuneration for the rural mail delivery was not sufficient.

Our local football team was defeated in the semi-final championship match with Inglewood at "Idylwyld Park", Orangeville on Saturday evening last by the score of 3—2. Their opponents were a strong team picked from Claude, Inglewood and Cheltenham and included the professional "Fosters." This together with the fact that the locals were without two of their best men has removed the possibility of the district championship this year. It was a good game throughout and the fact that the score stood 2—2 at full time is a fair indication. Rev. Stanley Robinson made a satisfactory and impartial referee.

CAMILLA.

The annual June meeting of the Camilla Women's Institute will be held in St. Andrew's Church here on Monday, June 7th, at 2 o'clock, with an evening meeting at 7.30 o'clock. Miss M. Gray, of Toronto, and local speakers will deliver addresses at both meetings. Miss Gray needs no introduction to the majority of Institute members as she has been engaged in this work for years, has travelled extensively and is thoroughly master of the subjects on which she speaks. All ladies are welcome. Gentlemen are cordially invited to the evening meeting.

Saner minds have been very profuse in their just protestations against the wanton and maleficent destruction of native birds of every description. No discrimination is made whatever and birds which are beneficial are as ruthlessly slaughtered as those which are not so expedient to the welfare of the farmer, and probably more so since, being of a tamer nature, they present themselves as a more vulnerable target to these unnecessary sharpshooters who shoot any and all kinds without distinction. And moreover where does the sport come in? If these persons wish to destroy innocent necessary birds probably a strict enforcement of the laws would prove materially beneficial to their want of knowledge in this respect. Persons of this inconsiderate stamp may be macrocephalous but this outward distinction goes not in any way to prove that they are macrencephalous. And such a one's brain, if there even is the faint semblance of such a thing enclosed in his cartilaginous cranium, must be of a very miniature and funicular structure. Probably such a one, who thus foolishly destroys, would indubitably afford a genuine specimen in the study of idiosyncrasy.

The roads of this locality are as a rule considered good,—that is when compared with roads that are worse. However we are definitely informed from a reliable source that the roads of this part are among the best of any in the county. But admitting such is that any reason why they should not be materially improved? Would not a reasonably increased expenditure of money one season be amply repaid by the improved roads not only for one season but for many? And among other things none of our people evidently seem to have any knowledge of a road drag, which is so cheap, involving little or no expense, light to operate, and extremely serviceable. While much of the roads is gravelled yet there is much that has none on them, and here a road-drag would soon produce if used judiciously a vastly improved roads both during wet and dry weather, as well as for all seasons of the year.

IN AGONY WITH PILES.

Mr. G. W. Cornell, with the Shaw Milling Co., St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "For six years I was a victim of itching, protruding piles and was in dreadful agony day and night. Doctors were unable to help me, and I was about as miserable as any creature could be. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I did and obtained relief from the first box and complete cure with the second. This ointment would be cheap at fifty dollars a box, in view of what it did for me."

OVERTAXED NERVES A DISTRESS SIGNAL

The Trouble Can Only Be Cured by Enriching the Blood Supply.

When your nervous system is exhausted the trouble makes itself evident in many ways. You feel always fatigued and unfit for work. Severe headaches distract you; your back is weak; you sleep badly; your appetite is uncertain; you are nervous and irritable and after any exercise you tremble and perspire excessively. If the trouble is not checked your case goes from bad to worse until you feel that your condition is hopeless that insanity is threatened.

Your nerves are calling for help. They are starved because they demand from the blood more nourishment than it can supply. New rich blood is the secret of nerve strength and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cure nervous disorders because they feed the weak, exhausted nerves with rich, red blood. The case of Mrs. Emma Hall, of Hamilton, Ont., furnishes proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure even the most stubborn cases of nerve exhaustion. Mrs. Hall was left a widow and was forced to work in a mill to maintain herself and her two little children. She bravely faced the battle of life, though she had never had to conform to such conditions before. Notwithstanding the splendid spirit she displayed the work played havoc with a delicate constitution, and some years ago Mrs. Hall noticed signs in herself of a nervous collapse. She consulted a doctor who gave her some medicine and told her she "would be all right in a few days." But relief did not come and it was finally a daily occurrence for her to faint at her work. These fainting spells quickly developed into pronounced hysteria and chronic irritability, and Mrs. Hall says that death would have been a relief. She consulted several doctors but got no help, and she felt that she was almost bordering on insanity. In this condition she was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Grasping at even the possibility of help she decided to do so. After taking three boxes she actually found some improvement, and from that time on this improvement was steady and increasing daily until after a few months she felt the cure was complete. She says:—"Dr' Williams' Pink Pills have done what doctors failed to do and what I myself thought was impossible. They have freed me from the terrible trouble I suffered and my old joy in life has been renewed." When Mrs. Hall began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she weighed only one hundred pounds while under her renewed health her weight has increased to one hundred and thirty pounds.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had from any dealer in medicines or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HONOR SATISFIED.

A couple of good-natured Frenchman got into a quarrel and challenged each other to fight. On the morning of the duel, they and their seconds tramped through the woods to the fatal spot, when one of the duelists, the challenging party, tripped and fell. His second helped him up.

"I hope you are not much hurt?" said the other duelist.

"I'm not much hurt; I only bumped my nose on the ground."

"Does it bleed?"

"Yes, a little."

"Heaven be praised! Blood flows, and my honor is vindicated. Give me your hand, old boy!"

TEACH THEM TO COOK

All girls should be taught to cook, but a gift for cooking is like a gift for music or painting or writing. The girl who hasn't it will never be a good cook and she might just as well be allowed to devote her time to the things for which she has a talent and in which she is interested. She will never be anything but a mediocre cook. Still that is no reason why she should not be taught how to cook, just as she should be taught to appreciate good music and fine paintings and know why one thing is good and another bad. Teach your girls to cook whether they like it or not, but if they don't like it, don't keep them everlastingly at it. Let them do something else. There are enough different kinds of work to suit everybody, and there are enough women with a fondness for cooking to feed the world if someone will provide them the materials.

—Mr. T. J. Henry, 4th line, east, Caledon, has disposed of a couple of boar pigs and has bought in their stead and will keep for service one of D. C. Flatt's choice large English Yorkshire boars. Mr. Henry is a successful stock breeder and fancier and believes in always having the best.

James Gullett was sentenced in Belleville to two years for stealing a watch.

APPOINTED A JUDGE.

J. H. Denton, K. C., Appointed for York County.

Mr. J. H. Denton, K. C., of Toronto, has been appointed junior judge for York County. The appointment, which is a Dominion one, was made at a meeting of the Cabinet at Ottawa last Thursday. The new Judge, who is a former Dufferin County boy, is a brother of Mr. M. H. Denton, of this town.

The new junior judge was born in York County, near Richmond Hill, 43 years ago, and has practised for 19 years in Toronto.

His earlier education was received at Orangeville High School and Collingwood Collegiate Institute, and he attended Toronto University. After graduation he attended the Law School, and at his final examinations obtained a scholarship and gold medal.

Mr. Denton is the author of a well-known law book on "Municipal Negligence," and has moreover found time to take part in public affairs. He was for several years a member of the Public Library Board and chairman for one year. He attends Broadway Tabernacle, and is one of the trustees.

In political life Mr. Deoton has taken a keen interest, and for years has been one of the most active among the younger Liberal workers in North Toronto, and once occupied the president's chair. Had Mr. Hossack not been chosen as Mr. John Shaw's opponent last June, it is more than likely that Mr. Denton would have represented the Liberal ticket. He is at present one of the directors of the Ontario Liberal Club, from which position he will resign.

The regular salary of the new judge will be $2500 a year for the first three years, and $3000 thereafter. In addition he will receive, it is understood, $1600 a year, as his share of the Surrogate Court fees, as do Judges Morgan and Morson at present. Judge Winchester's share is $2600.

Discussing the personality of the new Judge, the Evening Star says:—

The new judge hasn't any fads or hobbies like most judges have, he has been too busy. He has a summer place at Grimsby, and he goes there every year, taking his wife, his two boys, and his three girls with him, and he has a glorious time with them too.

"He'd rather play with his kiddies than do anything else, so far as I know," said a lawyer, who has known him for years. "He is the quietest, most painstaking man you ever saw; always learning something, and looking for things to learn. I have known him for years, and I never saw him angry once."

There is one thing that Judge Denton does get a lot of satisfaction from, however, and that is a quiet game of bowls at the Alexandra Club, with a good cigar between his teeth and his friends around him.

"Great judge of cigars," was another tribute to him.

MRS. JAMES HEWITT.

Mrs. Hewitt, wife of Mr. James Hewitt, of Springbrook, passed away on Monday after a long and particularly trying illness. Mrs. Hewitt became seriously ill about fifteen months ago and last autumn underwent a critical operation for the removal of some internal growth. The operation gave temporary relief, and Mrs. Hewitt enjoyed better health for some time afterwards. Some months ago the old trouble recurred and she was again confined to her bed. Her condition was critical for some weeks prior to her demise and consequently the end was not unexpected. Mrs. Hewitt, whose maiden name was Martha Etta Waines, was a daughter of the late Robert Waines, of Mono. She is survived by her husband and aged mother, who, with the other relatives, have the sympathy of all in their loss. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from her late home to Greenwood Cemetery yesterday afternoon. In the course of the funeral service, Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's, who officiated, paid a feeling tribute to the worth and fine Christian character of the departed woman. The pallbearers were Messrs. Alex. Conley, James Cooper, Robt. McKim, James Dodds, W. J. Dodds and Robert Dale.

JOHN B. FERGUSON.

Mr. John B. Ferguson, a well-known resident of the township, passed away at his home, lot 10, con. 3, east Caledon on Friday last after a short illness. The deceased was taken ill on Saturday preceding his demise with appendicitis. Dr. McFayden, of Charleston, was at once summoned and later Dr. James Henry, of Orangeville, was called in by the attending physician. The case rapidly became critical and notwithstanding careful nursing and the skill of the doctors the malady proved fatal. Mr. Ferguson, who was in his 45th year, was a widower and is survived by one son, a boy of 12 years. He was a son of Mr. Joseph Ferguson, his father and a sister, Miss Sarah, living with him. There are three married sisters,—Mrs. Geo. H. Duke, of Mono, Mrs. James Robinson, Vancouver, B.C., and Mrs. Robt. Wilson, of Toronto. Deceased was well and favorably known throughout Caledon, and his unexpected demise was a great shock to his many friends and acquaintances. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved relatives and particularly for the aged father and orphaned child. The funeral, which was held to the Presbyterian burying ground, 4th line, east, on Sunday afternoon, was one of the largest ever witnessed in Caledon. There were about two hundred rigs in the long procession from the stricken home to the cemetery. Rev. Stanley R. Robinson, pastor of Knox Church, Charleston, conducted impressive services at the house and grave.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

The Power of the Tongue. James 3 : 1-12.

Verse 1—What class of persons are most likely to want to rule, or be "masters," those engaged in good works or those who neglect them?

Will one who is in rapt love with his fellows want to rule them, or will he judge them harshly?

Unfaithful Christians always put up a high standard for others; what effect will that have upon the standard with which God will measure them? (See Matt. 7 : 1-5.)

Verse 2—How much of our trouble and how much of the trouble we make for others is caused by our tongues?

If a man does not do any harm by his words, is he apt to do any otherwise?

If a man says hard and unkind things about his neighbors, and intentionally wounds the feelings of others by his words, is he necessarily a bad man?

Is the control of the tongue the key to the control of the entire man?

Verse 3—It takes an iron bit to control a horse,what is the "bit" which will effectually control the tongue?

In what respect is an ungoverned tongue like a runaway horse with a broken bit,and what are generally the results in each case?

Verses 4-5—Is it actuallt so, that the tongue is to the man what the rudder is to the ship, that is, does the tongue govern the influence of the man?

Is it necessary at all times to watch our tongues, compelling them to refrain from wrong words, and to use right words; just as the man at the wheel of a ship controls the rudder with vigilant watchfulness?

Is the tongue capable of setting a church or a neighborhood all ablaze with scandal, just as a match may set fire to a city?

Verse 6—What are some of the many "iniquities" which the tongue can cause?

Can you recall and mention some of the moral poison emitted by an evil tongue?

Do persons with an evil tongue always draw their inspiration from "hell?"

Verses 7-8—Man can do very wonderful things, in training animals and controlling the forces of nature, but cannot "tame" the human tongue, nor destroy its poison; to whom may we apply to have this effectually done?

Verses 9-12—If a man uses his tongue both for bad and for good, for "blessing and cursing," does this not stamp him as a rank hypocrite?

Is it possible for a person with an evil tongue, to be at the same time well pleasing to God?

Lesson for Sunday, June 13th,1909. Heroes of Faith. Heb. 11 : 1-40.

PILES FOR FOUR YEARS

Only those who suffer from Piles can know the agony, the burning, throbbing, shooting, stabbing pains which the ailment causes, and the way it wrecks the sufferer's life.

Zam-Buk is blessed by thousands who used to suffer from piles, but whom it has cured. One such grateful person is Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, of Greenwood Avenue, Toronto. She says:—"For four long years I suffered acutely from bleeding piles. During that time I spent an immense amount of money on 'remedies' and doctor's prescriptions but got no ease. Zam-Buk was different to everything else I had tried, and it cured me. I am grateful for the cure, and as I have never had piles once since, I know the cure is permanent."

Another thankful woman is Mrs. E. A. Gardiner, of Catalina, Trinity Bay. She says:—"In my case, Zam-Buk effected a wonderful cure. For twelve years I had been troubled with blind, bleeding, and protruding piles. I had been using various kinds of ointments, etc., but never came across anything to do me good until I tried Zam-Buk, which cured me. That this may be the means of helping some sufferers from piles to try Zam-Buk, is the wish of one who has found great relief."

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal balm and should be in every home. Cures cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, ulcers, blood-poisoning, prairie itch, sunburn, blisters, sore feet, summer sores, and all diseases and injuries of the skin, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c. box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

School examination is the bugbear of scholars. It is the nightmare that disturbs their sleep, and the spectre that haunts them by day.

School examinations. The day is coming when they are to be examined on their studies. Sundry questions are to be asked them. A multitude of interrogations hurled at them.

Examination day stands before the average student with about the same appalling terror that execution day does before the sentenced prisoner.

According to our notion, school examinations are not only futile and foolish, but fateful. They do nothing but harm. Each recitation should constitute all the examination necessary. Scholars ought to be rated by their deportment only. The deportment should be made to include not only their behavior, their manners, but also the kind and accuracy of their answers to questions during their daily recitations.

Each recitation should consist daily of conversation and talk on the part of the scholar. He should be made to say things, or write things, concerning his lessons. Reading aloud, reciting verbatim from his text-book, or giving in substance the meaning of his text-books, or writing short essays on the subject of his lessons. These should largely constitute his work.

During recitation the teacher is able to find out whether or not the scholar is interested in his studies. Everything should be done to encourage interest.

If, after weeks or months or patient experiement, the teacher finds some scholars who are absolutely uninterested, who constantly impede the progress of the other scholars, such scholars should be weeded out from the class, and put in a class by themselves. Every school consisting of several rooms, including several hundred scholars, ought to have a class or room where scholars recite who have shown themselves to be unfit to recite with other scholars who are interested in their studies.

But no special examinations should be held. To undertake to give students a rating based on school examinations is not only misleading but disastrous to both scholar and teacher. Looking over examination papers constitutes a large part of the teacher's work today. It is the most disagreeable, and plodding, and thankless task that is before the teacher. It is all needless and foolish. Nothing of the kind should happen. The school is made to consist in this day so largely of an ordeal, a desperate attempt to get something or other besides the learning which the text-book contains.

The school should be made a place where ideas are sought, and no other reward or punishment save the success or the failure in obtaining the ideas. No degrees should be given. All such papers as diplomas and certificates are pernicious. Some scholars can glibly answer questions on examination day who have only a very superficial and smattering knowledge of the subject. Other scholars who really understand the subject, and have tried very hard to comprehend the studies assigned them, pass poor examinations. Many a man who has failed to graduate in college has gone out into the world and made the best sort of a student and business man. Many another man who has passed easily his examination, has never had the slightest interest in his studies, either before or after college days.

If all examinations and class day programs and graduation exercises could be stricken out of the college and school activities a great burden would be lifted off our educational institutions.

These so-called tests and examinations are not tests at all. They are miserable, mechanical performances that intimidate the good scholars, interfering with their progress, and stimulate the bad scholars to deceit and all sorts of trickery.

Every boy and girl should be given the opportunity to acquire an education from our free institutions of learning. Should be given an opportunity. That is all. They should not be driven by truant laws, or forced by special examinations, or coaxed by monthly grade marks, or hired by certificates or diplomas. Nothing of this sort should happen. They should be given an opportunity, encouraged in every possible way, and then left to themselves.

At the close of a school or college career a certificate should be issued to each one, the number of years he has attended. This certificate will be useful in showing how their time had been spent. But the certificate or diploma should not pretend to express any opinion as to their fitness to follow any profession, or their proficiency in any sort of scholarship. All such papers do positive harm. They hold up before the student's mind a wrong incentive for study. They constitute misleading documents as to the acquisitions which any man may have.

There are a great many men in this world that have several college diplomas that scarcely know enough to keep out of the fire, or go in when it rains. They have no sense at all. And there are lots of men and women in this world who never saw the inside of a college, who never attended six months school of any sort, but are well read, well bred, and in every way proficient to follow the profession or position they occupy.

There would be a great deal more study, and a great deal less chicanery going on in our educational institutions if examination days and examination papers were banished from the land. They are a relic of the barbarism of the past, and have no place among real men and women who ask no other recognition in this world except what they actually earn.

To send a man out into the world with a diploma is not only to give him unnatural advantages over others, but is to fill him with a conceit that is absolutely without foundation. Let every man's work decide his worth. Let every man's ability determine where he belongs. Take the sheepskins, with their gilt seals and signatures of a long list of stupid professors, take these documents and make a bonfire of them, that we may have an everlasting riddance of all such abominations.

Schools and colleges are all right. But school examinations and diplomas are a mildew that is creeping into them, nearly destroying all the good that these admirable institutions are doing.

Christie's Biscuits—How their quality is guarded—

The Butter Tester Says:

"I'M A CRANK about butter. I've got to be.

"I realize thoroughly that Quality has built up this big business, and made 'Christie' a household word from ocean to ocean—first of all, Quality in the butter, flour, milk and other raw materials.

"I've been testing butter for thirty years, and I've never heard of any other firm exercising the same care as Christie, Brown & Co. do.

"All our butter is purchased by a well-known butter authority. He buys for export from the best creameries in Canada, and sends the pick to us.

"You would be surprised if you knew what butter—good butter, according to all ordinary standards—we reject. Most of it ninety-nine people out of a hundred would taste and accept as excellent table quality.

"It's not a matter of price with us. We pay a little better than the best market price, and the butter must be in accordance.

"We have a high standard for butter, the same as for all other raw materials. Anything that doesn't measure right up to that standard is rejected.

"The basis of the delicious goodness which you enjoy in Christie's Biscuits is the unvarying goodness of the raw materials that go into them.

"When I see how our orders for butter have to be steadily increased, to keep pace with the demand for Christie's Biscuits, I have the best kind of evidence that our jealous guarding of Christie Quality brings results."

You can taste Quality in every morsel of Christie's Biscuits. Sold in bulk, by the pound, or in moisture and dust-proof packages,

ELSE TEARS MUST COME.

"Now, this," she had said as she presented it, "will break. Take the best care of it, but when it breaks, don't cry."

The child agreed, and welcomed the gift with loving hands. His adviser sat down forthwith to meditate upon the experiences which had taught her that all things break, but we must not cry.

The toy was a beautiful black pig—a jewel of a pig, so lifelike and saucy of countenance that its jolly fat face beguiled all who looked at it into an answering smile. The child loved the pig for itself, and that entirely outside of the interesting fact that by removing its head you came upon an amazing Ali Baba cave, full of sweets.

The days went by and the child and the pig had many a pleasant game. Under various chairs the pig lived as in lofty and latticed houses. Many times did it escape into the forbidden meadow of the surrounding carpet. At night it was tethered, dog-like, by a ribbon to one leg of the child's bed. The boy would awake and look down instantly to see if it had broken loose in the night, but the pig would smile more broadly and wink an eye, as if to say it knew better than to be caught in the act.

Coming in at twilight one day, as was her wont, to talk to the solitary little fellow, the donor of the gift found the boy sitting in his small chair with folded hands and a chastened countenance. She asked no questions, for this was a veritable man-child, who would brook no importunity, but would tell right willingly in his own good time.

So she kissed him, and laid aside her wraps, and asked him if she should make him some music. He nodded, yet his eyes regarded her hungrily. In transit across the room to the piano came a patter of childish feet, and small arms clasped tight about her knees.

"The pig," said the child, looking up with tragic eyes, "is broke!"

"Oh, my!" said the woman.

"But I did not cry," said the child, with working face. "I did not cry."

Very suddenly the woman found tears in her own eyes, threatening to overflow.

"You said it would, and I was very careful," said the boy, "but it was on the window-sill—looking out, you know. Somehow the window came down, and it broke three legs."

"A one-legged pig!" cried the woman gaily, winking away the tears. "Why, that must be a very funny pig!"

"Yes, yes," said the child.

The woman sat down at the piano, without daring to offer more sympathy. She played very softly, and the child ran and brought the pig and tenderly, tenderly, laid it on its side on a sofa cushion and regarded it as a mother would regard her dead child. The woman looked on with swelling throat.

The pig could not stand—it had one leg. Lying on its side, it looked maimed and suffering. Softly and more softly did the onlooker touch the keys, and one big tear splashed upon the yellowed ivories as she watched this small picture of love and its sorrow. The set and tragic child's face, looking down on its heart's beloved with silent, unavailing sorrow, with yearning, aching heart, seemed to say it could bear no more. Hurriedly he ran and brought a newspaper, and with clumsy, nervous tenderness wrapped it forever away from sight.

"Put it away!" cried the child, ruthlessly breaking into the melody. "Put it away and let me forget it, so I will surely not cry."

The woman arose and laid it away upon the highest, most inaccessible shelf of the bookcase; and again sat down to meditate upon that wisdom which must put dear broken things away, else tears must come.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

From Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats and Hoarseness by Using Hyomei

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house a week swallowing nauseating drugs.

Why not avoid all this? Why not relieve your cold in five minutes? Why not cure it over night? You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis and asthma.

William Guest of Ayr, Ont., says: "Booth's Hyomei has proven to be a most satisfactory treatment for nasal catarrh and bronchial trouble. I have doctored considerably for these troubles, and conscientiously say that nothing ever used has given me such quick and lasting benefit as this remedy. I have found it especially good for cold in the head and cough. I am very glad to endorse Hyomei as an article of uncommon merit."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge,allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei Outfit costs $1.00 and T. Stevenson will refund your money if it fails to cure.

LAWSUIT FOR 18 CENTS

The bad results of appealing to the courts to settle difference were again exemplified at the assizes at Woodstock, in the action of Young vs. Thompson, both farmers residing in East Oxford. The action was in connection with a field of oats, and several rods of fence, which the defendent had moved a few feet sideways. The land in question was about ten rods long and twelve feet wide. Practically the case resolved itself into a dispute regarding the location of a line fence. The value of the land in dispute amounted to about 18 cents, but the principle of justice was deeprooted in each of the litigants, and the case went merrily on despite the advice of Justice Clute to settle. After the evidence was heard the judge decided that the plaintiff had not sufficiently established his claim, and dismissed the action, each party to pay his own costs. The costs in the case will amount to several hundred dollars, whereas the actual amount involved was only about 18 cents.

AFTER HETTY'S FORTUNE

Howland Family of San Francisco Will Push Claim to a Finish

San Francisco, May 26.—At a conference of the Howland family held at Napa yesterday, it was decided to enter a fight to secure the fortune of Hetty Green on the death of the great woman financier.

Mrs. Green received her fortune on the death of Silvia Anna Howland. One will left Mrs. Green one half of the Howland estate of $5,000,000. The other will gave Mrs. Green the use of one half of the estate during her lifetime, bequeathing it on Mrs. Green's death to the Howland heirs. The first will was probated, but the Howland's now hold the second testament the proper one.

W. J. McFadden, an old Allisto boy, who has been in the drug business in Orillia for some years, has been appointed choirmaster and organist of St. James' Church, Orillia.

A sad accident happened on Wed., May 19th, at Ernest Anderson's, north of Honeywood. John Lawrence, farmer of Blackbank, while engaged in taking down an old barn, was struck upon the back by a falling plate which crushed his spine so badly that the lower half of his body became instantly paralyzed. He was taken to his home where his condition was found to be a more serious one.

The Nerves Not Understood

By most people and by many doctors—Hence their treatments fail.

It is not so very many years since diseases of the nerves were attributed to the presence of evil spirits and more recently sufferers from nervous derangements have been told that they only imagined they are sick.

Now the very best authorities claim as did Dr. Chase that the only way to cure diseases of the nerves is to make the blood rich, red and nutritious that it build up the wasted nerve cells by its treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. W. R. Sutherland, St. Andrews, Man., writes: "In 1903 I was stricken with paralysis, fell helplessly to the floor and had to be carried to bed. The doctors pronounced it a bad case and I had no power in my tongue and left leg. For six months I lay in that condition without benefit from the doctors' prescriptions. My husband advised me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by use of this treatment all the symptoms disappeared. I can now walk plainly, my leg is all right and I can do all my own housework." 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE SANGUINARY ISLANDS.

A splendid thing for the body is stretching. When you first wake up in the morning take a good long stretch. Stretch the hands as far out sideways as possible. Then stretch them over the head as far as you can reach and at the same time stretch the feet downward as far as you can. Raise the feet and stretch upward just as high as you can and then lower the feet and legs very slowly.

When you get out of bed raise your arms over your head and standing on tiptoe see how near you can reach the ceiling. Then walk about the room while in this position. Stand on the right foot and stretch the right arm forward and upward as high as you can, while at the same time the left foot is raised from the floor and stretched outward, and the left hand is stretched backward and downward. This is a fine exercise for the whole body and is especially good for the waist and hips, making them firm and strong. Standing on the left foot this exercise can be reversed.

If you have been sitting in the same position for a long time reading, studying, writing or sewing, and the muscles have become tired and cramped, the best thing to do is to get up and stretch. Stretch the arms upward and outward and forward and backward. Lift the shoulders as high as you can and drop them. Expand the chest and breathe deeply. Or, sitting in the chair stretch the hands upward, lift the feet from the floor and stretch them forward as far as possible. Anyway so you give the muscles a good vigorous stretch.

When one is very tired there is nothing more restful than stretching the muscles and then relaxing. Stretch the arms the legs, the whole body and then completely relax. Stretching and energizing the muscles make it possible to relax more completely.

If you have never tried stretching when you are tired, just try it once and see if you do not find it very restful. Stretching relieves the tension of the body, gives strength and tone to the muscles, accelerates the circulation, and causes one to breathe more deeply. Women who wear tight corsets or tight bands cannot take these stretching exercises while they have on their tight clothes. But at least the first thing in the morning, or after undressing at night, they should give the poor, corset-cramped muscles a good stretch. If they would follow up these steetching exercises every day, gradually leaving off the corset, they would soon have waist muscles strong and firm enough to hold themselves up without the use of the corset, and after they once experience the joy of a free, strong body they will not want to wear tight corsets again.

When you wake up in the morning try these stretching exercises. The next time you are very tired see what stretching will do for you. If you do not find that stretching will invigorate and rest you, put strength and energy into your body, we would like to know about it.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

G. W. Smalley, is contributing a series of articles to the New York Tribune, covering some of his recollections of the Civil War period and before. In telling one of his experiences during the civil war, he says: "One incident I may note, as an example of what may happen to a general who neglects the most elementary rules and precautions of war. At the end of a day's march, at sundown but the heavens still light, General Pope bethought himself that he should like to see what the country ahead of him looked like. With his staff and a body-guard of some sixty sabres, he rode up a low hill with a broad crest, open ground about it for a hundred yards, and beyond that in front a thick far spreading forest line. General Pope and his staff dismounted. The cavalry were ordered to dismount and loosen their saddle girths. Just as this operation had been completed there came from the wood beyond the open ground a rifle volley. As we stood between the sunset and the enemy we were a pretty fair target. There was no time for orders. Everybody scrambled into his saddles as best he could, and away we went. But the firing woke up the advance guard of our army, and they also began firing. It soon appeared that General Pope had unwittingly passed outside his own lines, so that, as we rode away from the fire of the Rebels, we rode into the fire of our own troops. It was hot enough but luckily did not last long. The hill partly protected us from the sharpshooters in gray, and our fire was silenced after a moment. But the horses were well frightened. It was impossible to pull up. We scattered and the horses went on for a mile or so. I never before so much respected the intelligence of that animal. There was nothing to do but sit down in the saddle, but the horse never made a mistake at full speed over an unknown country, stiff with fences and brooks, and nobody came to grief, nor, which seems more wonderful, was anybody hit by the bullets. A good many remarks were made which hit General Pope."

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by T. Stevenson.

WHAT FARMER MAC SEES AND HEARS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, May 20.—The closing days of the session were busy ones, for the fag-ends of a great deal of outstanding business had to be disposed of and even to the last, members were determined to speak. The greater part of the time was taken up with the voting of supplies that had not passed earlier in the session and several members of the Opposition had questions to ask and criticisms to offer. And then they would suspend talking for a time and hundreds of thousands of dollars—sometimes millions—would be voted in as many minutes. Late Tuesday night, or rather early on Wednesday morning, the outstanding votes for penitentiaries were taken up and this gave Mr. Taylor, of New Westminster, an opportunity of bringing up once more the case of "Bill" Miner, the escaped convict. Mr. Aylesworth Minister of Justice, made a lengthy defence of the officials of the Department, but he spoke to an almost empty House and of the few members present most of them sat at their desks with bowed heads fast asleep.

When the House met on Wednesday forenoon the principal outstanding business consisted of concurrence which is largely of a routine nature. Each item of supply passed at the various sittings of the Committee of Supply has to be concurred in by a resolution with the Speaker in the chair. The concurring goes on in a monotonous fashion for as a rule all the objections of the Opposition have been stated in committee.

Concurrence concluded, the supply bill based on the resolution is passed and sent up to the Senate where it can be rejected or passed but not amended. It is always passed, for the Senate would not dare to stop the supplies even should they wish to, which could scarcely be the case now with a Liberal majority in the Upper Chamber.

At one o'clock the business of both Houses was disposed of and an adjournment took place until three o'clock when His Excellency came down to prorogue Parliament. Both Houses met in their respective chambers. As soon as the Governor-General was in the Senate Chamber the Usher-of-the-Black Red proceeded to the Commons and there delivered the message that His Excellency required their immediate presence in the Senate Chamber. Headed by the Speaker, the Commons proceeded to the upper chamber, where they found standing room below the bar. Royal assent was given to the bills, and then His Excellency read the speech from the throne thanking Parliament for the diligence they had shown in the transaction of the session's business, after which the proclamation proroguing Parliament was read and then the session was at an end.

The prorogation ceremony was attended by scores of ladies from the official society of Ottawa, and around the vice-regal throne stood cabinet ministers in their Privy Council uniforms and the military members of the Governor-General's staff. Seated around the clerk's table were the officials of the Senate and judges of the Supreme Court in their scarlet robes. It was a brilliant ceremony and formed a fitting closing to the session of Canada's high court of Parliament.

The most important piece of legislation that passed the House during the busy closing days was the Insurance bill, amending and consolidating the law respecting this important matter. The House passed the bill with scant consideration, but there it stands for the Senate did not have time to fully consider it. The bill will have to be taken up next session.

A corner of the curtain that covers what is known as the Internal Economy of the House, as Parliament likes to call the system under which it spends money on itself, was raised during the closing days of the session, and the peep the people got behind it showed that the parliamentary household, like most others, has its little unpleasantnesses, its little frictions and grievances. Lieut.-Col. H. R. Smith, Sergeant-at-Arms, is a gentleman born to official life. His father who was a Knight, was Sergeant-at-Arms in the Assembly of United Canada, and the son was appointed Deputy Sergeant to the House of Commons in 1872, and promoted twenty years later to his present position. He, therefore, has a long official career behind him. It is also an honorable career, and as useful as the position permits. The Sergeant-at-Arms has his uses. For instance, he would have to eject a member if he refused to obey the Speaker; if members came to blows he would have to restore peace; if the House ordered the arrest of any one he would have to execute the order and safeguard the prisoner. These are some of his important duties—but he is never called upon to perform them. He is also one of the ornaments of Parliament, a part of its trappings, a contributor to that dignity which hedges not only a king but also the legislature of a nation. He bears the mace before the Speaker; he removes it from the table when the House goes into Committee of the Whole; he replaces it on the table when the Speaker resumes the chair; he issues cards of admittance to the reserved galleries, and under the Speaker he is the guardian of the precincts of the Commons. For the discharge of all those duties—and never were they discharged better than they were by the genial gentleman now holding the post—He is paid annually $3,300. But he is not paid wholly in money, for $800 of that sum he receives in the form of use and occupation of certain rooms in the basement of the building in which he resides during the session. His cash salary is therefore only $2,500 and it has stood at that figure for many a year, although the salaries of other members of the household have been increased.

Mr. Foster, who brought up the matter, thought that unfair. He also thought it strange that the Sergeant should be charged for his rooms, while the housekeeper and head of the messengers, who is a subordinate of the Sergeant, should occupy his rooms rent free, and occupy no less than eight at that.

It was suggested that the Sergeant could be paid more money if the rent of his rooms were reduced; but the Government would not hear of that, "My information was," said Mr. Pugsley, "that the apartments were fairly worth $800 a year."

Mr. Fielding suggested that apartments in the building be reserved only for the Speaker. Give the Sergeant the $800 in cash and let him find quarters elsewhere.

To this Mr. Maclean pointed out a jocular objection. "The Sergeant-at-Arms," said he, "is the jailor of Parliament. His jail is within his quarters, and the jailor must live within his jail. He could not perform the functions of his office and be custodian of the tower, if he were away from the building."

There was much more talking but nothing came of it all; and so Lieut.-Col. Smith goes on in receipt of an apparent salary of $3,300 of which $800 is in the form of rent.

The legislation as finally amended and passed by both Houses for the protection of level railway crossings is much less stringent and probably less effectual than would have been the bill introduced by Mr. Lancaster early in the session and carried through the Commons. It leaves something for Mr. Lancaster to accomplish in the future, but for what has been done he deserves the credit, for it was he who brought up the matter many sessions ago and who, in spite of rebuffs, and defeats never deserted the cause. The new enactment will go on the statute book as an amendment to the general Railway Act. The provisions respecting the protection of level crossings were explained by Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, in these words:

"At any crossing where an accident has occurred through which life has been lost or serious injury inflicted, no train shall run over such crossing at a greater speed than ten miles an hour until protection has been afforded according to the direction of the Board. When the Board has given an order for the protection of a crossing, trains shall not run over that crossing at a greater speed than ten miles an hour until such an order has been complied with."—Family Herald & Weekly Star.

A COUNTRY RIDE.

Let us be going, O let us be going
Off and away where the long road is showing
Like a brown ribbon unrolled, up and down.
Farther and farther away from the town—
Sweetheart of mine, come let us be going.

Let us be going—the warm winds are blowing
Fresh from the forests. The sunrise is showing
Like a rose-garden just over the hill,
Everywhere glad-hearted bobolinks trill,
Everywhere sweetest of sweet things are growing.

By sunny pastures where cattle are lowing,
By the hay fields glad and green for the mowing,
Past the pine woods, wet and fragrant, and then
Up hill and down hill, and up hill again,
On with a freedom and joy past all knowing.

Let us be going, O let us be going—
Weariness, dreariness, back of us throwing—
Out of the shadows away and away,
Into the daffodil depths of the day
Sweetheart of mine, come let us be going.

ARE A FRIEND TO THE FISHERMAN.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mr. C. Williams' Rheumatism.

He Took the Terrible Disease in Time and a Single Box Made Him a Well Man.

South Ingonish, Cape Breton, May 31st (Special)—How easily and quickly Dodd's Kidney Pills banish Rheumatism and other symptoms of Kidney Disease is well known in the case of Michael C. Williams, a fisherman living in this place.

"My kidney disease started from a strain," Mr. Williams says, "and I suffered from it for about three months. I had backache, stiffness in the joints and Rheumatism. When I got up in the morning I had a bad taste in my mouth; I perspired freely with the least exertion, and I was always tired and nervous.

"One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me and I believe they will cure others who are suffering from Kidney Disease."

If you have any two of the symptoms mentioned by Mr. Williams you may be sure of two things. One is that your kidneys are sick, and the other that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure you.

Merriton Girl Meets With Serious Accident—Is Likely to Recover

St. Catharines, Ont., May 23.—Marie, the six-year-old daughter of William Bradley, Merriton, met with a serious accident Saturday afternoon. She had just come out of a confectionery store, and was crossing the street car tracks to her home, when a trolley car came along. It is said the car was clear of the tracks, but became confused and stepped back, and the car struck her, crushing her left foot so badly that it had to be amputated below the knee, and also three toes on her right foot. The child is in the hospital here, and although seriously injured, will probably recover.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets

TEMPERANCE.

Temperance The Foundation of National Prosperity.

In the course of an address delivered in London recently, Sir Victor Horsley, the distinguished British physiciam, said they were all citizens of a great Empire, but it had only recently occurred to many that to maintain that Empire they must individually study the conditions of national life. It was no longer a question of political economy: It was the question of seeing how far every member of the race could live healthily and work happily. The report of the House of Commons Committee on physical decadence had made the matter one of vital importance, and there were two things to recognize—the housing of the population and the evils of alcohol—which were salient features in social reform. If he could only make people see, as he hoped they would be able to see, that Temperance was the foundation of national prosperity and efficiency, he would have done some share of his work as a citizen.

In the hospitals the cost of alcohol had decreased from £8,000 in 1869 to £3,000 in 1902, and in the L.C.C. asylums, although the number of patients had vastly increased, its consumption had decreased also. This showed what was thought of it as a drug.

The income of the nation had risen 50 per cent. in ten years, but could they say it was wisely spent when they saw that 40 millions were spent on corn and no less than 160 millions on alcohol? When money was thrown away like this, was it fair to turn round and complain of commercial depression?

Statements that they had reached the limits of taxation were founded on sheer ignorance. Would higher taxation reduce the number of public-houses? Most certainly it would do so, as he had seen in Canada. He did not believe in disinterested management nor in municipalization, but that from the moral, economic, and physiological aspects the better life of the nation demanded the disuse of alcohol.

The annual congress of the Irish National teachers was opened in Galway on April.

ORANGEMEN IN CONCLAVE

Grand Lodge Holds Annual Meeting in Peterboro.

Grand Master Urges Concerted Action by Protestants on Both Sides of the Atlantic.

There were fully three hundred delegates present at the annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of British North America in Peterboro last week. Prominent members of the Order were present from each of the nine provinces of Canada and from the dependency of Newfoundland. At the opening session on Wednesday afternoon Mayor Rush and Ald. J. J. Turner welcomed the brethren on behalf of the city. The Grand Master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., delivered a lengthy address, in which he suggested consideration of how Protestants in Canada and Great Britain could more effectually join their forces "in trying to prevent the accomplishment of Rome's designs in this matter, for assuredly if this is not done, the day is not far distant when the oppression of Rome will be felt in the land and the fight for freedom will have to be made over again." The matter referred to was the bill introduced into the Imperial House of Commons by Mr. John E. Redmond for the removal of Roman Catholic disabilities.

"I am of the opinion," said Dr. Sproule, "that the bill will not pass this session, for even though it might be pushed through the House of Commons, I am firmly convinced that the House of Lords will not allow it to pass. But the encouragement which they have received, and the measure of success which has attended their efforts, will no doubt induce them to renew the fight at the next session of Parliament. In the meantime we ought to prepare to make our influence felt conjointly with the other Protestant bodies as vigorously as possible."

Continuing the Grand Master noted that, "In Ireland, as well as other parts of the world, the aggressiveness of Rome is becoming more and more troublesome every year, and she is evidently making headway there."

In Canada, he observed, the Educational system seemed "particularly distasteful" to the Roman Catholic Church. Consequently she was "using every endeavor to discredit it and break it down." In this connection he referred to the Racine and McGarry bills, which he said would no doubt be re-introduced in the Legislature next year. "Both," he said, "were for the purpose of buttressing and strengthening the Separate Schools and securing larger financial aid to them."

"The last notable instance of a desire to discredit the Public School system was in an amendment to the land laws of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, whereby the proceeds of the sale of school lands, which heretofore were required to be used for the maintenance and support of Public Schools, may now be shared by the Separate Schools and any other systems of schools established under legal authority. As the amended law reads the word 'public' is dropped out, and it is for such schools as are established under the authority of law. It is going a long way towards breaking up what has heretofore been known as the National Schools of our country.

The notable feature of this clause was the way in which it was drafted and the foot note attached to it. It was done so adroitly as to escape notice of those who were watching the bill when in committee of the whole House, and being considered clause by clause. As soon as my attention was drawn to it, I introduced a bill to restore the word 'public' before the word 'schools,' but I regret to say that owing to the way the order paper was kept loaded up with bills before it this one was never reached during the session."

The report of Grand Secretary William Lee showed a net increase in membership of 1426.

Sixty-five new primary lodges were organized during the year. Three County Lodges were organized, viz.: Okanagan County, British Columbia; N. Clarke Wallace County, Manitoba, and Battle River County, Alberta, and an application has been received for a new County Lodge in Ontario West to be known as the County Lodge of North Nipissing.

Three new District Lodges have been organized, viz: West Cumberland District, Nova Scotia; City of Peterboro', No. 3, Ontario East, and the Native District Lodge, Ontario West.

Five Royal Scarlet Dispensations were issued, viz.: County Saskatoon, Saskatchewan; District of Osprey, Ontario West, and L.O.L.'s. No. 1558, St. Philip's; No. 1855 Brittannia Cove; No. 1948 La Scie, Newfoundland.

Grand Lodge adopted the report of the Correspondence Committee, recommending that petitions be forwarded to each community for the purpose of being signed and sent to the Imperial Parliament protesting against any interference with the Coronation Declaration.

The report also commended the Legislature of Ontario for having withdrawn, or allowed to drop, the Racine and McGarry Bills, and recommending the same action be taken in case they are reintroduced next year. The committee also protested against dropping the word "public" in connection with Eastern school laws.

Appropriations of $100 were made to the True Blue Orphanage at Picton, and to the Orange Orphanage in Nova Scotia.

The committee appointed to consider the revision of the secret work of the Order advised that much of this secret work, such as passes and signs, be abolished. A lengthy discussion took place upon this point, but the older members wished to retain all the original forms, and the report of the committee was defeated.

Most of Thursday afternoon was spent in discussing the restoration of two degrees, eliminated in 1907 by the Grand Lodge at Vancouver. The degrees are the purple and blue, and it was decided by a large majority that they should be restored to the ritual.

J. A. Duff, general agent of the benefit fund of the Order, was made an honorary member of Grand Lodge, a very rare distinction.

W. H. G. Armstrong, county master of Peterborough, presented a resolution to Grand Lodge protesting against the description of Orangeism as given in the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The description, it is claimed, is a very grotesque and unreasonable one. The Grand Lodge passed a resolution embodying Mr. Armstrong's protest, and an endeavor will be made to have the description rectified.

All the Grand Officers were re-elected for 1909 as follows:—

Grand Master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, Markdale, Ont.; Deputy Grand Master, Lt.-Col. J. H. Scott, Walkerton, Ont.; Provincial Grand Masters, Ontario West, E. T. Essery, London, Ont.; Ontario East, George Boyce, Merivale, Ont.; Quebec, Jas. C. Singleton, Montreal; New Brunswick, Rev. R. G. Fulton, Woodstock, N.B.; Nova Scotia, Major H. J. Harrison, Maccan, N.S.; Manitoba, Thomas Sharoe, Winnipeg; Newfoundland, Capt. A. Kean, St. John's, Nfld.; Prince Edward Island, Rev. J. McLean, Mt. Herbert; British Columbia, D. C. Lee, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, W. J. Parkhill, Midland, Ont.; Grand Director of Ceremonies, Capt. T. G. Wallace, Woodbridge, Ont.; Deputy Grand Secretary, Wm. Fitzgerald, Toronto; Deputy Grand Treasurer, H. C. Hocken, Toronto; Auditors, J. H. Delamere, Minden, Ont., and Jos. E. Thompson, Toronto; Deputy Grand Lecturers, Newfoundland, Thomas F. McGill, Deloraine; Saskatchewan, John Wilson, Caron, Sask.; Alberta, A. R. Carmichael, Calgary; British Columbia, W. E. Dunlop, New Westminster.

DIVISION COURT CASES.

A number of cases were disposed of in the Division Court on Tuesday. The more important were:—

Henderson vs. King—T. J. Henderson sued W. P. and Chas. King for $11, the price of some bolts and washers supplied for the purpose of strengthening the walls of their building on Broadway. The evidence was voluminous and very conflicting. Judgment against W. P. King for $5. Non-suit as against Chas. King. J. L. Island for plff; C. R. McKeown for deft.

The Green, McBride Co. vs. Daniels.—The defendant, Police Constable Fred Daniels, of Toronto, was sued on a promissory note for $27.40. Defendant, who appeared in person, urged several defences. He contended he had paid money on the original account that had not been credited and that he had also paid money on the original note, of which the note sued on was a renewal. Judgment for the plaintiff. C. R. McKeown for plff.

Kelly vs. White—Jos. J. Kelly sued Robt. J. White, of Shelburne, for $36.34, the amount of a number of accounts. Action was undefended. Judgment for plaintiff, who was represented by A. A. Hughson.

McQuarrie vs. Bennett—Alex. McQuarrie, a farm laborer, sued Wm. Bennett, of Mono, for $48 wages. After the case had been in progress for some time it was discovered that the plaintiff's principal witness, although subpoenaed in the usual way, was not present. The trial was therefore adjourned. A. A. Hughson for plff.; C. R. McKeown for deft.

Welwood vs. Rawn—This was another action for wages. Norman Welwood sued William Rawn, a Caledon farmer, for $25, one month's wages. Defendant disputed the claim on the ground that he had engaged Welwood for eight months. Plaintiff contended that under his agreement he had the privilege of leaving at the end of any month in case of dissatisfaction. The evidence did not satisfy the Court that this was the case and judgment was given for the defendant with costs. A. A. Hughson for plff.; C. R. McKeown for deft.

O'Flynn vs. Garvey—This was also an action for wages. Michael O'Flynn, a Longford Irishman with a brogue as suggestive as his name, sued Patrick Garvey for $77. Plaintiff and defendant were the only witnesses. Judgment for plaintiff for $48 and costs. J. L. Island for plff.; C. R. McKeown for deft.

LAUREL.

Rev. G. W. Hewitt, of Orangeville, supplied for the Rev. J. R. Bell at Black's Corners and Laurel on Sunday, May 30.

There are many rumors of garden parties from neighboring districts. Surely we will have one at least at Laurel.

Laurel and surrounding country is rejoicing in having a new "seven by nine" depot here on the C. P. R. It will need to be carefully labelled in order to prevent the mistake of thinking it is a box car.

Laurel branch of the Woman's Institute will be held in the Presbyterian Church here, on Friday evening, June 4th, commencing at 8 o'clock. Miss Gray, of Toronto, who is widely known as a forceful and able speaker will address the meeting. There will also be addresses and music by local talent. The meeting is entirely free. All are welcome.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS.

Now that the factory season is getting into full swing, farmers are wondering how the cows will do this year. Cows are expected to make some profit. Great expectations are not always realized, and if pasture is poor, how is the milk flow to be kept up? Happy the man who has provided for a supply of green feed, and who has a silo for summer feeding.

Some check should be kept on the yield of each cow. If the milk is weighed on only 3 days a month and samples tested once a month, then the owner will know very closely which are the heaviest producers. If weights are taken at every milking any sudden variation will be immediately observed, steps can then be taken to remove the cause. If a record is kept of the feed, the most profitable cows can be detected, and some that might produce more if fed better will be given the opportunity.

This is what members of the cow testing associations are doing, studying each individual in the herd so as to make sure that each single cow kept gives aprofit. This is evidence of good business management. No one wants to harbour a cow that is incapable of making a good profit. Does each one of your cows pay? Do you know that she does? Guess work won't do these days

Record blanks are supplied free on application to the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa. Many men since commencing to record are now receiving $60 per cow when they used to get but $40, because they know which are the economical producers. It certainly does pay to test cows.

The Emperor of Austria has sent his Golden Jubilee Cross to be worn by John MacDevetts, J.P., the Consul at Derry. This is the second decoration conferred by his Majesty on Mr. MacDevetts, who eleven years ago received another, and was given permission by the late Queen Victoria to wear it.

THE REEVESHIP FIGHT.

Riddell and Hewson are the Candidates.

The meeting to nominate candidates for the reeveship of Orangeville, made vacant a couple of weeks ago through the unseating of Reeve Riddell, was held in the Town Hall at 10 o'clock Monday forenoon. There were probably one hundred people present when the time for receiving nominations closed at eleven o'clock. On account of the nearness of the noon hour and the small attendance, it was decided not to hold the public meeting until Tuesday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. Mr. A. A. Hughson, the Returning Officer, who presided, received the following nominations:—

Thos. J. Henderson, proposed by Thos. S. Hewson, seconded by Geo. Ellison.

Wm. Martin, proposed by Alex. Hughson, seconded by G. Littlejohn.

Dr. James Henry, proposed by Wm. Martin, seconded by John Cruikshank.

J. L. Island, proposed by John Gray, seconded by G. Littlejohn.

J. R. Gillespie, proposed by C. W. Watson, seconded by J. Foley.

W. H. Riddell, proposed by C. R. McKeown, seconded by A. Hill.

C. R. McKeown, proposed by D. A. Hogg, seconded by Dr. T. A. Carson.

J. N. Fish, proposed by Dr. G. H. Campbell, seconded by C. W. Watson.

James Lynn, proposed by Thos. S. Hewson, seconded by T. Henderson.

Dr. T. H. Henry, proposed by Thos J. Henderson, seconded by J. L. Island.

W. T. Bailey, proposed by J. A. Patterson, seconded by A. D. McKitrick.

The only candidates who have qualified are Dr. Riddell and Mr. Hewson, his unsuccessful opponent at the election last January. The contest will be keen, although it is generally conceded that Riddell will be reelected. A number of electors, who supported Hewson last January, make no secret of their intention to vote Riddell this time. There are others who will not vote at all. On the other hand the known changes from Riddell to Hewson could easily be counted on the fingers of one hand.

COURT OF REVISION.

Casket Factory Assessment Increased.

The Court of Revision met on Monday night and disposed of the appeals against the assessment roll. The members present were Coun. Tero, Chairman of the Court, Reeve Arnott and Couns. Appeals dismissed were:—A. Groskurth, Oliver Hayward, Jos. H. Hughes, Esther Reid.

D. McPherson and The Bell Telephone Co. were entered for $100 each for business assessment. J. C. Darraugh's assessment on his Broadway property was increased $100. W. M. Green, T. T. Paul, F. W. Ritchie, and W. T. Bailey were each assessed $100 for rooms. The C. P. R. assessment of $14,000 was increased to $14,650, which was last year's assessment. The Eckhardt Casket Company's assessment on the old casket factory on Second St. was increased $2800. M. Wilkins & Son were increased $100 for business assessment and Elmer Still was assessed an extra $100 on the law offices occupied by Mr. A. A. Hughson.

While the Court made a number of reductions these were fully offset by the increases and the total assessment remains practically unchanged.

COUNTY ORANGE LODGE.

Dufferin County L. O. L. held its semi-annual meeting on Tuesday with County Master J. L. Island presiding. In his address the County Master discussed at some length the proceedings at the meetings of the Provincial Grand Lodge and the Supreme Grand Lodge in St. Thomas and Peterboro' respectively. Mr. Island attended both meetings. The Masters of the various Districts gave interesting reports of the work and progress of the Order in their respective jurisdictions. An invitation was read inviting the lodges of this County to celebrate the 12th in Brampton. The matter was left in the hands of the primary lodges to go wherever they wish. Dr. A. J. Hunter, past County Master, gave an interesting address on his recent trip to the Old Country. His references to places visited in Ireland, that are inseparably associated with Orangeism and its early history, were particularly interesting.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETINGS

Special meetings of this Society will be held in the Library Auditorium, on Tuesday next, 8th inst, afternoon session commencing at 3 o'clock; evening session at 8 o'clock. Miss Gertrude Gray, of Toronto, will speak at each of these meetings, on subjects important to all interested in the welfare of our homes and country. Music will be furnished at the evening session, which is open to men. Admission free to all.

REMOVED TO ASYLUM.

Johnston Women Taken to Hamilton

Miss Johnston, an official of the Ontario Government, arrived in Orangeville last Wednesday evening for the purpose of having Mrs. Mary Johnston and her daughter, Ada, removed to the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane. Mrs. Johnston, her daughter and three sons have been confined in the county gaol here for the past month or longer awaiting the direction of the government. After the mother and daughter had been prepared for the journey on Thursday morning, Mrs. Johnston told the matron she was going back to the farm. When she was told she was to be taken to the asylum she threw off her bonnet and declared she would not leave the place. As she became violent it was found necessary to strap her before she could be taken to the bus that was in waiting to convey her to the station.

The Johnston men are still in the county gaol here. They seem quite satisfied with their quarters and are giving the gaol authorities very little trouble. It is rather uncertain just what disposition will be made of them. They are undoubtedly weak-minded, but are strong physically and are capable of doing a great deal of manual labor under proper supervision.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church will hold a social on Mrs. John Patterson's lawn on First St. on Monday night. An interesting programme of music, etc., will be provided. Admission 10c.

GARDEN PARTY ENGAGEMENTS

The Unique Orchestra and Concert Company is open for engagements for Garden Parties and other out door Entertainments. Complete or part programme of Vocal and Instrumental Music furnished. For dates and terms apply to Prof. C. Laugher, or at Banner Office. 2 mos.

DOG POISONER AT WORK.

On Sunday evening last "Polly", a valuable pitt terrier, the property of Mr. E. M. Burke, of Toronto, was poisoned by some miscreant, evidently with strychnine. The dog, which has been here for some time in charge of Mr. Peter Griggs, was quite a pet, and her loss is much regretted. There is as yet no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage.

CAMILLA GARDEN PARTY.

The annual garden party of St. Andrew's Church, Camilla, will be held on Mr. Oscar Banks' lawn on Friday evening, June 11th. An excellent programme is being prepared and will include recitations by Miss B. Towriss, Mrs. O. Banks and Mr. H. Forsyth; solos by Mr. Fred Falconer, Orangeville, selections by Camilla Male Quartette and other talent; music by Orangeville Citizens' Band and speeches by the local clergymen. There will also be a baseball match between Camilla and Mono Centre teams, Races and other amusements. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock. Admission, 25c.

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR.

Our citizens will have the unalloyed pleasure of hearing two band performances in the immediate future. The first open air concert of the season will be given by the boys in Alexandra Park, under the leadership of Bandmaster T. A. Wilson, on Friday evening next, followed by a musical melange on Monday night, after the ballots are counted, either at Dr. Riddell's emporium, Mill street, or if the fates are not propitious to that gentleman, and in case the ratepayers fail to exercise their usual good sense, in the immediate vicinity of the Zina Street residence of Mr. T. S. Hewson, his opponent for the unexpired term of the reeveship for the current year.

"An anxious Enquirer," desirous of ascertaining the exact location where it was most probable the proposed last named torchlight tattoo would eventuate interrogated one of the band veterans on the point. The musician, who is somewhat of a wit, and credited also with wisdom and accurate knowledge of the trend of municipal politics, facetiously and pointedly replied "Well you know, Hewson got his serenade last January, so it is up to the boys to play for the doctor on Monday night."

GOING TO REGINA.

Mr. J. N. Fish, one of Orangeville's leading barristers, will leave town shortly for Regina, where he has made arrangements to enter into a law partnership. Mr. Fish's partners in the Regina firm will be Hon. J. A. Calder, Provincial Treasurer, and Hon. A. Turgeon, Attorney General, in the Saskatchewan Government. Mr. Fish has been a useful and a public spirited citizen and his departure will mean a distinct loss to the town. The change, however, should prove advantageous from a business and professional standpoint, as Regina, which is a rapidly growing city and the capital of the large Province of Saskatchewan, offers a field and opportunities that do not present themselves here or for that matter in the average Ontario town.

MATINEE AT STANLEY PARK.

Stanley Park, the popular Erin summer resort, will be formally opened for the season on Friday afternoon. The Erin Driving Club will hold the first of a series of matinees on the track at the Park during the afternoon. Some good events are on the card and there should be some excellent sport. The Driving Club will hold several of these matinees during the season, one of them on Dominion Day, when a number of additional attractions will be provided. Wm. Hall is President and Ross Cameron Secretary of the Driving Club.

Miss Grace Taylor, Welland, won a fellowship at Bryn Mawr College, Philadelphia.

LANCASTER, ONT. CARRIED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Lancaster, Ont., Sept 16, 1908

I was a martyr for many years to that distressing complaint, chronic Constipation. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines without benefit and consulted physicians, but nothing did me any real good. Then I began to take "Fruit-a-tives," and these wonderful little fruit tablets entirely cured me.

At first, I took five tablets a day, but now I take only one tablet every two days. I am now entirely well, and thanks to "Fruit-a-tives," I give you permission to publish this testimonial.

(Madame) Zenophile Bonneville.

This is only one more link in the chain of proof that "Fruit-a-tives" never fail to cure Constipation or non-action of the bowels. 50c a box, or 6 for $2.50, or trial box 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

McMILLAN—RUDDY.

Two popular Orangeville young people, Mr. Will C. McMillan and Miss Ada Ethel Ruddy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruddy, were quietly married in St. Mark's Church at 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. G. A. Rix, in the presence of the immediate relatives and a number of the friends of the happy couple. The bride, who was attired in a neat travelling costume of stone grey serge with hat to match, was escorted to the altar by her father. Prior to the marriage service, Miss Hewat, organist in St. Mark's, played the Lohengrin wedding march and Miss Ethel Irvine sang "Dream of Paradise" while the register was being signed. Mr. Morley Ruddy and Mr. J. A. Irvine were the ushers. The young couple drove from the church to the C.P.R. depot, where they were given a hearty send-off by the numerous friends who had assembled. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan have gone on a trip to the Pacific Coast. They expect to be away about six weeks and will visit the Seattle Exposition, returning via Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg and the Upper Lakes. The young couple are held in high esteem by a large circle of friends, who join in extending their hearty congratulations. The wedding gifts to the bride were numerous and beautiful. The groom's gift was a handsome necklace of pearls and to the organist a gold brooch. The church was prettily decorated with apple blossoms and palms.

HARSHAW—SPARROW.

Robert George Perfect Harshaw, second son of Mr. John Harshaw, of the American Hotel, was united in marriage yesterday afternoon to Miss Flossie M. Sparrow, of 57 Bellevue Place, Toronto, by Rev. Mr. Andrews, Presbyterian minister. The young bride was attired in white satin and was given away by her brother, Thomas. About one hundred guests were present. The young couple left for Buffalo and New York, followed by the good wishes of a host of friends. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Harshaw will take up their residence here.

GAVILLER—ATKINSON.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the Methodist Parsonage in Shelburne on Wednesday, May 26th, at 2.30 p. m., when Dr. Charles A. F. Gaviller, Grand Valley, only son of the late Dr. A. C. and Mrs. Gaviller, was united in marriage to Miss Florence Atkinson, late Superintendent of Bradford St. Hospital, N.Y., daughter of Mrs. E. Atkinson, of Spruce Grove, Alta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. R. Strangways, B.A., B.D., uncle of the groom. The happy couple drove direct to their home in Grand Valley.

ORANGEVILLE TO CELEBRATE.

SOME OF THE CAUSES.

The growing disinclination of good living people to attend church regularly is apparent in every city. An attempt has often been made to ascertain why this is so, for anyone knows that if everyone attended church in the cities regularly the various denominations would speedily be tried to provide accommodation.

Rev. Dr. John Lyon Caughey, of the Harlem Presbyterian church, New York, recently made some personal investigations on this line that appear to throw considerable light on the question, and the reasons given for non-attendance in New York probably have their exponents in other cities. At the same time the information this rev. gentleman obtained almost makes one horrified at the growing tendency towards worldliness which is revealed in the great metropolis.

The canvass Dr. Caughey made in Harlem covered fifty-seven blocks, embracing 13,000 families and 56,600 persons. It showed, Dr. Caughey said, a startling number of persons professing religious beliefs, but who were without church connection and did not attend church.

Arranged in denominations, the non-churchgoers were as follows: Jews, 80 per cent.; Protestants, 31 per cent.; Roman Catholics, 12 per cent.; miscellaneous, 54 per cent. On this basis nearly 50 per cent. of the people of Harlem do not attend church. The figures are sufficiently alarming to give grave concern to the churches.

In stating the reasons for non-attendance, the statistics showed that many were kept away by physical infirmity and that a great army was prevented from going to church because of Sunday employment, particularly street railway men, waiters, domestics, cabmen and chauffeurs.

Many doctors, dentists and real estate men, he said, alleged that it was necessary to attend to business on Sunday. Dr. Caughey suggested it was the duty of Christian people to withhold patronage from all forms of Sunday desecration and to discourage every form of Sunday employment. Another reason alleged for failure to attend church was that visitors were not kindly received or given a welcome. A reverse reason was given by one woman, who said she did not wish to be spoken to at church and that she was bothered by unwelcome greetings.

Reasons which Dr. Caughey called sufficial were:

"No need for a church."

"Not interested, instructed or enlightened."

"Need of rest." ...

The latter, he said, was the most common.

The real reasons in the great majority of cases, might have neem put down to the carelessness, the irreligion and the sinfulness of that great city.

HOW OREGON GOT ITS NAME.

It is most probable that the name of Oregon arose out of some circumstance connected with Western explorations under direction of the French. Earlier than the English, the French had pressed on westward from the Great Lakes to the Red River, to the Saskatchewan and to the foot of the Rocky Mountains. They were ranging the country of the upper Mississippi in search of furs and for trade with the natives; they were full of curiosity and active in inquiry about the great, distant West, and the unknown Western sea. Of this sea they possessed Spanish charts and probably used among the natives the word "Aragon" as a homonym of Spain. When Jonathan Carver, of Connecticut, was on his expedition to the upper Mississippi country, in 1767-'68, he made all possible inquiries about the country toward the west, the western river and the sea and the word "Oregon," and the name was written for the first time, so far as is now known, in Carver's book, published in London in 1778. It is a book of little importance or value, except for the fact that it gives to the world the name Oregon, which Carver says he got from natives in the country of the upper Mississippi. Recent writers have shown that much of Carver's book is made up of unacknowledged extracts from Hennepin, Lebontan and Charlevoix; and, as Carver had no scholarship, it is believed the book was compiled in London, partly from Carver's own story and partly from the records of French and English exploration.

Remember, my son, you have to work. Whether you handle a pick or a pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, digging ditches or editing a paper, ringing an auction bell or writing funny things, you must work. If you look around you will see that the men that are most able to live the rest of their days without work are the men that worked the hardest. Don't be afraid of killing yourself with work. It is beyond your power to do that on the sunny side of 30. Men die sometimes, but it is because they quit work at 6. p.m. and don't get home until 2 a.m. It's the interval that kills, my son. The work gives you an appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives you a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the world is not proud of them. It does not know their names even; it simply speaks of them as "So-and-so's boy"; nobody likes them; the busy world doesn't know they are there. So find out what to be and do, and take off your coat and make a dust in the world. The busier you are the less harm you are likely to get into, the brighter and happier your holidays, and the better satisfied will the world be with you.

GINGHAM HATS.

Try the following for your little girls, to wear with their gingham dresses. Zephyr ginghams by the way, are to be very much worn this summer.

"Gingham hats may be made easily, and can be made entirely at home. Cut three thicknesses of the gingham, or chambray, or plain white material, if preferred, in a flat circle, from fourteen to sixteen inches in diameter. Stitch these together around the edge, then turn the raw seam and stitch carefully around and around, being careful to keep the stitching rows the same distance apart. Cut another piece of your material in a flat circle, from seventeen to nineteen inches in diameter, and around the edge sew carefully, so that it will not stretch, some narrow edging of embroidery or fancy, flat wash braid. A little to one side of the rim-piece cut out a circle large enough to admit of the hair going through, or about five or six inches in diameter. Bind this opening carefully. Now launder both your top and rim, starching the rim-piece very stiff. If the material is of the texture of gingham or chambray, such a rim will need no wiring to hold it stiff. Iron both pieces very carefully and put the top on "Tam" fashion, sewing the little pleats to the binding of the opening of the rim. A strip of the same material from four to six inches wide is carefully hemmed and tied about the crown, leaving the ample bow at the front or a little to the side. Where this goes around the crown, it should be crushed down so that it is not more than two inches high. If it is desired, the same flat braid, or embroidery edging may be used around the rim as is used at the edge of the crown-piece."—Selected.

LEGEND OF THE LILY OF THE VALLEY.

Once upon a time, a long while ago, there lived in a tiny house near a large garden a fairy mother with ever so many fairy children.

All the children were dressed alike, in green slippers and stockings, white suits, and white pointed caps with a dewdrop shining on top.

One evening the fairy mother said: "You may take your small ivory buckets and fill them with dew from the flowers in the garden, but be sure to come home before the sun rises."

Off they started, running and swinging the buckets in their hands; but when they reached the garden, instead of working, they began to teeter on the grass blades and play hide and seek among the flowers.

And, do you know, they played and played all that night and forgot all about the dew and the ivory buckets till the great red sun could be seen.

It was past time for going home and too late to gather dew.

What would the fairy mother say? "We'll hang our ivory buckets on these stems and to-night came and fill them," they said.

Then they went home and they felt very sorry when they saw how sad their fairy mother looked.

As soon as the sun went down they hurried to the garden. First one little fairy then another and another, tried to pick his bucket from the stem where he had left it, but it was of no use. All the buckets were tightly fastened to the stems and turned upside down.

They have been fastened that way ever since, and perhaps if you look in your garden you will find some of the fairies' ivory buckets.—Kindergarten Review.

THE UNKNOWN.

The eyes get strained with peering into the unknown. We cannot penetrate that veil which the Father hangs over coming days as the light gauze of mist over the gaunt hills or the smiling pasture lands. It is better not to know. The joy hidden in the year would unfit us for common tasks, whilst the dread, apart from the sight of his all-sufficient grace that waits to succor us, would paralyze. It is his mercy that puts its hand over our eyes. But if by the constitution of our minds, we must anticipate the future, then let us believe that it is radiant with his presence, filling each moment to its outermost rim. No day, whatever it takes, can deprive us of him. Each day will utter to the next some speech of his love. All the days linked together and entwined with his present grace will make a golden chain of holy and blessed living.—F. B. Meyer.

SOME COSTLY MEMORIALS.

After eight years' work the Queen Victoria Memorial in front of Buckingham Palace, London, is nearing completion. When finished it will be one of the finest monuments in the world and will have cost more than $1,250,000. The figure of her late Majesty will be no less than 12 1-2 ft. in height, and will depict her dressed in robes of state, sitting enthroned with orb and sceptre. The memorial will in all contain more than 350 tons of marble. The Albert Memorial to the Prince Consort, cost between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000. The cost—provided by public subscription—was given as $600,000, but it is asserted that Queen Victoria's private contribution exceeded that amount. The Albert Hall is really part of the Albert Memorial, for it was after the Exhibition of 1851 that Prince Albert proposed the erection of a great hall for music, and when he had passed away a national subscription was raised to carry out his wish, $1,000,000 being obtained.

In Washington Park, Washington, there is a huge obelisk, 555 ft. high, in memory of the first President of the Republic. It is built of great blocks of crystal marble, and was not completed until 1885. Within the monument is an elevator and also an iron stairway of 900 steps. This, the highest stone structure in the world, cost $1,200,000.

The American statue, however, which never fails to impress the overseas visitors to the States is that in New York Harbor, representing Liberty enlightening the World. The figure stands upon a pedestial that is 154 ft. 10 in. high, and is itself 151 ft. 1 in in height. In the upraised right hand is a torch lighted by electricity. The pedestal and statue cost over $1,000,000.

The Reason why We Feel Tired

The system is overloaded with poisonous waste matter.

You expect to be tired when you have been working hard, for the activities of the muscles or brain cause a breaking down of cells, or burning up, we might say, and after while the system becomes clogged with this waste matter or ashes and you get tired.

But you are often tired when you have not been working hard and in this case the conditions are much the same but the presence of the poisonous waste matter is due to the derangements of the excretary organs—the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Under such circumstances you cannot possibly do better than use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for they have a direct, specific and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, thoroughly cleansing the excretory system and restoring healthful digestion.

There is no medicine of more frequent or effective use in the family than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for they have no equal as a cure for constipation, billiousness, liver troubles and kidney derangements. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers of Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE ANTIQUITY OF HATS.

We owe to Asia all our manufactures, not omitting the discovery of producing felt. The hats which are so constantly alluded to in Scripture were genuine ones adorned by turban cloths, and not mere turbans, as for instance, those which were bound upon the heads of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego when they were cast into the Assyrian furnace.

The Asiatic Jews wear tall, narrow cylinders of gray felt, surrounded by a colored handkerchief.

The Nestorian Christians of Kurdistan wear felt hats very similar to the Irish caubeen, while throughout the Orient dervishes and fakers affect tall, light hued felt head coverings.

During the Wars of the Roses in England, fair dames wore hideous steeple crowned fabrics, and the progress of the hat in Europe was not wholly of a peaceful character. There were cities in which rival factions—electing to die for Red Rose or White—divided themselves into "hats" and "caps" and fought strenuously for the supremacy of one or the other party.

The pulpit in those days, too, was most unfriendly to the hat. Broad brims were preached against, and plumes, and jewelled clasps were roughly mauled by fiery, clerical orators. And behold! the steeple crowned hat became the mark and sign of the Puritan party, while it had its very antithesis in the Geneva skull-cap. But right on top of this ungraceful, Puritancial apex there fell the raillery of the gallantly and beautifully plumed cavaliers.

The cocked hat, which the great Napoleon loved so well, came next, this being succeeded by those beavers patronized by dandies of the Beau Brummel type Benjamin Franklin used to be mobbed when he represented the United States at the court of Louis XVI, so very wonderful in the eyes of the Parisians, was the round hat of that day.

'TWIXT EAST AND WEST.
(By A Banker.)

Midway between Africa and Europe the extensive rock-bound island of Crete rises sheer out of the blue waters of the Mediterranean. The approach to Candia one of the principal towns, is extremely beautiful. Skirting the iron-bound coast, dark sullen gorges are seen cleft far into the beetling cliffs and craigs; here a bold promontory juts out into the ocean; or here is a wild chaos of detached boulders and masses of rock; over which the foam-crested billows continually break; while in the background is a range of lofty cloud-capt mountains, Mount Ida towering above them all—not however the Mount Ida of mythology which is by the Bosphorus—garbed summer and winter in perpetual snow.

Upon landing it is soon apparent that although many of the buildings are of Moorish origin, yet that the Moslem has gradually been driven back by western civilization. Here and there a veiled woman or a turbaned Turk or Arab may be seen, but they are few and far between, although, judging by the many thousands of Mohamedan graves in an extensive cemetery—the tombstone of a male Moslem is always surmounted by a sculptured fez or turban, that of a woman by a chaplet of roses or other ornament—it must at one time have been thickly populated by the adherents of that faith.

A few miles from the town the traveller finds himself in the realms of hoary antiquity. Knossos, the foundations of which are now laid bare, the city of Minos—the great naval monarch and pioneer of European civilization who reigned more than a thousand years before Alexander the Great was born and whose history was considered to be mere legend until these great ruins were discovered—is, with the exception, of course, of the magnificent relics of the great past, so abundant in Egypt, perhaps the most ancient city in the world. And, although built so far back down the dim vista of the ages, yet some of the works of art found therein, especially a number of great amphoroe, or wine vases, perhaps five or six feet in height, and ornamented in the chasest designs, are equal in grace and elegance to any made in these days of advanced civilization

And it is remarkable how the spade of the archaeologist is confirming ancient history. Even Agamemnon himself was by some regarded as more or less a mythical being until his city and tomb were discovered and excavated. And now time after time discoveries continue to be made absolutely confirming Biblical history, and hopelessly crushing the futile efforts of the so-called "higher critics" to discredit Holy Scripture. But the Bible will remain until time is no more, a record of the earliest history of the world, and above all the Divine announcement to mankind that the Son of God came in humility to this earth in order to make an atonement for transgression by Himself bearing the punishment due, for and on behalf of all who will receive Him as their Mediator.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Results so Surprising That They Seem Marvelous Are Common to Mi-o-na the One Dependable Stomach Remedy.

Mrs. J. A. Pillow of North Street, Gananoque, Ont., says: "Mi-o-na is worth its weight in gold for quickly and permanently curing dyspepsia. I became so bad that I was unable to leave my bed. There was a constant burning in my stomach, I would belch up gas every few minutes and could eat but very little, as the food would quickly ferment and make gas that caused a serious depression of the heart. Perspiration would break out all over my body, I would become so weak that I could not stir and would often fall on the floor in a helpless state. The pains in my stomach were terrible. I could find no position in which to sit or lie without suffering and I was so nervous that the least noise effected me. Headaches were constant. I would become dizzy and spots would appear before my eyes. I had no ambition to get around and everything seemed to tire me. The first box of Mi-o-na gave me more relief than anything I had previously tried. The second box of Mi-o-na cured me. I am well and strong and I have not had an hour's suffering since. I will always feel grateful to Mi-o-na for the cure given me and glad to recommend."

In the face of such evidence it is easy to understand why T. Stevenson feels assured in saying to you, money back if Mi-o-na fails to relieve either trivial or serious stomach trouble.

SAD NEWS.

On Monday Mr. John Clarke of Purple Hill received a telegram bearing the sad tidings of his sister's death, which occurred at her residence, 315 Cumberland Ave., Winnipeg early that morning. The deceased, Miss Jennie Clarke, was born on Purple Hill, and was the youngest daughter of the late Thos. Clarke. Twenty-six years ago the family removed to the west and for a time lived in Moose Jaw, afterwards removing to Winnipeg. They were singularly fortunate in their western investments and accumulated considerable property and money. A few months ago the late Miss Clarke, who suffered from a complication of diseases went to Rochester, N.Y., where she remained in one of that city's leading hospitals for several weeks, but no permanent improvement in her condition resulted. A sister also died last August in Winnipeg. She leaves three brothers, Messrs. John Clarke of Purple Hill, Thos. of Winnipeg, and James of Calgary, and two sisters, Mrs. Christie Irwin and Miss Lizzie Clarke of Winnipeg. They have much sympathy in their bereavement. The remains were interred at Winnipeg yesterday afternoon.

Is it worth while to cure yourself?

Sickness is to some extent a habit. This is especially true of biliousness and constipation. So long as you neglect treatment, or merely use medicine to move the bowels, the old trouble will return again and again.

Mrs. Jas. Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe, Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches and have found them the most effective treatment I ever used. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and specific action on the liver and on this account thoroughly cure billiousness and constipation. Their exceptional merit has made them known in nearly every home and you can depend on them absolutely. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HIGH SCHOOL CADETS.

Annual Inspection Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Lieut.-Col. Galloway yesterday afternoon inspected the High School Cadets. Promptly at 3.30 p.m. the inspecting officer, with Major Preston, drove to the School Campus. For over an hour, the cadets, to the number of nearly fifty, were put through military evolutions by Capt. Lyle Campbell and Lieuts. Norman Robertson and Gerald Preston. The bugle band played during the inspection. At the conclusion of the review Colonel Galloway addressed the Cadets at length. He complimented the boys highly and especially so on the fine condition in which their arms and accoutrements were kept. The officers were also highly praised. There were, said the reviewing officer, 35 High School Cadet Corps in this district, and a keen rivalry existed as to their respective efficiency. The Minister of Militia, and the Ontario Minister of Education were also greatly interested in the Cadet Corps. The Colonel expressed himself as much pleased with the inspection, and spoke strongly in favor of the advantages of military training. At the conclusion Major Preston addressed the Cadets, who gave three cheers for the Colonel. A large crowd was present, including many ladies and the High School staff. It is up to the Board to provide a flag, and flag pole for the School. If the Board would produce the pole, Hon. Dr. Pyne might provide the ensign.

MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO

Last Thursday Mr. I. B. Lucas, K. C., M.P.P. for Centre Grey, was sworn in as a member of the Ontario Government without portfolio. The new Minister, whose home is in Markdale, is well-known in Orangeville and is frequently employed on cases that are tried at the Dufferin Assizes.

THE BURDEN OF A NATION'S DRINK-BILL.

Some interesting comments bearing on the economic phase of the drink question are furnished by Sir George White, a member of the British Parliament, in an article appearing in a current issue of a home magazine. "I believe," states the writer, "that the temperance cause is a fundamental one, and is at the root of social and political reform in this country. Mr. Gladstone's terrible words, that the evils of the drink traffic were greater than those of war, pestilence, and famine combined, I believe to be literally true. Nothing has such a serious influence on the trade of the country, and I believe that the resuscitation of activity of all kinds of useful manufactures and the securing of a fair wage for the great mass of our artisans would be accomplished more easily and effectually by a reduction in our expenditure for drink than by any other means. Drink costs more than our total taxation, and more than the total rent of all the houses, shops, and hotels in the country. It restrains our demand for commodities, because of its small wages fund, more than if we were deprived of our whole colonial trade and our colonies ceased to purchase in our markets, for it lessens the purchasing power of the nation by £70,000,000 and gives nothing in return. But the monetary side of the question is its least evil side. It is the greatest black spot on our civilization, and not only hinders the progress of every good thing, but aggravates the effects of every evil thing."

94 MAJORITY

Dr. Riddell Re-elected Reeve of Orangeville.

Heavy Vote Polled at Bye-Election on Monday.

The bye-election to fill the vacancy created by the unseating of Dr. W. H. Riddell, Reeve of Orangeville, was held on Monday. The contest was one of the keenest in the history of the municipality. The result, however, was decisive, Dr. Riddell being elected by a majority of 94 over Mr. Thos. S. Hewson, who came within two votes of winning last January. Dr. Riddell, who had four-fifths of the business and professional men of the town at his back, made substantial gains in all four Wards. In the West Ward, the scene of the irregularities in the January election, he increased his majority from 8 to 29. In the North a Hewson majority of 7 in January was converted into a Riddell majority of 17 this time. The East, which gave Riddell 24 in the former contest rolled up 38 on Monday and not to be outdone the South, which was Hewson by 23 in January, went Riddell by 14. Each candidate had an excellent organization at his back and neither side spared any legitimate effort to win out. Although nearly two score electors have died or left town since January, the total vote polled was only two less than at the January election. There was considerable swearing at the polls, which also prevented several persons from voting. It is doubtful if either side benefitted to any material extent by the swearing. So far as the effect on the election is concerned neither side would have suffered had it been dispensed with and considerable ill-feeling would have been avoided. The vote by Wards was:—

	Riddell.	Hewson
West	80	51
North	89	76
East	109	71
South	101	87
	379	285

Majority for Riddell, 94.

The figures in the January contest were:—

	Riddell.	Hewson
West	69	61
North	79	86
East	105	81
South	81	104
	334	332

Majority for Riddell, 2.

The contest aroused the liveliest interest, outside as well as within the town. Toward five o'clock a crowd assembled on the street in the neighborhood of the West Ward booth, from which the first announcement of the result of the voting usually comes. About 5.30 word was passed out that the Ward had given Riddell 29. The Dr's. supporters greeted the tidings with a mighty cheer. The North and East followed in quick succession, the three divisions giving Riddell a majority of 80 and assuring his election by a substantial margin. There was considerable speculation as to how the South would go. Hewson supporters looked for an even break or a little better, while the Riddell men were sanguine that their candidate would have between 10 and 20. The result proved that the latter had calculated closely.

Between seven and eight o'clock the Citizens' Band serenaded the Reeve-elect at his residence on Mill St. Dr. Riddell, who accepted his victory and the congratulations of his friends with a modesty that did him credit, expressed his gratitude and thanks in a brief speech. Short speeches were also made by Mr. C. R. McKeown, M.P.P. and Mr. J. R. Gillespie. Hundreds of citizens thronged the streets and showed unmistakably their satisfaction over the victory. Dr. Riddell's win was undoubtedly most popular, even electors who refused to vote against Hewson because he had been their choice in the January election, expressing their gratification over the result.

MONDAY'S ELECTION.

By their votes on Monday the electors of Orangeville expressed in unmistakeable terms their disapproval of the tactics of Mr. Hewson and his friends in protesting the election of Reeve Riddell. The protest has not been productive of anything except ill-will, distrust and the worst form of strife. It has divided our citizens, hampered and retarded the work of the Council and in the end has brought defeat and discredit on Mr. Hewson and those who urged him forward on his ill-advised course. However, the election is over and the people have pronounced their verdict in a manner that can leave no doubt as to their meaning. It only remains for all loyal and reasonable citizens on both sides to endeavor to sink their differences and work unitedly for the best interests of the town. Much can be done in this direction if our citizens will only concentrate their energies to this end instead of expending them in unprofitable strife.

BASKET BALL GAME.

On Friday evening the members of the High School Girls' Basket Ball Team and a few of their supporters drove to Shelburne to play a friendly game with the Shelburne school team. The visitors were in fine form and succeeded in running up a score of 41 points, while the northern girls were scoring 12. The girls were treated royally both on and off the field. After the game they were entertained to a supper in the school, followed by a programme by a number of the Shelburne pupils. The members of the Orangeville team were:— defence, Gladys Halbert, Laura Rowan; rover, May Wallace; centre, Clara Dever; forwards, Minnie Stinson, Nina Bremner, Annie McLeod. Mr. Duncan, of the High School staff, officiated as referee.

W. H. M. S. CONVENTION.

The Auxiliaries of the Orangeville District of the Woman's Missionary Society held their 42nd. annual convention in the Methodist Church, June 2nd. A number of delegates from Horning's Mills, Rosemont, Shelburne, Honeywood and Whittington took part in the programme. The afternoon session was presided over by District Organizer Mrs. Geo. Wilcox and was well attended. A nicely worded and well presented address of welcome was tendered the delegates by Mrs. Kearns, which was replied to by Mrs. (Rev.) White, of Laurel. Mrs. Dr. Killborn, first Medical Missionary to China, was the chief speaker of the two sessions. She gave personal items of experience in Hospital Wards in Chintu and of the power of the Gospel through the agency of healing in reaching effectively the benighted people. A discussion arose which was very beneficial to the meeting by members asking questions of Dr. Kilborn who was so well prepared as an eye witness to fully answer. A full report of the Toronto Conference Branch Convention held recently in High Park Church, Parkdale, was given by Mrs. Arnott. After consecration service led by Mrs. Wise all adjourned to tea prepared in the school room of the Church. During the evening session presided over by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Harper, some of the members of the choir gave music. The time was chiefly occupied by Dr. Kilborn's address on "China as an unheeded Study."

BIG INCREASE IN VALUE.

Farm Once Sold at 62c. an Acre.

The purchase by Sir William Mulock of Mr. S. H. Blake's farm of 121 acres on Yonge St., north of Bedford Park, furnishes another illustration of the rapid increase in real estate values in the vicinity of Toronto. Mr. Blake sold the property, consisting of 121 acres, for $62,000. In 1889 he bought it from Mr. A. H. St. German for $250 an acre. It is interesting to note that in 1804 Herman Kendrick, the original owner, who had 200 acres granted to him by the Crown in 1802, sold the property to Seneca Ketchum, father of the late Jesse Ketchum, for 25 pounds, or roughly speaking 62½ cents an acre. In 1806 Seneca Ketchum sold 100 acres of the farm to Zebulon Ketchum for 100 pounds. Five years later John Wilson paid 250 pounds for 98½ acres.

The residue of the fund, except $229.41, which has been transferred to the 1909-'10 account, was distributed as follows:—Provincial Treasurer, $1930.90; Town of Orangeville, $921; Village of Shelburne, $450; Village of Grand Valley, $281.26.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Dufferin Light & Power Company Making Substantial Profits.

The first annual meeting of the Dufferin Light and Power Company was held in the head office here on Tuesday and was attended by a number of the out-of-town officers and directors. The reports submitted were of a most gratifying character. Although the Company has only had its plant in operation for seven months the Secretary-Treasurer was able to show a substantial profit. Contracts have been let for the construction of the power dam at Horning's Mills, and the work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. A transmission line has been built to Shelburne and will be extended to Orangeville by July 1st. The following officers were elected:—President, Mr. W. D. Wilson, Toronto; Vice-President, Mr. F. H. Silk, Shelburne; Managing Director, Mr. K. F. Dewar, Orangeville; Directors, Geo. McIntyre, Orangeville, A. H. Clarke, Niagara Falls, and H. H. Hastings, Toronto.

A meeting of the officers and members of the Dufferin Lacrosse Club was held in Dr. Campbell's office on Tuesday night to appoint Committees and make arrangements for the big Dominion Day Celebration. AFTER THE GLOBE.

J. B. Mackenzie Starts Another Libel Action.

The Globe of Thursday, June 3rd, stated:—

Mr. J. B. Mackenzie, barrister, has filed a statement of claim in connection with an action brought by him against the Globe for alleged libel contained in the published report of November 13th, last, of a judgment by Mr. Justice Riddell in a case wherein Mr. Mackenzie applied for the discharge from custody of William Leach and Andrew Fogarty, Owen Sound hotelmen.

The judgment as originally handed down and reported in the Globe contained these words: "It is to be hoped that the courts may long be spared the disreputable spectacle of a litigant claiming an advantage from an irregularity in which he himself participated." In the revised judgment as printed in the Ontario Law Reports, this sentence was changed to read as follows:—"It is to be hoped that the courts may not often have to deal with the case of a litigant," etc.

Mr. Mackenzie has also pointed out that in the revised report of the judgment, having been reduced to writing, the next question is, must it have been read over to the witnesses and signed by them?" there was added the following: "This was not specifically raised, as I understand, but it should not be overlooked in a case involving the liberty of the subject."

IN AGONY WITH PILES.

Mr. G. W. Cornell, with the Shaw Milling Co., St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "For six years I was a victim of itching, protruding piles and was in dreadful agony day and night. Doctors were unable to help me, and I was about as miserable as any creature could be. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I did and obtained relief from the first box and complete cure with the second. This ointment would be cheap at fifty dollars a box, in view of what it did for me."

THE MACHINE HAS NO SOUL.

Nearly all the great human organizations—industrial, political, or ecclesiastical—tend to lose soul. What we mean is that the machine like nature of the organization necessary for the most effective management of vast enterprises has no place for kindly, personal qualities. Individualism of a benevolent type is not wanted. A tender conscience or a sympathetic spirit is an encumbrance. It must be crushed or its operation suspended in matters of business. The dominating characteristics required are definiteness of purpose, inflexible will and boundless energy, which are well rounded off when combined with a suavity of manner that can never be ruffled.

Big corporations are called soulless with reason. They regard their employes as so many pawns, whose feelings are not worth consideration. A manager is expected to give the word that will suddenly deprive a thousand homes of their means of livelihood with no more concern than he would order a cessation in the operation of a piece of machinery. Spies and lobbyists have to be engaged to supply information and influence legislation. The vulnerable points in the moral armor of popular representatives have to be found, and threats blandishments or cash used as the case may require. Skilful lawyers must be constantly employed searching agreements for flaws which will provide an excuse for setting them at defiance, and devising innocent looking clauses which will entrap. In short, the scruples which any decent-minded man will observe in his personal relationships must not govern his conduct while in the pay of the big corporation.

We submit that the same conditions obtain in the world of diplomacy.

Treaties are made to be broken by the first power that finds it can do so with impunity. It is a patriotic act to purchase stolen documents of a rival power or, to entice the soldier of a foreign power to sell some military secret. Subterfuges, duplicity and intrigue are permissible if only they gain an advantage for one's country. The rights of weaker powers are trampled upon whenever it is worth while.

Guns are placed in the hands of a million men, and they are told to shoot down a million of their fellows against whom they have no personal grievance. Then, when the nations are tired of bloodshed, the men who hoped their country would profit by the wholesale murder, meet to beat down one anothers terms by the arts of diplomacy. Wits, not consciences, are matched in the diplomatic field.

The undesirable feature of the party system is its machine-like precision. Corrupt practices are used by men who, in their private lives, are beyond reproach. The truth uis, the party machine is soulless. "Elections are not won by prayer," is one of those sayings which indicate the cynicism bred by partyism. "Results count," it is said, and the means employed are little considered if only they bring success.

What we would like to ask is this: Is not the Roman hierarchy also soulless, and for the same reason? We have all met people who said that they once thought the Roman Church was something to be feared, and they looked on all its adherents with suspicion, but after knowing intimately a number of Roman Catholics, they came to think their old feelings to be foolish. Roman Catholics, these people say, are just as good as anybody else, and only bigotry suggests any other judgment. The truth is, that the wool is easily drawn over the eyes of such people. They show that they know little of the history of Rome and less of the doctrines and decrees which she today declares to be infallible. They are not able to distinguish between the Roman Catholicism and the papacy, between the Church as a religion and the Church as a political organization, between the priest as a minister of the Gospel and the priest as a member of the hierarchy that publicly asserts a claim to temporal power for the Pope. They are not aware that the overwhelming proof of history, ancient and modern, and of the events of to-day, proclaim that the Roman hierarchy acts on the Jesuistical principle: "The End Justifies The Means."—Orange Sentinel.

EDUCATION NEEDED.

Then Class Legislation and Class Representation Will Disappear.

Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—During the provincial election of one year ago the farmers of the province, and in particular, of this county, raised a loud cry about "class legislation," claiming that the farmers anh "working classes" as they call themselves, are unequally represented with the professions in our Provincial and Dominion Parliaments. This, we admit, is unfortunately too true. But who is to blame for such a state of affairs? No one but the farmers and laboring classes themselves. They look upon the minister, the doctor, the lawyer, or teacher, as being so many degrees above themselves, and upon education as a luxury suited only to the professional man, but which the farmer, or his hired man, can get along without or has no need for. They practically say that the farmer is only fit to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, as some kind of manual laborer or "plugger" and let the professional man do the thinking for him.

Here is an instance: Some time ago a retired schoolmaster, who was an agent for books, was canvassing Shelburne and vicinity. After partaking of dinner with a farmer he introduced samples of his books, most of which were small volumes and inexpensive, but he had one large and expensive one which treated of History and Biography, which the farmer preferred. But the agent told him that the large book was more fitting for a doctor, a lawyer, or a banker, and that one of the smaller ones would be more suitable for a farmer. This agent evidently thought the farmers lacked the mental capacity to read and understand a large book, and he, being an ex-schoolmaster, doubtless had been inculcating such tommyrot all the years he taught school. If teachers, and parents who mould the minds of the young entertain such erroneous ideas, what can we expect from the rising generation in after years? The fact of the matter is we still retain too much of the old customs and class legislation that prevailed in England during the middle ages and not enough of modern civilization, such as they enjoy in some of the states in the American Republic to the south of us, where all human beings are on the same level. Why should a man who happens to be a member of the so-called learned professions be esteemed above a farmer, his hired man or a man who works on the railroad with a pick and shovel? Is he made of a different kind of clay? When we behold the empty pride and vanity of some of our young men after they have entered one of the learned professions one would scarcely think that those solemn words of holy writ "Dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return" were applicable to them. Education, or real learning, does not fill the mind with such false ideas, but it is the half-educated doctor, lawyer, or teacher, (for many of them are only half-educated), that fancies he or she is "too good" to help do the world's work, no matter where or what it is, so long as it is honest work. Until the farmers educate themselves and become informed concerning themselves and the world, which they inhabit, they may expect to trudge along under class legislation.

INDIGESTION CURED EVIDENCE IN PLENTY

Your Neighbours Can Tell You of Cures by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Every case of indigestion, no matter how bad, can be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Not only cured, but cured for good. That's a sweeping statement and you are quite right in demanding evidence to back it. And it is backed by evidence in plenty—living evidence among your own neighbors, no matter in what part of Canada you live. Ask your neighbors and they will tell you of people in your own district who have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills of dizziness, palpitation, sour stomach, sick headaches, and the internal pains of indigestion. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure because they strike straight at the roots of all stomach troubles. They make new, rich blood, and new blood is just what the stomach needs to set it right and give it strength for its work. Mrsl Geo. E. Whitenect, Hatfield Point, N.B., says: "I am glad to have an opportunity to speak in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they deserve all the praise that can be given them. I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which was often accompanied by nausea, sick headache, and backache. As a result my complexion was very bad and I had black rings under the eyes. I took a great deal of doctor's medicine, but it never did more than give me the most temporary relief. About a year ago I was advised to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Before I had taken a couple of boxes I found relief, and by the time I had used a half dozen boxes I found myself feeling like a new woman, with a good appetite, good digestion, and a clear complexion. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for this trouble and advise similar sufferers to lose no time in taking them.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all the troubles which have their origin in bad blood. That is why they cure anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, eczema, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis, and the many ailments of girlhood and womanhood. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or two boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HARSHAW—SPARROW.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sparrow in Bellevue place was the scene of a pretty wedding at two o'clock this afternoon, when the marriage was solemnized of their sister, Miss Flossie May Sparrow, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Sparrow, of Mono Road, Ontario, to Mr. Robert Harshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harshaw, of Orangeville.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Andrews, pastor of the Queen Street Presbyterian Church, in the bay window of the drawing-room, which was decorated with marguerites and palms, and Miss Harshaw played the wedding marches.

The bride was brought in and given away by her brother, and was wearing a graceful gown of soft cream Directoire satin with lace yoke and tulle veil seeded with pearls, and caught with a wreath of marguerites. She carried a bridal bouquet of the same flowers, and wore the groom's gift, a necklet of amethysts and pearls.

Miss Ida Lloyd, the bride's cousin, was the attendant maid, in a dainty frock of pink mull and lace, and she carried pink carnations, and the groom's gift to her was a pearl and amethyst ring.

Mrs. Thomas Sparrow held a reception after the ceremony, wearing a becoming gown of mauve satin with touches of black velvet and silver, and later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Harshaw left for a honeymoon trip to New York, before leaving for their home in Orangeville. The bride travelled in military blue cloth, smartly tailored with touches of silver and Alice blue hat with crimson roses.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. John Harshaw, Miss B. Harshaw, of Orangeville, Mrs. McKee, of Mona Road, Mr. and Mrs. Harshaw, of Camilla, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Smith, of Hillsburg, Mr. B. Slack, of Dundalk.—Evening Star, Thursday, June 3rd.

WOODWARD—FARROW.

At the Methodist parsonage, 53 Brunswick avenue, Toronto, by the Rev. L. W. Hill, Mr. Charles Woodward, of Vancouver, B.C., was married very quietly to Miss Alice Jane Farrow, daughter of the late Charles Farrow, of Toronto, at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Both were unattended, only a few relatives being present. The bride wore a brown Rajah silk travelling suit with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of marguerites and lillies of the valley. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Woodward left for Montreal, whence they will sail for England for a two months' visit. On their return to Canada they will reside in Vancouver, where Mr. Woodward is a well-known merchant. Mr. and Mrs. Woodward are both former residents of Mono township.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETINGS

Two very interesting meetings of the Orangeville Branch of the Dufferin Women's Institute were held in the Library Auditorium on Tuesday last, Miss Gertrude Gray, of Toronto, was the principal speaker. Miss Gray's subject in the afternoon was "Interior Decoration of Our Homes" With the aid of some samples of wall paper, curtain stuffs, linoleum, etc., the speaker gave some very useful and helpful suggestions for beautifying homes at a trifling expense. In the evening Miss Gray spoke on "Life's Talisman" and endeavored to show why it was necessary to set up high ideals in order to make the most of life and then strive to live as close to those ideals as possible; to store our minds with useful knowledge by reading only the best books and literature and to study human nature by interesting ourselves in those about us. Miss Gray proved a very pleasing speaker, but it is quite impossible in the space at our disposal to give anything like an adequate report of her addresses or convey to our readers a clear idea of their value. It is a matter for regret that there were not more present to hear them.

Mrs. J. J. Hall, District President, and Miss Jennie Hall, District Secretary, gave short addresses on the aim and work of the Institute and also furnished some interesting statistics relating to its growth, particularly in this District. The Methodist Church quartette delighted the audience with two selections. The members of the Society feel very grateful to these ladies for their kind ly assistance. Mrs. F. W. Sutherland contributed a recitation in her usual entertaining style. Miss Rena Clarke accompanied on the violin in the opening and closing hymns. Before closing the President called on Mr. W. T. Bailey for a speech. Mr. Bailey responded appropriately by a brief but appreciative address on the work the Institute is endeavoring to do.

MELANCTHON.

Mr. Hugh Falconer, of Owen Sound, visited at James Hammond's here this week.

Ex-reeve R. J. Woods preached in the Gravel Road Church last Sunday.

Mr. T. K. Slack is putting a new roof on the Town Hall. It is now 35 years since the Hall was built and a new roof was much needed.

Mr. Chas. Reburn, of Shelburne, has completed the job of putting new cement to the Gravel Road Church. It is marked off in square blocks and looks like a stone building.

On Wednesday last Mr. Isaac Fielding, of Shelburne, was married to Lena Mulligan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mulligan of this place. The interesting ceremony took place at 10 o'clock in the R. C. Church, Melancthon, and was performed by Rev. Father Morphy, of Dundalk. A very large number were present, the church being crowded to its utmost capacity. The presents were numerous and costly. The young couple will reside in Shelburne.

Mr. T. K. Slack is in Orangeville as a juryman at the Sessions this week.

Mr. John T. Breen, local agent for the Orangeville Cement Co. at this burg, had a car load shipped here for distribution last week.

Mr. George Shoaff will commence the season's work of framing with Mr. John M. Johnston, this week. They will start at Reeve Thos. Oldfield's new barn on the Gravel Road opposite Mr. R. J. Woods' place.

Farmers are busy washing and clipping sheep. Many around here are taking their wool to Dundalk where they say they get a high price, owing perhaps to the large woollen mills operated there by Reeve Sinclair of the northern town.

ATHLETIC NOTES.

An enthusiastic meeting of the managers and members of the Juvenile Lacrosse Club was held in the Library Auditorium last Friday evening. The members present signed the rules adopted at a former meeting, and committees, consisting of two members from each Ward, were appointed to sell membership tickets and to report results at next meeting.

At a special meeting on Monday evening called for the purpose of arranging a schedule of matches, committees reported a good sale of membership tickets, and much interest was displayed in the proposed series of games. They are as follows:—

North vs. East—Thursday, June 3.
West vs. South—Tuesday, June 8.
North vs. South—Friday, June 11.
East vs. West—Tuesday, June 15.
North vs. West—Thursday, June 17
South vs. East—Tuesday, June 22.

The managers were well pleased with the initial game. The fine spirit shown by the boys in this match speaks volumes for the future interest of clean lacrosse in Orangeville.

These matches will be open to the public, and there will be no admission fee to the grounds or Grand Stand. Our citizens should show their appreciation of the good work by the boys, by witnessing some or all of these games.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

June 13th, 1909.

Heroes of Faith. Heb. xi : 1-40.

Golden Text—Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Heb. xi :1.

Verses 1-3—In what respects are faith and hope similar?

If a desirable thing is possessed by faith, does that give as much, or similar, satisfaction, as the possession of the thing itself?

What is the ground of our faith, that "the worlds were framed by the word of God"?

Why do we admire the men of faith of past years?

Verses 4, 5—Abel had a truly religious nature; now was this nature the result of his faith,or was his faith the result of his nature?

Does this record mean that Enoch's translation was directly caused by a specific act of faith, or that his general life of faith made him such a good man that God translated him without death?

Verse 6—Faith is sometimes based upon outward evidence; sometimes upon personal revelation; sometimes upon intuition, and sometimes upon composite grounds; what moral or spiritual qualities, therefore, are necessary for becoming a man of faith?

Why is faith necessary in order to please God?

Verse 7— What was Noah's faith based upon, and wherein was his faith meritorious?

Verses 8-12—What was the difference, if any, between Abraham's faith and that of the Pilgrim fathers, when they left the old country for the American land of promise?

I take it that Abraham, and the Pilgrim fathers, while in communion with God, felt a drawing to go to the rich country in the distance about took this drawing to be the voice of which they had heard; that they God; and in this faith they started out; what evidence is there that their faith was true, and that such faith is always dependable?

Verses 13-16—Why is it that all nations and peoples, in all times, so far as we have any record, believe in, and "desire a better country,that is an heavenly"?

Verses 17-19—Give from memory the account of Abraham offering up his son Isaac.

What is the particular virtue, in Abraham obeying God in the matter of offering up Isaac?

Would it be a virtue or a vice in these days, if any man should do the same thing as Abraham did?

Verses 20-31—Suppose the persons mentioned in these wonderful verses, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses and Rahab, had been lacking faith in God, in these critical moments of their lives, what would have been the difference in the results?

Does faith in God always make the present happy, and picture in glowing colors the future?

Verses 32-40—Have men distinguished for their faith always been noted for their goodness?

This is a thrilling account of the exploits of the man of faith; give me an account of the achievements of men noted for their lack of faith.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Dan McGee's Backache.

Cover cold food in clean covered dishes will not make a refrigerator dirty, nor breed germs.

To clean painted walls or woodwork add one-quarter of a cup of turpentine to one pail of warm water.

Veal outlet of chicken should be fried rather slowly on the back of the stove,allowing them to cook through.

If a lamp is upset and the burning oil runs over do not throw water on it, but throw on flour, earth, sand, or ashes.

A little lime water poured into cream or milk after a hot day, will keep it all right for the next morning's coffee or tea.

Children who bite their nails must be treated for nervousness, and no amount of scolding,whipping or coaxing can overcome the fault where it is a physical breakdown.

Paint stains that are dry and old can be removed from cotton and woollen goods with chloroform. It is a good plan to first cover the spots with olive oil or butter.

A little arrowroot enclosed in a muslin bag and placed in the water in which handkerchiefs are boiled will give the latter a faint and agreeable scent when ironed.

When you're ready to buy a new oilcloth for your table take your old one and cut it up for aprons. Have it cover the whole front of your skirt and make a large bib.

To brighten tinware rub with a flannel well soaped to remove all stains, brighten it with a dry flannel dipped in whiting, and finish the process with chamois leather.

The lid of a teapot should always be left so that the air may get in; slip in a piece of paper to keep it open. This prevents mustiness. The same rule applies to a coffee pot.

As a preventive against moths, take a piece of linen well moistened with turpentine and put it in the wardrobe or chest of drawers for a single day,two or three times a year.

HUSBAND WAS PRIZEFIGHTER.

A colored woman of generous proportions was on the witness stand in the Superior Court before Judge Weir at Indianapolis recently, and she made such a good witness for the plaintiff that the attorney for the defence planned to throw "cold water" on what she said by finding fault with her character.

"Let me see, you have been arrested, haven't you?" the attorney asked in cross-examination.

"Now, look a-heah," said the witness, getting angry, "do you think I'm going to tell you all my private business? I guess not."

"I have the right to know, and you must tell me," the lawyer persisted, and Judge Weir instructed the witness that she would have to answer.

"T's 'rested for lickin' my husban'," she said, her eyes flashing.

"That so?" said the attorney with great satisfaction. "What is your husband's name?" She told him. "What is his business?"

"He's a prize fightah," she said, and the cross-examination abruptly ended amid general merriment.

IMPORTANT FACTS.

When thought and attention are concentrated subjectively upon any group of cells in the brain, those cells will multiply in number, and there will be a decided increase in their efficiency and energy-producing capacity. Accordingly, that mental faculty that functions through those cells, will express greater power and a higher degree of ability. Any part of the brain can be developed to an exceptional degree by this method, but the concentration must be subjective; that is, it must be deep and alive, and must actually feel the real or inner power of its own action.

Every division of the brain is in two corresponding parts, one part appearing on the right side of the brain and the other on the left; every group of brain cells on the right side has a corresponding group on the left side; therefore, in concentrating for brain development, give attention to both sides at the same time. Always begin all concentration at the brain center, and move the action of your concentrated thought toward the surface of the brain, giving special attention to the cells on the surface, as these are the most important.

Whenever your ambition is aroused, concentrate the force of your ambition upon that part of the brain through which you must work to realize your ambition. That is, if you are ambitious to become a great financier, turn your attention upon the financial brain; or if you are ambitious to become a great inventor, turn your attention upon the mechanical brain and the imagining brain whenever you feel the power of ambition arising within you; or whatever you are ambitious to become, turn the force of your ambition directly upon that part of the brain that must be developed before your ambition can be made true. You thus develop the necessary faculty, and gain the power to do the very thing you desire to do.

To push the development of any one faculty, concentrate subjectively for ten minutes every hour, on that part of the brain through which that particular faculty functions. But before you begin, always place your thought in the conscious feeling of the finer forces of your mind. When concentrating upon any part of the brain, picture in your imagination the faculty that functions through that part, and draw a mental picture of that faculty in the largest, highest and most perfect state of development you can imagine. You thus impress superior mental development upon every brain cell, and gradually every cell will grow into the exact likeness of that superior development.

During subjective concentration the mind should be well poised, deeply calm, but strongly determined to secure results. Act in the feeling of unbounded faith; believe thoroughly and deeply in the process, and you will arouse those finer and greater forces in your system that can make the process a remarkable success. Ten to fifteen minutes is usually long enough for an exercise in brain development, but you may continue for twenty minutes if you feel that you are having exceptional results. Exercises may be taken every hour or two, but never directly after a meal, as a perfect digestion demands that your mind be perfectly quiet for at least an hour after partaking of food.

When you concentrate upon any part of the brain, use good suggestions and affirmations that tend to work in harmony with the development you desire to promote. When you concentrate upon the region of intellect repeat mentally, with enthusiastic conviction, "My mind is clear and lucid," "My mind is becoming more and more brilliant," "My mind is growing steadily and surely in the power of genuine understanding," "My intellectual capacity is constantly on the increase," "I am gaining the power to know, to discern, to comprehend and to realize every fact and every truth that I may desire." Formulate similar suggestions and affirmations as your needs may acquire, and try to feel that you are moving into those greater things that your affirmations tend to suggest. When you concentrate on the volitional brain use suggestions that suggest greater will-power, greater personal force and greater self-control. When you concentrate upon the practical use suggestions that suggest the increase of the power of application, the power that does things. In brief, whenever you concentrate, use suggestions that will prompt your thought to work with the process of development. You thus cause all your forces to work together in promoting your purpose, and great results will invariably follow.—The Progress.

THE DOOM OF A WORLD.

(By A Banker.)

Our lovely satellite, though a dead world, is yet most beautiful in death. Hanging full orbed and resplendent in the canopied dome of the midnight sky, shedding a silvery light over the landscape, or illumining the rippling wavelets of the ocean with a lustrous "angels' pathway" extending from far out on the horizon to the shore itself, where it swirls and splashes as though formed of liquid silver, the queen of the night with her calm and placid splendour is ever supremely attractive and most lovely.

But when examined through a powerful telescope it is seen that she is but the wreck of a world; that though at one time the scene of Nature's energies, a very holocaust of ferment and fire, yet now she is but a cold and lifeless mass; inert and extinct. But in that far off epoch her entire surface—at any rate the whole of the one hemisphere which is visible from the earth—was studded with huge live, active volcanoes. Not puny earth-rents like Vesuvius, or Etna, or Krakatoa, but towering and stupendous mountains, many with craters three hundred or more miles in circumference, and with a depth so prodigious that probably one crater such as Schickard could contain every volcano on this earth.

And what a lurid spectacle must she have presented, especially at new moon, when viewed from the earth. Each one of those innumerable and gigantic caldrons of fire belching forth cataracts and whirlwinds of liquid flame high up into the ether; huge masses of incandescent rock ejected from the interior and hurled even over those lofty parapets into the adjacent plain, where they now lie; stupendous columns of fiery smoke mounting high up into the air; while the entire burning orb must have appeared like a doomed world condemned to a fiery ruin; in all directions hundreds of square miles of glowing incandescent gases and sheets of flame perpetually vomited forth, a wild hypocaust of fiery and convulsive turmoil.

But at that time this earth was not ready for the habitation of man, though possibly in that far off aeon, the first, or the second, "day" of creation, the gradual extinction of the lunar fires may have taken place. And then at length, when the beauties of our terrestial globe perfected, and its beautiful satellite, no longer a globe of raging fire, but a lovely illuminator of the night, man is created. And, alas, no sooner created than a fallen rebel! But happily for us the Son of God in infinite mercy and love, by, on the cross of shame, Himself bearing the punishment, has satisfied the demands of Justice on behalf of repentant mortals, and has provided a means of escape from the consequence both of that Fall, and of committed transgressions.

MY LUCKY DAY

Mr. Thomas Wylie (Box 384), Galt, says:—"It was the luckiest day of my life when I struck PSYCHINE, for I truly believe I shouldn't be alive now but for that.

"A neglected cold was the beginning of my trouble, and what seemed to be a simple ailment, soon developed into a serious and dangerous condition. I got so low that it was scarcely possible for me to walk around, and I lost so much flesh that I looked like a skeleton. I was just about ready to 'hand in my checks,' although only 20 years of age. The medicine the doctor gave me made me worse and I got disgusted. Then I struck PSYCHINE."

"PSYCHINE did miracles for me. The first bottle gave me new life and courage, and in less than no time I began to put on flesh rapidly,and I felt I was on the high road to recovery. My appetite returned, and I 'ate like a hunter,' as the saying goes My friends were surprised, and hardly knew me. In three months I was as strong and well as ever, and returned to work in the mill. I have not had a day's illness since. Nobody could wish for better health than I enjoy, and it is all owing to PSYCHINE. It should be in everybody's hands."

How is a Cold to be Cured

When it has reached the chest, is developing into bronchitis and threatens to become pneumonia.

So gradually and stealthily does a cold pass from its simpler form of a cold in the head into inflammation of the bronchial tubes and then on to the lungs that many do not realize their condition until pneumonia is upon them.

Ordinarily, of course, the cold is thrown off, but with the system run down and weakened there is every reason to expect serious trouble.

Why should not every cold be taken seriously and Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine used before a severe illness is upon you.

There are many reasons why you should use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is more thorough and far-reaching in its effects on the system than any mere cough medicine can possibly be. It keeps the cough loose and open, it aids expectoration and allays the inflammation.

It does more than this. It cures the cold as well as the cough. It is direct, positive and almost specific in action.

It is very true that almost any husband who is afflicted with a bad wife, or imagines he is, has only him self to blame for it; has only proved his own incapacity for the married life. A wife's demands are usually simple enough, if not always just; and these complied with, she is likely to be all the most exacting spouse could ask—to be loved better than any one else in the world, and to have her own sweet way in all things. If she can achieve the latter end without seeming to do it, so much the better; she is philosophical enough to be satisfied with the reality of power, whoever has the sem men are married at an age when their characters are still mobile and plastic, and can be shaped in the mould of a husband's will. A SEVEN FOOT WHISTLE.

Once, during the argument in a lawsuit, in which Lincoln represented one party, the lawyer on the other side was a good deal of a glib talker, but not reckoned as deeply profound or much of a thinker. He would say anything to a jury which happened to enter his head. Lincoln in his address to the jury, referring to this said:

"My friend on the other side is all right, or would be all right, were it not for the peculiarity I am about to chronicle. His habit—of which you have witnessed a very painful specimen in his argument to you in this case—of reckless assertion and statements without grounds, need not be imputed to him as a moral fault or as telling of a moral blemish. He can't help it. For reasons which, gentleman of the jury, you and I have not time to study here, as deplorable as they are surprising, the oratory of the gentleman completely suspends all action of his mind. The moment he begins to talk, his mental operations cease. I never knew of but one thing which compared with my friend in this particular. That was a small steamboat. Back in the days when I performed my part as a keel boatman, I made the acquaintance of a trifling little steamboat which used to bustle and puff and wheeze about in the Sangamon River. It had a five-foot boiler and a seven-foot whistle, and every time it whistled it stopped."

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by T. Stevenson.

His Silver Bachelorhood

BY M. F. CARNEY

In Pearson's Magazine.

The sun was setting in a clouded horizon; an east wind swept up into the City, filling the neighboring streets with the smell of musty wharves. From his window Carsten saw the masts of ships at anchor and below in the narrow thoroughfare heavy drays rumbling down to the water front.

The shadows deepened; the sun slipped down behind the lowest chimney, melting in the western haze; a lamplighter passed, and where he paused flickering flames started from the iron posts—a weird glow in the twilight.

"Patience," he murmured, lighting a cigar. Turning back into the room, he held the burning match above his head. The pictures on the walls stood out distinctly, and in the background a desk, book shelves, an old-fashioned piano, a cabinet. On the last rested a photograph in a tarnished frame.

The match burned his fingers, went out. He stared into the shadows where the cabinet stood. There was a step on the stair and the valet stood stiffly by the half-drawn portiere.

"Well?" said Carsten.

"Dinner is ready sir."

Thrusting both hands nervously into his jacket pockets, Carsten walked away. The valet lighted the desk-lamp.

"When you are——".

"I will ring," Carsten interrupted. The other withdrew.

But Carsten went and stood before the phptograph in its tarnished frame.

"I wonder if it reached you?" Half laughing, he took from his pocket a scrap of paper. He read aloud:

"I do not even know that you are alive or if so where you are, yet I send you this letter as though twenty-five years had not gone. To me you still live on the same street and wait for the postman. Well, he is coming, bearing this message. A week from to-day is the silver anniversary of my bachelorhood. Do you recall when it began?

I extend to you an invitation to be presentat my reception on Tuesday evening, November the twenty-fourth."

He glanced up at her picture and laughed.

"Took courage to send it, Grace."

The clock in the corner struck seven.

"It's Tuesday"—Carsten looked about him drolly—"the reception is on. I know you imagine a banquet, a lot of fuss and all that rot."

He shook his head. "No, my dear, I have sent but one invitation. You see I don't believe in these conventional reunions of friends—yet we are;—at least we were," he corrected.

Under the lamp-light he drew up his easy-chair to the desk, where he sat down.

"Now if Hartshorn heard me in this sketch, it would mean a nice quiet place with the mentally tired for me." Here some half-forgotten memory brought a smile, and bending down he opened a desk drawer. He piled them up before him, letters with yellow edges, diaries faded and worn. One of the latter he opened at a well-marked page. "Listen, Grace," and he read in modulated tones:

"Tuesday, Nov. 25th

"I hastened down the long hall to greet her where she waited at the foot of the stair. My breath caught at the vision of her loveliness; the witchery of her thrilled me. I know she read my thoughts, for her eyes turned to an unnecessary glove button. She was the incarnation of pure, sweet, womanly nobility. Something within me stirred, uplifting my better self, but I had no words to tell her.

And so we went out to the Thanksgiving party, danced, laughed, built our castle in Spain, just Grace and I, until the gray morning saw the last waltz."

Carsten wiped his glasses carefully.

"That was long ago. Squires—Billy was my rival, you recall—had a quicker tongue than I, you liked him, were fascinated, and so we drifted apart. I understand he is in town here. You could never marry a man of his type."

He stood up. "Pardon the rudeness," said he, gently placing the photograph on the desk before him; "you certainly cannot hear this interesting confession so far away."

The east wind scattered loose pages over the floor, ruffled his hair, gray and thin, flipped cigar ashes across his waistcoat as he sat in his chair. He did not notice. The clock struck eight.

"To be candid, Grace, I did not think you would come. Why did I write?" Carsten shrugged his shoulders. "Just a wild desire to see you again. Have you gray hair, too, and wrinkles? Perhaps you are married—a mother," he turned the picture more into the light; "it's possible you are dead."

But she only looked unmoved at him. After a long silence he continued, his voice was lower:

"I am become a philosopher since you last saw me—my friends say cynic; they may be right; I don't know. You remember I told you I would be a Senator at forty-five; none of your State mediocrity, but a genuine U. S.; make speeches for the advancement of my country while you listened in the gallery; be bored by maniacs seeking my autograph; refuse a foreign mission or two and die just from the cares of pure greatness.

"Let me see," he added dryly, pursing his lips, "the morning 'Herald' cartoons me as a pig and proclaims me criminally rich."

Carsten leaned forward; his lips tightened grimly.

"My friend are quite right; I am a cynic." He unfolded a letter from the pile, slowly deciphering the faded lines.

OUTDOOR SPORT AND ZAM-BUK.

Every athlete, every ball-player, every swimmer, every canoeist, every man or woman who loves outdoor life and exercise, should keep a box of Zam-Buk handy.

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal preparation which, as soon as applied to cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, blisters, etc., sets up highly beneficial operations. First, its antiseptic properties render the wound free from all danger from blood-poisoning. Next, its soothing properties relieve and ease the pain. Then its rich herbal balms penetrate the tissue, and set up the wonderful process of healing. Barbed wire scratches, insect stings, skin diseases, such as eczema, heat rashes, ringworm, babies' heat sores, chafed places, sore feet—all come within Zam-Buk's power. It also eases and cures piles. All druggists and stores.

"And yet I wrote this once upon a time." He read with hesitation, one finger following the words:

"When you are mine,
The earth will be born again
When you are mine,
And I shall be first of men
When you are mine.

Now I am thine
But, sweet, I am far from thee;
Though I am thine
Each dreaming day reverie
Whispers, all thine.

Know you that love
Is earth's immortality?
This is my love:
Please God I would die for thee,
Dear, for I love."

A step in the hall roused him from his reverie. He turned quickly and the valet entered the room with the air of one bearing important news.

"A telegram for you, sir."

Carsten half rose, but checked his eagerness until the man retired.

"Is it true?" he questioned her in the tarnished frame. Then he tore open the yellow envelope with nervous hands.

"'I am coming.—Grace.'"

That was all, but he read, re-read, until the words merged. "Mirabile dictu," said Carsten with a sigh, and pressed the button beneath the desk.

"John!" He did not turn lest the valet should discover his boyish enthusiasm.

"Some 'veuve Clicquot'." He felt like giving way to a wild desire to sing, but a sudden pain in his breast caught his breath.

"You see what you have done?" He interrogated the picture. "Aladdin was not the only chap who had a wonderful lamp."

The noiseless servant re-entered, filled a glass from the cobwebbed bottle and placed it before him.

"And, John," Carsten halted the vanishing figure. "I expect a guest—a lady," he hesitated—"a Miss Grace Dare," he looked keenly into the man's eyes but the trained demeanor of the latter was unruffled, "you will direct her here unannounced. Do you understand?"

But Carsten rose and crossed to the open window, looked down the silent street, smoothed his waistcoat, adjusted his tie. The glass of wine shimmered in the lamp-light. Through the night floated the sound of music,—an old waltz strain. Some one was singing, and as he listened his memory rushed back, crowded with confusing detail. He sank into his easy-chair again before the photograph in the tarnished frame. Carsten gazed at her with whimsical eyes.

"A wonderful night, Grace," he murmured. "May I drink your health?"

Smiling, his hand reached for the glass and paused. An unwonted weakness crept over him; the lamp receded. Why could he not reach the glass, and this ringing in his head, the rhythmical throbbing of his temple bones,—what did it all mean? Overwork, that was it, and the fainting spell would pass. She was coming at last, he was sure of it—but she must not know what he and Hartshorn had arranged—that would come later. It was most astonishing, yet she was surely smiling at him from the old frame—and the numbness in his head did not matter. He heard voices below in the hall, and a step on the stair. The moment had come; he grasped the arms of the chair and the veins in his hands went purple as he struggled to rise. But the choking in his throat passed in a spasm of pain to his heart, and the room was snuffed out as a candle in a dark closet; his head sank forward; his body relaxed, nestled in the chair; he seemed a tired worker in a dreamless sleep.

* * *

The hall clock was striking nine waen Carsten's valet, peering through the vestibule window, saw a hansom stop before the long stair of brown stone. A woman descended to the curb, where she paused to make some laughing rejoinder to her companion, a thick-set man, who leaned forward, watch in hand. Then she ran up the steps and rang the bell.

It was with an air of condecension that John opened the door, for he was irritated that such menial service should have been forced upon him.

"Mr. Carsten?"

She repeated her inquiry before he quite recovered his aplomb. There must be some mistake; he had known the habits of his master intimately for years—surely this was not the invited guest.

From beneath the "Gainsborough" hat, rakishly tilted, two dark eyes mocked him; her hair, streaked with gray strands, escaped over her ears rather untidily; she held her skirt with nonchalance by a hand alight with jewels. But her face—there was an open book, and he read and understood.

"Are you dumb, or just stupid?" she spoke petulantly.

"What name?" said the valet, suppressing his feeling of contempt.

"Miss Grace Dare, an it please you," she nodded, until the long feathers brushed his nose, whereat she laughed. "Sh!" said the guest, raising a finger of her gloved hand; "don't tell him. I'll steal on him unawares—where is he?"

The name was the same; there were his master's orders, and he was after all a discreet servant.

So she ascended softly, her hand on the balustrade. She felt like giving way to immoderate laughter; it was that last bottle of wine that had given her the nerve for this venture. His letter had been forwarded to her, and in one of her moods she had sent a wire. She reached the landing, and gliding to the library door suddenly parted the heavy green portiere, and, head erect, swept into the room.

The laughing greeting died on her lips; she caught her breath. He was seated in a great chair before the desk, his head sunk between his shoulders. How white his hair, and the veins on his hand!—but it was the magic of the lamp glow. She tip-toed to the desk, her skirt softly rustling; there was no other sound in the room; his was a profound sleep indeed. Would she wake him? Involuntarily her hand was outstretched—she hesitated. There was yet time. Her eyes took in every detail of his surroundings, and caught the softened glear of the wine in the glass. An open book lay on the desk, and something long forgotten stirred within her as a withered leaf is gently blown in the springtime. It was evidently a diary, and her curious glance, indifferent at first, became fascinated as she read. She did not move for a long time, then her eyes slowly lifted and rested softly on the drooping figure in the chair. Suddenly a tremor seized her; the flushed face paled in the half-light; she swayed slightly and caught the edge of the desk with tense, nervous flogers. Two jaded eyes looked into two frank innocent eyes of a photograph in a tarnished frame; her bosom rose convulsively, and her voice broke in a dry sob. "My God!" she whispered, drawing away from her silent host in the great easy, chair.

Out to the hall she fled, the rustling of her gown sounding harsh in her ears. She steadied herself by the balustrade and glanced back through the portiere, fearful. He slept on. There was only one thought now, to leave the house before he could wake, before he could know! Summoning all her savoir faire, she descended slowly; the effort taxed her strength. The valet appeared like an apparition from the shadows of the hall. Her altered demeanor startled him out of his trained reserve. He had not noticed she was so old, and her face—it was drawn and pallid now, abnormally so.

"Really," she began, but her voice left her, and she felt her self-control slipping away. "I am not Miss Dare." Her listener stared perplexed. "She regretted—it was impossible for her to come—sent her regrets through me, but he is asleep and I did not disturb him." She drew a long breath as the door was opened. "You will explain, I know."

She was gone, in swift flight down the brown stone steps, into the waiting hansom with her companion. In his astonishment the valet held the vestibule door open for some moments, as he stood staring after the rapidly disappearing hansom. He shook his head, softly closed the door and with some uneasiness ascended to the library.

Hartshorn flicked the ashes from his cigar and gazed down at the hurrying throng on the avenue. It was a pleasant prospect from the corner window of the club, and it was a distinct part of his daily routine to sit here between the hours of two and three in the afternoon.

Wagner folded his paper and drummed on the small round table that separated them.

"Carsten passed away quickly enough. Know him?" But Hartshorn seemed not to hear. His companion smiled indulgently. "Poor old Hartshorn; was quite alert years ago," Wagner drawled, "now, alas, he's old and feeble and deaf."

"Not yet, Tom," said Hartshorn. "I was thinking of Carsten — queer chap; never changed in the years I knew him; we were in the same class at Cambridge. He went in for art, romance, languages, philosophy, although he was more of dilettante than scholar; could quote the 'Chanson de Roland' at your pleasure, an idealist I suppose you would call him."

"Good deal of fake about that," interrupted his listener cynically.

"Not in his case," continued Hartshorn. "He was genuine, so much genuine, so much so I firmly believe he lived a pure life to his death. He never married, but his was not the ordinary bachelor existence," he glanced significantly at Wagner; "you know what I mean—such as yours and mine."

"Oh, come now," Wagner laughed, "we are not so bad."

The other shook his head. "He was better than the best of us, much better. As a general rule it is intense religious faith that holds a man to such a life, but I never knew Carsten to be strong on that. He had a love affair his last year at the University—fell in head over heels. No one ever met her, but her picture held a prominent place in his room and was the occasion of unending raillery on our part. It did not disturb him in the least—rather enjoyed it.

Booth's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Orangeville.

Many Orangeville people work every day in some strained unnatural position, bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting wagons or cars, bending over heavy house work, lifting, reaching, pulling, all these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs, Orangeville cures prove it.

Mrs. H. Fletcher, of James St., Orangeville, Ont., says:—"I cannot speak too highly of Booth's Kidney Pills and believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies. I had tried many remedies previous to Booth's Kidney Pills to relieve me of a dropsical swelling that had affected my ankles and frequently left me unable to stand. I was weak and languid and felt more tired in the morning than on going to bed. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement at Mr. Stevenson's Drug Store, I tried them and was quickly convinced of their wonderful merits. The inactivity of the kidneys was soon regulated. The swellings gradually left me. I began to strengthen and build up. Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend
